A resolution was presented and adopted that the School Board be empowered with the authority to sell the East Branch and North Branch school properties when these schools are made vacant by the completion of the new high school building.

Some discussion was entered into in regard to shade trees now standing on the high school site. Some were of the opinion that certain trees should be cut down as they would obstruct light from the school building and for sanitary reasons, because they draw moisture, etc.

A motion was made and passed that the matter be left in the hands of the Board but recommended that there be a liberal thinning out of shade trees on the Central school lot.

There being no further business to come before the meeting, an adjournment followed.

BELOW THE MOUNTAINS.

The Higher the Elevation the Lighter the Material Under It.

Researches of the United States coast and geodetic survey carried on in recent years prove beyond doubt that mountains are not held up by the rigidity or strength of the earth's materials, but by the fact that the materials under them (in the outer portion of the earth) are lighter than normal.

The higher the mountain or the plateau the lighter is the material under it. The principle is exactly the same as that which makes an iceberg float. The portion of the iceberg that is above water is held up by the large mass of ice—which has a density lower than that of water—in the submerged portion of the berg.

So, in the case of the mountain, the portion above the general level is held up by the lighter material under the mountain, which extends down to a depth of about sixty miles. Although the mountain is held up or floated by a lighter material under it, the bottom of the ocean is depressed because the material under it to a depth of about sixty miles below sea level is heavier than normal.

What may be considered as the normal condition is that which obtains in the large river valleys and under the coastal plains.

A Boomerang.

"You made a fool of me!" exclaimed the angry husband.

"My dear," calmly rejoined his better half, "you seem to have forgotten that you have always posed as a self made man."—Indianapolis Star.

The easiest way to spoil a good lawn is to put flower beds in it. Flowers in mass are, or should be, incidentals and placed at the edge of the lawn, but never in it.

RED CROSS NEWS

We are commencing this week the publication of the names of all members who joined the Tecumseh Branch of the Red Cross and shall continue until all names on the list are published. Please see if your name is on the list. We shall then publish a supplementary list of all Tecumseh residents, who have joined in other Branches.

We want to have the biggest branch for the size of our town, so if you have not already joined, COME and do so before we finish the publication of our list.

Work is progressing splendidly and we are proud of the efficiency of our needlewomen.

Mrs. Chas. Burridge took 160 sheets to Adrian. Of these, however, 14 were returned because the stitching was too far from the edge. It is most important that all work be done exactly according to specifications, because all regulations are based on real needs, which have been found out through long experience. One of the worst trials of soldiers in active warfare is the prevalence of vermin of every kind, and all supplies must be made in such a way that they will not provide breeding places for insects. A fold of material, beyond the seam, on a sheet, enables vermin to hide; and as it is often impossible to wash goods as frequently as desired, they can multiply enormously in a couple of days and increase greatly the suffering of a wounded helpless soldier. Therefore, when goods are returned, please do not consider the examiners unreasonable in their demands. In the London General Hospital the doctors always have one suit of clothes baking while they wear the other, in order to keep the vermin from biting them.

Mrs. L. I. Bidwell reports 212 comfort pillow cases finished. She earnestly appeals for more workers as she has two bolts of material waiting for somebody's busy fingers. Please get exact measurements from her before beginning work.

Mrs. H. T. Dunn has 4½ dozen pillows ready to send to headquarters. She still needs machine workers.

Mrs. T. C. Harris also appeals for more workers on surgical shirts.

Mrs. Sena Crane, who is taking charge of Mrs. Raymond Mills' committee during her absence, reports five bolts of cloth, cut into pajamas by four cutters. She has organized five groups of workers and they are keeping the finished pajamas they have on hand for samples. Five or six new volunteers start this week and Mrs. Crane is the only director in charge of a committee who is not appealing for more workers. Mrs. Crane can certainly get as many garments out of a bolt of cloth as any living woman.

Miss Asenath Hosmer sent 18 dozen sponges and 4 pairs of bed-socks to Adrian. She requests all workers to please finish the ends either by needle and thread or by drawing the cotton through with the crochet hook. Please waste no cotton for it is scarce.

The following ladies will be in charge of the headquarters:

Wednesday afternoon — Miss A. Whitenack

Wednesday evening — Miss Mary Whitelock

Thursday afternoon — Mrs. Geo. Hines

Friday afternoon—Mrs. Al. Updyke

KEEP YOUR HANDS CLEAN.

Wash Them Many Times a Day and Use Plenty of Soap.

Soap or lather such as is used in shaving kills minute organisms of disease. Whenever a person's hands have touched anything unclean or a sore the hands should be instantly washed with soap and water, making a good lather.

All day long we are brought in contact with what is unclean. The street car strap, the doorknob—anything and everything touched by any one else—may hold the tiny organisms of a deadly disease.

Your unclean (infected) hands may cause the loss of your eyesight. The practice of rubbing the eyes with the fingers or hands endangers the sight. Typhoid fever and other serious diseases are carried from person to person through the medium of food which has been touched and prepared by unwashed hands. Washing the hands with plenty of soap and water always before cutting bread or cake or touching other foods would save hundreds of persons from illness and death every year.

One may feel almost sure that one's hands are clean all the time—they look as if they were—but science tells us they are not chemically clean and incapable of doing harm unless they are washed with soap or a disinfectant. So to be sure of doing no injury to yourself or any one else wash your hands with soap or a disinfectant before touching food or using them to brush dust from your eyes.—Philadelphia Record.

As to the Fireplace.

The sides of a fireplace should be well splayed or beveled in order to reflect the heat. The back should lean forward at the top for the same purpose, and the fireplace should not be too deep. A projecting chimney produces an effect of pushing the guest away, whereas a receding one beckons him nearer to enjoy the hospitality of the open fire. For this reason the inglenook—that is, the fireplace built into the wall of the room—is especially cozy and attractive.

GEORGE STONE TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Found Hanging in Barn This Noon.

Word comes to us of the suicide of George Stone, at his home on the William Clarkson farm, this noon. Not coming to his dinner when called some of the family went to the barn where they found him hanging. His dog who was his faithful companion was waiting outside for his coming. Judge Hosmer was called at once.

Mr. Stone leaves a wife and three children to mourn his tragic death.

RED CROSS APPEAL

Answered in a Wonderful Manner.

An appeal for supplies for Red Cross work appeared in a late issue of the Herald and Friday the ladies with several autos collected the donations from house to house Tecumseh is always ready to do her bit and you would be surprised to see the amount of material that the ladies brought to Red Cross head quarters. To say there was a hayrack load is not putting it too strong All this aside from the real work that is being done in town, surely we have no need to be doubtful of the loyalty of this, "the Biggest Little Town on Earth."

JACKSON COUTY FAIR

September 10th to 15th

Well why not make Jackson County Fair the best in Michigan this year? We have everything to do it with, and all that is necessary is to get it together.

Manager Burris is now completeing a tour of Jackson and neighboring counties and reports a world of quality exhibits that will all be coming to the fair. The association has more than doubled the amount of premiums this year, and has added many new departments that will be provided. In fact, if you wish to behold the biggest of things, the most useful of useful things, the most interestng of interesting things the most attractive things, the most amusing of amusing things, the most choice of choice things--in fact, a little of everything and the climax of all, the great and good things worthy of visiting and studying, the Jackson County Fair is the place to attend this fall. Manager Burris promises they will all be awaiting you upon your arrival at the fair September 10th to 15th.

Harold D. Hardy, taking advantage of the special train to Detroit from Ft. Sheridan with 300 others on Sunday, visited his parents in town. As there was no evening train he was obliged to drive to Jackson so as to be present at reveille at Ft. Sheridan, Monday morning.

Inactive Kidneys Cause Disease

"I shall not soon forget the benefits I derived from the use of Foley Kidney Pills."—Al. A. Godfrey, Forest Grove, Oregon.

Too much work and too little work seem to have about the same effect on persons past middle age. Proper action of the kidneys is necessary to good health. They act as a filter and remove from the blood poisonous waste matter which if permitted to remain in the system leads to many complications.

Many nervous, tired, run-down men and women suffer from pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, bladder weakness, sore muscles and stiff joints and fail to realize that rheumatism, diabetes or even Bright's disease may result.

If you have cause to believe that your kidneys are weak, disordered or inactive you should act immediately. Foley Kidney Pills have been used by young, middle aged and old with complete satisfaction. They act quickly and surely and have given relief in cases of ten years' standing.

CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of It in Tecumseh But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys often cry for help.

Not another organ in the whole body more delicately construc

Not one more important to health.

The kidneys are the filters of the blood

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.

There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the frequent indications of kidney trouble.

It is often the kidneys' cry for help. Heed it.

Read what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for overworked kidneys.

Read what Doan's have done for Tecumseh people.

Mrs. Geo. J. Kempf, Kilbuck St., Tecumseh, says: "I use Doan's Kidney Pills occasianally and they always do me good. Sometimes, I have signs of kidney complaint and feel run down and tired out. My backaches and my kidneys act irregulatly. Doan's Kidney Pills never fail to relieve me of the trouble."

HENRY FIELD, SCION OF RICHES, IS DEAD

Heir to Marshall Field Wealth Succumbs to Operation.

Chicago, July 9.—Henry Field, a grandson of the late Marshall Field and heir to one-half of the huge residuary estate left by his grandfather, died in New York.

The young man, who with his brother, Marshall Field III., were the chief heirs designated in the will of the great merchant, was married only five months ago to Nancy Kean Perkins in New York.

The death of young Fields ends the carefully laid plans for his future made by his grandfather and his mother.

When Marshall Field I. made his will be expressed solicitude for the health of his son, Marshall Field, Jr.

After the death of Field, Jr., father of Henry and Marshall III., the merchant in 1915 added a codicil providing for the residuary estate—at that times estimated by competent financial authorities at $125,000,000—to be held in trust for his two grandsons until 1945, when the funds that had accumulated—which many persons beliefed wolud reach $1,000,000,000—were to be divided between the young men.

Young Field, at the outbreak of the war, enlisted as a private in the First Illinois cavalry.

BLAMES WHALEBACK CAPTAIN

Milwaukee Jury Also Mentions Tug's Chief in Report on Crash.

Milwaukee, July 9.—A coroner's jury investigating the cause of the accident which resulted in the death of sixteen persons, June 30, when the whaleback excursion Christopher Columbus collided with a water tank standing on a lock of the Milwaukee river, has returned a verdict holding that Captain Charles Moody, in command of the vessel, and Captain F. C. Maxon of the tug Knight Templar did not exercise proper precaution, considering the abnormal current of the waters at the time.

$3 COAL AT MINES TOO HIGH, IS URGED

Michigan Consumers Ask Kelley to Demand Cut.

LANSING, July 9.

That the government's fixed price of $3 and $3.50 for soft coal at the mines is exorbitant is being impressed upon Congressman Patrick H. Kelley on his arrival for a short stay.

Lansing coal consumers, Battle Creek consumers and some from other nearby places will meet with him and insist that with all the high prices on coal it has given the operator a flying start.

A few of the members of the Battle Creek and Lansing chambers of commerce insist that these prices to the operator are about 100 per cent higher than they have been in years gone by.

Arrangements have been made to enlist the aid of Congressman Kelley.

$16,000 SHORTAGE CHARGED

Mortgage Clerk in Wayne Treasurer's Office Revealed in Bad Plight.

DETROIT, July 9.

Discrepancies amounting to more than $15,000 in the office of the treasurer of Wayne county were brought to light when the Wayne county board of auditors, under pressure of publicity, revealed a story of "erratic bookkeeping" which has been under investigation since Dec. 20, 1916.

The disclosures, as made by the board, involve Anthony J. Kloka, mortgage tax clerk in the treasurer's office, who, they say, worked out a scheme of defrauding the county out of $16,402, so far as has yet been discovered.

Women and children are the majority of victims of the German air raids on England. The picture shows one little victim being cared for in a hospital after the recent bombardment of London.

EMPEROR OF CHINA QUITS UNDER BOMBS

Hauan Tung Learns That It Is Bad Year for Kings.

London, July 9.—The dispatch from Peking announcing the abdication of Hsuan Tung, the young emperor, who was put back on the throne by General Chang-Hsun, is corroborated by a cablegram received from Reuter's correspondent there.

It appears that General Chang-Hsun, depressed by the failure of his attempt to restore the monarchy, tendered his resignation to the emperor, who thereupon issued an edict announcing his abdication.

The republican forces occupy strategic positions in the southern and western outskirts of the city, and there is every prospect of a peaceful settlement.

Reuter's Peking correspondent reports that the palace there was bombarded by an airplane.

According to a Reuter's telegram from Shanghai, the leader of the bureaucratic republicans, Tuan Chi Jui, attacked and routed the monarchist forces on Friday near Lang Fang. The republican army then advanced ten miles in the direction of Peking.

EX-ATTACHES MUST GET OUT

Former Employes of Teutonic Consular Offices Told to Leave U. S.

Washington, July 9.—All Germans formerly connected either with the German embassy or any one of the many consulates in America, have been requested to leave the United States.

Notification that their presence in America is undesirable has been sent to them by the state department. The Germans who principally are clerks or servants were not told that they were suspected of being spies. The inference that their loyalty to the kaiser might make it difficult for them to remain in this country without attempting to send information of a military character to their government was made clear.

Maid of Mist's Captain Retires.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 9.—Captain R. F. Carter, known to millions of tourists as the commander of the Maid of the Mist, the sight-seeing vessel which ventures close to the famous cataracts here, retired after thirty-two years of active service. He is succeeded by Robert Williams, for many years his mate.

Four Canadians Die in Crash.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 9.—Four persons were killed and one was injured when an automobile was struck by a Canadian Pacific passenger train near Blind River, Ont. The dead are Mrs. John U. Stover, her daughter Mary, Mrs. J. W. Brooks and her daughter, all of Blind River.

U-Boat Sinks French Diver.

Paris, July 9.—The submarine Ariane was torpedoed and sunk by a German U-boat in the Mediterranean, June 19, according to an official announcement of the ministry of marines. All the officers and part of the crew perished. Nine men were saved.

One Killed, One Hurt by Bolt.

Des Moines, Ia., July 9.—Robert Slaughter, aged twenty-four, of Bloomfield, Ia., was killed and O. A. Helcker of Des Moines was seriously injured when they were struck by lightning.

She Was Right.

"I did my best to be entertaining," said the young man in a voice of sorrow.

"Did you succeed?"

"I'm afraid not. I recited Hamlet's soliloquy. She looked at me reproachfully for several seconds, and then exclaimed, 'I don't think that's very funny.'"—Washington Star.

Shortage in Missouri Penitentiary.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 9.—Shortages in accounts and inventories, mutilated records, and the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars without contract are recorded in an audit of the Missouri state penitentiary for the years 1915-1916, which was made public by State Auditor Hackman.

Americans Build Aero Camp.

Paris, July 9.—Americans troops are beginning work on the first section of the vast aviation training camp. Eventually this camp will be able to accommodate several thousand pilots.

In consideration of the forgoing estimates the Board of Education recommends that there be raised by taxation upon the taxable property of the District as follows:

For Teachers' wages fund	$ 7,000.00
For General fund	10,000.00
For Building & site fund	3,300.00
For Library fund	1,200.00
	$ 21,500.00

The Board also recommends that the ensuing school year shall consist of 38 weeks beginning Sept. 3rd next and that tuition for foreign pupils shall remain as heretofore viz: High school $20.00, grammar grades $16.00 and primary to 4th grades inclusive $12.00.

It has been thought best to omit the school catalogue this coming year on account of unsettled school conditions and that the expenses of same might be placed in more needful direction.

The courses of study, excepting for some minor changes, will remain the same as during past year and any one wishing to look over the school's study courses will be supplied with a catalogue of past year upon request for same.

The Board is pleased to report that satisfactory progress is being made upon our new school building notwithstanding the abnormal conditions existing in the obtaining of construction material and competent labor.

The number of children of school going age in this district according to the school census now completed is as follows:

Male Children	294
Female Children	265
Total	559

This is a gain over last year of 38 children of school age.

The expiration of term of office of the respective trustees is as follows:

Term of F. B. Wood ends 1919
Term of Charles Burridge ends 1918
Term of Dr. E. D. Brown ends 1918
Term of J. H. Smith ends 1917
Term of C. F. Patterson ends 1917

The forgoing is respectfully submitted and approved by the Board of Education as its annual report to School District No. 7 for the school year ending July 9th, 1917.

C. F. Patterson, Secretary.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT FOR YEAR JULY 1, 1916 TO JUNE 30, 1917

The year has been fairly satisfactory on the whole. More Library patrons have left town than we should wish, and that, with the many deaths which have occurred, has caused the expiration of a large number of cards; but, on the other hand, those who are still here are not losing the "Library Habit" we are thankful to note, and the increase in circulation of 1,503 volumes over that of last year indicates that the normal growth of Library usefulness is still continuing.

As for growth in the number of volumes owned by the Library, that will necessarily be held back somewhat by the present lack of room. We have not shelf room for the books we already own, and have weeded out books which are decrepit, undesireable, or in any way "dead wood" as closely as seems feasible.

Our out of town patrons seem to be somewhat on the increase, and we are encouraged to observe (also to be told) that they do not think of our Library merely as a place to get light stories, but rather as a place where they may have the use of good reference material and "find out things." The women's clubs of the smaller towns near here, and high school students of neighboring towns have been our not infrequent callers.

Of course the strength of the Library lies almost entirely in the books and the service rendered, but we find that the Library patrons appreciate any touches which add to the attractiveness of the building. Ferns, for instance, in the windows, have been enthusiastically and audibly approved; but it will take more than books and ferns to conceal the shabby condition of the walls which are already an eyesore to certain thrifty citizens of our village.

Last year during the hot summer months the ventilation was complained of by Library visitors (also the Librarian). The condtion is now greatly improved by the opening of the hitherto unmovable windows at the back of the building directly opposite the doors.

We are pleased at whatever tangible and visible indications of growth we have achieved, and hope for more in the year now begun, but we realize that "the measure of the value of a public library is not the number of books on its shelves nor even in the volume of its circulation. The test is, what is the Library's contribution to the life and progress, the thinking and doing, to the work and the play of the community. The Library should not be an annex to, but one of the vital forces in civic life. It is an essential part of our educational system, but its parish is wider than that of the public schools for it includes the home, the factory, the office, the church, youth and age. Nothing which concerns humanity is alien to the Library."

Respectfully submitted,
Elizabeth Withey, Librarian.

PRESIDENT CALLS ENTIRE MILITIA

Former State Troops Go Into Active Service This Month.

JULY 15 AND 25 DATES SET

All Will Be in Camp Ready for Service by August 5th—450,000 Troops Brought Into Federal Command. Expect Draft Drawing Saturday.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Wilson issued a proclamation drafting the entire national guard of the country into the United States army, to date from Aug. 5 next and also calling the regiments out for active service.

The national guard of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota and Nebraska will be called into the federal service on July 15 and sent to concentration camps in the south, although the draft will not apply formally to them until Aug. 5.

Similarly the state troops from Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Illinois, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington and Oregon are called into the federal service on July 25.

Grand Strength 450,000.

The estimated strength of the national guard as it will go into federal service is 450,000. On August 1, this army will begin moving towards the various cantonments for the guard in the sixteen territorial divisions of the country.

It is probable that the New York guard and those of the nearby states which are in the [illegible] will go first, although not in solid state masses. The early movement, it is stated, is necessary because it would not be feasible to execute a movement of all of the guard on any particular day by rail.

The war department has begun the consideration, in conjunction with department commanders, of the particular camps to be occupied by each division of the sixteen to be cantoned. It is understood that the state organizations as a whole will first mobilize at former state mobilization camps.

Draft Drawing Saturday.

CHICAGO, ILL. — Next Saturday has been tentatively fixed as the day for drawing the members of the new national army, it was declared unofficially at Washington. No definite announcement of the time has been made yet by the provost marshal general.

Advices from the capital state that the war department has decided on the selection of 687,000 men for the first drawt. Allowance is made for the exemption of about 50 per cent of those drawn, so that a total of 1,374,000 men will be included in the call to colors. This will be roughly at the rate of one in seven of those registered.

EMPEROR OF CHINA QUITS

Hsuan Tung Learns That It Is a Bad Year for Kings.

LONDON, ENG. — A dispatch from Peking announcing the abdication of Hsuan Tung, the young emperor, who was put back on the throne by General Chang-Hsun, is corroborated by a cablegram received from Reuter's correspondent there.

It appears that General Chang-Hsun, depressed by the failure of his attempt to restore the monarchy, tendered his resignation to the emperor, who thereupon issued an edict announcing his abdication.

AGREE ON OPEN UNION SHOP

Bloomington Street Car Strike Seems Definitely Settled.

BLOOMINGTON, ILL. — Settlement of the street car strike is practically consumated.

The union concedes an open shop, and the street car company recognizes the union. These were the largest points of difference. The men began work again immediately.

Shortage in Missouri Penitentiary.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO. — Shortages in accounts and inventories, mutilated records, and the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars without contract are recorded in an audit of the Missouri state penitentiary for the years 1915-1916, which was made public by State Auditor Hackman.

Lost Child Is Found.

Kaiser Calls Neutral Nations.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Conjecture here as to the purpose of the conference between Emperor William and the neutral ambassadors and ministers in Berlin ranges all the way from new peace proposals to threats of drastic action against the northern European neutrals in the event that they should yield to the United States and refuse to continue to supply Germany with food and raw materials.

James W. Gerard Resigns.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, has resigned from the diplomatic service and returned to private life. His resignation was accepted some time ago, though the fact was not allowed to become known.

GREATEST CORN CROP IN HISTORY

July Forecast Indicates Three Billion Bushels.

UNPARALLELED IN ALL TIME

Farmer Will Solve War Food Problem for Greatest Potato Crop of All Years Is Also Coming—Wheat in Excess of 1916 Production and Bumper Crop of Rye.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The biggest corn crop ever known in the United States is confidently forecast by the department of agriculture in its July report on crop conditions throughout the country, following a former statement indicating a bumper yield. A prospective crop of more than 3,000,000,000 bushels is the answer of the farmer of the nation to President Wilson's call for food for America and its allies in the war. Never before has such a corn crop been grown.

Steady improvement in the condition of the various crops is noted in the government's official statement. One of the most interesting parts of the forecast are the figures showing for the first time the acreage of corn and white potatoes. Of corn, the greatest of all American agricultural crops, there are planted 121,045,000 acres; of white potatoes, 4,384,000 acres.

Crops Break All Records.

Both of these crops are expected to be far in excess of the 1916 production. The forecast for corn shows the tremendous total of 3,124,000,000 bushels, against the 1916 crop of 2,583,000,000 bushels. The high price of potatoes drove the entire nation to planting these tubers, with the result that the forecast shows a prospective crop of 452,000,000 bushels, against last year's 285,000,000 bushels and the ten year average of 363,000,000 bushels.

Wheat Outlook Encouraging.

Wheat statistics are also encouraging, despite the pessimistic reports issued by the government earlier in the season. While spring wheat does not show up quite so well in this forecast as a month ago, the winter crop has materially improved, so that the total average of both these crops shows a slight improvement over the June 1 report.

The figures now given by the government show a prospective yield of 402,000,000 bushels of winter wheat and 276,000,000 bushels of spring wheat, or a total of 678,000,000 bushels; the 1916 harvest brought 482,000,000 bushels of winter wheat and 158,000,000 bushels of spring wheat or a total of 640,000,000 bushels. This is 38,000,000 bushels of wheat above last year's production.

Bumper Rye Yield.

The crop of white potatoes would exceed the previous largest crop, grown in 1912, by 32,000,000 bushels. Prospects of the rye crop show a slight decrease from the June forecast, but the production will be a record with a total of [illegible] bushels.

BONE DRY LAW BARS TOTING ACROSS LINE

Carrying Liquor on Person Held Interstate Commerce.

FARGO, N. D. — Judge Charles F. Amidon, in the federal court, handed down a decision that carrying liquor on one's person from one state to another, not intended for sale but for personal consumption, is interstate commerce and constitutes a violation of the Reed amendment.

The cases were those of the United States against Andrew Haugen and John Tjorn, two lumber jacks from northern Minnesota, who had each purchased a quart of whisky in Moorhead and carried it upon their persons across the state line into Fargo. They were pioneer cases of the kind in the United States, the decision affecting twenty-three states which are now bone dry.

RUSSIA STRIKES BIG BLOW

Great Drive Near Stanislau Nets 7,000 Prisoners.

LONDON — Into the streak of undercurrent pessimism that befell the Entente military observers a week ago, bright rays of reassurance come sparkling over the cable and radio from Petrograd. The Russian drive on Lemberg which stopped last Monday, a day after its inception, has been resumed with characteristic Muscovite suddenness and force. It is in full swing, though now from a new direction.

They smashed through the Teuton wall of fire and steel and penetrated eleven miles beyond Stanislau, thus cutting in a wide detour in the rear of the approaches of Halicz.

They captured one town and four villages.

They bagged another big load of prisoners and booty, to wit: 131 officers, 7,000 men, 48 guns, including 12 powerful Skodas; untold machine guns, bomb throwers and trench mortars.

EMBARGO ON ALL EXPORTS

Shipments, Except Under Federal License, Prevented.

WASHINGTON — President Wilson issued a proclamation announcing his purpose to control by license all export shipments, to the end this country shall not want for necessaries of life.

Essentially, the action of the President is aimed at control of food supplies. His purpose is to see that America is fed first; America's allies next.

Name Brazil Street "Wilson."

WASHINGTON — As an indication of the friendly feeling created in Brazil by the visit of the American squadron, the state department was advised that the city authorities in Rio de Janeiro have changed the name of the Avenida Afbangabahu to Avenida Presidente Wilson.

Halfway, a hamlet halfway between Detroit and Mt. Clemens, has organized a bank. The capital stock is $25,000 and Detroit and Mt. Clemens capital is interested.

Electrical and wind storms accompanied by pouring rains added extensively to a loss of thousands of dollars on beans and corn planted in Shiawassee county.

Bay City won the pennant for the first half of the Michigan league schedule, which ended July 4, by taking both morning and afternoon games from Saginaw.

More than $2,000 was realized for the Flint ambulance at a farewell benefit given at Oak Grove hospital grounds. Governor Sleeper was guest of honor at the reception.

The attention of Prosecuting Attorney Gillespie has been called to the mysterious disappearance of Charles Mack, manager of a collection agency at Pontiac, two weeks ago.

Nine members of the Muskegon branch of the Polish Falcons have gone to Cambridge Springs, Pa., where they have entered the officers' training camp for this order.

Fifty priests from the Detroit diocese attended the funeral of James Crowley, father of Rev. Fr. Michael Crowley, of St. John the Evangelist church, of Detroit, in Jackson.

The level in Lake St. Clair is higher by several feet than it has been for years. At Belvidere, the Hotel Denmarsh has a foot of water in the basement and the dock is under water.

That the city of Muskegon Heights has doubled its population in five years is shown by school census records, which reveal the number of pupils to have increased 100 per cent in that time.

Sixteen children were made fatherless when Nels Anderson, seventy, and John Pink, thirty-five, drowned in Birch lake, north of Elk Rapids, when a boat from which they were fishing overturned.

Miss Katherine Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pierce, of Muskegon, and an instructor in the public schools, and Roy Tidman, of Owosso, superintendent of a factory there, were married in Muskegon.

Two persons were killed and sixteen others will probably die and sixteen are injured as a result of a collision at Manistee between a north bound excursion train on the Manistee and Northeastern and a trolley car with two heavily loaded trailers.

Two persons were injured at Grand Rapids celebrating the Fourth. Lambert S. Hubers, sixty-two, was shot in the back by a cannon and may die. Edward English, eight years old, may lose the sight of both eyes through the explosion of a large fire cracker.

The Whitehall home guards have been mustered in with Dr. Henry S. Cole elected as captain, L. F. Judd, first lieutenant, and Guy C. Covell, a graduate of West Point, second lieutenant. Lieutenant Covell will be in charge of the work of the guards.

The poles and wires of the Michigan State Telephone company along the highway, between Monroe and the Wayne county line, are in many cases placed in positions so as to prevent making this road a portion of the Dixie boulevard. The company has declined to change their position.

Although condemned by his own son as the murderer of Theodore Anderson, of Elberta, August Natzel, retired Benzie county farmer held in the Manistee jail on a charge of first degree murder, stoutly asserts his innocence of any crime and denies any knowledge of how Anderson met his strange death.

That the scourge stamping out the lives of thousands of fish in western Michigan is continuing to make inroads and is almost daily increasing its toll, is the statement of Deputy State Game Warden Weilhamer, of Muskegon, who has made a detailed inspection of lakes and streams in this part of the state.

Seizing two little girls as they were picking flowers in Sylvan Garden, near Woodward avenue and the nine mile road, at Detroit, a man who is said to have been terrorizing women in Highland Park for the last two months, bound them together and then shot them, killing Hope Irene Alexander, thirteen years old, and seriously wounding Elizabeth Stilvers, ten.

The word "lancet" is found in only one place in the Bible, I Kings xvii, 28. The term is not the blade used by surgeons, but appears to mean a javelin or light spear.

NOBLE—YARICK

At high noon Thurday, July 12th, at the home of the bride's mother Mrs. H. F. Yarick at Cadmus occurred the marriage of her daughter Mira Naomi to Charles Lyman Noble of Morenci. Rev. Roberts of Clayton performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends.

The bridal couple left on an afternoon train for Detroit where they have planned to take a lake trip. Upon their return they will visit the groom's parents in Jackson. Mr. and Mrs. Noble will reside in Morenci.

The groom is a cousin of B. A. Lawrence of Tecumseh and lived here about two years go, at that time being employed by Guy Belding.

TECUMSEH WOMAN TAKES CARE OF FRENCH WAR ORPHAN

The destitution and misery among the orphans of the soldiers who gave their lives for France and incidentally for the world, is pitiable. The American Society for the Relief of French War Orphans, 120 Broadway, New York, is appealing for people to take charge of the expenses of one child, the donor to select either a boy or a girl, $8.00 monthly being the minimum sum required. You receive the child's name and are asked to correspond with him or her and take a little personal interest.

Mrs. Jenny C. Law Hardy chose a little girl, Simone Coulajz, who lives at 7 Street of the Golden-Apple, in Bordeaux, France. Mrs Hardy feels uncommonly happy to have the privilege of looking after the child of a war hero, and at the thought that she will be able to help her to grow into a strong healthy woman instead of dying or becoming an invalid for lack of food.

SCENE FROM
THOS. H. INCE'S
CIVILIZATION

COMING TO THE BRADLEY OPERA HOUSE FOR ONE PERFORMANCE ONLY, FRIDAY, JULY 20.

"CIVILIZATION"—A TREATISE

Nearly 1900 years ago, the Son of God, as he stood in a temple in Jerusalem, was asked, "Which is the first commandment of all?"

He replied, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God." This is the first commandment, and the second is like unto it: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." There are no commandments greater than these.

Today the great, sorrowful eyes of this Son of God gaze down upon a vastly different scene.

As he listens to the screaming shells, the crashing of the monstrous guns, all the ghastly symphony of the reddest war mankind has ever known His heart must recognize the bitter truth in the statement of one of the world's most famous educators—that in the nineteen centuries that have elapsed since His departure, that Civilization has failed to accept honestly the teachings of Jesus Christ.

And it is upon this theme that Thomas H. Ince, without peer as a master producer of cinematographic art has founded, his never-dying story contained under the caption, "Civilization."

"Civilization" is an allegorical story of a war that has laughed at the world's flaunting boast of a higher progress—of a boast of the higher and finished civilization and culture of man. It does not concern itself as to which side is right or wrong; but it deals with those ranks which are paying the grim penalty—the ranks of humanity.

It is the story of the attempted right of one man to rule the world—to hold the power of life and death over every man, woman and child. The right to plunge into the great Eternity the child with the consequent sorrow, desolation and woe, that he, the perpetrator, may individually profit.

And yet how opportune, how timely and how true has been the prophecy contained in this great story. How nearly as pictured, are the true state of affairs of this war-riddled world of to day coming slowly but surely to the same end—to the same subsequent ideals as brought forth in the impelling tale of "Civilization."

The complete dismemberment of the great autocracy of Russia with its one man rule, the ominous unrest and rumblings that are apparent in every great European state today ruled over by the autocrat. The happenings that may take place after the time of the writing of this article, stupendous events that may have gone down into the great red history of the world even as you read this.

Men have prophesied these same events which have already taken place have prophesied even lesser events that take place with the passing of time, and yet the World has laughed derisively in their very faces—have called them crazy! Still, it has come to pass. More even may come to pass that is as yet even undreamed before this world crisis is through, and still the World laughs.

"Civilization" is not a mockery. It is a full-blooded recital of a human interest story which affects not one nation but ALL nations. A great massive, stupendous, glittering production of the story of every man himself.

The man, woman or child who unmoved can sit through this Ince masterpiece needs a sudden doctor—a slow one would be too late.

Original, huge, stunning and poetic.—Ashton Stevens, Chicago Examiner.

"Civilization" in all its magnitude including a special orchestra, will be presented at the Bradley Opera House for one performance only, Friday, July 20. Prices: Gallery, 25 cents; first floor, 50 cents. Seats at Hay's commencing Thursday July 19th.

Lapeer county has oversubscribed its quota of $15,000 for the Red Cross by $4,000.

The Caro Fair association has decided to devote one day of fair week to patriotic celebrations.

Mrs. Elizabeth Glatzack, mother of twenty-four children, died at Bessemer, at the age of ninety-two years.

John Hutchins, twenty-five years old, was suffocated at Jackson by the caving in of sand in a sewer trench he was digging.

As the time for drafting approaches, recruiting is on the rapid increase in Company E, Michigan national guard of Ionia.

Twenty-two members of the class of 1917 at the University of Michigan who are at Fort Sheridan were graduated at the University club at Chicago.

Clark E. Higbee, of Grand Rapids, was elected presiden of the Michigan Association of Probate Judges at the convention recently held at Portage Point.

Hugh Ray, fifty years old, of Romeo, attempted to end his life by cutting his throat at his home. This is his second attempt to die within the last few weeks.

H. C. Mather, president and general manager of the Moore Oil company of Cincinnati, was drowned at Horseshoe Cave, fifty miles north of Calumet, in Lake Superior.

Archibald Buttars, of Charlevoix, is the newly elected president of the old Settlers' association of the Grand Traverse region. The reunion will be held in Charlevoix next year.

Sherman Dumen, private of Company F, Sixteenth U. S. cavalry, was drowned in the Rio Grande river at San Pedro while in swimming. Dumon recently enlisted from Evart, Mich.

Examining Physician H. V. Tutton says regarding the second contingent Michigan naval militia. "A fine, gallant lot, and I am proud to associate with them. They are the pick of the district."

Vincent Dilluvio, grocer in the first precinct factory district, and Charles Shaddix, who rooms above the store kept by Dilluvio are under arrest at Monroe charged with maintaining a blind pig.

Delays of Justice.

Legal records supply many instances of long intervals between the crime and the arrest. The leading case is that of Eugene Aram, who was hanged for the murder of Clarke fourteen years after the offense. In the eighteenth century a man named Horne was executed for the murder of his child thirty-five years after the crime. There is also the well known case of Governor Wall, who was hanged in 1802 for a murder committed in 1782. But Sir James Stephens recalls what is surely the most remarkable case on record. He prosecuted in 1863 a man who was charged with stealing a leaf from a parish register sixty years before.—London Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY IT RAINED

Rain again interferred with our Wednesday Bargain Day program. In the afternoon the program was given before the rain set in, with a good crowd on the streets to witness it, but in the evening the program had to be cancelled on account of the down-pour.

The Clinton band were here and gave a concert under the porte co chere in front of the hotel.

Many who saw the entertainment in the afternoon said it was by far the best seen in Tecumseh this year and it was hard luck that the rain interferred and the program had to be cancelled.

Many of our merchants report a fine trade in spite of the rain. Coller's dance at Witherell's hall provided a dry place for many and Mr. Coller reports 35 couples in attendance.

Better luck for next week.

AN EARNEST MAN.

How can any man be weak who dares to be at all? Even the tenderest plants force their way up through the hardest earth and the crevices of rock, but a man no material power can resist. What a wedge, what a beetle, what a catapult, is an earnest man! What can resist him?—Thoreau.

A Curiosity About Eclipses.

The average number of total and partial eclipses in any one year is four, the maximum seven and the minimum two. There is nothing really peculiar in this except the fact that where only two occur they are always both of the sun. There are more solar than lunar eclipses, but the sun, being so much larger than the earth or moon, the shadow terminates at a point and is visible only along a narrow track, while the lunar observation is frequently visible over half a continent.

Home and the Wife.

The wife who conscientiously executes her duties in the home is as great a wealth producer as her husband, according to Professor B. R. Andrews of Columbia university. A woman who takes care of the home gives her husband many comforts that would cost him twice as much to get anywhere else. The time will soon come, he predicted, when the housewife's value will be realized more fully, and many wives now earning wages outside the home will prefer to spend their time in the home instead.

HIRAM H. WESTCOTT

Hiram Hubbard Westcott was born in Tecumseh Dec 23, 1842, and died at his home in Tecumseh, July 7, 1917, being 74 years, 6 months, 15 days old.

He was stricken on the evening of July 4th, suffering intensely until the end. His wife, his son Lester and wife and step-son Ellsworth Rixom were in constant attendance until the Father in his tender compassion relieved their dear one of his suffering.

He was a veteran of the Civil War, serving nearly four years

On May 1st, 1865, he was united in marriage to Mary E Cuykendall. To them five children were born, namely: James M., William H., Minnie, Lester P. and Adelbert who died at the age of 21. Mary E. Westcott died May 6, 1880. On Nov 25, 1880, he was united in marriage to Sarah E. Rixom. To them one child was born Charles Lucian.

Beside his wife and children, those left to mourn his absense are two sisters Mrs. Lois Traver of Detroit and Mrs. Hattie Whiting of Kenmore, O., also three step-children, namely Mrs. Luella Cook, Mrs. Fannie Burch and Ellsworth Rixom and seventeen grandchildren and two great-grand children.

Hiram was a man of noble character, ever ready with a cheery word and helping hand. His friends were as many as his acquaintance was large. His home life was ideal and his dear companion who is left to mourn the separation will, indeed, miss his tender care and thoughtfulness. Theirs was a happy life together, passing down through the declining years with peaceful, trusting confidence in their Savior who doeth all things well.

One by one we are joining our loved ones in the City beyond the skies—

"In that land that is fairer than day,
And by faith we can see it afar,
For the Savior waits over the way
To prepare us a dwelling place there."

Card of Thanks.

To the neighbors and friends for their kind help and loving sympathy to Rev. Hartzog for his comforting words, to Rev. Linton for the beautiful prayer, to Mrs. Billings for the sweet hymns, to the friends for the dear floral pieces and use of automobiles, we extend our heartfelt thanks.

Mrs. Hiram Westcott
and children,
Mrs. Lois Traver
Mrs. Hattie Whiting

Those from away who attended the funeral of Hiram Westcott were Mrs. Hattie Whiting, Kenmore, O.; Mrs. Lois Traver, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cook, Mrs. Bertha Snell, Mrs. Emma Rixom, Mrs. Neva Wilber, Detroit; Mrs. Luella Cook and daughter Iva, Flint; Mrs. Grace Light and daughter Narcissa, Akron, O.; Mr. and Mrs B. Burch, Wixom; Mr and Mrs. Wm. Fletcher, Macon; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Westcott, North Adams; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Westcott, North Adams; H. W. Bird and daughter, Petersburg; Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, son Fred and daughter Fern, Deerfield; Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Westcott, daughter Lottie and son Louis, River Rouge; Lucian Westcott, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Westcott, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Chas Ives, Petersburg; Mr. and Mrs Harold Mattis, Toledo.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness and words of sympathy during the sickness and death of our beloved wife and mother, for the many beautiful flowers and the comforting words of our pastor.

C. F. Williamson and family.

RED CROSS NEWS

Mrs. A. W. Mills is very much in need of workers. She now has plenty of material for all who wish to knit which may be procured at her residence.

Mrs. H. T. Dunn appeals to all who have sugar sacks which can be used for pillow slips to leave them at her residence.

Mrs. R. K. Anderson will have plenty of pillow material on hand next week. She earnestly appeals for more workers.

Dr. Pauline Bredow is very much in need of feathers of any kind or ticking which may be used for pillow ticks. Please do not make ticks without full instructions from directors. 'Phone 330-3r.

Mrs. T. C. Harris reports 19 surgical shirts cut and ready for her helpers.

Miss Alma Tansley is assisting the Red Cross items this week, owing to the director's absence.

The ice cream social at Mr. Billy Gibson's farm netted $28.44, after all expenses were paid.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rogers have started work on the load of linen collected last week. Everything has to be sorted and washed separately. The scraps and other small pieces will be placed in bags and boiled. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers are doing their bit nobly, and many a poor suffering boy, lying in an ambulance will feel better for having the clean sweet goods from the Tecumseh laundry.

If there are any more out of town residents, who have not been able to bring in their old cotton and linen goods, we will be glad if they will elave them at Mrs. Hardy's residence, where they will be gratefully accepted.

Mrs. Hardy would like to have the names of all Tecumseh residents, who joined the Red Cross, in other towns, in order to publish their names next week.

The following ladies will take charge of the headquarters:
Saturday afternoon—
Mrs. Frank Lewis.
Saturday evening—
Mrs. Andrew Wilson.
Monday—Mrs Clyde Barber
Tuesday—Miss Edyth Shull.

The Detroit Journal of July 10th. has the following item:

"Much of the ablebodied population of Soissons fled beyond the French lines before the occupation. The ablebodied men and women were sent into Germany into slavery and worse. It was here that the Germans captured many Red Cross nurses, who were recaptured when the allies made their recent advance.

One American head nurse recently came to America with 25 of these nurses that they might give birth to babies resulting from their captivity."

If you are worthy of the name of American citizen, your blood will boil on reading this, but of what avail is your anger, if you do not translate it into deeds. Come and give us all, and more than you can afford in work and money.

These women have been sacrificed along with hundreds of thousands of others, that we might be safe. We are behind in the sum assigned us for the Patriotic League. Come across, if you are human. Herbert Temple is Chairman for Tecumseh Township.

The Kaiser says in Wednesday's paper: "We must fight and conquer." If he conquers, we are next.

Function Dainties

The daintyness, the "tastyness" of the eatables served is necessary to the success of an afternoon tea or other function.

No compromise with quality be thought of at such a time.

The hostess who supplies herself from our stock can feel easy about the eatable part of the affair.

We are ready for any demand that may be made upon us.

Varieties are ample, and include everything desirable.

Qualities are unquestioned.

Aud besides these, the hostess is helped in her choosing by visiting this store.

THE SAME OLD STAND-BY

Successful business men do not meddle with untried experiments. They are too costly. In these days of high cost, each dollar must buy just as much value as possible. Be progressive, but be careful.

Up to date there has never been a better grain binder manufactured than the famous DEERING. Neither do you take any risk when you buy a DEERING mower, tedder, or rake. They are all built to work at there best even under unusual conditions in the harvest or hay field. Every one of these machines is a safe and economical buy.

Repairs for the Deering binder and other machines can be had at every Deering dealer's place of business. You are at all times within a few miles of the expert service station at Jackson where you can secure the advice and aid of men who have made binders their life study. All this is worth a great deal to you and it can be obtained at no additional cost. Then why buy a binder without the service you get with the DEERING?

American Farmers have a World-wide Market

The world is depending on American farmers for food. Good buildings will help you prevent loss and will increase your surplus for the market. Investment NOW in better buildings is wise.

Good Farm Buildings Mean Bigger Profits

Sanitary hog houses make bigger pork profits. Chicken houses built so that rats and moisture stay outside, mean bigger egg yields and more broilers. A concrete-walled cow stable will keep your stock cooler this summer and warmer when winter comss, with bigger milk and butter profits.

Whether it is a single 2 x 4 or a bill of material for a barn, your order will have our most careful attention. Our plan service will help you decide on the best design for your purpose.

Your dollar is bigger than for years back. A bushel of wheat or a pound of pork will buy more building supplies today than ever before. Now is the time to build food-conserving and labor-saving farm structures.

Inactive Kidneys Cause Disease

"I shall not soon forget the benefits I derived from the use of Foley Kidney Pills."—Al. A. Godfrey, Forest Grove, Oregon.

Too much work and too little work seem to have about the same effect on persons past middle age. Proper action of the kidneys is necessary to good health. They act as a filter and remove from the blood poisonous waste matter which if permitted to remain in the system leads to many complications.

Many nervous, tired, run-down men and women suffer from pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, bladder weakness, sore muscles and stiff joints and fail to realize that rheumatism, diabetes or even Bright's disease may result.

If you have cause to believe that your kidneys are weak, disordered or inactive you should act immediately. Foley Kidney Pills have been used by young, middle aged and old with complete satisfaction. They act quickly and surely and have given relief in cases of ten years' standing.

CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of It in Tecumseh But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys often cry for help.

Not another organ in the whole body more delicately construct

Not one more important to health.

The kidneys are the filters of the blood

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.

There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the frequent indications of kidney trouble.

It is often the kidneys' cry for help. Heed it.

Read what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for overworked kidneys.

Read what Doan's have done for Tecumseh people.

Mrs. Geo. J. Kempf, Kilbuck St., Tecumseh, says: "I use Doan's Kidney Pills occasinally and they always do me good. Sometimes, I have signs of kidney complaint and feel run down and tired out. My backaches and my kidneys act irregularly. Doan's Kidney Pills never fail to relieve me of the trouble."

Dr. Sylvester W. Merritt, sixty-eight years old, former mayor of the village of Fort Gratiot, and at one time one of the prominent men of his profession in the country, is dead. He was for many years the Grand Trunk inspector of immigrants.

That the United States will be stripped of her young manhood even as France and England before this war ends, was the prediction of ex-Vice President Charles Warren Fairbanks, speaking in Traverse City under the auspices of the Methodist church conference.

Not only has heavy damage been done to beans and corn by rains flooding fields on heavier ground in Shiawassee, Saginaw and Genesee counties, but from some localities in Shiawassee and Saginaw reports come that in many fields potato vines affected by the blight are dying.

Garland Bentley sought a job at the Pontiac State hospital and gave his age as twenty-one, thinking he would be accepted more readily. Instead he was asked to produce a military registration card. Sheriff's officers took him to his home where his mother proved the boy was only seventeen.

Jerrold B. Thomson, telegraph editor of the Muskegon Chronicle, was so impressed after reading one urgent appeal to young men to join the colors, that he proceeded to promptly enlist in Company G, Thirty-second infantry. Merle Smith, another member of the staff, enlisted at the same time.

John Price, proprietor of Price's Hunting and Fishing club at Mt. Clemens, was jailed as a result of a raid conducted by Sheriff Hartway and Deputies Miller and Kuechenmeister. The officers confiscated a large quantity of liquor and two slot machines. The county jail is full and Price is confined in the city lockup.

The Lake Superior district conference of the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church will meet next year in Milwaukee. The Sunday school association and Epworth league will meet in Duluth. The convention re-elected District Superintendent the Rev. Andrew Anderson of Marinette, Wis., president; L. G. Edgren of Norway, Mich., secretary, and the Rev. Elmer L. Lund of Superior, Wis., treasurer.

SIX ARE KILLED BY BLAST

Explosion at Mare Island Navy Yard Believed Due to Plot.

SAN FRANCISCO — While six persons, including one woman and two children, lay dead as the result of the explosion of a powder magazine at the Mare Island navy yard, investigation was under way to determine whether the blast was the work of enemy plotters.

United States District Attorney Preston, who started the probe, admitted that he was inclined to believe the explosion may have been due to "outside agencies." Thirty-eight persons were injured in the explosion not counting a number who suffered minor hurts. Whether any of the injured are in danger of death is not known.

The dead are: Allen S. Mackenzie, chief gunners mate; Mrs. Allen Mackenzie, Dorothy Mackenzie, aged twelve; Mildred Mackenzie, aged six; George Stanton, gardener; N. C. Damsteadt, assistant chemist.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, July 4.—From twelve to fourteen air raiders dropped bombs on Harwich, a seaport town in Essex, England. Eleven persons were killed and thirty-six others were injured.

Two of the German machines were brought down ablaze by British naval aircraft and a third machine was damaged.

In the fighting of Sunday and Monday [illegible] men, 29 guns and thirty-three machine guns were captured by the Russians.

Thursday, July 5.—After their strongest offensive effort since Verdun, the Germans found themselves thrown back everywhere along the eleven mile front on the Chemin des Dames, leaving the ground thickly strewn with their dead, and having failed to take even one French soldier prisoner. The French lines remained intact.

Th British made an attack southwest of Hollebeke, in Belgium, near the Ypres canal. The British line was advanced on a front of 600 yards.

Friday, July 6.—The Germans attacked the Champagne front and were repulsed. Assaults were made west of Mont Carnillet and southeast of Tahure. The artillery was active around Verdun.

The heavy gunfire of both the Russians and the Teutons in the region of Zlochoff, on the Russo-Galician front, increased.

Saturday, July 7.—Russian troops attacking on the Galician front took the heights northwest of Presovce, occupied two villages, entered a third and captured 689 prisoners. Violent fighting has begun on the Pinsk front, with the Russian artillery clearing a path for the infantry. The City of Pinsk is in flames. Heavy counter attacks compelled the Russian to withdraw from the trenches captured in the Balkovmaniauv region.

The big guns are roaring all along the line on the Franco-Belgian front. Infantry activity revolved itself into a sharp thrust by the British, which advanced their line in the neighborhood of Wytschaete. Artillery duels and trench raiding operations constituted the only fighting on the French front.

Sunday, July 8.—Vigorous attacks by Teutonic forces in an effort to recapture ground gained by the Russians in their new offensive in Eastern Galicia were defeated. The Russian offense is spreading to the north and south of Halicz, in Eastern Galicia.

The Germans launched another violent attack on the Aisne front. The attack was delivered in four sectors. They were driven back except in the sector between Bovettes and Froidmont farm, where they were able to hold part of the first line French positions carried at the beginning of the battle.

COAL HEAD ACCUSED OF SLAYING FAMILY

Wealthy Operator, Wife and Son Slain in Road.

Johnstown, Pa., July 16.—Held up by three masked robbers while repairing a punctured automobile tire on the Carrolltown fair grounds, three miles east of Carrolltown, near here, at 8 o'clock in the morning, Edmund I. Humphries, aged forty-two, general manager of the Newborn Coal company, and wealthy coal operator of Carrollton, his wife, Mrs. Carrie Humphries, aged thirty-five, and their fifteen year old son, Edmund I. Humphries, Jr., were shot and killed. George Tompkins, aged forty-one, of Philadelphia, secretary of the Newborn Coal company, witnessed the shooting and related the sensational story to the police.

More than one hundred citizens of Carrolltown, enraged by the wholesale slaughter of the Humphries family, secured revolvers and began a hunt through the country districts for the alleged mudrerers.

After making an investigation of the triple murder, District Attorney D. P. Weimer, County Detective Roscoe Custer and Sheriff W. E. Mulholler placed Tompkins under arrest. Following a coroner's inquest in Ebensburg, the jury recommended that Tompkins be held as a witness. He was committee to the county jail here.

DANBURY HATTERS SETTLE

Retain Homes but Gice Up Last Cent Says Union Official.

Danbury, Conn., July 16.—The famous Danbury Hatters' case was settled and 141 hatters' homes saved from auction when D. E. Loewe, head of the plaintiff firm in the boycott action, signed a release freeing the defendants from all claims.

The amount of money involved in the settlement was not announced. Upon leaving the meeting at which the release was agreed on, Martin Lawler, secretary treasurer of the hatters' union, said: "D. E. Loewe & Co have squeeezd the United Hatters to the last cent."

I. W. W AGITATORS CHASED

Citizens of Miami, Ariz., Form Loyalty League as "Reds" Grow Defiant.

Miami, Ariz., July 16.—Assistance of two troops of United States cavalry was necessary to quell a riot which started when the loocal police force was unable to break up an I. W. W. meeting.

Soldiers with fixed bayonets ordered the miners out of the streets and drove them toward the edge of the town. Just outside the town limits they assembled again long enough to announce that another meeting would be held. Over seventy-five business men and citizens joined the newly formed Loyalty league after the riot.

Lincoln Bars I. W. W.

Lincoln, Neb., July 16.—Large numbers of the Industrial Workers of the World from Kansas, Texas and other southwestern states are coming north, according to members of a band of forty men, all f whom carried I. W. W. cards, questioned by the police here. The police refused to allow the men to alight in this city.

Bride Who Refused $500,000 Wedding Gift.

There are few brides who would refuse a half million dollar wedding gift from a millionaire husband, but Mrs. E. H. R. Green, who has just married Hetty Green's son, is one of them. She said she just wouldn't know what to do with the money. Colonel and Mrs. Green are now in the Caribbean on their honeymoon in Colonel Green's yacht, the United States.

TEN CHARGED WITH MURDER

Evidently It Is Crime for Negroes to Escape Being Shot.

East St. Louis, Ill., July 16.—Four white men and six negroes are charged with murder, in mittimuses issued by the coroner's jury that is investigating the race rioting here July 2.

One white man and five negroes have been arrested. One of the white men now sought as a leader of the mob that massacred negroes, according to evidence submitted to the secret inquest. The grand jury inquiry into the rioting under direction of assistants of Attorney General Brundage. Evidence connecting fifteen white persons with arson will be presented.

An Ancient Barber's Greeting.

Old time barbers had to display more variety than their successors. A work published in 1592 describes a barber's greeting to a customer: "Sir, will you have your hair cut after the Italian manner, short and round, and then frounst with the curling irons to make it look like a half moon in a mist, or like a Spaniard, long at the ears and curled like the two ends of an old periwig, or will you be Frenchified with a lovelock down to your shoulders? The English cut is base, and gentlemen scorn it. Novelty is dainty. Speak the word, sir. My scissors are ready to execute your worship's will."—London Express.

LAUGHTER.

Relieve the tension of life now and then with a hearty laugh. Laughter is a most healthful exertion. It is one of the greatest helps to digestion with which I am acquainted, and the custom prevalent among our forefathers of exciting it at table by jesters and buffoons was founded on true medical principles.—Dr. Hufeland.

GERMANY'S TORPEDO SUPPLY WEAKENING

Kaiser Finds Self Unprepared for U-Boat Wareface.

Washington, July 16.—"The German torpedo supply is weakening; the torpedo has lost nearly ten knots in its speed since the outset of the war and hence has deteriorated in accuracy of fire," declares a statement issued by the navy league of the United States after a close study of the situation by its technical experts.

"Germany in this one essential, was not prepared for the war, the experts maintain. She had not a sufficient stock of torpedoes; she expended too much in her land operations; she made great sacrifices of her torpedo supply to gratify the folly of the crown prince in his vain efforts to take the fortresses of Verdun.

The explanation offered by certain naval experts," says the statement "is that the Germans are being pressed for time in the construction of torpedoes that they can no longer maintain their speed and their accuracy of fire. It is estimated that the German torpedo has lost nearly ten knots in speed from the standard torpedo used in the outset of the war.

"It takes normally six months to construct a torpedo and it costs many thousand dollars. There is also a chance of German running short in some material essential in their manufacture."

JUDGE F. M. WRIGHT IS DEAD

Illinois Man Veteran on Bench and of Civil War.

Champaign, Ill., July 16.—Frances M. Wright, federal judge of the eastern Illinois district, died at his home in Urbana.

He was born in Ohio in 1844, served in the civil war and was mustered out as second lieutenant. He came to Urbana in 1868. In 1891 he was elected circuit judge, in 1904 he was appointed by President McKinley to the United States court of claims at Washington. In 1908 he was appointed federal judge by President Roosevelt.

NORWEGIAN LINER ASHORE

1,200 Passengers Are Safely Landed at Cape Race.

St. John's, N. F., July 16.—The Norwegian-American liner Kristianiafjord, carrying 1,200 passengers from an Ameriman port via Halifax to Norway, ran aground seven miles west of Cape Race on the southeastern coast of Newfoundland.

It was found necessary to remove the passengers, all of whom were landed safely at Portugal cove.

MAKE WORK A PLEASURE.

Mothers, wives, make the home homeable. Start your boys and girls, your husbands, out fresh and clean in the morning. Send them off with a kiss and a smile. It makes all the difference in the world. You can accomplish more, and so can they, because a body that is fresh and clean and a heart that is happy and glad give physical strength and endurance, so that work is not a grind, but a pleasure.

A Domestic Crisis.

"Well," remarked Mr. Meekton with a timorous yet contented smile, "we have had some strike trouble at our house. Henrietta hasn't recovered from the surprise yet!"

"What happened?"

"I walked in and told her that the coal heaver and the furnace tender and the lawn sprinkler and the dog washer and the rubber tree nurse had organized and declared a strike."

"How did it happen?"

"Easily. I'm all of them."—Washington Star.

I. W W. BACKGIRE ON IN UPPER PENINSULA

With Michigan Troops in Federal Service New Foes Arise.

DETROIT, July 16.

Reports from Houghton and other points in the upper peninsula say that serious trouble is expected as the result of I. W. W. agitation and that several defense organizations have been formed by citizens who, armed, are awaiting any demonstration by the "Reds."

Simultaneously with the report of a threatened labor outbreak in the copper country, laid to I. W. W. agitators, it is officially announced that no state troops are available if the state needs them to quell an I. W. W. uprising. Every military unit in the Upper Peninsula is in the federal service and scattered throughout the state while the state troops organized to replace them are partially drilled and partially uniformed and the state is practically at the mercy of the Industrial Workers of the World. Governor Sleeper has appealed to the state department for advice regarding the situation. He told President Wilson, it is said, that should the situation become serious, the state of Michigan is helpless as it had no troops for the emergency.

Citizens throughout the Upper Peninsula are meeting to plan action if the I. W. W. extends its reign to this state.

PLOT AGAINST FORD PLANT

200 Blue Prints of Great Manufactory Found in Spy Suspect's Room.

DETROIT, July 16.

Two hundred blue prints of the Ford [illegible] found in [illegible] of Oscar Bittman led to his arrest under suspicion of being a German spy. He is held for federal authorities.

Bittman, a German citizen, was an employe of the Ford plant until a few weeks ago, and while working there he was under constant surveillance.

FARMER ADMITS HIS CRIME

August Natzel Changes His Story of the Death of Theodore Anderson.

FRANKFORT, July 16.

August Natzel again changed his story of the death of Theodore Anderson. He pleaded guilty to the murder of the Elberta farmer in Justice Whickham's court.

Natzel was bound over to the circuit court on a charge of manslaughter under $5,000 bonds.

Believe County Funds $100,000 Short.

DETROIT, July 16.

An audit of all records of Wayne county was started at the order of Attorney General Alexander J. Grosbeck, who is leading the fight against Anthony J. Kloka, charged with embezzling $16,000 from the county while in the position of mortgage tax clerk in the county treasurer's office. It is though the audit will reveal a shortage of more than $100,000 in county funds.

A Real Gas Plant.

There are two varieties of gas plant. One is a manufacturing establishment where coal is converted into gas for illuminating and heating purposes. The other variety is a real growing plant called the fraxinella. Few know why the fraxinella is called the "gas plant." This is because at certain times it releases a volatile oil that actually ignites if allowed to come in contact with a lighted match. The fraxinella is also noted for its fragrance and longevity if not disturbed.

STARTS MOVE TO SMASH I. W. W.

U. S. to Assemble Grand Juries in Disturbed Sections.

WILL BEGIN SIMULTANEOUSLY

Senator Sherman of Illinois, Author of Plan, Sees Plot Financed by Germans—Agitators Dirty With Money. Illinoisan Don't Blame Citizens for Taking Law in Own Hands.

Washington, July 16.—German propaganda in the United States, as represented by the I. W. W. will be throttled immediately through a plan being put into effect. Attorney General Gregory will be requested by congress to at once assemble United States grand juries in every locality where the activities of the I. W. W. have been apparent place a United States judge in charge, and indict and try all offenders on the spot, without loss of a minute.

The plan contemplates assembling grand juries at East St. Louis, Douglas, Ariz., Columbus, N. M., Bisbee, Ariz., and at [illegible] Washington where there have been indications of unwonted activity on the part of the organization's agents. These juries will sit simultaneously and it is believed that in this way a death blow will be struck at the organization without any lost time.

The department of justice is understood to have sufficient evidence at present to proceed against some of the leaders under the espionage act, but has helr back until more definite evidence cah be obtained connecting thethe financial affairs of the organization with German agents.

Sherman Starts Move.

Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman of Illinois made the first move toward having the investigations started. Sherman said he had joined with other members of the senate in requesting the attorney general to take steps immediately or assembling the grand juries.

Documentary evidence in the possession of the Illinois senator will be placed at the disposal of the government immediately which, it is declared, will show indisputably that the I. W. W. agitators were responsible for the rioting and bloodshed in East St. Louis. Part of this evidence also will lead the investigators to other sections of the country. Other senators claim to have evidence not only showing responsibility on the part of the I. W. W. for strikes, riots and murders, but showing a connection between the agitators and a powerful group of German propagandists. Some of this evidence already has been placed at the disposal of the department of justice.

Floods of telegrams and letters are pouring into the offices of senators and representatives giving evidence and urging immediate action.

"The plan for assembling United States grand juries in every district where the I. W. W. agitators have been active, is to my mind the best means for striking the death blow at the organization," said Senator Sherman. "United States grand juries, with all the power of the government behind them, can make shore work of the men who have been guilty of this gigantic conspiracy against our industrial structure. For instance, in East St. Louis, I would have Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis take immediate charge of the investigation, convene t jury, which would represent an entire judicial district, and without the usual delays put the men responsible for the bloodshed and disorders there behind the bars.

Sherman Suspects Germans.

"While I have no positive proof that the I. W. W. is a weapon of the kaiser, I have my own convictions in the matter. I do know positively that very recently there has been a big flood of money into the coffers of the organization. That money must have come from some place, for it certainly was not earned by the members of the organization, and the answer seems clear to me—Germany.

"Either this method of striking at the I. W. W. menace must be adopted or the people will have to organize vigilance committees and run the worthless agitators out of their communities. I cannot condemn the men who have taken the matter into their hands in the west and driven the agitators away from their borders. They are adopting the only practicable means now at hand for dealing with the situation. Personally I am in favor of driving the majority of the I. W. W. members out of the country.

Arrest Union Leader.

Globe, Ariz., July 16.—E. C. Bright, president of the Globe branch of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, is under arrest on a charge of rioting. Twenty-five other strikers were jallede during the day.

Butte Strike Ends.

Butte, Mont., July 16.—The Meta Trades council recommended to the various unions whose delegates comprise the counsel that all strikes be declared off and the men return to work.

"A man may be very conceited, but there's one thing he'll seldom boast about."

"What's that?"

"That his wife has money in her own name."—Detroit Free Press.

CZECHS DEMAND AUSTRIAN PEACE

Whole World Hates Germany, Former Minister Declares.

HOLLWEG IS FORCED TO QUIT

Sensational Report Authoritatively Quoted Says Deposed Chancellor Made Statement That the Best Germany Could Hope for Was an Even Break in World War.

Zurich, July 16.—The Austrian reichstrat was thrown into an uproar on Saturday when the former Czech minister, Herr Praschek, declared the hate of the entire world was not directed against Austria, but against Germany, and that Austria should detach herself from her ally, says a Vienna dispatch.

"How are we to obtain peace," demanded Herr Praschek, "if we cling to the German side? Must we continue to sacrifice our interests to the expansion of Germany? Must we continue to submit to the German militarism that has drawn us into this war?"

The speaker declared that Czech deputies had been imprisoned for attempting to bring about an alliance of Austria with Russia and France, and added that if they were to be stigmatized as traitors, then all Czechs who believed similarly should be so stigmatized.

Zimmermann's Successor.

London, July 16.—The Berlin newspapers forecast the appointment of Count Ulrich K. von Brockdorff-Rantzau, German minister at Copenhagen, as successor to Dr. Alfred Zimmermann as imperial foreign secretary, according to the Exchange Telegraph's Copenhagen correspondent.

Michaelis Succeeds Hollweg.

London, July 16.—Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German imperial chancellor, has resigned. Dr. George Michaelis, Prussian under secretary of finance and food commissioner, has been appointed to succeed Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg.

Change Is Important.

Paris, July 16.—The Paris press hails the retirement of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg from the German chancellorship with varying degrees of satisfaction. Some of the comment is in a jubilant tone, while other editors treat the event soberly. All, however, are agreed that it indicates a crisis in Germany of unprecedented importance.

As might be expected the phrase "scrap of paper" frequently crops out in the comment and some of the journals trace the chancellor's downfall back to that early-in-the-war utterance of his.

War Party in Saddle.

London, July 16.—By the resignation of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg the war party, represented by the German crown prince, Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General von Ludendorff, all of whom were called to Berlin by the crisis there, appears to have gained the ascendency.

The overthrow of the imperial chancellor is regarded as the beginning, rather than the end, of developments, of the utmost gravity within the German empire bearing directly on the great struggle now in progress on the battlefields of Europe.

Bethmann - Hollweg's resignation came suddenly although much rumored in the last few days. His successor is a typical Prussian bureaucrat, Dr. George Michaelis, Prussian under secretary of finance and food controller.

Admits Germany's Desperation.

London, July 16.—The Reuter correspondent at Amsterdam says the Bavarian Kurier publishes what the Rheimische Westfalische Zeitung calls "an almost incredible and sensational revelation," to the effect that Professor Harnack, on June 30, wrote in a letter which he sent to Munich an account of an interview he had had a few days previous with Dr. Van Bethmann-Hollweg, then the imperial German chancellor.

According to this statement, the chancellor informed Professor Harnack that his views closely approximated those of Philipp Scheidemann and Dr. Eduard David, Socialists, and Dr. Karl Heine, Social Democrat, but that he could not yet free himself entirely from the influences of the conservatives, who must first be divided before he obtained a free hand for action.

Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg said the greatest danger was from Germans who continued to believe in victory, and added:

"In the best case it can only be a draw."

Boonville, Ind., July 16.—David S. Pruitt of Gentryville, near here, has five sons in the service of Uncle Sam. Warnings have been received from reliable sources to beware of people who are traveling from place to place selling court plaster and stock feed, which is reported to contain leprosy and cholera germs. We have not been visited as far as we can learn by such vendors and sincerely hope that we may not, but it would be wise for people living in this locality to beware of strangers who make house to house canvasses, selling various kinds of goods.

Buy what you need from reliable houses. Almost everything needed can be procured from our merchants whom you all know and who are responsible for the goods which they have for sale.

The country is full of these traveling salespeople. Many are of the tramp variety who are too lazy to hold down a good position and want an easy way of eking out an existence. These people should be rounded up by the authorities and set to work at some useful occupation or be drafted into the service of the army. If this were done it would have a tendency to cut down the number of calls made by this class of people.

Some argue that it would be wise to send them out on the farms as our farmers need help so badly in the harvest fields. This class of labor would not be acceptable to our farmers and, although the farmers are in sore need of [illegible] (such as they have been promised by our newspapers and public spirited citizens if they would only increase their acreage and which they are not getting) still they cannot use this class of labor which is a drug on the market. They must have experienced help for farming is a business as much as any other line.

There should be no room in this country for the easy-going, lucky-going, live-off-the-other-fellow class of people who have been such a burden on our people for some years back. A few years of army life would be good for them and it would give them a useful occupation for once in their lives.

Buy what you need from reliable houses and don't take any chances in buying from strangers.

UNCLE SAM'S MARINES.

A Fine Body of Fighters and Always Ready For Battle.

United States marines are always to be found where trouble breaks out if the scene is in reach of transports or warships. They are quartered on every first class ship of the navy, ready to go ashore as infantry, as heavy or light artillery or in machine gun squads.

There is not and never was a better body of fighting men ashore or afloat than the American marines. Their tradition of efficiency and fearlessness is one of the finest. Usually they go against the enemy when heavily outnumbered and often are required to hold their own in the midst of hostile populations until bluejackets and the army can be sent to back them up. It is only natural that the most adventurous spirits from every quarter of the world, soldiers of fortune who want to be always in a good fight, should have been attracted to a corps which offers so many opportunities of the kind.

No company, no squad, of United States marines has ever shown the white feather. They are of the cream of military nobility. On their caps they wear a little metal globe and the words "Semper Fidelis"—they go wherever the flag is carried, where trouble is thickest, and they are the ever faithful legion which never fails us.—Providence Journal.

COAXING THE SALMON.

Try Trout Fishing Tactics When You Go After This Game Fish.

When you are going to make a try for salmon remember your trout fishing. Keep low in the grass and bushes, cast delicately over the entire pool, beginning at the tail, where the fish are most apt to be in ordinary weather, and, working up to the very head, where they are often found after a rise of water, propel the fly with the variety of motion known to every trout fisher, and particularly try it at various depths.

I have often found that the only way to start a salmon was to sink the fly at least two feet and rely upon a tiny spasmodic twitch now and then (as of a drowning insect) to do the trick. This is often effective after a fish has come up once and refuses to repeat the experiment.

When a rise comes it will probably be a slow one. Do not move the fly at all after the first sign. Strike lightly, but firmly, on the first impact if the line is short, and when you have counted two or three after the rise if the line is long. Advice not to strike, if applicable at all, pertains only to swift water when fishing downstream. Under any other conditions failure to strike is often suicidal.—Outing.

What You Eat In Apples.

Do you know what you are eating when you eat an apple? You are eating malic acid, the property that makes buttermilk so healthful. You are eating gallic acid, one of the most necessary elements in human economy. You are eating sugar in the most assimilable form, combined carbon, hydrogen and oxygen caught and imprisoned from the sunshine. You are eating albumen in its most available state. You are eating a gum allied to the "fragrant medicinal gums of Araby." You are eating phosphorus in the only form in which it is available as a source of all brain and nerve energy. In addition to all these, you are drinking the purest water and eating the most healthful and desirable fiber for the required "roughness" in food elements.

"CIVILIZATION" IS IMPELLING DRAMA

The silent screen has, within the past year or two brought forth several notable screen productions. Some of them in massiveness and in outlay of money have been of Croesus-like proportions. For instance "The Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," "A Daughter of the Gods" and last but not least, "Civilization."

Produced by Thomas H. Ince, without a doubt unequaled as a producer of masterpieces of motion art, "Civilization" stands without a peer. A million dollar production, it is to be sure, a decrying against war, but still at the same time, not in the nature of the evercrying peace loving, smite-me-upon-the-other-cheek method of abolishing forever man's greatest and most destructful sin—War.

LILLIAN READ IN
CIVILIZATION

The one and a half year old little "Berhardt" of the screen. Only one of the many little things that appeal to you in the wonderful production of "Civilization" which comes to the Bradley next Friday night.

On the other hand it brings forth in never-dying illustration just what war is. Paints it as it is in reality. Paints it in the colors that man has created for it, harsh and cruel tho those colors may be. Brings forth the reasons why these great United States have risen in righteous indignation over the debaucheries, the cruelties and the ruthlessness as practised in conflict by some nations and why at this very moment is assisting in ending and may it be hoped for all time, the needless slaughter of every mother's son, that some selfish and aspiring individual or individuals may profit.

"Civilization" is an argument against despotism; against the vesting in one ruler the power of life and death over men, women and children; an argument for democracy of the people.

Stupendous in it's conception, glittering in its pageantry and symbolic in its form is "Civilization." Only one other motion picture producer since the cinema came into it's own is entitled to rank with this masterpiece, and that is David Griffith's "The Birth of a Nation."

And not even has Griffith's famous picture contained the thrilling scenes to be found in "Civilization." Ince, the master producer has spared neither expense nor energy in the producing of this remarkable spectacle, for lavishness is the keynote throughout. At all times a student of intricate detail, Ince has incorporated within his great story an attention to detail most wonderful to behold.

Employing a vast multitude of actors, 40,000 in number, 6,000 horses, a squadron of aeroplanes and a complete flotilla of battle craft, "Civilization is a stupendous production which no one can afford to miss during it's engagement at the Bradley Opera House on Friday, July 20th.

Transvaal Terminations.

In perusing the names of South African towns in the newspapers many must have noted the word "fontein," which appears so often. This word is the English "fountain," and towns with this termination have been named after Dutch farms, which are always built beside fountains of spring water.

Thus Bloemfontein means "flowery fountain," Modderfontein "muddy fountain," Kleinfontein "small fountain" and Elandsfontein "deer fountain."

Another town termination which many readers must have noticed is that of "laagte," which is pronounced "laughty." It means "shelter for animals," and hence when we talk of the battle of Elandslaagte we may know that it was fought on a spot frequented by deer.—London Mail.

Not Always.

"And now, boys," concluded the eminent visitor to the school, "never be in too great a hurry. More haste, less speed. Remember the hare and the tortoise. Let 'slow, but sure,' be your motto. 'Then you can't go wrong. Be slow and you will be sure."

"Not always, sir," piped a young urchin.

"Not always? How do you make that out?"

"There's lots of things that's slow, but they ain't sure."

"Oh! Name one, then."

"Please, sir, a watch."—Exchange.

Food Value of Milk.

Milk is an animal food. In nature its use is universal as food for the growing young. This means that milk makes growth, does more than merely maintain the body. Milk possesses the element of growth not only in the butter fat but also in the skimmilk. There is no better food than milk.—Exchange.

Ink Stains.

If ink is spilt on the tablecloth immediately melt a candle. Taking some of the tallow, spread it over the ink patch and leave it to dry. Afterward wash the tablecloth, and all traces of ink will disappear.

Belligerent.

The word belligerent is formed of two Latin words bellum (war) and gerere (carry). A belligerent nation is one that is carrying on war.

One way to keep a body from becoming a busybody is to keep a body busy. —Youth's Companion.

RED CROSS NEWS

On and after July 23rd the headquarters will be in charge of Miss Louise Phelps. She is organizing a committee of sixteen ladies who will serve alternately, so that no one person will have to serve more than twice each month.

Mrs. Helen Clark will be inspector of materials and sorting.

Mrs. J. R. Nyland is director of washcloths and handkerchiefs. This is a new department and needs workers urgently. Please get your materials and instructions from her.

Miss Hosmer sent eight dozen sponges to Adrian on Monday. She will give instruction in knitting all the articles pertaining to her department.

Mrs. T. C. Harris' committee finished 17 surgical shirts this week which went to Adrian and she has a number cut out. More cutting will be started today.

Mrs. Sena Crane reports a nice lot of workers on her committee who are doing all the work she has material for. They finished 15 pajamas this week.

Mrs. Faron Anderson is waiting for a fresh supply of materials for sheets.

Mrs. Raynor Anderson wishes volunteers for work on large pillowcases.

Mrs. A. W. Mills is receiving a further supply of yarn and would like more workers for knitting socks.

Mrs. J. B. Kennedy reports that work is going along very nicely. She sent 10 bathrobes to Adrian yesterday.

The following ladies will be in charge of the headquarters:

Wednesday, July 18th—Mrs. H. W. McClure

Thursday—Mrs. Homer Whaley

Friday—Mrs. Geo. Zimmerman

Saturday afternoon—Mrs. Albert S. Cummins

Saturday evening — Mrs. George Church

Workers are earnestly requested to take no instructions from anybody, but the particular director at the head of their own department. There is so much to do that it is impossible for the directors to study more than the specifications necessary for their own special work.

There has been some disappointment over work being returned and one or two ladies have felt discouraged and have wondered why the examiners should be so particular.

We should all look upon ourselves as soldiers and should obey orders as soldiers do. What would happen if every soldier questioned the orders of his chief? How could an army win a victory if each private soldier should decide that he would dig his trench the way he wanted to and not according to the specifications handed down by the heads of the army?

We are, if we do our work well, soldiers in the great army that is to win victory for America; the more accurate our work, the more uniform, so much the more effective it will be. It is not for us to ask why certain things should be thus and so; they have been ordered so, because long experience has taught those at the head that such and such a method is the cheapest, best and most serviceable.

Our soldiers are today dying in the trenches for us. The least we can do is to do our part as well as they do theirs.

Also, as materials are very dear at present, all workers are requester to kindly work as economically as they can as a tiny little bit of waste amounts to a tremendous quantity when done by millions of workers.

Please begin saving your rags and scraps for future use as we expect to have to collect again in the future. Leave your bundles at any time at Mrs Hardy's.

Miss Jennie Gillespie has been advised from the Adrian Headquarters that the class in surgical dressings will begin there on July 23rd. All Tecumseh ladies desiring to take the course are requested to notify Mr. Harry Fee at once, so that he may arrange for the time and number of classes. Mr. Fee hopes that there will be many from Tecumseh who will take the class.

Johnson and Seven.

President Johnson had seven letters in his name. When he was fourteen, twice seven, he became a tailor's apprentice, which he remained for seven years. When he was twenty-one, three times seven, he gave up tailoring. When he was twenty-eight, four times seven, he became an alderman. At thirty-five, five times seven, he entered the legislature. In 1842, six times seven, he was a member of congress. At forty-nine, seven times seven, he was a senator. On the 7th of March, 1862, he was military governor of Tennessee. At fifty-six, eight times seven, he became vice president.

Russia's Resources.

Russia is a country of vast resources, many of them undeveloped. They raise great quantities of wheat, rye and oats, and hemp and flax are extensively cultivated. They raise a great amount of [illegible] stock, while the Obdorski and Ural mountains contain very great mineral [illegible], and Russia is now the largest producer of petroleum in the world. [illegible] is an inexhaustible amount of [illegible] Russia.

TECUMSEH BOY MAKES GOOD

Milburn H. Hawkes Advanced to Captain of Co. D. 31st Regiment, M. N. G.

A former Tecumseh boy, Milburn H Hawkes, son of George Hawkes of this place, has recently been promoted from 1st lieutenant of Co. A, 31st Reg., M. N. G., to captain of Co. D of the 31st regiment.

Captain Hawkes was in Tecumseh Monday, visiting his father and bidding goodby to his relatives and friends. He expects his regiment to be called inside of ten days to go to Waco, Texas.

Milburn was born in Britton and much of his early life was spent in Tecumseh where he attended our public school. He left here about eighteen years ago, going to Detroit where for a number of years he was employed in the office of the American Radiator Co.

Capt Hawkes has been in state military service for the past seventeen years and has a fine record. As drill master he has been unusually successful and has had the honor of instructing and drilling several independent companies in Detroit. Co. D, Capt. Hawkes' company, is one of the few of the National Guard which has been recruited up to full war strength and this has been done through the efforts of the captain.

EXTRA FEATURES FOR WEDNESDAY

Fisher's Orchestra from Ann Arbor to Furnish Music.

An extra feature for Wednesday's Bargain Day program will be Ike Fisher's eight piece orchestra from Ann Arbor which has been secured to furnish the music.

Two numbers on the program given last Wednesday afternoon and omitted in the evening on account of the rain, will be repeated tomorrow: Diamond-Albino, Irish harpist and accordian players, and Bond and Bond, acrobats. These two acts were exceptionally fine and many expressed themselves by saying that they were the best seen here this season.

Our friends will be sure to see a fine program Wednesday so plan to be here. The program in full is as follows:

Sterner Duo, bar act

Bond & Bond, acrobats

Diamond Albino, Irish harpist and accordian players

Ike Fisher's 8 piece orchestra from Ann Arbor.

To Stop Hiccoughs.

Simple cases of hiccough are often relieved by such measures as sucking ice or taking salt and vinegar, says the New York Medical Journal. Pulling the tongue forward and holding it for some time is an effective procedure. Sometimes obstinate hiccough is relieved when the patient is strong by having him hang with the arms extended and grasping some beam or pole, so that his feet do not touch the floor. With all the abdominal muscles tense, have him hold his breath as long as possible. Sneezing is very efficient in certain cases since it is the exact opposite to hiccough, being a sudden expiratory act.

Blind Points In Our Memory.

"I don't remember" is a frequent answer from the witness box when the sudden question is put. And it is often a question such as any man might be expected to answer offhand. It would be a very intelligent jury that would understand the man who could not remember where he lunched every day. But there is probably not a juryman on the lists who could not tell a story of his own sudden lapse of memory—when the name, the date of importance had come under the blind point of the memory, just as the eye has that blind point which, as you turn the head and watch the dot on the paper, misses it and then regains it.—London Chronicle.

JOLLY 16

The Jolly 16, and they live up to their name, were entertained at the home of Mrs. Clement Hardenburg Friday evening. Mrs. Hardenburg had dropped the remark that when they came to her house it would be a pot luck supper and, taking her at her word, the company went prepared. That is to say, they all carried huge boxes and baskets full of paper, with here and there a pickle, a biscuit or some other eatibles in very small proportions. The hostess very soon caught on to the joke and enjoyed it, later serving a fine two course supper which the jolly jokers fully appreciated.

At the close of the supper, ten games of pedro were played. Mrs. Frank Rude winning first prize, Mrs. F. E. Snedicor second prize and Mrs. George Church the booby. A very delightful evening was the report of all present.

The Young Idea.

In a certain school a schoolboy of tender years is said to have produced the following essay on the camel: "The cannimal is a sheep of the desert. It is called a backteria because it has a hump on its back. The cannimal is very patient and will lie down and die without a groan, but when it is angry it gets its back up, which is called the hump. The shepherds of cannimals is called Arabs. When they live in towns they are called street Arabs. When the cannimal goes on a journey it drinks as much as it can to last for many days. Such animals are called acquiducks. Those that cannot carry enough are called inebriates."

Height of Thrift.

"The grouch is certainly a tightwad, isn't he?" said the old fogy.

"He sure is," replied the wise guy.

"He'd charge you interest if he lent you his moral support."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Monument of Tears.

Marking the dividing line between Europe and Asia and of Russia and Siberia, at the summit of the Ural mountains, is the "Monument of Tears," a white triangular pyramid significant to unfortunate exiles.

An old black sock or stocking is the best thing to use when one is sponging off a garment of dark woolen goods with any cleaning fluid. There is no lint from it and it is absorbent and soft.

BUILD A SILO

Saginaw Silo

Corn had a late start again this year. An early frost will leave those without silos without feed.

Eight reasons why a Silo will pay you:

Your corn crop is worth from 25 to 30 per cent. more in a silo.

The silo gives you green feed in winter when prices are high.

It gives you green feed in summer when pastures are dry.

It helps you make the best use of frosted and immature corn.

It helps fatten your stock for market.

Three tons of silage are worth as much as a ton of good hay.

Good silage, properly fed, does not injure milk, butter, or cheese. You can feed your stock from less acres, and market more crops.

It will pay you to build one this year for you will need silage this winter more than you ever did before. Talk it over with your banker, he can help you.

The above is condensed from a poster sent out by the Agricultural Experiment Station, University of Wisconsin, to Wisconsin farmers.

Read it carefully, then call us up or come in and we will show you the best silo on the market, the silo that took highest honors at the Panama Exposition, the

Function Dainties

The daintyness, the "tastyness" of the eatables served is necessary to the success of an afternoon tea or other function.

No compromise with quality can be thought of at such a time.

The hostess who supplies herself from our stock can feel easy about the eatable part of the affair.

We are ready for any demand that may be made upon us.

Varieties are ample, and include everything desirable.

Qualties are unquestioned.

Aud besides these, the hostess is helped in her choosing by visiting this store.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

Friday afternoon while a number of young girls were playing around the first dam below Hayden's mill, Doris, one of the Marsh twins, met with what might have been a fatal accident A large rope hanging to a tree is used by the boys when they go in swimming. This proved too great a temptation for Doris so she put her foot in the wire loop and, clinging to the rope, swung out over the water. The wire loop breaking frightened her, so she let go her hold of the rope and dropped into the pond where the water was some 15 ft. deep.

Wm. Martin, hearing her cries, ran to her rescue and soon had her on the bank. Except for being stiff [illegible] body, Doris is about as usual and recounts her experience in a very graphic manner.

CHARLES KEMPF INJURED

Charles Kempf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kempf, was the victim of what might have been a serious accident, Friday evening. He was riding on Irving Shaw's dray and by some misstep fell from the dray, in such a way that the front wheel passed over his left ankle and elbow. Irving, quick to see the lad's danger, pushed him as he fell in such a manner that it saved him from more serions injury.

Dr. Hardy was called, but found no bones broken, but it will be several days before he will be able to be out again.

The Crumbs and the Crust.

Eat the crust of bread in preference to the crumb. This is the advice of the London Lancet. This famous London medical publication says that analysis shows that "the crumb contains on an average 43 per cent of moisture, while the crust contains only 20 per cent."

One important dietetic difference between crust and crumb is the fact that the former contains an increased amount of soluble carbohydrates owing to the action of intense heat which the crust receives compared with the crumb during baking. Moreover, the crust has a more pronounced bready flavor than the crumb, a flavor which is attractive and which stimulates the flow of digestive juices.

Garlic.

Garlic, mentioned in the Bible in Numbers xi. 5, is still abundant in Egypt, from which country it was introduced into southern Europe. It is now grown in the temperate zones all around the world.

Nothing raises the price of a blessing like its removal, whereas it was its continuance which should have cost us its value.—Hannah More.

A Bit of Seaweed

A Story of the War For Cuba.

By ETHEL HOLMES

Kate Langdon was a character. Not especially pretty, she had a way with her that first attracted people's attention, then won them. Some said she was very deep, others that she was a simple child of nature. She was certainly reckless. She would flirt with several men at a time without heeding the consequences, and when cornered would, if possible, dodge them all by flight, leaving them to settle the matter among themselves.

And so it was that some blamed her, others defended her, but all were amused by her. It was very interesting to see a middy come upon the edge of the vortex, get drawn in, drop out, giving place perhaps to a fellow middy, perhaps to an officer. Whether the girl realized the wrong she was often doing, whether she was unconscious of it or whether she had no appreciation of the tenderness of men's hearts, certain it is that she never seemed either ashamed of her conquests or proud of them. Indeed, she gave every evidence that she regretted them.

A fine field for such girls is either the West Point or Annapolis academy, where young men are trained for the army or navy. Kate Langdon the year of the breaking out of the Spanish-American war visited the Naval academy as the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Lyall, the wife of one of the professors. She hadn't been there a week before she had half a dozen middies "by the ears."

In the class to be graduated the following spring were two young men, Hector Peckham and Leslie Holt. Both met Kate Langdon, and both fell violently in love with her. In the government academies the standard of honor is very high. Neither of the cadets would take the slightest advantage of the other, but neither could find out which was really the favored one. Nor were they ever sure but that one of several other middies might not after all carry off the prize.

Peckham finally won. Kate gave him her heart and, to the surprise of every one, gave him the whole of it. There were a number of disappointments in consequence of this victory, the most serious of which was Leslie Holt. Kate had given him a great deal of encouragement and for some time after she came to a decision hadn't the heart to break with him. When it finally came out that Peckham had won, Holt went to see her to ask if the news were true. She confessed, and he told her that she had wrecked his life.

Young men have said this before to young women, to marry some other and live happily. Some have remained single, cherishing their idol in their hearts, to meet that idol when past middle age and find it demolished. Holt so long as he lived—he did not live long—never recovered from his infatuation. The words he used at his last meeting with Kate Langdon made the first change in her. By them her light, gladsome nature received its first sobering.

Meanwhile the Cuban war was coming on, and ships and munitions were being hurriedly put in condition for war. And the middies, too, were being hurried on in their academic course to be graduated as soon as hostilities commenced.

The following spring Peckham and Holt were graduated and assigned to a war vessel sailing for Cuba. Peckham and Kate were married before he sailed. The wedding was notable from the number of disappointed young men in attendance. But every man of them swore by the bride and considered the groom the luckiest man that had ever wooed woman.

Kate, having joined the navy matrimonially, felt at home at a naval station, and her aunt, who adored her, invited her to remain with her indefinitely. So Kate stayed where she would be in touch with her husband far more than at home. That was an exciting summer. First came news of the fight in Manila bay, then the entrance of the Spanish Admiral Cervera's fleet into Cuban waters, its attempt to escape and its destruction.

Peckham and Holt went through this last fight, and when it was over the latter officer was ordered to the command of a small supply boat and directed to sail for the Brooklyn navy yard.

"Can I do anything for you at home?" he asked of Peckham.

"Nothing, unless you will take a letter for my wife. You will mail it as soon as you get to Brooklyn."

"With pleasure," replied Holt.

Peckham wrote a short note to his wife and gave it to Holt.

"The trap I'm to command is not very seaworthy," said the latter. "If I meet a big blow I may not get through. But I promise you, Hector, that your wife shall have the letter."

Peckham hoped that his friend would get through safely, and they parted.

One morning young Mrs. Peckham was sitting in her room at Annapolis reading accounts of the naval fight off Cuba—she had read them many times before—when a draft blew open the door and there came into the room a strong smell of the sea. Standing before the opening was Leslie Holt, pale and exhausted.

"Why, Mr. Holt!" exclaimed Mrs. Peckham.

Without a word he handed her a letter. Thinking it to be from her husband or that it might bring her bad news from him, her attention was momentarily turned from its bearer to the letter. It bore evidence of having been wet. A dampness clung to it, and the letters of the address had run together. She tore it open and read it. It was simply an announcement that the writer was well, had suffered nothing in the recent engagement and hoped before many weeks to return to her. Having satisfied herself that it boded no harm to the man she loved, she turned to its bearer. He was not there.

Thinking that what had passed between them before her marriage had led him to go away without even having been thanked, she tossed the letter on a table and ran out into the hall to stop him. Not finding him in the hall, she went out on to the porch. He was not there, nor was he anywhere to be seen, though there was nothing for some distance to obstruct her vision.

"Stranger," she said to herself and returned to her room, a fear coming over her that the affair was in some way connected with a misfortune to her husband. Going to the table, she was about to snatch up the letter when she saw that it was not where she had put it. Looking on the floor for it, she did not find it.

"I'm sure something has happened to Hector," she moaned. "Leslie Holt slipped away on purpose so that he wouldn't have to say anything to me about it. But how pale he looked and how exhausted!"

Thinking a draft might have blown the letter off the table, she looked about until she saw something of a light brownish color in a corner. Sure that it was the letter, which had been discolored, she seized it. What was her surprise to find a seaweed.

There was something so uncanny in all this that she was now thoroughly frightened. Dropping the seaweed, she put both hands to her temples in an effort to regain her equanimity. Then, rushing out of the room, she ran to her aunt and sank in a swoon.

Ten minutes later Dr. Coggswell, medical officer at the academy, was called to Professor Lyall's quarters. He found Mrs. Peckham lying on a bed in a high state of nervous excitement. Mrs. Lyall told the doctor, before he saw the patient, the story her niece had told her, and he did not permit the invalid to go over it again. He said that the expectation for a long while that her husband would at any time participate in a naval engagement and the excitement attending the recent fight had been a strain upon her nerves that had produced hallucination. He prescribed a sedative and left directions that she was to be kept quiet.

But Mrs. Peckham did not recover from the strain as soon as was expected. And one morning something occurred to give her a terrible back set. A telegram from Key West appeared in a morning paper stating that a little naval tender, commanded by Leslie Holt, had been wrecked on one of the keys and all on board had been lost.

Mrs. Lyall kept this news from her niece as long as she dared, hoping the invalid would gain strength and there would be less danger in communicating it to her. Finally, fearing that Kate might hear it from others, she told her of young Holt's death.

If anything was needed to complete the conviction that the wraith of the man who had told her she had wrecked his life had visited her, the announcement of his death [illegible] subsequent letter, however, from Peckham served to lighten the blow. Kate felt that the matter had no reference to her husband; it was between her and Leslie Holt. She considered it a punishment for having trifled with him and brooded and brooded, and all efforts on the part of her friends to convince her that there was nothing in it except a creation of her own brain under a nervous strain were fruitless.

In time Peckham came north, and it was hoped that his presence would lift the cloud that hung over his wife. It helped her, but did not cure her. She went about as before, but how changed!

"What a sad sight is Mrs. Peckham," said one of the men with whom she had trifled—one of the older ones, an officer. "The matter proves the innocence of her action when so many of us were attentive to her. Wicked people are not remorseful. The tender consciences are usually to be found in innocence. Had she been a heartless, a wicked flirt the fact that she had wrecked a man's life would have pleased her. Instead of this, his telling her that she had wrecked his life wrecked hers. He should not have said such a thing to her, and he would not have said it had he been older and realized the effect it would have on her."

It is years since this shock came to Mrs. Peckham, and, although it has somewhat worn away, it has left its effects. She is still beloved, for at heart she is the same innocent woman, though very different from the days of her girlhood. Every one except herself refers the visit of the wraith to a shock coming from overstrained nerves. She would as soon doubt her existence as doubt the reality of the visit. After sufficiently recovering to talk about it she declared that she not only smelled the salt air of the sea, but saw Leslie Holt standing before her—not lifelike, it is true, because he was very pale, and he had the appearance of having been in the water. The only thing to prove her position was the letter she received and the seaweed, but that disappeared during her first shock and never was recovered.

His Language Outclassed.

A party of New Yorkers were hunting in the "piney woods" of Georgia and had as an attendant an old negro whose fondness for big words is characteristic of the race. One of the hunters, knowing the old African's bent, remarked to him:

"Uncle Mose, the indentations in terra firma in this locality render traveling in a vehicular conveyance without springs decidedly objectionable and painful anatomically. Don't you think so?"

Uncle Mose scratched his left ear a moment and replied, with a slow shake of his woolly head:

"Mistah George, the exuberance of yoh words am beyon' mah jurydiction."

Passing of the Locomotive.

Our country is witnessing a silent revolution in motive power which will appear more interesting to future generations than it does to our own. Substitution of electricity for steam on railways is going forward rapidly in all parts of the land. Some years ago it was estimated that it would cost the railroads $500,000,000 to put their locomotives on the scrap heap and electrify their lines. The expenditure is indeed very heavy, but when the money outlay is measured against the many advantages, including cleanliness, speed and resiliency, it is, after all, but a small price to pay. — Philadelphia Ledger.

Another Vanishing Race.

The Hawaiians, when they follow the American Indian at last upon the road that has no turning, will leave only a little wild music in the air behind them as a memorial. They are an incurably ingenuous people, gifted with qualities that might be valuable as a leaven in this tumultuous world if they were more widely cultivated—idyllic faith, generosity, credulity, courage and a love of beautiful things. It isn't surprising that attributes like these should have served them poorly in these times of kultur and counter kultur, of speed and efficiency and the exacting demands of industrial processes.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Manchurian Walnuts.

The Manchurian walnut is called the English walnut in the United States. It is found growing wild in the hill country of northern China and in Manchuria. It is thoroughly acclimated to the severe winters there.

GERMANS TAKE NOTICE OF RUSS

Hurry Large Forces to Riga to to Halt Slav Drive.

KORNILOFF CAPTURES 36,000

Kaiser Attempting to Halt Foe's Steady March Into Austria by Striking in Extreme North—Troops Are Moved from Italian and French Lines for Riga Attack.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The whole Russian front from the Gulf of Riga [illegible] patches from Petrograd to the Russian embassy here to be alive with battle. The Germans are said to be rushing up troops from the Italian and French fronts and to be entirely rearranging their positions.

On the northern front near Riga, German re-enforcements are rushing up by sea transport. On the Lemberg front the troops are being shifted back and forth by means of heavy automobiles in an attempt to prevent further advances by General Korniloff. On the southern front in the Carpathians, the Austrians are said to be in full flight.

The German re-enforcements of the Riga front by transport is understood here to be for a German counter offensive as a diversion to the severe Russian attacks farther south. This has been long threatened and it is thought now that General von Moedre, in command there, has been given orders to go ahead.

Enemy Flying Back and Fourth.

On the Lemberg front, the left flank of the Austro-German army defending that city, is stated to be seriously threatened with the result that the enemy is rushing men back and forth in heavy automobiles in order to support the weakened wing. General Korniloff in taking the town of Kaludsz, made a very serious strategical threat against the whole opposing German forces and the question remains as to whether he may not complete it with serious results to the Germans.

Austrians Flee in Panic.

On the Carpathian front the Austrians are said to be "fleeing in panic," stopping only where occasional steep hills give them rest. General Trosdansky, in command of the Russians there is said to be pressing vigorously forward on the heels of the retreating foe and to be overcoming the rear guards left among the natural barriers. Other dispatches tell of new rules of army discipline about to be issued by Minister Kenensky. They will be very brief and will lay stress on the equal responsibility of officers and men.

Russians Capture 916 in Galicia.

PETROGRAD — The Russians found captured sixteen officers and 900 Austro-Germans in the battle in eastern Galicia, says the official statement issued by the Russian war department. The Russians also took a number of mahcine guns.

Prisoners Total Over 36,000.

From July 1 to July 13, the statements, 834 officers and 35,809 men were captured by the Russians. General Korniloff's forces also captured 93 heavy and light guns, 28 trench mortars, 403 machine guns, 43 mine throwers, 45 bomb mortars, 3 fire throwers, 2 airplanes and much equipment.

The Russians drove the Austrians out of the village of Lodziany, in the Lomnica river regian, and retained possession of the eastern end of the town northeast of Kalucz the Germans began an attack. The Russians were thrown back.

The soldiers, Joseph Bullock, twenty-three, Arthur Smith, thirty, and John Schneider, twenty-four, of Calumet and all members of Company A, engineer corps, an auxiliary of the Thirty-third Michigan infantry, stationed at Fort Wayne, were struck and instantly killed by a Wabash passenger train at a crossing at Detroit.

RED CROSS NEWS

Mr. Herbert Temple reports the total membership of the Tecumseh branch as 856 to date. The Red Cross Patriotic League has received $3,327.00.

The snipping machine is in operation at headquarters and Mrs. Helen J. Clark and her committee are as busy as bees every afternoon, preparng material for the machine. Mrs. Clark appeals for more workers to tear material and to work the sewing machine.

Miss Hosmer says that all her knitters are doing their work beautifully.

Several ladies, who have visited the Adrian headquarters are delighted with the efficient method with which work is being done there. If you go to Adrian, do not fail to visit the rooms.

We need about 20 empty flour sacks to pack scraps in for transportation to the Adrian mills. Please leave them at headquarters or at Mrs. Hardy's.

All departments need more workers. Now please do not wait to be asked, come and offer your services before you are "drafted." Select the department that you prefer and communicate with the director and see how pleased she will be.

Next time we will publish the list of donors to the Red Cross.

Saturday evening—Mrs. E. Gordon

On Saturday, August 11th, the Red Cross Concert Co. will give a concert at Sand lake, Mrs. Fred Wood musical director.

On Sunday evening, July 22nd, Col. E. S. Wigle, a Canadian soldier, who was wounded in the trenches and invalided home, will speak at the Adrian Opera House to rouse enthusiasm for the American Patriotic League. Do not fail to attend. You will get the facts from one who knows by experience.

Percy Grainger, the great Australian composer, who receives $1000 a night for playing, has thrown up all of his engagements and has organized a company who gives all money taken to the American Red Cross.

The President of the [illegible] has sent out the following appeal:

"As President of the American Red Cross, our branch of the great international organization, I most ernestly commend it to your confidence and support. Upon your aid, upon the amounts and promptness of your gifts and co-operation, must depend the fulfilment of the duties which are mposed upon it. It serves so noble and beneficent a purpose that it must appeal to all who love their country and who love humanity."—Woodrow Wilson

MOBILIZING NATIONAL GUARD

Prepration for War Service of the Militia Starts.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Mobilization of the national guard for war service began Monday. While no orders for embarkation of state troops for France will be given until after Aug. 5 when the entire force will be drafted formally into the United States army, there are indications that some divisions will be regarded as ready to board transports soon after that date.

The first clause of President Wilson's proclamation providing for the federalization of the national guard for the war became effective Sunday. Under it all guard units from New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota and Nebraska went on the federal pay roll from that date. Actual concentration of troops in their home forces or state camps began Monday.

I. W. W. STILL HELD BY U. S.

Military Commanders Will Await Word from Washington.

EL PASO — Military commanders here are without instructions as to the disposition to be made of I. W. W.'s interned at Columbus, and said they will be held until Washington orders release. Eight men alleged to be I. W. W. agitators were arrested here by the police. They will be investigated.

William Moeller, wealthy real estate operator, was arrested by government agents and is being investigated for alleged pro-German activities.

Judge F. M. Wright Is Dead.

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. — Frances Wright, federal judge of the eastern Illinois district, died at his home in Urbana.

Discrepancies amounting to more than $15,000 in the office of the treasurer of Wayne county were brought to light when the Wayne county board of auditors, under pressure of publicity, revealed a story of "erratic bookkeeping" which has been under investigation since Dec. 30, 1916.

CATHOLIC PARTY IN REICHSTAG DEFIANT

Decides on Peace Efforts Regardless of German Liberals.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A Rome dispatch received in official Italian circles declares that the kaiser is gradually turning power over to the German crown prince and intimates vaguely that the change in government in Germany is preliminary to a peace move. Italy, says the message, will not enter into any negotiations with the new government.

AMSTERDAM — A Berlin telegram to an Amsterdam news agency quotes the Tageblatt of Berlin to the effect that the Catholic Center party in the reichstag has decided with two dissenting votes to make a declaration in favor of peace efforts without regard to the attitude of the national liberals.

According to a report in the Berliner Tageblatt, reichstag party leaders, after they had been received by Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff, held a conference in the reichstag buildings and decided to maintain the terms of peace resolutions agreed on before the interview.

Mr. and Mrs. James Van Orden of Ann Arbor received word that their son William, who is a member of one of the University of Michigan units of the Michigan naval militia, now stationed at Great Lakes, was dangerously ill of spinal meningitis.

To knit two pairs of socks each week for the soldier boys is the self imposed task of Mrs. Louisa M. Conrad, seventy-five years old, who during four years of the civil war put in a large amount of time hemming bandages, knitting and scraping lint.

GERMAN PLAN TO GET ROOSEVELT IS UPSET

U-boat Flotilla for Teddy is Thwarted by Wilson.

COPENHAGEN — The decision of President Wilson not ot send Colonel Theodore Roosevelt to France in command of an American army division brought disappointment to certain circles in the German navy.

When it became almost certain that America would dispatch troops to France and it appeared from dispatches that Roosevelt would come in command of the first division, a special squadron of "transport hunters" was organized in the U-boat division of the navy. The submarine flotilla was spoken of in navy circles as the "Teddy jaeger" or Teddy chasers."

This special flotilla was to "lay for T. R.," according to report, and was to consist of the largest, fastest and best U-boats, with wide radius of action and equipped with the heaviest guns that so far have been mounted on U-boats. The announcement that the President had turned down Roosevelt has taken much of the interest and snap out of the men who believed they would be scheduled to "chase Teddy."

At a meeting of the food preparedness committee at Lansing the question of farm labor was discussed, with particular attention to the securing of temporary help from the large industries of men who have been on farms before and who are willing to go back.

Two boys were drowned at Calumet while swimming in Portage lake, one perishing while attempting to rescue the other. The victims are Howard Hendrickson, ten years old, who ventured into deep water, and Paul Ludevise, twelve years old, who tried to save his companion.

How Kaffirs Smoke.

The natives of South Africa are inveterate smokers, but some of them indulge in the habit in a distinctly queer fashion. The natives of Harrismith, in the Orange River Colony, smoke in the following novel manner: A "pipe" is made by thrusting two sticks into the ground so as to meet at an angle; when they are withdrawn two tunnels are left behind. A hollow reed is stuck in one hole and the tobacco placed in the other, and lighted. Before beginning operations the native fills his mouth with water, drawing in the smoke with a gurgling sound and blowing out the water and smoke through a second reed. It seems a mighty poor way of smoking to a white man, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, but the Kaffirs are very fond of it.

The Sergeant's Threat.

Answering for absent comrades during roll call is quite usual with soldiers. Sergeants know themselves to be tricked in this fashion very often, but as detection of the culprits is almost impossible they have to content themselves with the use of a little threatening language toward their men. It was an Irish sergeant who recently delivered himself as follows when about to call the roll in a Dublin barracks:

"Now, mind ye, if I ketch any of ye sayin' yer here when yer not here yez'll go over there," pointing to the guardroom.—Atlanta Journal.

Varnish and Enamel.

Paints which dry with a high luster or gloss are called enamels. These are made from zinc oxide ground in varnish. Varnish is produced from fossil resins such as copal, kauri, etc. These resins, which originally flowed from trees, have been deposited for centuries in the earth. They are mined in Africa and New Zealand and are found in big lumps.—Popular Science Monthly.

Not That Kind.

"Here you are, son," said the facetious man to the messenger boy. "Take this note to No. 1415 Umpty-ump street and see if you can't give me a correct imitation of Mercury."

"Aw, quit cher kiddin'," answered the lad. "I ain't no thermometer."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Remembering Errors.

"Does your typewriter believe in the simplified spelling?"

"Oh, I rather think not. She always seems to spell words in the hardest way."

Rejected.

He—How'd you like a pet dog? She—Now, Charlie, haven't I told you that I don't intend to marry?—Buffalo Express.

To act with common sense according to the moment is the best wisdom I know.—Walpole.

"I really thought that manicure girl was interested in me."

"What disillusioned you?"

"The matter of fact manner in which she called out 'Next!'"—Kansas City Journal.

CARD OF THANKS

We thank the friends and neighbors, the Paragon school and the Ridgeway Sunday school for their kindness, and for their floral offerings during our recent bereavement.

Mrs. Geo. W. Stone,
and children.

The Pennanite War.

The Pennanite war was a humorous name given to an early boundary dispute between the colonies of Connecticut and Pennsylvania. By the original charter granted to William Penn the northern boundary of Pennsylvania was fixed at latitude 43 degrees north. Connecticut claimed as far south as 41 degrees, and both colonies made settlements in the disputed territory. There were many clashes that came near to actual fighting, but finally congress and the courts settled the dispute in favor of Pennsylvania.

Misleading Book Titles.

Some book titles are distinctly misleading. Ruskin's "On the Construction of Sheepfolds" is a famous example of these, and there are others. Mr. Henry James' novel "The Lesson of the Master" has more than once been catalogued as a religious work. The same fate befell Sir Edward Hamilton's "Conversion and Redemption," a highly technical study of schemes for the reduction of the national debt. "Disloyala; or, The Doubtful Priest," was the title originally selected by Shorthouse for the book we now know as "John Inglesant." It was changed for fear that such a title would lead people to regard it as an attack on Roman Catholicism.—London Mail.

The Simplon Pass.

The Simplon pass always has been the great highway of travel from Switzerland into Italy. It was used by Caesar and his legions as far back as 50 B. C., and, although Napoleon happened to use the St. Bernard pass, he recognized the superior importance of the Simplon and ordered a military road to be built over it to serve in future campaigns. It was begun in 1800, but before it was completed, in 1806, the fortunes of the battlefield led the emperor elsewhere, so he never saw it. While thus constructed for war, no army ever crossed it. Instead of furnishing a route for cannons, it became a peaceful medium for international commerce.

The most striking feature in the Biblical notices of the horse is the exclusive application of it to warlike operations and not to ordinary locomotion or to agriculture.

BIG PATRIOTIC MEETING ADRIAN SUNDAY EVENING

Col. E. S. Wigle of Windsor One of the Speakers

The officers of the Patriotic League have arranged a big patriotic meeting to be held at the Adrian opera house Sunday evening. The most interesting feature of the meeting will be the speech given by Col E. S. Wigle of Windsor. Col. Wigle has had over two years' service in France and is well qualified to present to the people of this county the true situation as only a soldier can know it.

Arrangements are being made to have a big attendance in from all ovre the county. Especially is it desired to have all present who are interested in the patriotic drive which is being carried on throughout the county.

We have all read much about this terrific war that we find ourselves forced into, but very few have been privleged to hear it described by one who has seen actual service in it. It is especially desired that all from this section who possibly can attend, will do so.

ANOTHER BIG CROWD IN TECUMSEH

For Last Wednesday's Bargain Day

The streets were literally packed Wednesday evening with autos and people. The program was the seen here this season and everybody enjoyed Ike Fisher's orchestra from Ann Arbor.

A little shower in the afternoon threatened to spoil the evening's entertainment, but luck was with us and it didn't rain.

The program consisted of an aerial act, hand balancing act and musical act, each one the best of its kind. The Irish harpist and the man with the accordian rendered some very sweet music.

In the evening Ike Fisher's 8-piece orchestra gave great satisfaction, each number given being good.

Our Bargain Days have come to stay and everyone enjoys them.

BUILD A SILO

Saginaw Silo

Corn had a late start again this year. An early frost will leave those without silos without feed.

Eight reasons why a Silo will pay you:

Your corn crop is worth from 25 to 30 per cent. more in a silo.

The silo gives you green feed in winter when prices are high.

It gives you green feed in summer when pastures are dry.

It helps you make the best use of frosted and immature corn.

It helps fatten your stock for market.

Three tons of silage are worth as much as a ton of good hay.

Good silage, properly fed, does not injure milk, butter, or cheese. You can feed your stock from less acres, and market more crops.

It will pay you to build one this year for you will need silage this winter more than you ever did before. Talk it over with your banker, he can help you.

The above is condensed from a poster sent out by the Agricultural Experiment Station, University of Wisconsin, to Wisconsin farmers.

Read it carefully, then call us up or come in and we will show you the best silo on the market, the silo that took highest honors at the Panama Exposition, the

SAGINAW SILO

There are two of them on the Bidwell Stock farm and seven on Henry Ford's farm near Detroit. We have sold twenty-eight this year.

Let the McClure Co. be your banker. Their terms are so easy that your silo will pay for itself in feed saved.

YOU SHOULD BUILD NOW

Country's Leading Business Men Tell Why

"It is possible," says THE AMERICAN ARCHITECT, a leading New York Journal, "to enumerate one reason after another in favor of the contention that present prices of building materials are low—not high. The really pertinent comparisons of costs are with the future rather than the past. Viewed in this light, present prices for building materials actually appear to be bargain prices!" This is one good reason for building now.

Another is the supreme confidence which the country's leading business men have in the continuation of the unprecedented prosperity of the last two years. As W. G McAdoo. Secretary of the Treasury, says: "Ten billion dollars to be spent the coming year by the United States and the Allied Governments for the products of American farms, mines and factories, will bring to the country the greatest prosperity in its history"

Our supplies are now adequate, but later, when the movement of crops makes the shortage of frieght cars still worse we may be unable to get enough building materials to supply the demand. For your own protection we advise that you

JOHN LEE

John Lee, who for many months has been in failing health, passed away at his home east of town Wednesday afternoon, July 18, 1917, at the age of 75 years, the cause of his death being cancer.

The wife, one son, William Lee of Hillsdale, and eight grandchildren are left to mourn his loss

The funeral services will be held this (Friday) afternoon at the home with burial in Brookside cemetery

JAMES BURDETTE

James Burdette of Macon, who has been spending several weeks at the home of his brother Eugene Burdette in Brownville, passed away Wednesday morning at the age of 63 years.

Mr. Burdette has been in failing health for some time.

The funeral services will be conducted at the Macon Methodist church this (Friday) afternoon at 2 o'clock with burial at Macon.

RAISING THE FLAG STAFF

A faithful few gathered at Brookside Thursday evening for the raising of the flag staff presented by the Men's Brotherhood Class of the Presbyterian church

The hour was a beautiful one, the hush of the twilight was broken only by the twitter of the birds as they sought their resting place for the night.

As the hour approached John Furse. acting as master of ceremonies, gathered the men around the Soldiers' Lot and the staff was soon in its place.

He then, in a few well chosen words, introduced John Boyce who made the presentation in a very pleasing manner

He was followed by J D. Shull who, in behalf of the G. A R and all soldiers, accepted the gift. He made a stirring appeal for everyone to help in this hour of our country's need and to give—give—give as much as they could afford, and then some

Mr Furse then called on Dr Hartzog who made a few very feeling remarks, referring to the sacrifice that fathers and mothers are called upon to make at this time in giving up their sons to fight our battles He said it was the most grievous trial in his life when his only son joined the ranks, but his sorrow was no worse than thousands are called upon to suffer, but it was the call of duty and must be endured

H W. Stevens made a few remarks on the flag and the exercises were closed by Rev. Dr. Balmer, who invoked the divine blessing on all

Softly the twilight shadows gathered round the hallowed spot, as the company dispersed to their several homes

D. B. Finch and family, who have been visiting their parents for several weeks, left for their home in Parkersburg, W. Va., today.

Miss Marian Rosacrans left for Detroit Wednesday morning and on Thursday went on to Cleveland for a visit with Miss Helen Pavey and sister.

Fred Rosacrans is spending a week or ten days at Mullett Lake where he joined his wife and daughter-in-law who have been spending a few weeks there.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillen and little Ruth, who have been visiting her parents Rev. and Mrs. Balmer, returned to their home in Cincinnati Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A Heesen, Mrs. Glover and Mr. and Mrs John Heesen motored to Toledo Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Al. Heesen.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Page of Dexter, who have been visiting their uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. James Cadmus, left for their home Wednesday morning.

Miss Anna Schreder is now at the home of her uncle, John Schreder, while her father is moving into the new home. Anna is gaining slowly from her recent illness.

The Misses Arlene and Geraldine Gillespie are spending the week with their aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Davis in Detroit, returning home with them Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stahl of Detroit were calling on frends in town Sunday. Mrs. Stahl is recovering from a serious operation which she underwent a few weeks ago.

All roads led into Manchester Thursday evening, for the band concert and balloon ascension. The streets were packed with autos and carriages and people everywhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Howe entertained Glenn Griswold and Miss Helen Chadwick of Detroit for the weekend. Sunday they all visited with Mr. and Mrs. George Bangs near Adrian.

American Steamer Is Lost—Grace, Owned by New York Company, Is Sunk and Three Men, One an American, Are Killed—Two Large British Steamers Torpedoed.

LONDON, ENG. — Four of the largest and most modern German submarines were destroyed by American warships which were convoying the first installment of American troops to France, according to a report from German sources as contained in a Bern dispatch to a Rome news agency, forwarded from Rome by the Central News.

American Ship Sunk, Three Killed.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sinking of the American steamer Grace and the killing of three men, one of them an American, and the injury of two members of the naval armed guard was announced by the state department.

The steamer was owned by the Standard Commercial Steamship corporation, 15 Whitehall street, New York. It was sunk by a torpedo from a submarine.

Those killed were E. J. Farrell of New Jersey and two aliens named Van Wyke and Anderson.

Five men were injured by fire from an explosion in the petroleum cargo. Three were aliens.

The two naval sailors injured were Hugh Donnelly and George Wilson.

All survivors have been landed and the injured taken to a hospital.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, July 11.—In addition to capturing Halicz, the Russians took 2,000 prisoners and 30 guns. They also advanced westward to the left bank of the Lomnica river and pressed forward on the Bogorodchan-Zolotvin front.

More than 1,250 British prisoners have been taken by the German marine corps in the Yser district of Belgium.

Thursday, July 12.—Kalusz, in Galicia has been occupied by the Russians. The Russian troops are continuing their successful advance and have taken a large number of prisoners.

On the Verdun front the German crown prince made a number of attacks on both banks of the Meuse. All these assaults, delivered in the vicinity of Hill 304 on the one side of the stream and north of the Hardaumont work on the other, were repulsed by the French, as were attacks on the Aisne front south of Juvincourt and in the region of the triangulate plateau.

Friday, July 13.—In the course of the battles in eastern Galicia on Wednesday the Russians captured ten officers and 850 rank and file, chiefly Germans. They also took five heavy guns and ten machine guns.

On the western front the Germans violently bombarded Rheims, 1,600 shells falling into the city.

Saturday, July 14.—The Russian armies in Galicia are still sweeping forward. They are pushing on north of the Dniester and west of the Lomnica, and generally proving victors in the fighting going on along a fifty-mile front.

On the Franco-Belgian front, a waiting policy is being pursued by General Haig on the British end of the line and General Petain in the French section. There has been only local fighting by either group of armies.

Sunday, July 15.—Following the capture of Kalush in eastern Galicia, which had been headquarters for the Austro-German forces operating in that area, the Russians have pushed on eighteen miles to the southwest of that point and forced the Austrians out of their positions in the Lodziany region. Petrograd announces that in the fighting Saturday the Russian forces captured 1,000 additional prisoners on this front, in addition to taking 600 on the various other fronts. Elsewhere the Russians were subjected to counter attacks by the Teutons, but everywhere held their ground.

A strongly organized network of German trenches on a front of more than 800 yards and 300 yards in depth, north of Mont Haut and northwest of the Teton in the Champagne, was captured in a brilliant attack by the French.

A German attack in the Aisne front resulted in the capture of French positions on the Chemin-des-Dames, southeast of Courtecon, along a front of 1,500 metres and 300 metres deep.

SEEK CZECHO-GERMAN UNITY

Members of Austrian Parliament Adopt Harmony Resolution.

AMSTERDAM — It is reported from Vienna that the German and Bohemian members of the upper and lower houses of the Austrian parliament have adopted jointly a resolution setting forth their desire for peace within the country and the possibility of Germans living side by side with the Czechs without abridgment of the "national self determination" of both elements.

The resolution says, however, that a separate Bohemian constitution would not be recognized.

The Drum Major.

The dignitary known as drum major was not generally recognized in the English army till the close of the reign of Charles I. Corporal punishment up to the time of William III. was executed by the provost marshal and his deputies, but afterward the drummer was intrusted with the task. Among the records of the Coldstream guards is an order that "the drum major be answerable that no cat has more than nine tails." In 1661 a drum major of the army received 1s. 6d. per diem.—London Mail.

Imitative Animals.

Some animals have wonderful powers of imitation. Dogs brought up in the company of cats have been known to acquire the trick of licking the paws and then washing the face. When a cat has been taught to sit up for her food her kittens have been known to imitate her action. Darwin tells of a cat that was in the habit of putting her paw into the mouth of a narrow milk pitcher every time she got the chance and then licking the cream off her paw. Her kittens soon learned the same trick.—London Telegraph.

BRITISH COAST HIT BY BIRDMEN

Large German Air Fleet Kills 8; Injures 25.

15 TO 21 PLANES DROP BOMBS

Anti-Air Craft Guns Cause Enemy Fleet to Split Up—Hot Gunfire All Down Kentish Coast Greets Invaders—British Air Patrols Give Battle and Chase Foe Out to Sea.

London, July 23.—Another big German air fleet made a raid early Sunday over the English coast, part of the German airplane squadron being forced to retreat homeward by the fire of English anti-aircraft defences, while the rest was forced southward along the coast and then turned out to sea.

Both groups were heavily engaged by British aviators over the sea, but no announcement regarding the air battle has been made. The airplanes dropped bombs on Felixstowe, in Suffolk, and on Harmich, across the Orwell, in Sussex, causing eight deaths and injury to twenty-five other persons, according to the reports so far received. The official statement says:

British Statement.

"A squadron of enemy airplanes, from fifteen to twenty-one, approached Felixstowe and Harwich at eight o'clock Sunday morning. Some bombs were dropped, but the heavy fire from the anti-aircraft defense caused the enemy's formation to split up, part returning over sea and part proceeding south down the Essex coast.

"The latter party was heavily engaged by gunfire all down the Essex coast and finally proceeded homeward, dropping more bombs. The raiders were pursued out to sea and heavily engaged by our airplanes, but the visibility was low and the difficulties of observation were very great.

"The casualties at Felixtowe and Harwich so far are eight killed and twenty-five injured."

A Battle of Languages.

Three or four languages strove for mastery in ancient Gaul, which is now France. German was spoken by the 12,000 Frank invaders. Popular Latin was spoken by 6,000,000 Gallo-Romans. Literary Latin was the language of the church and of literature. Low Latin was afterward the language of the administration.

German was the first to succumb. In four centuries it ceased to be understood by the soldiers, and in seventy years more it had become an object of ridicule. But it survives in more than 900 words expressing the things of government, law and war and thus forms no insignificant part of the French language.—London Mail.

GREAT GAIN IS SHOWN IN RUSSIAN IMPORTS

Increase 100 Per Cent Over 1915 Despite U-Boats.

Washington, July 23.—That Germany's destructive U-boat warfare has not cut off Russia's foreign trade is shown by the fact that Russia imported $545,853,000 in goods in 1916, according to statistics of the department of commerce. This total does not include munitions, figures for which are no tavailable.

Russia received their goods through two routes, Archangel and Scandinavia-Finland, while in 1913 goods were entered at forty-four Russian ports. There has resulted a great congestion of freight traffic on the railroads from the Archangel port.

The most important contributors to the Russian market in 1916 were the United Kingdom and the United States. An extraordinary increase over 1913, 4735 per cent, was made by Japan, whose energetic canvass of foreign markets since the war started has attracted attention in Russia, as well as in South Africa and Australia. In relative increase over 1913, the United States takes second place, the percentage being 252.

The articles imported in largest quantities were those directly or indirectly connected with the war.

GIVES 3 SONS FOR AMERICA

Daughter of German Iron Cross Hero Loyal to Adopted Land.

Hammond, Ind., July 23.—Mrs. Jacob Hildebrandt, of 427 State street, Hammond, Ind., whose father won the Iron Cross with the conquering German army in 1870, stood in the doorway of her home, embracing three of her sons, John, Fred and Henry, all of whom were drafted in the early drawing. Charles, a younger son, joined the national guard in Chicago.

"I give my boys willingly—they are good American boys—so there may be no more wars and no more heartbroken mothers," said Mrs. Hildebrandt, who was born in Germany.

Mikado to Entertain U. S. Admiral.

Tokio, July 23.—Admiral Austin Knight, commander of the American Asiatic squadron, has arrived here to convey to the Japanese government the thanks of the United States for Japan's courtesy in sending home on a warship the body of Ambassador Guthrie. The emperor will receive the admiral next Wednesday and give a luncheon in his honor.

Austrian Reinforcements Fail.

Rome, July 23.—An attack on Friday night by the Austrians, who brought up reinforcements, was repulsed by the Italians, it is announced officially.

BRITIANS CUTS FOOD PRICE

Cuts Food 24 Per Cent and Promises Decrease in Meat Cost.

London, July 23.—A reduction of 25 per cent in the price of bread at an early date was announced by Baron Rhondda, food controller. A graduated reduction in the price of meat for the army and civilians, which by January will mean a 30 per cent decrease from the amount now paid, also was announced.

France's Wheat Improves.

Paris, July 23.—The crop report published in the Journal Officiel, says there has been great improvement in the wheat crop since the last report made on June 1.

RUSSIA IS PERILED BY ENEMIES WITHIN

Great Teuton Advance Causes Government Proclamation.

Petrograd, July 23.—"The fateful hour for Russia has struck," says the provisional government in a most remarkable proclamation issued to the people.

Conditions both on the fighting front and in the state of the nation fully bear out the grave announcement.

On the battle front the Austro-German forces have cut a gap eight miles wide and [illegible] miles deep in the Galician line. The city of Tarnopol is burning. Villages east of the Sereth river are [illegible]. The Teutons are rolling back the entire Zlota Idpa line as far south as the Dniester. Large numbers of prisoners have been swept up by the advancing Austro-Germans. The defeat of the Russian armies is officially admitted by the Petrograd war office.

Internally Russia is grappling with treason. The heads of the counter revolution are undermining the provisional government. Conditions are chaotic.

So critical has the situation at the battlefront become that Premier Kerensky has started with all haste to take the field in an effort to stave off disaster. The German kaiser also is proceeding with speed to Galicia.

Perhaps the most ominous clause of the proclamation issued to the people is this: "In accordance with the declaration of May 19, the government will summon the allies to a conference in August to decide on a general presentation of the allies' foreign policy and to co-ordinate their actions with regard to the application of the principles proclaimed by the Russian revolution."

BRITISH LINE IS ADVANCED

London Tells of Gains Near Monchy le Preux in Patrol Encounters.

London, July 23.—A British advance near Monchy le Preux is announced by the war office.

"Patrol encounters resulted in our favor northwest of St. Quentin and south of Lens," the statement says. "We advanced our line slightly southeast of Monchy le Preux. The hostile artillery was active during the night in the neighborhood of Lens and Armentieres and near the coast."

STORM STOPS NEAR CHICAGO

Ten Persons Hurt, Some Probably Fatally, in Sweep from Joliet North.

Chicago, July 23.—More than ten persons were injured, some probably fatally, when a storm of cyclonic proportions swept for thirty miles along the route of the Chicago and Joliet Electric railroad just outside the city limits. Houses were unroofed, trees uprooted and telegraph poles blown down causing a panic among thousands of picnickers.

$350,000,000 Home Garden Crop.

Washington, July 23.—A $350,000,000 crop is being realized from the vacant lot and home garden, the emergency garden commission announced.

Queer Idea About the Brain.

Old writers had no idea that the brain had anything to do with the mind. They associated the mind with the heart or with other organs of the body, doubtless because these organs are moved or affected by mental action. Aristotle, the best informed of the Greeks, said that the chief business of the brain was to cool the blood for the heart.

PETROGRAD IN SIEGE STATE

Stockholm Report Fails to Make Clear Nature of New Uprising.

Haparanda, Sweden, July 23.—Dispatches from Petrograd state that the Russian capital is virtually in a state of siege. No details are given and it is not known whether the anarchistic demonstrations of last week have been repeated or whether seditionist forces outside of Petrograd have moved upon the capital. The situation is described as extremely grave.

The newspaper Pravda, controlled by the radical Socialist leader Nikolai Lenine, has been stormed by mobs and Lenine himself is said to be under arrest.

FORAGE POISONING SOLVED

Kentucky Experiment Station Finds Antidote for Live Stock Diseases.

Lexington, Ky., July 23.—Officials of the Kentucky experiment station, conducted by the United States government announce that they have solved the forage poisoning mystery after several years work.

A bacillus, similar to that producing ptomaine poisoning in humans, was discovered to be the cause of the loss of hundreds of head of livestock. The serum from the ptomaine bacillus inoculated in live stock was discovered as a cure to cattle.

How He Lost Out.

"I've decided not to marry him."

"Why not?"

"He took me out to dinner last night and gave so many instructions to the waiter as to how he wanted the meat cooked and the courses served that I made up my mind there'd be no living with a man as fussy as that."—Detroit Free Press.

DRAFT IN STATE BOARDS' HANDS

Master Lists Are Mailed to Local Officials.

WHICH STATE WILL BE FIRST?

One That Gets Its Quota In Quickest Will Receive Much Honor—50,127 Sheets Being Mailed to Local Authorities—Fewer Exemptions Than Anticipated Will Be Asked.

Washington, July 23.—The draft is now in the hands of the states. The last of the master lists are being mailed to the local boards. The operation of the law is practically passing out of the hands of the federal government. It will retain merely supervision of exemptions.

The big question now is: Which state will furnish its quota first?

"The race is to the swiftest," General Crowder states. "The state first reporting its force ready will, of course, receive much honor."

Congratulated from all sides on his handling of the greatest problem America has ever faced in a military way, General Crowder remained at his desk throughout the Sunday holiday, directing the work of preparing master lists for mailing.

50,127 Sheets Being Mailed.

In all 50,127 master sheets are being mailed out, eleven to each of the 4,557 local boards. Ten of the sheets contain 1,000 numbers each and the eleventh 500 numbers, making the total of 10,500 numbers drawn.

Complete instructions to cover every contingency that may arise have been sent to the local boards. The rules for handling cards improperly or illegally numbered, made public Saturday night, were the final word.

The boards now will be left with their own work.

The government has nothing to do with exemptions. The law specifically provides that Soldiers will be made out of civilians by civilian boards, men of their own kind. Other civilian boards will serve as courts of appeal. There are 156 of these appellate boards.

Fewer Exemptions Than Expected.

Indications here were that fewer exemptions will be asked than was anticipated.

The margin estimated by the government is only a little over 2,200,000 men out of the 10,000,000 drafted and that is too narrow to permit of widespread exemptions. The estimate is that 40 per cent of the drafted force will be ineligible physically to serve.

Claims of exemption for dependency will be closely investigated. Affidavits not only by the man making the claim and the dependent named will be necessary, but a third affidavit from a disinterested person acquainted with the circumstances of the man will be required.

HONOR TO FIGHT FOR U. S.

First Man Drawn, a Spaniard, Would Like to Get in Army.

Washington, July 23.—Samuel Sanjines of New Orleans, one of the thousands whose numbers—258—was the first to come out of the bowl in the draft lottery, telegraphed Secretary Baker:

"You drew my number first and although I am not an American citizen but a Spaniard, and have never applied for naturalization papers, to be the first one drawn I consider such an honor that I bed to offer you my services to fight the war for freedom and democracy thrust on this great nation."

WIERD RITES OVER GRAVE

Prominent Chicagoans and French-Indian Hold Whitechapel Memorial.

Chicago, July 23.—Prominent Chicago professional men and French-Indians from Montana joined in a funeral cermonial combining Greek and old Indian rites, between midnight Saturday night and 4 o'clock Sunday morning, at the sand dunes, south of Gary.

It was the Whitechapel club memorial of the death of Morris Allen Collins, cowboy and ethical agitator, who committed suicide twenty-five years ago and whose body was burned on a pyre at his request.

Purdue Star Is Drowned.

Lafayette, Ind., July 23.—Billy Williamson, aged twenty, star center and forward on the Purdue university backetball team last season, was drowned in the Wabash river here. Williamson, with several other Purdue athletes, was in swimming at a bathing beach conducted by Theodore Paulson, swimming and wrestling coach at Purdue. The body has not been recovered.

MICHIGAN FOOD YIELD PLENTY; MILK SHORT

Great Acreage Obviates Danger of Crop Shortage.

DETROIT, July 23.

"In spite of continued rainy weather, the outlook for a large crop-production in Michigan is extremely favorable," says George H. Brownell, secretary of the Michigan Dairymen's association, who has just returned from a trip through the central and eastern sections of the state.

Farmers have responded almost unanimously to the appeals sent out by President Wilson and the state food preparedness board. The excess of moisture has already done much damage to many fields of beans and potatoes, but the total acreage planted this year is so great that the output, despite the loss [illegible] be [illegible] ahead of any previous year.

But there will be a serious shortage of another widely used article of food, arising directly as the result of the assurance that has been given farmers of a protfiable price for beans and potatoes. This other article of food—milk—has received little attention in the great food preparedness campaign that has been sweeping over Michigan.

KEEP ON WORKING TUBERS

Cultivation Must Not Be Allowed to Lag, Advises Expert.

EAST LANSING, July 23.

There should be no let up in the work of cultivating the potato crop if growers expect tubers to produce the biggest possible yields, a press bulletin by M. A. C. potato specialists declares.

"Much benefit may be realized," it is pointed out, "through the proper cultivation of potatoes late in the season. On the other hand, much harm may result from improper cultivation.

"Frequent shallow cultivation is advisable as long as it can be given without serious damage to the vines. It is important to run the cultivator not only shallow, but a sufficient distance from the hills to avoid breaking the feeding roots. If a crust forms after a rain, it should be broken as soon as the soil is dry enough to be worked."

AWAITING OFFICIAL FIGURES

Draft Boards Are Told Not to Start Examinations.

LANSING, July 23.

Major Samuel D. Pepper, judge advocate for Michigan, is notifying all draft boards throughout the state not to begin the physical examinations or to take any official action until they are formally notified by him.

"Pay no attention to newspaper figures," said Major Pepper. "While numbers published in the papers will be generally correct, there is always a possibility of error in transmission. The government's official report will be forwarded to each draft board as soon as we get them." Major Pepper is of the opinion that the work of examining the men will not begin until next week.

PUTS ON FAIRBANKS STUNT

Burglar Suspect Makes Escape in Latest Scenario Style.

PETOSKEY, July 23.

A burglar suspect who must be a devotee of Douglas Fairbanks is being sought in Petoskey.

The Levinson department store was robbed of miscellaneous merchandise approximating $1,000 value. The police decided to question an unidentified guest of the Bay Shore house. When they arrived, the guest leaped from a third story window, slid down the roof of a shed two stories below and escaped into the woods at the edge of the city. He has not been apprehended.

Another Stunning Wedding Coming.

PETOSKEY, July 23.

This region will have a near approach of the beautiful summer wedding of two summers ago when Katherine Barker, wealthy Chicago girl, became the bride of Howard Spaulding, of Chicago, when in the late season of this year Miss Elizabeth Goodrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Goodrich, of Chicago, will wed Charles Goodwin Cushing, of Princeton, Ill.

Child Badly Kicked.

LAPEER, July 23.

Floy, seven year old daughter of Melvin Edwards, narrowly escaped death when a horse her father was trying to catch, whirled and kicked the child's face, breaking her cheek bone.

Chippendale furniture was made in England. The original pieces were made by Thomas Chippendale about 1750-70. Genuine Chippendale brings high prices, but there is little to be had.

Friday's drawing caused a good deal of excitement locally and everyone effected by the draft were anxiously scanning the lists as they came in to see what their position was on the list and whether of not they would be effected by the call. This drawing brings the war closer home than anything that has yet happened and brings us face to face with the reality of the great conflict into which our great country has entered.

To be chosen under the selective draft is an honor. The man selected to serve will receive the salute of the nation and should and will have the loyal support of every true, red blooded American left at home. If the young man called is not proud of the fact that he is called to his colors he does not sustain the tradition of the great cause of American freedom. As their fore fathers were called to fight the battles of the Revolutionary War and the War of the Rebellion, so they are called to fight under the Stars and Stripes for democracy, liberty and humanity, and by their might will help round out events which will be of the greatest future historic importance.

It is the highest call to duty as an American citizen.

Remember the birds these hot days and place dishes filled with water in convenient places for them to drink.

A little thoughtfulness on the part of the people will do wonders for these winged beauties.

How Baraboo Got Its Name.

Indians gave Baraboo its name, but the word is not an Indian one. Baribeau or Baribault was the name of an old Canadian French trader who at the age of seventeen sought the then wilderness of Wisconsin to secure pelts for the Hudson Bay company and later for the American Fur company. He established a post where the town of Baraboo now stands. Being the first white man in those parts, the Indians named the place after him, but as they had not had the advantages of a French education they could not get the pronunciation of the name nearer than Baraboo, and Baraboo it remains to this day.

RIGHT LIVING.

To be honest, to be kind, to earn what he honestly can and to spend a little less; to make upon the whole a family happier for his presence; to renounce when that shall be necessary and not to be embittered; to keep a few friends, but these without capitulation; above all, on the same grim condition, to keep friends with himself—here is a task for all a man has of fortitude and delicacy.—Stevenson.

Palaces of Thebes.

The palaces of old Thebes, in Egypt, were probably the largest and most wonderful ever erected by the hand of man. One of them was the container of a central hall 80 feet in height, 325 feet in length and 179 feet in breadth, the roof of which was supported by 134 columns 11 feet in diameter and 76 feet in height. The cornices were of the finest marble, inlaid with ivory work and sheathed with beaten gold. From the point of view of artistic beauty, the Parthenon at Athens, Greece, of course, still holds the palm and is likely always to hold it.

Hotel Jokes.

Man (to hotel clerk)—How much are your rooms? Clerk—Two dollars up to twelve. Man—How much are they up to half past nine?

Another Man (to another hotel clerk)—Give me a room and a bath. Hotel Clerk—I can give you a room, but I haven't time to give you a bath.

And Now He's Fired.

"What do you mean by whistling like that in this office?" demanded the merchant.

"Well, sir, I thought I'd like you to know that I'm bearing up cheerfully in spite of my miserable salary," answered the clerk.—Newark Eagle.

Hoped For More.

Mrs. Chestnut—Who was that man I saw you with yesterday?

Mrs. Walnut—That was my husband.

"Oh, your last husband?"

"Don't say the last. It sounds as if you were trying to discourage me."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Modern Plows.

The modern plow was a Dutch invention. Englishmen and Americans have made many improvements in this implement, but for many years the Dutch plow led the world.

Weeping over lost opportunities is a mistake; the tears may prevent you from seeing others that are coming.

Bad Memory.

Flatbush—You know he's awfully forgetful.

Bensonhurst—Really?

"Oh, yes. Why, the day after he was married he tied a piece of cord around his finger so he would not forget it.—Yonkers Statesman.

Ambition.

"Pa, what is ambition?"

"Ambition, my boy, is that spirit which prompts a young man to work hard so that he can some day stop working hard."—Detroit Free Press.

MEN CALLED TO THE COLORS

Drawing lasts all day Friday and was not finished until an early hour Saturday.

LENAWEE COUNTY WILL PROBABLY FURNISH ABOUT 210 MEN ON FIRST CALL FROM HER TWO DISTRICTS

Partial List of Registrants in Tecumseh, Clinton, Macon, Ridgeway and Raision Townships all located in 1st District also Franklin in 2nd District.

The great drawing to fix the order of liability for military service of each of the 9,500,000 men registered throughout the United States was completed early Saturday morning. The first call will effect 1,870,000 men and the number to be placed in training will be [illegible].000 thus the exemptions will effect about every other man.

Lenawee County must furnish a little over 200 men from her two districts, thus our District, Number 1, must furnish 10[illegible] as its quota. The call will probably be issued to numbers down to 201. All those holding call numbers above 200 may expect notification cards calling them to report to local exemption boards.

Complete instructions will be in the hands of the local boards in each state within a few days. Plenty of time to file and prove exemptions will be given to each man drawn after he has received his notification card, so to those who are drawn our advice is to stand pat until notified.

The following lists are prepared in the order in which the men are called to the colors and are taken from the Adrian Daily Telegram list. They are complete down to No. 726 and are all that we are able to get up to this time. The first numbers (printed in blackface type) show the order in which the men will be called while the second numbers are the numbers shown on the registration cards. The list covers Tecumseh, Clinton, Macon, Ridgeway and Raisin townships in the first district and Franklin in the second district:

The Box Tortoise.

The box tortoise possesses a singular defensive apparatus. The plastron or shell covering the under part of the body is so formed that its front segment can be drawn upward to protect the animal's head, the head meanwhile being drawn back under the carapace or shell on the back of the tortoise. The upper and under shells then meet in front, forming a kind of box in which the creature is unassailable. When the danger is past the reptile relaxes a muscle, and the raised part of the plastron falls, allowing the head and forefeet to come forth. This movable plate is fastened to the plastron by a strong hinge of elastic ligament.

On Rearing Daughters.

Another thing that makes us tired is the mother who goes to her daughter's room at 10 o'clock in the morning and says, "Get up, dear; your breakfast is ready." Our idea is that daughter ought to be fetching batter cakes in from the kitchen at 7:30 and getting the old man in good humor for his day's work.—Houston Post.

How Javanese Settle Quarrels.

The Javanese manner of settling quarrels is quite original. When one man has offended another the injured party gives notice that he is angry by drawing in the sand before the door of the offender a circle with a straight line across it, indicating that his affection, which would have been eternal, has been cut in two. Friends of both parties then shut them up. They parley awhile, then pretend to be born again, prattle as little children and finally as men become reconciled and embrace. Should one be refractory and refuse to be conciliated he is ostracized by the community so effectually that he is soon brought to terms.

A Treat In Store.

"Grocery butter is so unsatisfactory, dear," said Mrs. Youngbride, "I decided today that we would make our own."

"Oh, did you?" said her husband.

"Yes; I bought a churn and ordered buttermilk to be left here regularly. Won't it be nice to have really fresh butter?"—Boston Transcript.

Books and Beeches.

"Book is a word that comes from the German buche, or beech," said a bookseller. "But what connection has a book got with a beech? I'll show you?"

The bibliophile led the way to a superb Caxton.

"This volume, you see," he said, "is bound in boards—not pasteboards, real boards, beech boards. That is how all books were bound when printing began. Yes, when printing began in Germany each incunabulum, or early book, was bound in buche—in beech boards half an inch thick, covered perhaps with leather, tipped and clasped with brass and studded with precious or semiprecious stones."

FORGET THEM.

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life forget your neighbors' faults. Forget all the slanders you have ever heard. Forget the fault-finding and give a little thought to the cause which provoked it.

RED CROSS NEWS

Miss Louise Phelps took charge of the headquarters on Monday, and will continue to do so.

Two sewing machines are badly needed to stitch the rags together for the snipping machine. If you have an old machine you can spare please notify Mr. Chas. Burridge, who will be grateful for the loan of it.

The snipping machine is a former meat cutter, converted to its present use through various attachments, an electric motor and the inventive genius of Mr. Burridge. It does as much in an hour as twenty women could do in a week and we all know by experience how sore our hands get through holding scissors for hours at a stretch.

The Tecumseh Red Cross will gladly snip for neighboring branches if they will bring their cloth prepared to headquarters. Tear the muslin, or other goods, into strips two inches wide and sew into lengths like carpet rags. Further information from Mr. Chas. Burridge or at headquarters.

Mrs. L. I. Bidwell would like some volunteers to soak and iron 100 small new pillowcaes.

Mrs. John Nyland, whose department has just been started, appeals for helpers. Please call at the store on Chicago street.

Miss Hosmer sent to Adrian Monday 12 doz. sponges, 8 pairs of bed socks and 4 bath cloths. In knitting sponges, please make nine rows of holes, and ten rows of ridges, and knit tight.

Mrs. Harris reports that she, Mrs. Harry Tansley and Mrs. C. L. Cuthbert, the cutting committee for surgical shirts, cut out 40 garments on Tuesday of which 30 were finished by the whole committee and sent to Adrian. Two new members joined, but there is still any amount of room for more.

Mrs. A. W. Mills sent one doz. knitted socks in which were accepted as satisfactory.

Mrs. Sena Crane and committee sent 15 pajamas to Adrian and the committee is getting along finely.

The following corrections in the list of members are in order:

Omitted from published list:
Mrs. F. D. Rector,
Mrs. E. N. Bowen,
Mrs. W. F. Fisher,
Mrs. Paul Bowen, credited with two memberships, one should be credited to Mr. Paul Bowen

Mrs. Harriett M. Britton, although a member in Lansing, sent in $1.00, saying she wished to be numbered with the Tecumseh bunch where she belonged.

Practically all the directors are appealing for helpers. Quite a number are needed in the headquarters to run the sewing machines and to prepare material for them. Will you not drop in and talk it over with the lady in charge and leave your name to be handed over to the department you select.

Women, boys and girls are being driven to work in the fields of France and Belgium at the point of the bayonet and are beaten if they do not work fast enough. If we do not help voluntarily now, that may be our fate.

It is a pity that every man and woman in Lenawee county could not have heard Col. Wigle's speech in Adrian on Sunday. He has just returned from the trenches and he knows the actual conditons.

He addressed the audience as "Comrades," saying he meant the women as well as the men, for, he said, the war could not be carried on without the unselfish patriotic work of the women.

In mentioning the heartrending, pitiable conditions in France and Flanders, he implored us to work without ceasing, for the morals, the health, the life of millions of men depended on us. If a soldier who had been for months under fire, in slime and dirt, in water or under the broiling sun, half eaten by vermin, gets back to his base and there lacks clean clothes or whole socks, or the most elementary comforts, he is apt to think, "Why should I give up my life again and again when they do not even care enough for me at home to keep me in supplies?" He, brave fighter that he was, admitted haivng felt that way himself.

Col. Wigle implored us to work without ceasing, to save every dollar, for we cannot supply enough to make the soldiers really comfortable, and the sacrifices they undergo are terrific. In working and saving for the Patriotic League and the Red Cross, we are really working in the last instance for ourselves. The speaker said he "could not repeat what the women of France and Belgium had told him, it would be too terrible."

We know that the gallant colonel spoke the truth, we cannot make enough, however much we work, for example, the N. Y. headquarters wrote to Mrs. Moreland that they could use 500 comfort pillows from Adrian alone EACH DAY, and then they would be short. We all know what a lot one sick person needs, what then would be enough to supply millions.

Canada had 33,000 men in the trenches six months after the declaration of war, when she was not obliged to help England. The little city of Windsor raised $350,000 for Red Cross work, the Episcopal church there alone $20,000. Shall we be less patriotic than Canada? As Col. Wigle said, Canada and the United States are only divided by an imaginary line. We have the same origin, we are of the same blood; let us stand by our sister across the straits, not behind her. The women of Canada have said and voted, for they vote in nearly all Canada that "the war shall never cease and that Canada shall maintain her army in full strength until the world is safe for democracy and militarism is crushed."

Oh! let us too deserve to be addressed as "COMRADES" when our victorious soldiers come marching back. There were a number of us from Tecumseh present who felt inspired to work anew in the thought that we were "comrades" to the heroes of Belgium and France, coworkers with Pershing and Haig.

IMPATIENCE.

Impatience is a poor master and a hard one as well. In the impatient mood we are apt to spend far more than is required in the doing of our work, and this excess is lost. We cannot estimate the value of the power thus misplaced. When the impatient mood becomes the habit of a lifetime you can understand that failure and perhaps loss of health and energy are inevitable.
—Emily S. Bouton.

Are Composers Short Lived?

Many great musicians were afflicted with physical infirmities. Mozart, who lived to the age of only thirty-five, died of consumption. Schumann, who died at the age of forty-six, was for some years before his death confined in an asylum. Beethoven reached the age of fifty-seven, but for many years previous to his death was quite deaf. Mendelssohn died at the age of thirty-six, Schubert at thirty-one, Weber at forty, Chopin at forty, Purcell at thirty-seven and Bellini at thirty-three. There are, of course, a few exceptions. Bach, Haydn and Handel all outlived their threescore years and ten. The latter, however, was for some years totally blind.

Palestine.

Palestine, or the Holy Land, is not in size or physical characteristics proportioned to its moral and historical position as the theater of the most momentous events in the world's history. It is less than 140 miles in length and barely forty miles in average width. Earthquakes more or less violent have been of frequent occurrence in Palestine. One of the most violent occurred in the reign of Uzziah. This was connected by Josephus with the sacrilege and punishment of that monarch. The springs of Palestine, though for the most part short lived, are remarkable for their abundance and beauty, especially those which fall into the Jordan and its lakes throughout its course.

GOOD ROADS ARE COSTLY.

But Bad Roads Are More Expensive In the Long Run.

Highway engineering has become a highly developed art, and good road making materials are plentiful. Consequently there is absolutely no excuse for a modern road to "go wrong" within its first four or five seasons of use unless petty graft and local politics can be considered as sufficient excuses.

It is not enough that the surface of the road be composed of the proper materials. These materials must rest on a firm foundation which extends to a sufficient depth below the surface to withstand the effect of the frozen ground on either side. Furthermore, the surface must be waterproof in order to prevent the entrance of rain or melted snow, which when frozen will separate and disintegrate the best laid foundation. Also the road surface and gutters must be so constructed that the highway will automatically drain itself of all water. This serves the purpose of automatic flushing and accounts for the continuous clean swept appearance of the well designed and properly constructed roadway.

A properly constructed highway is expensive, but it is an asset too obvious for argument. Too often, however, the first cost represents the deciding factor in the selection of a certain type of construction, and the upkeep cost is overlooked. It is this attitude on the part of the town or county taxpayers or road commissioners, coupled with graft and politics on the part of the contractor, which accounts for a large part of the improved roads which need to be reconstructed each year.—H. W. Slauson in Leslie's.

THEY LIVE ON VEGETABLES.

A Food Expert Says That Is Why the Koreans Are Indolent.

Dr. Ugen Ishizuka, a well known dietarian, who recently made a trip of observation in Korea, Manchuria and other parts of China, ascribes the docility and indolence of the Koreans to their predominantly vegetarian diet. To make them more alert and active, he urges, it is necessary to encourage the use of much more animal food among them.

The radish is the article of food most relished by Koreans, who call it the wild ginseng and eat it raw. But the most remarkable thing about their love of vegetable food is the tremendous amount of cayenne pepper that they take. About one-fifth of the vegetables on sale at markets is red pepper.

Instead of soy sauce, the Koreans use the juice of salted fish. For pickles they use a mixture of salted radish, Chinese rape, onions, rocambole and cayenne pepper. This preparation has an excellent flavor and is eaten at every meal. An average family keeps enough of this preparation to last a year.

An alarming number of Koreans are suffering from parasites, chiefly due, in Dr. Ishizuka's opinion, to the crabs they eat in great quantity.—East and West News.

Big Noses In Japan.

The nose plays a very important part in Japan, owing, probably, to the fact that a difference in noses constitutes about the only distinction among the Japanese. The nose is the only feature which attracts attention. As there are very few large noses to be found in Japan, a lady with a large nose is regarded as one specially gifted by nature. She is invariably a reigning beauty and the envy of her less favored sisters. In all Japanese pictures in which ladies are portrayed the artists are particularly careful to make the nose of liberal dimensions.—London Telegraph.

The Crown of Hungary.

The crown of Hungary was once within an ace of landing in London. When Kossuth struck his famous blow for Hungarian liberty in 1849 he obtained possession of the crown, and when compelled to flee the country he buried it at Orsova. Four years later a flood made him fear for the safety of the precious diadem, and he gave orders for it to be disinterred and brought to him in London. Unfortunately one of his messengers talked indiscreetly of his errand, with the consequence that the Austrian government gained knowledge of the secret and unearthed the crown [illegible] Sept. 8, 1853.—London Telegraph.

"CIVILIZATION"

The presentation of "Civilization" at the opera house Friday evening was one of the most thrilling stupenduous pictures ever shown in Tecumseh and, while the story of the war was told most vividly in all its horrors, yet the lesson it conveyed was one that each person in the audience should take to heart and use it as an impetus to more earnest work in the great struggle that is going on at this time.

Today in the face of the nearness of our part in the great struggle when we watch with anxious hearts the lists to see who of our boys are called by the draft, we realize more and more the sorrow, the desolation and horror that so many have already passed through, and pray that we may be spared

It is wonderful how one man could conceive this story and elaborate the setting for each scene in such a perfect manner.

It is devoutly to be hoped that the final results, the conversion of the Kaiser to the cause of humanity and right, may soon be consummated, that peace may be declared and that the nations of the earth may return to their former condition of happiness and prosperity

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Randall, Sunday, a son.

THIS STORE HAS A PURE FOOD LAW OF IT'S OWN

It applies to everything, and everything must live up to the provisions of his law.

You might think that some things (Canned Goods, for instance) would have to be taken on trust, but an observing grocer soon learns where each brand of these goods belongs, no matter what the labels may say, and acts accordingly.

The moral of all this is that this might be a good place to come when you want pure food eatables.

The new part will add to the floor space, providing additoinal room for their rapidly increasing business.

JOHN W. LEE

John W. Lee, youngest son of Robert and Elizabeth Lee, was born in Yorkshire England, February 24, 1842 and departed this life July 18, 1917 aged 74 years 7 months, 18 days. He came to this country in 1864, and was united in marriage to Mary Jane Allen of Tecumseh, Aug. 31st 1867.

To them were born two sons, William Lee of Hillsdale Mich., and Bert A. Lee of Toledo, Ohio, who was called to his Heavenly Home July 1, 1916.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, one son and two daughters-in-law, eight grandchildren and a large circle of other relatives and friends.

He died in the Christian faith, leaing behind a bright testimony that he is gone to be with Christ which is far better.

Another one from us has gone,
The voice we loved is stilled;
A vacant place is in the home,
That never can be filled.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks to our many friends and neighbors who were so kind during the illness and death of our husband and father also to the pastor for the kind words of consolation, the singers and for the beautiful flowers.

Friday Evening, July 20

Sixty Visiting Brothers Present

Last Friday evening Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 entertained sixty members of Jackson Lodge No. 17. At 6:30 a banquet was served after which an adjournment was made to the lodge rooms where the M. M. degree was conferred on Kenneth Snedicor.

Lodge was opened by the Tecumseh officers who later called upon the Jackson team to occupy the several stations and conduct the work. The older members of the lodge say that the work exemplified by the Jackson brothers was the finest that has ever been put on in Tecumseh.

In spite of the extreme heat there was a good attendance and a most enjoyable evening was reported enjoyed.

The officers of the Jackson lodge occupying the several stations were as follows:

W. M.—H. L. Ames
S. W.—A. J. Parkhouse
J. W.—E. A. Finney
S. D.—Bert Rose
J. D.—M. H. Nickles
Stewards — M. Bozier, Harold Witton

At a late hour the guests who had made the trip by auto, started for their homes, followed by the good wishes of the Tecumseh lodge.

MRS. HORACE WESTCOTT

Mrs. Libbie Westcott of Petersburg passed away Saturday morning at 7:30 from the effect of a stroke of paralysis suffered just a week ago.

She is survived by a daughter Mrs. Hartley Bird with whom she made her home. Mr. Westcott preceeded her to the Better Country about fifteen months ago, since which time his sister Mrs. John O'Neil and brother Hiram have been taken, Mrs. Westcott's makng the fourth death from the same cause.

Mrs. Westcott was for many years a resident of Tecumseh where her many friends will be grieved to hear of her death.

The remains were brought to Tecumseh where the funeral was held Monday afternoon, Rev. W. B. Hartzog officiating with burial on the family lot in Brookside cemetery.

E. L. Anderson was home from Detroit for the week-end.

Duaine and Wyman Service were passengers for Chicago Sunday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Snell of Detroit were here Monday for the funeral of her aunt Mrs. Horace Westcott.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horning, who have been visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Deming, left for their home in Lima, O., Monday.

Inactive Kidneys Cause Disease

"I shall not soon forget the benefits I derived from the use of Foley Kidney Pills."—Al A. Godfrey, Forest Grove, Oregon.

Too much work and too little work seem to have about the same effect on persons past middle age. Proper action of the kidneys is necessary to good health. They act as a filter and remove from the blood poisonous waste matter which if permitted to remain in the system leads to many complications.

Many nervous, tired, run-down men and women suffer from pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, bladder weakness, sore muscles and stiff joints and fail to realize that rheumatism, diabetes or even Bright's disease may result.

If you have cause to believe that your kidneys are weak, disordered or inactive you should act immediately. Foley Kidney Pills have been used by young, middle aged and old with complete satisfaction. They act quickly and surely and have given relief in cases of ten years' standing.

Carranza feared trouble as the result of a bitter campaign being waged between Generals Uuis Caballerio and Lopez de Lara, the opposing candidates.

STRENGTH OF WOOD.

The Pressure It Took to Break a Beam of Douglas Fir.

A piece of Douglas fir, 16 feet long and 16 by 8 inches in cross section, stood a pressure of 88,400 pounds before breaking at the test conducted in the engineering laboratory of the University of Washington by C. W. Zimmermann of the United States forest service.

The experiment was a demonstration of the standard used by the forest service in testing bridge spans. The beam was held by a fifteen foot support, and the load was concentrated at two points five feet from each end of the beam. As pressure was applied the beam continued to bend until the point of maximum deflection was reached. Measurements were then taken, and it was found that the beam had bent 2.55 inches under the pressure of 50,000 pounds. This occurred two minutes after the test started.

Eight minutes later, after 38,400 pounds of additional weight had been added, the beam broke. During this time there was no further deflection of the piece. Mr. Zimmermann explained that the small fibers of the wood were continually giving way under the pressure, and at the end of eight minutes the beam, sufficiently weakened, snapped suddenly.

Aluminum Pots and Pans.

Scraping aluminum cooking utensils must always be done with a wooden spoon, since aluminum is soft and scratches easily. Strong alkalis are not available because they attack and dissolve the metal. Only mild soaps must be used. How, then, can that horrid discoloration be removed? It is very simply done.

Take a piece of rhubarb, either fresh or canned, cut it into small pieces and boil the pieces in the discolored kettle until it is clean. The acid of the rhubarb will remove the discoloration without in any way injuring the metal. Of course the rhubarb used for the purpose must be thrown away afterward When a vessel has been cleaned in this way it will need a little rubbing up to secure a bright metallic surface.—Popular Science Monthly.

John Milton's Cottage.

One of the best preserved historic country houses in all England is John Milton's cottage at Chalfont St. Giles, to which the blind and aging poet fled when the great plague swooped down on London. That was in July, 1665, and Milton had just finished "Paradise Lost" and received a five pound note for it, with a promise of three more five pound notes if the poem sold four editions of 1,300 copies each. The cottage stands at the top of the village, and it is in practically the same condition as when Milton left it. Here the poet received his guests during the latter part of his life.

Underwater Navigation.

According to all accounts, the hardships of underwater navigation are extreme and very exhausting to the nerves. The air is oppressive and so damp, owing to "sweating," that the interior has to be lined with cork or other absorbing substances. An overpowering tendency to sleep seizes upon the men, and the confinement and constant anxiety are terribly wearing.—New York Journal.

KIND WORDS.

Don't be afraid of speaking a kind word. The art of saying appropriate words in a kindly way is one that never goes out of fashion and is within the reach of the humblest.—Faber.

My Decision

A Story of Romance Versus the Practical.

By ALAN HINSDALE

Of all the girls of our bunch I preferred Gwen Meriweather. Gwen had character stamped in her face as plainly as the word may be printed. But she was, or seemed to me to be, devoid of sentiment. I was full of it. I fell in love with her, and since she was devoid of what was born in me I endowed her with it. For this purpose I had plenty of imagination and succeeded in covering her with an ideality which she did not possess.

It is said, and I believe it, that opposites are readily attracted to each other. At any rate, Gwen and I paired off. It was not long before I was making love at high pressure. Gwen did not seem averse to listening to my rhapsodies, but she made no return in kind. Besides, she showed her matter-of-factness in other ways. For instance, I gave her a book rack, handsomely inlaid, one of those contrivances to put on a stand to hold a dozen or so choice books. Not long afterward her little brother knocked it off the stand and broke it. I told Gwen that I would have it mended for her. She said that it would cost more to mend it than it would be worth.

This reply was a great shock to me. I had supposed that the gift, coming from me, would be of inexpressible value to her. Gwen looking at it in a pecuniary way rather than prizing it as an expression of my tender feelings for her seemed to me to be barbarous. I made no complaint. I simply went off and nursed my wound.

When I entered seriously with Gwen into a discussion of a future together she again threw a damper on me. She poo-poohed my talk about love in a cottage—poverty she called it—and brought up many objections to a match between us. I was so inflated by my romance that nothing seemed to stand in the way of our union. I told her that with love in our hearts objections were of no moment whatever Her reply was, "When poverty comes in at the door love flies out of the window."

This was all the more chilling to me because there were no important worldly reasons why Gwen and I should not be married. I was in receipt of an income on property to enable us to live comfortably. I had, besides, a good salary and was advancing as rapidly as was to be expected. I have noticed that women have a way of saying one thing and meaning another. Gwen's real objection to marrying me came out in good time. She saw plainly that I had set her upon a pedestal as an object of worship, and she feared that when the time came—as it inevitably must come—for taking down the gilded image and putting up one of flesh and blood my love would not prove to be of the kind to endure the change.

This was the way Gwen expressed it to me! "You have mistaken me," she said. "You consider me generous, unselfish. On the contrary, I am mean and never give anything away that I want myself. Besides, I have traits, inherited from my ancestors, that would turn any man from me whose love was of the most substantial kind."

I was a bit staggered by this confession, but not for long. My optimistic disposition rose above fear that I would not love Gwen even if she were all she painted herself, and I told her so in most impassioned words, at the same time lavishing upon her an abundance of caresses. But she disengaged herself from me, avowing that at the first sign of a real fault in her my caresses would turn to expressions of contempt.

One day when Gwen and I were walking together we came to a fruit stand kept by a poor woman who was evidently obliged to keep her little child with her while selling her goods. Gwen took a fancy to some apples and asked the woman their price. Instead of paying it Gwen endeavored to beat the vendor down and, failing to do so, walked on without buying. I was so filled with commiseration for a woman whose sphere in life condemned her to make her living in such an humble way, especially as she was obliged to keep a hungry looking child with her while doing so, that I would have been glad to pay double the price she asked for her apples.

I said nothing to Gwen about the matter then, but I thought a great deal. After all, was she not right in asserting that after we were married her faults would come up to make trouble between us? She had said that she was very mean and when a time came had not scrupled to show that meanness. While I was repelled at her fault, I could not but admire her frankness and her wisdom at hesitating to marry a man who was ignorant of it.

Gwen and I were invited to spend a couple of weeks in midsummer at the country residence of a friend of hers. Gwen and Miss Emily Tucker had been schoolmates, and I did not doubt that Miss Tucker possessed my fiancee's confidence to a far greater degree than I did, for if there are two persons in the world who are bent on withholding confidence from each other they are an engaged couple. I know perfectly well that Gwen gave her friend a list of my good and bad qualities and certain other information about me that she would not mention to me.

One evening I was sitting in the gloaming in the drawing room while the girls were upstairs in their rooms dressing for dinner. I heard a light step on the stairs, and a moment later Gwen entered the room where I was. I was sitting in a dark corner, and she apparently did not see me. There was a case of curios in the room, some of which were very rare and some very beautiful. Gwen went to this case and took from it a tiny statuette, for which she had expressed admiration. She concealed it in her drapery and a few minutes later passed out of the room.

Heaven preserve me! My fiancee was a thief—a thief who would steal from her bosom friend, who, at the time of the theft, was entertaining her. Never before or since have I experienced such a shock. Surely this was too much. I could bear with faults in a wife, but not with ingratitude and dishonesty. The only redeeming point about my fiancee's actions was that she hesitated to drag me down to her level. She shrank from marrying a man who adored her, he to find out what she was when it was too late.

With all my own faults, I am certainly conscientious. I mean by this if I do wrong I don't attempt to excuse myself. I deemed it my duty to inform my hostess that she was harboring a serpent in my fiancee. But I found it very difficult to do this. It involved my first informing Gwen that I had seen her steal. There was a remote possibility that she could explain her act, but I could not see how she could do so satisfactorily.

When dinner was announced I dreaded to go into the dining room. Pulling myself together, I did so. And that there was something on my mind was very apparent. There were others present besides the two girls, and all were dampened by my saying nothing and looking as if I had received a stab. When the dinner was over Gwen led me into the drawing room and, turning to me, said:

"Something troubles you. Tell me what it is."

I stammered an account of my being in the drawing room alone in the gloaming, of her entry and, supposing that she was unobserved, of my seeing her appropriate the statuette.

"It is well," she said, "that you have discovered a serious blemish in me before tying yourself up to me for life. My maternal grandmother was a kleptomaniac. Had she not been a lady she would have doubtless spent the most of her life in prison. Since she was a lady she was followed by a woman employed to return what she stole or pay the bills. I should have had the strength to tell you that I have inherited this mania, that you might cast me off. I can only say that I had not the moral strength to do so."

Here was a failing which, being inherited, Gwen was not responsible for. If she should become a confirmed invalid, loving her as I did I would not hesitate to marry her and devote my life to her care. Should I cast her off for this other physical defect, for which she was no more accountable than the other?

I walked away from her to another part of the room. This matter was of too much importance for me to decide on impulse. After pacing back and forth a few minutes I stopped before Gwen, who had sunk upon a sofa, and said to her:

"Gwen, give me till tomorrow to decide what course I shall take in this matter."

She made no reply, but left the room.

Later Emily Tucker came in and said to me:

"What has happened?"

"I can't tell you now. I must have till tomorrow morning."

She, too, retired, and again I was alone. Taking my hat and cane, I left the house that I might have the dome of heaven under which to think. I did not return till near midnight. Seeing a light in Gwen's room, I called to her softly. The window was open, and she heard me.

"I have decided," I said. "Come down and I will tell you."

She had not gone to bed and in a few minutes came down on to the porch, where I was, and, approaching, stopped a short distance from me.

"I love you so well that I can't give you up," I said. "In screening you from the consequences of your misfortune I shall be far happier than passing a lifetime without you."

I supposed that she would stand mute. I would approach her and take her in my arms; her head would drop on my breast in token that she accepted the sacrifice. What was my astonishment when she broke into a laugh. And I was still more surprised to hear it echoed from an upper window. I recognized the echo as Emily's.

"Stupid," Gwen said to me, "how could you have been deceived by such a shallow trick? My kleptomaniac grandmother was a minister's wife and inherited nothing but goodness. When I entered the drawing room this evening I knew you were there and took the statuette on purpose that you should see me. I carried it to Em and told her that I had given your romance a severe test. I am happy that you have stood it valiantly."

For the next two hours we relapsed into billing and cooing.

I am free to confess that Gwen's common sense and practicability have counted for far more than my romance. I have missed a certain companionship of appreciation in my wife, but one may enjoy ideality alone, while management is necessary for all parties concerned. Whenever I have talked "in the clouds" Gwen has taken me by the coattail and pulled me down to earth. When fits of generosity that we could not afford have seized upon me Gwen has locked up the family purse where I could not get at it. Every year that we have lived together has found us in better condition than the year before. Our prosperity is entirely due to my wife's management.

GUARD THE REFRIGERATOR.

If Not Kept Clean It Is a Menace to the Health of the Family.

One of the most important articles of household equipment is the unassuming and, it is to be feared, often neglected icebox.

There is no greater menace to the health of the family than a refrigerator which does not refrigerate or one which it is impossible to keep in a perfect sanitary condition.

The least important thing about a refrigerator is its outside appearance.

While the expensive porcelain and enamel ones are pleasant to own, a less expensive hardwood one with a smooth, plain surface is just as satisfactory and easy to clean.

Coolness, cleanliness and convenience are the three "c's" that are absolutely essential to the construction of a refrigerator.

Always wash the ice before putting it into its compartment, otherwise the straws and dust may clog up the drain pipe.

The floors and shelves of the refrigerator should be washed every day with a solution of soda, and at least once a week the refrigerator should be thoroughly cleaned.

Use a solution of soda and water to clean out the drain pipe and pan. Then scald them out thoroughly with boiling water.—New York Telegram.

Conscious Virtue.

Conscious virtue is the only foundation of all happiness, for riches, power, rank or whatever, in the common acceptation of the world, is supposed to constitute happiness, will never quiet, much less cure, the inward pangs of guilt.—Lord Chesterfield.

Brigandine.

The word brigandine is used in Jeremiah xlvi, 4, to signify a coat of mail. Milton says, "Then put on all thy gorgeous arms, thy helmet and brigandine of brass."

A Left Handed Compliment.

He—A handsome woman smiled at me yesterday. She—Well, it is possible for even a handsome woman to have a sense of the ridiculous.

The Steelyard.

The steelyard, a simple weighing device that is still in vogue, was used by the Romans in 315 B. C.

PEACE OFFER IS URGED BY LEWIS

Illinoisan Puts Own Interpretation on Michaelson Speech.

EXPLAINS WHY HE THINKS IT

His Mind Reading Questioned by Borah — Democratic Whip Declares Chancellor's Statement That Germany Favors Honorable Peace Means Giving Up Conquered Territory.

WASHINGTON — Senator J. H. Lewis, of Illinois, the Democratic whip, announced in the senate that he will soon offer a resolution to prepare the way for peace negotiations in which this country shall take the lead. He interpreted the address of Chamcellor Mirhaelis to the reichstag as a direct bid to the United States to inaugurate a feace movement among its allies.

"Peace within six months, or six years of war," was the keynote of Senator Lewis's speech, which was listened to with profound attention and manifest surprise by the members of the senate.

He declared that the chancellor's speech had convinced him the time is at hand for opening the way to peace, that Germany is only waiting to have terms suggested by some of her opponents, and the "house of Hohenzollern would rather have peace on the allies' terms and remain in power than to have peace on the terms of the Germans and be overthrown."

Germany's Terms.

Senator Lewis said there are three primary conditions of peace to which he believed Germany will give assent at this time. These are:

First. Restoration of Belgium.

Second. Return to France of the French territory now held by Germany.

Third. Return of the Balkan countries to their previous status.

He said that after these had been agreed upon and he felt sure they would be acceptable to both sides, an international board composed of representatives from all the warring countries, including the United States, should be formed to settle all other questions growing out of the war. He said the future status of Italy, of France and of Belgium could be settled by an international body. Michaelis' speech is a bid to us to again ask either for ourselves or in behalf of those with whom we are co-operating for peace.

"I am satisfied," Senator Lewis said, "that the deduction from the speech of Chancellor Michaelis is justified which would read as follows, that if peace will be asked by the allies the mere asking of that peace by the allies is sufficient excuse for our yielding to any terms that will be asked by the allies."

Lewis Tells Why.

Senator Borah asked what the language in the German chancellor's speech was which gave reason to assume that peace would be acceptable. Senator Lewis replied by referring to the words in the speech that Germany is ready for an honorable peace and the phrase afterwards used that she will not now ask it, "having asked it before she will wait for others to ask it who are interested more in the terms and details of it."

CANADIANS BATTER GERMANS AT AVION

Force Way to Second Line of Defenses, Bombard Trenches.

PARIS—The Canadians carried out a daring and highly successful raid on German trenches southeast of Avion. After heavy artillery preparation the raiding party forced its way to the second line of German defenses along a front of 700 yards, where it made determined assaults on strongly fortified German dugouts along the Avion-Merincourt railway.

According to latest reports, most of these positions were rendered untenable. At least sixty prisoners, including an officer, were brought back by the Canadians, whose casualtise were light.

This section of the German line is one of the most difficult and dangerous to fight over, for behind the first line trenches are numerous brick yards, through which it is necessary for assaulting troops to force their way. When the British reached the first line trenches the Germans turned a heavy artillery fire upon them, employing large gas shells.

INSURANCE FOR SOLDIERS

Policies of $1,000 to $10,000 at Usual Rate to Be Provided.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Tentative plans evolved at the conference of government officials and insurance men provide for the issuance of insurance in amounts from $1,000 to $10,000 upon the lives of American sailors and soldiers at ordinary premium rates, with the government paying the excess charge because of the extra risk of military service.

Family allowances to dependents also are proposed, the amount to depend upon the size of the family. In addition indemnities would be given for total or partial disability. The tentative program provides that the war risk insurance bureau have full charge of administering the plan.

MAKES CAVALRY ARTILLERY

New Regiments to Be Trained in Handling Ordnance.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Eight new regiments of cavalry, equipped and trained as artillery, will be added to the regular army as quickly as they can be organized.

Provision for the new cavalry units was authorized in the army bill, but the need for more artillery caused the war department to add them to the service as handlers of the big guns. Other cavalry units being organized are being given training to fit them for infantry work.

U. S. SOLDIERS TO CANADA

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, July 18.—One of the most successful of the British patrol raids was carried out east of Monchy-le Preux in which the British gained ground and took prisoners.

On the Russian front, Gen. Korniloff's army in East Galicia is holding back the reinforced Austro-German armies which are endeavoring to wrest from them the positions recently won in the Malicz and Kalusz sectors.

In the latter region, near the village of Novica, the enemy won a vantage point from the Russians, but immediately afterward in a counter attack lost it.

Thursday, July 19.—German troops under the crown prince made further attacks on French positions. One was made on a front of 800 meters south of St. Quentin. The attacks gained a footing in the French first line, but were expelled from the greater part of these positions by a counter attack. A German attempt to regain ground captured by the French near Avocourt wood, on the Verdun front, was defeated.

Russian troops have again driven into the Galician village of Novica, south of Kalusz, and now occupy the eastern end of that place. The Russians captured more than 200 prisoners and three machine guns in fighting near Novica.

Friday, July 20.—German troops have pushed forward through three strong Russian zones of defense between the Sereth and Zlota Lipa rivers, in eastern Galicia. The Russians suffered heavily, the statement adds, and are retreating in disorder. The Germans took a few thousand prisoners.

Saturday, July 21.—German troops in eastern Galicia have crossed the Zlochoff-Tarnopol road on a front of 40 kilometers. They found burning villages and great destruction in their path.

The German statement also announces Austro-Hungarian forces recaptured positions north of Brzezany lost to the Russians July 1.

German troops in the central sector of the Chemin-des-Dames on the Aisne front took 100 French prisoners in a surprise attack and carried out other important raiding operations in the Rheims and Verdun sectors.

Sunday, July 2.—The French and Russian fronts continue the scenes of the greatest military activity.

In France, between Coissons and Rheims, the French have again given an exhibition of their tenacious ability at defense, like that which held the Germans back from Verdun.

In the east the Russian line in Galicia apparently is crumbling by reason of the disaffection of some of the troops and the vicious assaults, the Germans and Austro-Hungarians, especially the Germans, are throwing against it.

War Tax Bill to Be Pushed.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senate leaders decided not to hold up war tax legislation longer on account of the uncertain prospect over liquor legislation in the food bill. The finance committee voted to report the war tax bill as previously approved and to ask that debate on it begin Wednesday.

After the third time a midnight prowler knocked at the window of Mrs. Marjorie Wright at Traverse City and demanded admittance. Mrs. Wright shot four times at the peeker through her bedroom window. KERENSKY MADE RUSS DICTATOR

"Government of National Safety" Is Established.

GERMANS CAPTURE TARNAPOL

Insubordination and Mutinies Break Morale of Russian Army in Galicia. Defeat Germans to North—Petrograd and Berlin Report Fighting All Along Line to Carpathians.

PETROGRAD. — The council of soldiers and workmen's delegates and peasants of all Russia voted, after an all night session, to grant the government of Premier Kenersky "unlimited powers" under the title "government of national safety" for the re-establishment of public order, both at the front and at home.

"For a Fight to the Finish."

The sweeping new powers were granted to the provisional government in a resolution "adopted" by a combined sitting of the executive committees of the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates and the council of peasants delegates. The resolution, which was passed by 252 to 57, read:

"Recognizing that the country is menaced by a military debacle on the front, established by an anarchy at home, it is resolved:

"1. That the country and the revolution are endangered.

"2. That the provisional government is proclaimed the government of national safety.

"3. That unlimited powers are accorded the government for re-establishing the organization and discipline of the army for a fight to the finish against the enemies of public order and for the realization of the whole program embodied in the governmental program just announced."

Russ Penetrate Teuton Lines.

PETROGRAD — The Russians attacked the Germans near Krevo and Vilna, north of the Pinsk marshes, and penetrated the Teuton lines for a distance of two miles, according to an official announcement made here. The Russians captured more than 1,000 Germans, but the developments of success, the statement adds, are being jeopardized by the moral weakness and instability of certain Russian detachments. Between the River Sereth, Stripa and Zlota Lipa, the statement says, the Austro-Hungarians continued their offensive, occupying villages. The chief of the Russian divisional staff was killed while re-establishing order among the units on the east Galician front.

Teutons Take Tarnapol.

LONDON — The occupation by the Germans of the city of Tarnopol in Eastern Galicia is reported by Reuter's Limited.

The capture of Tarnopol, if confirmed, presents a serious menace to the whole Russian line between the Pinsk marshes and the Carpathians. Tarnopol is about twenty-five miles behind the positions occupied by the Russians when the German counterattack began last week. Unless the Russian forces to the north and south are able to carry out a rapid retreat they will be threatened from the flank by the advancing Germans. Tarnopol is a city of about 35,000. It has been in Russian hands since the early days of of the war, when it was captured in the Russian drive across Galicia.

Advance Both Sides of Dniester.

BERLIN — On the Eastern Galician front the Germans have occupied the heights west of Tarnopol, have crossed the Rohatyn-Ostroff railway and have begun to advance on both sides of the Dniester.

The Russians, the official statement says, have retreated into the Carpathians on the southern front.

Near Craonne, on the Aisne front in northern France, the German position has been advanced along a front of one kilometer.

AIRMEN RAID BRITISH COAST

Large German Air Fleet Kills 11; Injures 27.

LONDON, ENG. — Another big German air fleet made a raid early Sunday over the English coast, part of the German airplane squadron being forced to retreat homeward by the fire of English anti-aircraft defences, while the rest was forced southward along the coast and then turned out to sea.

Both groups were heavily engaged by British aviators over the sea, but no announcement regarding the air battle has been made. The airplanes dropped bombs on Felixstowe, in Suffolk, and on Harwich, across the Orwell, in Sussex, causing eleven deaths and injury to twenty-seven other persons, according to the reports so far received. The official statement

New $3,250,000 British Credit.

LONDON, ENG. — In the house of commons the government will ask for a vote of credit of £650,000,000 ($3,250,000,000), the largest single vote since the outbreak of the war. It will bring up the total for the war to £5,292,000,000 ($26,460,000,000).

Col. Roosevelt, in his speech delivered at Pittsburg, July 26th, before a convention of the Loyal Order of Moose, declared, "As compared to the other great nations of the world, Americans had in this war exhibited themselves as a miracle of inefficiency."

The Colonel pleaded especially for measures of preparedness when the war was over. The plans of the Government now speeded up to feverish haste and the bills enacted covered only the period of war and made no provision for the safety of our country after the war ends.

In summing up what America had accomplished since a state of war with Germany was declared, he said: "The United States did not now have a single airplane fit to send across the German lines and that months must pass before one could be manufactured, that America had no heavy artillery to put in the battle line and that Major General Pershing and his soldiers would have to trust to French and English guns. American submarine chasers operating with the British fleet constituted only a tiny fraction of the English force."

"It would be a year after the declaration of war before America would have a fair number of big cargo ships. We have not enough rifles for our men and are painfully short of equipment. We have not yet begun to assemble the draft army, the first elementary officers' training camps have not been finished and the National Guard has only just begun to mobilize"

"We have put a fragment of our fine little regular army into France and, as it is composed almost exclusively of infantry without artillery, it would be helpless against any well equipped enemy were it not aided by our allies."

This he declared is the sum total of the activities of a nation of 100,000,000 people in possession of incalculable wealth and boundless resources during the six months following its entry (after two and one-half years' warning) into the greatest war in history.

We do not know how far this nation has advanced in its preparation for war. We do know, however, that so far as it has the authority it is pushing every department to get is pushing every department to get ready. Congress has dilly-dallied and wasted time, allowing politics to enter in and block the wheels of almost every bill yet up for consideration where the decks should have been cleared for action and bills urgently necessary should have been rushed through without unnecessary delay.

We are in a serious position. The war news coming from across the waters is not as encouraging as it has been for Russia has shown signs of weakening in the movements of her armies on the eastern front and should she fail, the task of the Allies would indeed be serious.

Our inefficiency in the past, of course, cannot be remedied, but the question before us today is to make our present preparations speedily efficient. It is a big task and it will be done, but the delay is taxing the patience of the American people. Six months or a year will elapse before we can expect to be in position to make ourselves felt on the battle fields of Belgium and France. We can only hope and pray that conditions will be favorable until we can get ourselves up to war strength and be able to strike a mighty blow.

Col. Roosevelt's plea for future preparedness is perhaps sound advice, but we are more interested in the present and near future for we have our duty to perform and should be about it with every ounce of our strength and, if the Colonel's statements are true, it would only indicate how slow we have been in really getting ready.

Roof Garden of the New World.

Bolivia is the Tibet of South America. It is the highest inhabited country in the western hemisphere. Although only 10 degrees from the equator, Bolivia is colder than Maine. It's a roomy country. Think of this: You could put sixty Belgiums into Bolivia, and yet this great land has only one-third of Belgium's population. Foreigners and foreign capital are pouring into Bolivia, and her immense stores of that exceedingly precious metal, tin, promise much for the future.—World Outlook.

Polite Learning.

When by the help of study a sufficient stock of solid learning is acquired the next business is to consider how to make use of it to the best advantage. There is nothing more necessary to this than good sense and polite teaching; for as a man may have the first without the latter so 'tis possible one may have the latter and yet be rather the worse than the better for it, at least to others if not to himself. A plain unlettered man is always more agreeable company than a fool in several languages.—John Hughes.

"You mean to say you lived in one house for three years and cultivated no pleasant acquaintances? Why?"

"I was cultivating my voice."—Exchange.

When a man talks about being confined all day in a stuffy office and a woman tells of being cooped all day in a 3 by 4 house both are bluffing.—Detroit Free Press.

Hunters Walking on the bottom of the Ocean. One of the wonderful scenes from "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" which will be seen at the Bradley Opera House next week Friday, August 3.

Next week Friday August 3, at the Bradley opera house, the biggest feature picture of the age, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," will present a love story that is woven around the episodes that have made Jules Verne's works of imaginative fiction the masterpieces of the decade.

With the floor of the ocean as the stage for this remarkable photo play spectacle the story of Captain Nemo's conquest of the terrors of the deep is told.

With the aid of the Williamson undersea photographic inventions, the mysteries of the deep are graphically displayed. Fishes of many sorts are seen in their native waters, while men walk on the ocean bed and engage in combat with the tigers of the deep.

The actors, clothed in divers' suits described by Jules Verne, have neither the life lines nor the air hose to connect them with the surface of the watter They breathe oxygen from a concealed tank under their shirts and rise to the surface by inflating their suits from a condensed air tank carried on their backs.

Capt. Nemo, the hero of Verne's imaginative tale, is shown in many adventures aboard his submarine, Nautilus His rescue of a pearl diver who becomes ensnared in the tentacles of a giant octopus is only one of the thrilling scenes in this spectacle There is a strong love interest when the "Child of Nature" is discovered on Mysterious Island by Lieutenant Bond and the two are finally rescued by Capt. Nemo who learns that the girl is his daughter.

That which Jules Verne predicted 50 years ago has become a reality and the whole appalling truth is pictured to the minute in this great submarine drama, "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," which was filmed at the bottom of the ocean, revealing mysteries the human eye has never before seen.

"20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" comes here direct from a five weeks' showing at the Detroit Opera House The production closes there tomorrow (Saturday) night Capacity houses have daily seen this wonderful picture there and it is the talk of all Detroit

You will have but one chance to see it here and that is next Friday night Two shows will be given starting at 7:00 and 9:00 with all seats at 25c

The Song Bird's Moods.

All our birds use what we call their voices, just as we use ours, for the purposes of expression generally, and I am convinced that bird song proper, though oftenest the expression of some phase of the tender passion, is not confined to such expression. In a limited way birds have their lyric and their dramatic moods, their serious and their comic songs, their recitative and their oratorical methods. Bird song has come, it seems to me, in response to a growth of the natural desire for a means of expression. Language is the highest mode of expression, and bird song is a beautiful and witching, but very imperfect, language.—Thomas Sergeant Perry.

Trick of the Pickpocket.

For safety's sake the pickpocket seldom works single handed. He usually works with a couple of "screens," who plant themselves in front of the intended victim. If the "job" is a difficult one they carefully jostle him at the critical moment in order to distract his attention. A favorite trick in a dense crowd is to tip a man's hat over, as though accidentally. His hands naturally fly up to set it right. Instead, they should go straight to the watch and the money pocket. If your hat is knocked off in a crowd make sure your money pocket is safe before troubling about the hat. If you are quick enough you may catch a hand there.

When the Guitar Arrived.

The advent of the English guitar in the eighteenth century caused the disappearance of bandores, poliphants and similar wire strung instruments, or, rather, it supplanted them, for, owing to the use of fingers, the English guitar, though smaller, could be used for accompanying the voice as well as for solo performances. The instrument, which had a decorative appearance, is frequently depicted in the portraiture of the eighteenth century. It was made in various sizes, two of the smaller "to be managed by young ladies from seven to ten years of age, the other by ladies of ten and upward."

Keeping a Secret.

Sir Frederick Bridge, the famous organist of Westminster abbey, has a keen sense of humor. He was once at a dinner party when he was much bored by a loquacious guest. At length the stranger became so bumptious that Sir Frederick asked him if he knew much about music. "Rather; I should think I do," was the reply. "Come, now," said Sir Frederick, "tell me what are the four resolutions of the dominant seventh." "Tell you what are the four resolutions of the dominant seventh?" echoed the ignorant one haughtily. "Ah, I could not give away the secrets of our craft in any circumstances."

Victim of the Law.

"Now, my lad," said the severe magistrate, "have you anything to say for yourself—any excuse to offer for such early depravity? Fourteen years old and caught picking pockets in the street! What started you on this road to crime?"

"You did, mister."

"I did? What do you mean, boy?"

"Well, mister, if you 'adn't given my old dad six months I wouldn't 'ave 'ad to start life so early to keep the home going"—London Mail

An Exception.

Johnnie's father had a comfortable income that did not require that he should have any settled occupation, and the only thing in the nature of work that Johnnie had ever seen him do was to write checks. At school Mary announced that her father was a doctor.

Knew the Game.

A man who had been engaged to do a small job of carpenter work for a Glenwood avenue family was making out his bill when the housewife suggested: "You might put a coat of stain on the stairs."

"All over?"

"All over the rise, but just a part of the tread."

The man looked at the woman a moment and then began to revise his bill.

"What's wrong now?" the woman asked.

"You spoke of the 'rise and tread.'"

"Yes."

"I didn't think you knew so much about the business, and I am going to change my bill a little."—Exchange.

Washing Glassware.

The wife of a glazier once told me, said a housekeeper, never to wash my glassware in hot water because, she said, it melts the thin glaze that is on the outside of all glassware and so makes the glass appear smeared and muddy. Since then I have used cold water, and the results are remarkable.—Washington Star.

Guadeloupe.

Guadeloupe, the largest island of the French West Indies, has a population of about 183,000 and a total area of 722 square miles, 32 per cent of which is under cultivation. The important crops are sugar cane, coffee, cocoa, vanilla and also lime trees. The soil is fertile, and the rainfall is usually sufficient for the needs of the crops.

OLD TECUMSEH BOY ON GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

The following is an extract from a letter received by Mrs. S. W. Temple from her son Herbert M. Temple, which will be of interest of his friends in Tecumseh. Bert is one of the firm of Temple, Webb & Co., certified public accountants at St. Paul, Minn.

St Paul, Minn, July 24, 1917

Dear Mother, Leon and all:

Last May I went down to Washington (taking May with me), being one of twelve men requested to come to Washington and assist the War Department in developing a plan of accounting to be used in auditing the cantonment construction work which was soon to be inaugurated.

The cantonment construction, means the building of suitable barracks and quarters for the new national army which is now being conscripted, and there are sixteen of these big camps being built in various parts of the United States. The nearest camp to you is located at Battle Creek, Michigan.

I have been assigned by the Government to the auditing work at Des Moines, Iowa, camp and at the Fort Riley, Kansas, camp. I have at work at Riley about 90 men and nearly the same number at work at Des Moines. Our service consists in checking all of the time keeping, receiving all of the material and auditing all of the expenditures at these two camps so that the contractor may be paid promptly by the Government for his outlays.

This is something entirely new in Government procedure and practice and necessitates a crew of exceptionally high grade men in the field.

I am one of the five men to be assigned to two camps and the remainder of our committee that was in Washington is assigned to one camp each. Our service is expected to be over by the first of October and the camps turned over to the new national army organizaton.

When completed Riley Camp will house 49,500 soldiers and DesMoines about the same number. These statistics of material used are also very interesting. The Riley camp requires something like 48,000,000 feet of lumber in its construction.

I shall be away more or less during the summer and have only just returned from a trip down in Kansas and Iowa.

Lots of love and don't worry if you don't hear from me.

Bert.

STORE PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS

Dr W. D. Reed has purchased from the Henry L. Jones Estate the brick store building on East Chicago street, occupied by Miss Ida Chase's Novelty Store. The deal was made by Geo A. Rathbun, attorney for the Henry Jones Est. The consideration has not been made public.

CLASS REUNION

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Hurry's Sunday-school class of the M. F. church held their annual meeting at the home of Mrs Sylvia Davidson. There were fourteen present and the afternoon was spent in Red Cross work A bountiful potluck supper was served and another happy reunion was added to the many that this class has enjoyed As the evening shadows gathered the company dispersed to their several homes.

Nearly a quarter of the criminal cases handled at Flint by the prosecuting attorney's office since the first of the year have been for local option violations.

Oscar Bittman, a former employe of the Ford Automobile company at Detroit who was arrested several days ago on suspicion of espionage was ordered interned.

Morris Swartz, forty-seven, was arrested by the Detroit police, suspected of being the murderer of Sidney Levine, aged six, as the boy slept in his bed.

John Fethke, fifty-three years old, the man struck by an automobile driven by Miss Sybil Peterson and identified at Mercy hospital, is expected to recover.

The labor situation in the Michigan Central shops in Jackson, which threatens to bring about a strike of machinists on the entire system, has been submitted to the government.

The government has commandeered the Grand Rapids School Equipment company, and 6,400 three and one-half ton wooden truck bodies will be turned out within seven months.

Lester Salomon, forty-seven years old, general manager and principal stockholder of the Home Furnishing company of Kalamazoo, died at his Charlevoix summer home. He was born at Millsdale.

The celebration in honor of Company A, Thirty-second Michigan national guard, was the greatest military event ever seen at Coldwater. Laying of the corner stone of the new armory, eleven bands and a parade were the leading parts of the program.

Word has been received at Ann Arbor that the two University of Michigan divisions of the Michigan naval militia are the only two divisions at the Great Lakes naval station to have all men pass the government physical test.

Governor Sleeper telegraphed to the Michigan senators at Washington, protesting because Michigan national guard troops have been ordered to Waco, Tex, for final training. Governor Sleeper urged that the troops be trained at the state camp at Grayling.

The first serious clash between the authorities and suspected Industrial Workers of the World agitators was reported from Mass City, Ontonagon county. Five men, names unknown to the police, after shouting "Hurrah for the Kaiser," are held there in connection with an anti-American agitation on charges of resisting arrest.

Lieutenant Daniel E. Birdsall, the last of Barry county's distinguished civil war veterans, one of three members of Company E, old Third Michigan infantry, to receive the "Kearney Cross," for meritorious conduct in McClellan's peninsula campaign, is dead. General Daniel Sickles made the presentation on a battlefield on the Rappahannock river.

RED CROSS NEWS

The amount received from Mrs. F. B. Wood's Tecumseh entertainment was omitted from the Red Cross Financal Report printed in the last issue of this paper. The amount received from this entertainment was $27.55.

The request for the donation of sewing machines was promptly and generously answered within 24 hours by the following ladies and gentlemen who came forward with one machine each: Mr. Geo. Hawkes, Mrs. S. E. Austin, Mrs. Albert Anderson, Mrs. Dan'l Austin, Mrs Ernie Topps. This is all we can use for the present but we may need more later on.

Will someone who has a truck or dray volunteer to do our heavy hauling. We do not have much of it as the light package work is done by boys with their carts.

Our request for donations of paper flour sacks was answered by D. Graff & Son with a large package of new ones and by several unknown donors with smaller quantities. Thanks to all.

The Onsted Branch has asked us to work up some goods with our power snipping machine. We are glad to do it free. We will be glad to do the same for other branches. Tear the goods into strips two inches wide and sew together so as to make one long piece. We will give equal weight in snippings for goods so prepared.

John Austin has charge of the operation of the machine and he has a corps of experienced operators. He is on duty evenings only, but you can leave your snippings at headquarters any time they are open. If they are closed Mrs. Hardy will take them.

Mrs. Raymond Mills wishes those who are making pajamas to please note the following instructions:

There should be 5½ inches from the center of one buttonhole to the center of the next and the buttonholes should be directly in the center of the broad pleat. All buttonholes should be made up and down and be a snug fit for the buttons, a scant three-quarters of an inch. All seams must be stitched very close to the edge. The pockets must be stitched twice around.

The following deliveries have been made to the Chapter Headquarters from the Tecumseh Branch up to July 24th, 1917:

Comfort pillows, 2 cases each	101
Surgical Sponges	450
Sheets	160
Surgical shirts	94
Pillowcases	92
Pajamas, suits	47
Bed socks, pairs	19
Bath robes	18
Wash Cloths	4
Handkerchiefs	21
Wool socks, pair	13

The following ladies, belonging to the Headquarters committee, will be on duty at the Red Cross rooms next week.

Monday, July 30th—Mrs. N. Clarkson.

Tuesday—Mrs. H. A. Forsyth.

Wednesday afternoon—Mrs. L. B. Schneider.

Wednesday evening—Miss M. L. Phelps.

Thursday—Miss A. Cutting.

Friday—Mrs. R. Mead.

Saturday afternoon—Mrs. Geo. Church.

Saturday evening—T. D. Hanford.

Our wooden knitting needles have become favorites. We have received orders for them from Adrian and inquiries from Manchester and Ann Arbor, among others. They are made by Mr. H. D. Cutting.

The Lenawee County Headquarters at Adrian are remarkably well organized. The Red Cross is fortunate in having obtained through the generosity of Dr. A. M. Stevenson the use of his former residence and office, a large two story house on North Main street, in the very heart of Adrian.

Although it was morning, it was a very hive of industry, some forty women being busily employed. Miss McElroy was in charge of the clerical work, and Mrs. Clark was supervising a room full of ladies making pajamas. On each one was stitched a neat little red cross.

Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Burnham were the House committee for the day, and took visitors around, who are always welcome.

Six attractive young girls were working the six power sewing machines, which seemed to fairly eat up the work, as it was passed to them from the basters. Each worker has her own particular task, it takes some practice to work the power machines, as they run so very swiftly, therefore the machine workers do only that, and the basters do not sew.

The cutting room had a large table built in, that nearly filled the room, about a foot higher than an ordinary table so that it would save the cutters many backaches. At one end was a kind of large drawer to catch the cut out garments.

Big cupboards were full of bundles of prepared work ready for the home workers and others were piled up with bundles of all the different garments in dozens, ready for packing.

One room was devoted to the inspection of garments, which were then handed to the young girls, who did the pressing work

Next to this is the packing room where large cases are lined with water proof paper, filled to the brim with all the lovely comfortable things made by the industrious fingers of Lenawee County and then forwarded to France directly, to where ever there is most need of our help.

Upstairs are the store rooms, for rags for snippings, all kinds of miscellaneous goods, and perhaps the most interesting room, the class for surgical dressings. Miss Rowland is the instructor and twenty white clad figures, were eagerly at work, making everything required for the operating room. Miss Rowland exhibited with pride in an adjoining room, shelves of daintily made laparatomy pads, bandages of every size, surgical sponges, dressings, etc., all of snow white gauze. To qualify for an instructor, one has to take eight lessons and work two weeks more for practice.

Donations of all kinds of goods are continously pouring in. As the writer of this was leaving, two large electric fans passed her on the stairs.

MACON BRANCH OF THE RED CROSS

The Macon branch which was organized from Tecumseh, has become a very thriving little organization with the following officers:-

Knitted socks—Mrs. Thomas.

Pajamas—Mrs. Claude Bailey.

Shoulder wraps—Mrs. G. D. Ellis.

Surgical shirts—Mrs. B. F. Pennington.

Sheets—Mrs. E. M. Dewey

Washcloths—Mrs. Chas. Slaight

Knitted sponges—Mrs. W. Morden.

Pillows all kinds—Miss Josie Clarkson.

Pillow covers, all kinds—Mrs. W. C. Allen.

Handkerchiefs and tray cloths—Mrs. P. K. Allen.

Membership solicitor—Mr. Mayne Pennington.

Mrs. Thomas of Macon has a quantity of yarn on hand and knitting needles at fifteen cents per pair. She is in need of more workers.

Mrs. P. K. Allen appeals for material for handkerchiefs and tray cloths and is badly in need of workers.

The Macon committee is appealing to all residents in that section for helpers, please select your department, and communicate with the head of it. The Headquarters are at the Four Corners and the total membership is 262.

Comfort bags were presented by the Macon Red Cross to Ivan Spitler and Chas. Thomas who are now in the army.

Macon has done very well indeed, and Tecumseh is proud of her daughter's Red Cross work.

Jenny C. Law Hardy.

Siren In Skirts.

Which is the most recent siren (of the animal variety) in history? Jacobus Noieras relates that in 1403 a siren was captured in the Zuider Zee. She was (says Mr. Norman Douglas in "Siren Land") brought to Haarlem and, being naked, allowed herself to be clothed; she learned to eat like a Dutchman; she could spin thread and take pleasure in other maidenly occupations; she was gentle and lived to a great age. But she never spoke. The honest burghers had no knowledge of the language of the sea folk to enable them to teach her their own tongue, so she remained mute to the end of her days.

Hill of the Poison Plant.

Close to the frontier of Nepal is the mountain of Sandook-Phu, which means in the Tibetan language "the hill of the poison plant," or aconite. This plant is so abundant and so deadly in its effects that all sheep and cattle passing over the mountain are muzzled by their drivers. An English traveler saw at its foot great heaps of discarded bamboo muzzles. Curiously enough, only those cattle that are newly imported from the plains are fatally affected. The natives believe that the sheep of the district learn to shun the youngest leaves, which are the most virulent. A more likely explanation is that they grow habituated to the drug by taking it in small quantities.

Feats of Memory.

Wonderful feats of memory have been performed by men of no learning. Jedediah Buxton, an illiterate peasant, could tramp over a piece of ground and tell its contents in square feet or inches as accurately as if he had measured it with a chain. Being asked suddenly in a field how many cubical eighths of an inch there are in a triangular body whose three sides are respectively 23,145,789 yards, 5,642,738 yards and 54,965 yards, he gave the exact solution within an hour or so.

"There are a lot of promising young men in this community," remarked the stranger.

"Yes," replied the tailor. "A lot of them are wearing clothes that I made for them."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Unselfish.

"He is always thinking of others, isn't he?"

"Yes; planning how he can get them to do something for him."—Life.

Grocery Satisfaction.

If your grocer pleases you in every particular, you have no cause for changing.

Even WE can do no more than that.

But if you think some of making a shift, we would be glad to give you the best service of which we are capable.

Often and often we have turned now-and-again customers into steady patrons.

And we lose a surprising few of the really particular grocery buyers, who once become our customers.

Try us on anything you like.

Building Supply Shipments can be Obtained Now.

"Rush Orders" Later Will Be Doubtful

The country's tremendous domestic business requires many more freight cars than are available. Contrary to the usual increase in the available supply of cars after March 1, the shortage this year has grown worse, reaching a total in June which is the worst on record for that month.

Furthermore, the Railroads' War Board has power to regulate traffic so that shipments from other manufacturers can be made only after manufacturers supplying the Allies and Uncle Sam are cared for.

To protect our customers we have stocked up heavily and placed large orders for additional shipments. But we cannot guarantee that these supplies will be sufficient to meet demands. When war orders increase and when the movement of crops begins, cars will be at a still greater premium and "rush shipments" will be out of the question. For your own protection we urge that you

SERIOUS AUTO ACCIDENT

As two brothers by the name of Gould were motoring through to the lakes from Toledo last evening, they met with quite a serious accident when coming down the hill by the Quaker mill. By some means the auto swerved to one side and went down into the ditch, where it struck a tree throwing the two men out and badly wrecking the machine. Both men were hurt, one of them quite badly, it being necessary to take twelve stitches on his head and one ear partly torn off.

The men showed great pluck however and telephoned to a brother who resides in Clinton to come after them with his car and take them the rest of their trip.

Glenn Tansley and Will Babcock were passengers for Toledo Thursday.

Harry Chiveral enlisted in the U. S. Navy about a month ago and has since been waiting his call to duty.

Miss Mildred Price has returned from her visit to Cleveland and Elyria, Ohio, and reports a fine time.

Mrs. Clarence Everhart and children of Battle Creek are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Cutting.

Miss Margaret Glasgow of Kalamazoo came Wednesday for a visit with Mrs. Edna Belding and other friends.

Mrs. Ethel Mathias is gaining slowly from her recent operation. She is able to be out in a wheel chair occasionally.

Mrs. Helen Vegakos, who has been visiting at the Melonakos home for the past two weeks, left for her home in Erie, Pa., Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Poland of Toledo visited over Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Shurtz and her son Donald Brown.

Fred Chiveral returned to the Soldier's Home in Dayton, Ohio, Wednesday after a week's visit with his son Will Chiveral and family.

O. F. Blum has been promoted to the position of traveling salesman for the Standard Oil Co. and Gordon Smith is now filling his position as local agent.

Mr. Charles Haner of Sturgis and Will Haner of Chicago motored through from Sturgis, Thursday, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haire and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Shurtz.

We saw a nice basket of cherries in the Rosacrans store Thursday, left by Jewett Whelan who said he had picked 60 bushels off the trees on Mrs. Whelan's farm in Holloway.

A letter just received from Mrs. H. H. Hammel states the Dr. sailed for England last Thursday and from there will go to France. She was looking every day for a cable from him.

F. S. Turner accompanied his two daughters to Detroit Wednesday and saw them started on their way to Flint for an extended visit with their grandfather and aunt. He returned at night.

Ralph Cuthbert, who has been suffering with an attack of appendicitis, is able to be out again. He is looking rather thin and careworn, but we hope his improvement will be a lasting one.

Duaine Service and brother Wyman were passengers for Chicago Sunday, returning Wednesday, driving home a Bradley auto hearse No. 60 which they have added to their undertaking equipment.

Miss Margaret Turner entertained her Sunday school class and teacher Miss Lillian Kennedy from 7 to 8 o'clock. Tuesday evening at her home on West Chicago St. The hour was spent with games and later light refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs B. Hurry and daughter Harriet, who have been spending the past two weeks with their son Charles and family in the Adirondack mountains, returned home Thursday, having enjoyed a most delightful outing.

Next Wednesday, August 1st will be held at Jackson the big Six County Grange picnic. Lenawee is included and of course the subordinate Granges are invited. Tecumseh members are to take notice. Chase [illegible]orn, former governor, is to be the speaker of the day.

Treasurer Friend McNeil informs us that up to today there has been paid in on the summer tax roll a little less than $7,000. The total amount to be collected is $18,113.80 thus leaving about two-thirds yet to be paid in. There are ten more days left to get in the balance.

Eugene Rosacrans and sister Marjorie motored to Toledo, Thursday morning, where they met Mrs. Fred Rosacrans and Mrs. Eugene Rosacrans and daughter Helen, who have been spending the past month at Mullett Lake. Mr. Fred Rosacrans stopped at Detroit to look after business interests.

BARGAIN DAY

The usual immense crowd of people were on our street Wednesday evening for the Bargain Day entertainment The chief attraction of the evening was the Adrian Imperial Band which furnished some most delightful music, not the least of which was the medley of our old Southern melodies and later our National Songs, closing with the soul inspiring "Star Spangled Banner" which was received with cheers.

High & Benny with their dogs were highly appreciated by the old as well as the young children in the crowd, and were heartily applauded.

The Luc Duo aerial act was a fine one, displaying much skill. This was followed by Edward and Louise whose hand balancing was extremely good.

The entertainment was quite satisfactory throughout and the crowd of people seemed well pleased and paid for their effort in coming into town in the extreme heat. We were favored with pleasant weather, the usual Wednesday shower being postponed for a time. Cme again next Wednesday, you will be very welcome.

The annual Southern Michigan Odd Fellows picnic will be held at Hague Park, Jackson, Wednesday, August 8th. There will be a balloon ascension, ball game and other sports and a "rattling" good time promised. G. H. Tansley is on the committee and can give further information. Brother Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and their friends are not to forget the date.

Inactive Kidneys Cause Disease

"I shall not soon forget the benefits I derived from the use of Foley Kidney Pills."—Al. A. Godfrey, Forest Grove, Oregon.

Too much work and too little work seem to have about the same effect on persons past middle age. Proper action of the kidneys is necessary to good health. They act as a filter and remove from the blood poisonous waste matter which if permitted to remain in the system leads to many complications.

Many nervous, tired, run-down men and women suffer from pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, bladder weakness, sore muscles and stiff joints and fail to realize that rheumatism, diabetes or even Bright's disease may result.

If you have cause to believe that your kidneys are weak, disordered or inactive you should act immediately. Foley Kidney Pills have been used by young, middle aged and old with complete satisfaction. They act quickly and surely and have given relief in [illegible] of ten years' standing.

MACON

Duncan Robison

The death of Duncan Robison removes another of the pioneers of Washtenaw Co.

Mr. Robison was born in Schenectady, N. Y. on October 20th, 1832 and died on July 15th 1917.

In the spring of 1833, when only eight months old, he came with his parents, Samuel and Jane Robison to Michigan in the old territorial days of frugality and thrift.

On December 24, 1862 he was married to Miss Sarah Sage, who died on February 22,1872. To this union was born one daughter Mrs. Willis McClue. Again in 1873 he was married to Miss Caroline Sage, who survives him and to them was born one son, Roy Robison.

For 54 years Mr. Robison has lived on the farm where he died within three miles of the very spot where he had first settled when coming with his parents to Michigan. Notwithstanding his extreme age, his mind showed no senility, and to the very last he was interested in public affairs.

The funeral was held at his late home on Tuesday afternoon,Rev. W. H. Hoffman officiating. It was largely attended by relatives and friends and neighbors and was a substantial evidence of the high esteem every one had of the character and life of this worthy citizen.

Interment in Macon cemetery.

Obstreperous Jim

Story of a Farmer Boy.

By F. A. MITCHEL

There are two things that especially interest me. One is gardening, the other automobiling. In these I have found occupation and amusement after retiring from business, though I am free to confess that since gardening is confined to a portion of the year and one can go motoring at any time, I have done more of the latter than the former.

It is in the spring that I have found comfort in my garden. I prepare my ground early, and then when the first warm days come on I start out on a brief tour in my car, for experience has taught me that "one swallow does not make a summer," and I have obtained better results by refraining from planting till later when more reliance is to be placed on the continued warmth of the sun germinating my seed than by putting it in when cold is liable to follow heat.

But there is work in gardening, and motoring is all pleasure. Therefore I confess I prefer the latter.

One morning I stopped at a farmhouse for water for my radiator. The farmer came out, took a bucket, pumped the water and insisted on pouring it into my tank. Before leaving him I indulged him in conversation, for I have noticed that if there is one thing a farmer likes it is to talk.

This is natural. A countryman does not mingle in the hurly burly of city life. The city man comes home in the evening having had more talk than he has needed and prefers to sit down and be quiet. But the farmer is in a great measure cut off from all interchange of thought with his fellow men. If he can get a city man to swap ideas with him he will talk or listen, as his makeup impels, till the cows come home.

"You seem to have a great variety of produce on your farm," I said to the farmer.

"Yes," he said, "we have. We're near enough to the city for a market, and we put in a lot of different things, so that if some fail we don't make a dead loss."

At that moment a sturdy boy of five came out of the house and stood looking admiringly at my machine.

"Your boy?" I asked the farmer.

"I'm his granddad."

"What would the world be without the children?" I observed.

"You're right there, stranger," said the old man. "The only trouble about children is to understand 'em. We don't consider that they're children and not men and women. Consequence is we rub 'em the wrong way. And I've noticed that sometimes the most obstreperous turn out the best. We send 'em to school, and if they learn easy we think they're fine. If they don't we think they're no good.

"I was readin' about the big inventor t'other day—the man they call the wizard, and it said when he was a little feller his teacher took him to his mother and told her the boy was a dunce. The mother took the job o' teachin' him herself, but I reckon that boy was born to teach other people, for that's what he's been doin' ever since.

"I never had any trouble with any o' my children, except my boy Jim, the father o' this little shaver here. The fault with Jim was that when he got to be thirteen or fourteen years old he knew mor'n I and his mother and the whole family. He was ready to tell me how not to run the farm, but he couldn't tell me how to run it. He thought he could, and sometimes he did. I told him he'd better keep his opinions to himself.

"Sometimes he'd do things without my knowing it or against my orders. I remember one day I told him to trim an apple tree and be particular to cut off the lower limbs that was hangin' near the ground. What did he do but cut off all the top ones. I didn't give him a lickin' for his disobedience, but I scolded him a lot. Do you know the little cuss' way o' doin' it turned out fine. After that the tree he trimmed give us the biggest and the best apples of any in the orchard. And the best part of it was we didn't have to go up on a long ladder to pick 'em and lose a lot by not bein' able to get at 'em.

"Well, Jim was always doin' som'pin' the wrong way. When a man is runnin' anything he don't want his assistants to tell him how to do it, especially a boy that he has brought up from a baby. Jim was always monkeyin' with the farm machinery, throwin' it out o' gear mostly, though once in awhile he'd make it run even. I told him to let it alone and to let everything alone, but it didn't do any good.

"One time I found a quarter acre o' ground that had always produced well ruined. Nothing came up there that season. Come to find out Jim had been puttin' some kind o' chemicals into it. Jim was about sixteen when he did this, and I concluded to get rid of him. I told him he'd better go out for a hired hand, only I warned him that he'd better not tell the men he worked for how to run their farms and do things as he was told to do 'em.

"About this time his grandmother died and left him her savin's, about $1,200. Instead o' leavin' it to me, as Jim's guardeen, she left it to him to have right off. I think the most incorrigible boys is the favored ones of their mothers, and they certainly are of the gals. Anyway Jim was a favorite of his grandmother, who seemed to think that he knew more than I did.

"Jim went away, and I supposed he was goin' to do as I told him—hire out for a farm hand.

"Meantime while he was gone I wasn't gettin' along very well with the farm. I reckoned the land had been worked out and required to be fertilized. I didn't have the money to do the job as it ought to be done, and I thought that if I didn't spend a lot on it I'd lose what I put into it, so I didn't do anything. I tried to raise such crops as didn't need much fertilizer, but didn't get much of a return.

"Jim was away four years, and all the while I was runnin' down financially. He used to write home once in awhile, but he didn't tell us what he was doin'. But Jim was never a good hand at explainin' things. I've thought since that if when he was a boy he'd have told me somep'n about what he was drivin' at I'd have had more patience with him.

"The only thing Jim did tell us, and he wrote that to his mother the last year he was away, was that he'd got a sweetheart. He said she was the purtiest gal in the world and the best. When his mother told me about it I said I reckoned Jim would have a hard time takin' care of a wife, especially if he was goin' to do things his own way and never take any advice from anybody.

"Well, when I had got so low financially that I had to put a mortgage on my farm Jim come home. He said he'd been to an agricultural college and had come home to help me out.

"'Father,' he said, 'you and all the rest of the old fashioned farmers have been blundering along for ages. The earth and everything in it is a big laboratory, and there's nothing that isn't subject to the laws of science. Do you remember when you told me to trim the apple tree and cut off the lower branches? Well, it occurred to me that that tree was a mighty big climb for the sap; that by the time it got to the top it must be tired out, and that what apples it produced would be small and few. Besides, it would cost more to gather apples grown as high as that than they'd be worth when you got 'em down.

"'And do you remember the ground I put the chemicals in? Well, that was a failure, but when a boy of fourteen begins experimenting he's not likely to succeed without a lot of failures. Sometimes a grown educated scientist will work for years over a problem and fail in the end.

"'When you tired of me and grandmother left me the legacy I determined to use it to learn what there was known about scientific agriculture. I don't claim to have learned any more than is known by others, but I've learned that and it's a good foundation on which to learn more. I'm not going to do much experimenting on my own hook till I have put you on a better basis in your efforts to make money out of the farm.

"'And I must tell you further that there's business in farming as well as anything else. My vacations I've spent clerking in a produce store in a big city. There I've learned certain of some middlemen's methods. I've seen something of how he squeezes the consumer on the one hand and the farmer on the other. I don't want to squeeze either myself, but the more a man knows about squeezing the less likely he is to get squeezed.

"'Now, dad, I'll tell you what we must do. We must take advantage of our opportunities such as they are and turn away from what are not opportunities, no matter how attractive they look. We've got a market handy for such produce as is used on the tables of any and every body. We'll go into table vegetables on a small scale at first, and if we find it pays we'll increase the scale. As soon as we can work it we'll open a store for the sale of our own produce and make the whole profit ourselves. But we can't go too fast; must feel our way and shift our plans as we run up against stone walls.'"

The farmer paused in his narrative, cast a glance over his broad beds of garden truck and concluded:

"There's the result of Jim's work. He didn't do any experimentin' till he'd got the business well goin'. I call it the business because business is a part and a very important part of farmin'.

"I've said that Jim didn't do any experimentin', so he didn't in the regular line of the work on the farm, but he's been doin' it all the while in a small way, and he's found out some things already.

"That mortgage I told you of was paid off in two years, and now there's plenty over for all.

"Jim married his sweetheart and they live in the cottage down yonder. This little Jim"—putting his hand on the boy's head—"is a chip off the old block; he has a will of his own, anyway. There's his dad now."

A sturdy young man of twenty-five or six in overalls came up to us and was introduced by his father. I had some talk with him about his profession, but found him very reticent and could get only a little out of him. Evidently he was a man of deeds instead of words.

I was so pleased with this bit of life's success that I motored that way again and met Jim's mother and his wife. There was an air of prosperity and comfort about all these people and their farm that was very attractive to me, and in time I came to know them all well. During these visits Jim received a high appointment in the United States department of agriculture.

If there is any moral to this story it seems to me it is that a genius is so far out of the beaten track that he is apt to be considered a dunce. In other words, his brain is so absorbed with the generally unknown that it is impossible to fix it on the known.

RUSSIANS ARE DRIVEN OVER OWN BOUNDRY

Austro-Germans Chase Slavs 70 Miles; Capture Kuty.

Berlin, July 30.—Russian troops retreating on the eastern Galician front have retired behind the Russian border at Husiatyn, the German general staff announced officially. Husiatyn is seventy miles due east of Halicz, Galicia, recently retaken by the Austro-German forces.

Further south the Russians made a stand between the Dniester and Pruth rivers, but a powerful German attack broke their resistance, and the Russians no ware being pursued along both banks of the Dniester.

Kuty, in the Galician Carpathians, has been captured by the Teutons.

In Roumania the Germans completed the retrograde movement which they began Friday on the upper Putna river.

BRITISH TAKE GERMAN SHIP

Batavia, Formerly Owned in England, Wrecked by Gunfire.

London, July 30.—A British submarine while patrolling the North sea overhauled and captured after a short chase the German steamship Batavia II., according to an official announcement made at the British admiralty. The German crew having abandoned the vessel, owing to the damage by gunfire, a British prize crew was placed on board. It was impossible, however, to bring the Batavia into port and she was sunk by opening her sea valves.

The Batavia II. was a vessel of 1,328 tons gross and formerly belonged to the Batavia line, being in the London and Rotterdam service. The vessel was seized June 24, 1916, by German warships and taken into Zeebrugge. One-half of the food cargo carried by the Batavia was confiscated by the Germans as contraband.

PUT IT ALL UP TO WILSON

Food Conferees, However, Fix Wheat Price at $2.

Washington, July 30.—Here is what the house and senate conferees on the food bill have done:

Agreed to prohibit manufacture of distilled spirits except for fortification of sweet wines, and prohibited the importation of distilled spirits altogether. Granted discretionary authority to the President to stop manufacture or importation of beer or wines. Directed the President, if necessary, to commandeer all distilled spirits "in bond or in stock." Agreed to a wheat minimum guaranty of $2 per bushel on next year's crop, and to a $10,000,000 appropriation for stocks in fertilizer.

AL PALZER DIES OF WOUNDS

Pugilist Loses Life Protecting Mother from Drunken Father.

Fergus Falls, Minn., July 30.—Al Palzer, noted prize fighter, is dead and his father, Henry Palzer, is to face a charge of manslaughter for the slaying of the son, who bought from his own earnings the farm on which the elder man lives.

In defending his mother from an attack by Henry Palzer, who admits he was drunk, Al suffered two wounds, a slight one in an arm and another from a bullet which went through his abdomen and caused his death in a hospital at Perham, to which the boxer ran after the shooting, despite his grievous injury. Mrs. Palzer was shot, but not seriously hurt.

TROOPS AT IRONWOOD TO CURB AGITATORS

I. W. W. Threatens Strike to Enforce "Solid Rest."

LANSING, July 30.

Fifty mounted state troops were sent to Ironwood to suppress I. W. W. activities in the upper peninsula. The men were taken from the state constabulary at East Lansing.

Flat refusal of mine owners to grant demands of the I. W. W. for a $6 six-hour day puts the next move directly up to the agitators. Sunday they took final action on the strike, which will be called in event the iron miners refuse to grant their demands.

The operators are planning to attack the miners in their meeting and disband them.

TREAT HENS WELL FOR EGGS

Agricultural College Experts Tell What to Do For Winter Eggs.

EAST LANSING, July 30.

Paying a little attention now to the diet and general welfare of "Biddy," the hen, will return dividends by putting eggs in the nest during the winter, Michigan Agriculture college poultrymen say.

"The first step now should be to see that the hens are free from vermin and see to it that plenty of good, cool, clean and pure water is supplied. A moist mash fed at noon will tend to produce heavy egg production. About twelve pounds will serve 100 hens. "Also feed each hen a tablespoon of grain twice a day, morning and night. This grain ration may be made up of equal parts by weight of wheat, barley and corn. Grain should be fed whether the hens are on the range or not."

WOMEN DENOUNCE PICKETS

Berrien Suffragists Flay Pin Prick Strategy at White House.

BENTON HARBOR, July 30.

Berrien county suffragists denounced the acts which have annoyed President Wilson by picketing the White House.

Led by Mrs. E. A. Blakeslee, of St. Joseph, the women resolved as follows: "That we, the members of the Berrien County Equal Suffrage association, auxiliary to the state and national equal suffrage associations, do hereby protest against the continued and untimely picketing of the White House by members of the women's party, whose militant methods are entirely at variance with those of the National Equal Suffrfage association."

Trains Collide; Man May Die.

IRONWOOD, July 30.

One man was seriously injured and three others bruised when trains No. 117, running from Chicago to Ashland, and No. 24, running from Saxon, Wis., to Wakefield, Mich., collided head-on about a mile west of Hurley.

PORT HURON, July 30.

As a result of the Covert act being sustained by the supreme court St. Clair county will construct a concrete road north from Gratiot avenue to the county line to form a part of the Dixie highway route.

Escapes Boys, Foot Cut Off.

FLINT, July 30.

Running to escape a crowd of boys who were throwing stones at him, Michael Logan, nine years old, was hit by a Pere Marquette switching train at Flint and his left foot was amputated.

FOUR KILLED IN PARIS AIR RAID

German Aviators Attack Hospital with Red Cross Mark.

ALL VICTIMS EMPLOYED THERE

Two Doctors, Nurse, and Chemist Constitute Victims — French Airmen Hastily Drive Off Invaders—Target Was Plainly Designated by Distinguishing Marks—Second Raid in 24 Hours.

Paris, July 30.—At least four persons dead, and possibly a dozen injured, is the toll of the second air raid of the Germans here within twenty-four hours.

The latest attack came early Sunday morning, and the victims were workers in a hospital, which, plainly marked with a huge Red Cross, furnished a target for one of the German flyers who passed low. He dropped four bombs, all of which hit their mark.

Bombs Kill Four.

One doctor, a chemist and a male nurse were killed immediately and a second doctor died soon after from injuries.

A third doctor and an administration officer and several patients were seriously injured.

Soon after midnight firemen thronged the streets, sounding an alarm on sirens and bugles, indicating another air raid. French airplanes had been humming in the air since sundown, and many more quickly appeared, flashing signals to one another.

Only Few People Abroad.

As this warning was sounded an hour later than on the previous night, there were only a few people in the streets.

Bugles sounded at 1:15 o'clock announced that the air raid was over.

Two bombs were dropped in the attack made the previous night and the authorities expressed apprehension that the raid was a forerunner to an attack in force.

MANY DOCTORS FOR FRANCE

Fear Felt That War May Deprive Country of Physicians.

Washington, July 30.—Fear is felt by the administration war leaders that the enormious draft on American physicians for French service and for home military camps and cantonments may deprive the country at large to serious extent of skilled medical men.

Some 1,200 medical officers and 60,000 enlisted men in the medical and sanitary corps will be needed by Oct. 1, when the national army, the national guard and the regular army will all be in camp and at war strength. Two out of every nine physicians of military age throughout the United States and its principal possessions will be required for war service.

Selfishness.

"What is it," inquires Winfred Black, "that makes a house a home?" Well, Winnie, dear, just between ourselves, a few of the things that make a house a home are a good natured little wifey who knows how to broil a steak and cook a pan of biscuits, a snug easy chair for a fellow to sink into after his evening meal, a self stoking and self shaking furnace, a self emptying refrigerator pan, a self propelling lawn mower and a landlord who reduces the rent at least once a year.—Springfield Union.

LOSE NO FOODS, WILSON PLEADS

Urges Plan to Prevent Destruction of Perishables.

24 STATES ASK INFORMATION

Appeal from President Issued Through Secretary Houston—Intensive Campaign Is Being Conducted for Next Three Weeks—Saving Adds to Insurance for Victory.

Washington, July 30.—A memorable appeal from President Wilson to the women of the nation, whether living in city, town or country, was issued through Secretary of Agriculture D. F. Houston to take immediate steps to avoid a threatened loss of vast amounts of perishable fruits and vegetables, especially in twenty-four states that have asked governmental assistance and information on the subject of "How Housewives May Immediately Start Canning, Preserving, Pickling, Drying and Storing."

The advance organization work has all been completed by a special committee working nationally under the direction of Secretary of Agriculture Houston and the most intensive campaign, especially in the twenty-four states in distress, will be conducted during the next three weeks.

The national volunteer committee on the preserving of fruit and garden products, called to Washington last week, of which A. D. Lasker of Lord and Thomas, Chicago, is chairman, is devoting its time to this intensive public service.

24 States With Perishing Food.

The twenty-four states which have grown large crops of perishable fruits and vegetables, which it is necessary to conserve in order to avoid appalling wastes of these foodstuffs, are: Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Washington.

Two points made by President Wilson in his letter are particularly important:

"Every bushel of potatoes properly stored, every pound of vegetables properly put by for future use, every jar of fruit preserved, add that much to our insurance of victory, add that much to hasten the end of this conflict. To win we must have maximum efficiency in all directions. We can not win without complete and effective concentration of all our efforts."

Also—

"We must aim to consume these things locally so far as possible and thus relieve the pressure on transportation agencies, freeing them for the more efficient handling of products required for military purposes. What we can not presently consume we must conserve."

The particular vegetables that have been raised in home yard gardens in cities and rural communities, as well as by farmers, and which are threatening vast waste from their abundance are: Tomatoes, beets, potatoes, beans, cabbage, onions, sugar corn, peas, carrots. The fruits are: Peaches, pears, apples, and in some of the states blackberries.

Government Behind Intensive Work.

The resources of the government with the volunteer help of neighbors to each other, schools, clubs, governors, and the press, will be put behind this intensive effort for three weeks, and longer in certain states where required. In the simplest detail the housewife and "Mother and Daughter clubs" everywhere will be told how they may render this most patriotic service in their homes. They are to be asked first to put by food for their own consumption, and, second, to devise the best methods of marketing their surplus products locally.

Owing to the shortage in the supply of tin containers, most of the preserving and canning will have to be done in glass jars, of which 900,000 gross of the Mason jar type, have been distributed through the manufacturers for the present season's needs. The total manufacturing capacity of this type of jar, which will be increased by the manufacturers as necessary is approximately 6,000 gross per day, or 85,000,000 jars during the next hundred days.

Former Czar Breaks Leg.

London, July 30.—Nicholas Romanoff, ex-czar, recently fell from his bicycle in the Tsarkoe-Selo gardens and broke his leg, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam. It was declared that Russian newspapers had not been permitted to mention the accident.

Dry State Still Has "Kick."

Deadwood, S. D., July 30.—Cream separators are whirling industriously since South Dakota's dry law went into effect. Someone discovered running hard cider through a separator produced apple brandy with a decided "kick," instead of cream. Cream separators cost from $29 up.

Clever Dwarfs.

Richard Gibson and his wife, who flourished in the seventeenth century, were a remarkable pair of dwarfs, quite apart from their inches, which combined barely made up seven feet. Both were clever painters of miniatures, and Gibson was drawing master to the daughters of James II. At their wedding, which was arranged by Henrietta Maria, Charles I. gave the bride away, the queen placed a valuable diamond ring on her finger, and Edmund Waller, the court poet, wrote a poem in honor of the occasion. Gibson was seventy-four when he passed away, while his widow died at the advanced age of eighty-nine.

Meteorites.

Specimens of meteorites command such a value that those which fall to the earth are generally broken up into innumerable parts and scattered in all directions among the private collections. Thus one of the earliest known meteorites, that found in Eusisheim, Upper Alsace, in 1492, is represented in sixty-six collections. The result of this practice is that exorbitant prices are asked by dealers for meteoric material in amounts sufficient for analysis and study.

Going It Blind.

At a military dinner the following was on the toast list of a veteran's health: "May this hero, who has lost one eye in the glorious service of his beloved country, never see distress with the other."

But the person whose duty it was to read the toast changed the sentiment and caused no end of merriment by unintentionally omitting the word "distress," so that the toast read, "And may he never see with the other."—Exchange.

A Happy Paraphrase.

The retort courteous in the paraphrase ingenious has seldom had better illustration than in the story that after the signing of the treaty of Berlin Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter presented M. Jules Cambon, with whom he had negotiated the treaty, a photograph bearing the inscription, "To my amiable friend and terrible enemy." To which M. Cambon responded by presenting his photograph inscribed, "To my terrible friend and amiable enemy."

NEW CONTINGENT OF SAMMIES IN FRANCE

American Troops on Same Ship with Kermit Roosevelt.

Washington, July 30.—The government withholds information or comment on the following dispatch:

A European Port, July 30.—Another American contingent has safely arrived and disembarked.

The American troops arrived by the same steamer whereon Kermit Roosevelt, his wife and child traveled. When tenders went alongside the vessel Friday, the men were in high spirits and frequently shouted: "Are we downhearted?" which was answered with a roaring "No," given with great enthusiasm.

Representatives of the general staff watched the disembarkation. There was no civic demonstration. Only a few spectators knew of the landing. These cheered and the troops cheered back.

The men entrained quickly and left for their new quarters. A signal company remained at the port for some hours, and these were the only representatives of the contingent which the public saw.

WARNING TO DRAFT BOARDS

Reminded Every Exemption Means Some Other Must Risk His Life.

Washington, July 30.—The gravity of the task which faces members of local draft exemption boards is called to their attention in solemn language in a communication sent broadcast by the war department and made public by Provost Marshal General Crowder.

"The selected man offers his life," says General Crowder. "It will strengthen you to remember that for every exemption or discharge that is made for individual convenience, or to escape personal loss of money or property, or for favor or affection, some other man whose time would not otherwise have come, must incur the risk of losing his life."

Simply setting a flag pole and unfurling the American flag to the breeze means little but when it represents the true feeling of a community, a feeling that is loyalty to country, a feeling that is willing to back up a Government in time of great national danger such as the present great strife that we find ourselves plunged into, a feeling that makes it a sacred duty to give of our means and young blood that this country may live and continue to prosper, then it signifies infinitely more than mere words can express. We believe that in setting aside the funds for this flag pole and flag, the Village Council have acted wisely for Tecumseh people are loyal and are true Americans. "Old Glory" flying from this flag staff located in the heart of our village will signify that the heart of our Tecumseh people are loyal to the very core.

This weather is just right for corn and it is coming rapidly these days. We need this weather and we should all feel happy that it's hot.

AIR SUPREMACY NEW OBJECTIVE

Furious Battles Being Waged in Western Sector.

84 FRENCH MACHINES IN RAID

67,000 Pounds of Bombs Dropped on Points of Military Importance Behind German Lines—Germans and British Exchange Bomb Attacks 37 Killed in Latest German Raid on London.

London, July 9.—Furious battles in the air and long distance raids in one another's territory, have in the last day or two marked the renewed great struggle for aerial supremacy between the Germans and the allies, with the Entente aviators still supreme.

The German raid over London cost the kaiser ten machines, for besides the three machines of the raiding squadron which were destroyed, the British aviators based at Dunkirk, bagged seven others, though missing the raiding squadron on its flight home.

84 French Machines in Raid.

The great raids made on German territory were carried out by the French who sent out eighty-four machines to make reprisals for raids on open French towns by the Germans. The French dropped 67,000 pounds of bombs on many points of military importance far behind the German front.

Along the British front itself, there was much aerial activity also, the British war office announces, the Germans displaying unusual enterprise between Lens and Ypres, where heavy formations, one of which comprised thirty machines, were encountered. The Germans succeeded in dropping 144 bombs behind the British lines but the British aviators responded by dropping nearly three times that number on the German lines.

In addition, the German airdromes were bombarded, and much successful artillery observation by photography was successfully executed by the British.

37 Killed in London Raid.

Although the raid on London was the greatest in number of airplanes used, the casualties were far under those inflicted in the raid on June 13. Twenty-eight men, six men and three children were killed, all except three of the deaths being in the metropolitan district of London. There were 141 injured in all.

Bombard Essen from Air.

That great damage was inflicted by French aviators on such places as Essen, where the Krupp gun works are situated, Treves and Coblentz was evident for many fires were observed by the French flyers after they had dropped their bombs.

Eleven French war planes attacked Treves, where more than 5,000 pounds of bombs were dropped and seven fires, one in the central station were started.

The Badische Aniline factory at Ludwigshafen was destroyed by the attack of six machines.

DO YOUR SHARE.

Are you doing your share in the cause of humanity? The world's progress is caused not only by the mighty pushes of its heroes, but also by the aggregate of the tiny pushes of each honest worker, and every man who refuses to push because his effort would be so small is making a foolish mistake.

Making an Acquaintance

Method Was Breezy, But Effective

By F. A. MITCHEL

Miss Atherton had gone to the country for the summer. She was a devoted automobilist and had intended to drive herself to the summer home of the Athertons, but the machine broke down the day before she was to start, and so busy were the mechanics that no one was available to make repairs. Miss Atherton therefore reluctantly decided to take a train, and the auto went to the shop to wait till some one could find time to repair it.

From the moment Miss Atherton reached her country home she missed her auto. She busied herself in her flower garden and returned temporarily to the toys in which she had ridden as a little girl, but none of her devices for killing time sufficed.

A week passed and the auto did not come. To one used to motoring the perambulators provided by nature seem very inefficient. Miss Atherton fretted at having to walk or to remain at home on a bright afternoon when she would like to be spinning along over smooth roads in her car.

One morning she started for a walk. The weather was balmy and rather suggestive of a siesta than trudging along a country road. Miss Atherton's motions were languorous. Presently she passed a spick and span machine standing beside the road. At the end of a long walk was a house. Doubtless the car belonged to some one in the house. The lady stopped and surveyed the machine covetously. It was a car for two persons. The nickel plate of the wheel, the starting and illuminating devices glistened in the sun.

Miss Atherton was tempted to open the door and rest herself on the cushions. Glancing at the house, no one was in sight. No one was coming up or down the road. There was a click and Miss Atherton was in the car. Another click denoted that she had closed the door.

Everything about her was quiet. Only birds sang.

She touched the electric starter. There was a bur-r-r of wheels. Before she realized what she was doing she had completed turning on the power, and the machine moved. How lovely! How easy! How comfortable! How restful after walking! She would run up the road for a short distance, turn and bring the car back to the place where she had found it.

As she moved off Jack Coolidge, the owner of the captured machine, came out of the house and from the porch saw some one running away with his machine. Instead of following on his legs, he ran around to a garage, got out another machine and gave chase.

Quite likely stealing is often at first unintentional. The thief admires something, perhaps covets it. He takes it in his hand. Surprised by some one who enters without seeing his act, he pockets the object, intending to replace it when he can do so unnoticed.

Miss Atherton was about to turn with the auto when she heard the sputter of a motor engine behind her. What possessed her to act as she did was a mystery to her. Hearing the words "Stop thief!" it occurred to her that if she obeyed the order she would be taken to a police station, tried for larceny and sent to state prison. Her first impulse was to put on speed; her second was to put on more speed, and the third was to use all the power of which the machine was capable.

Then followed a mad race. Coolidge got near enough to see that a woman was at the wheel, but he could not see what she was like. But presently, when she turned a short distance ahead of him, he got a better view and was astonished to see one who wore the apparel of a lady. The mystery deepened. Women don't steal auto cars. Such thefts are usually made by men, and very rough men at that. He could not conceive of a lady stealing his car. She was speeding along at such breakneck speed that he began to fear she would come to grief. What to do, he could not decide. He followed on as he had begun.

An auto coming from the opposite direction met the fleeing girl, and the driver saw by the expression and the speed at which she was traveling that she was under some great excitement. She flashed by him, and when in a few moments her pursuer did the same it was evident that a mad race was on between a woman and a man. Was it a real chase or material for a moving picture show? The observer did not know, but having an old fashioned machine he decided not to interfere and passed on, wondering. Other machines were met, and the drivers of most of them, seeing two cars coming like the wind, drew up beside the road to give them a safe passage.

Coolidge was driving a machine not capable of making the speed of the one being run away with, but for a time he gained on it, since he dare use his power to a greater extent. The fugitive for a time maintained some degree of caution, but as her pursuer gained on her she took risks without being fully conscious of their magnitude. Coolidge, having her before him, could see every turn she made and the risks she took, fearing that he was goading her to take them, slackened speed himself, hoping she would do the same.

Unfortunately for this purpose, the lady had no eyes in the back of her head and could not see whether her pursuer was gaining on her or losing ground. However, her ears told her that the machine behind her was making less noise, and had she not lost her head completely she would have reduced her speed accordingly. Since she showed no sign of doing so, Coolidge pressed his accelerator and soon drew up to within hailing distance. He thought of calling, but, remembering the result of his first effort, refrained.

Presently he saw the thief turn a sharp bend in the road. The auto skidded, followed a tortuous course for some distance and brought up against a deserted shanty. Before it struck the chauffeur had succeeded in reducing its speed, and neither she nor the machine was much injured, though both were badly jarred. But Miss Atherton was more rattled at being overhauled than by the jarring.

"Take me to jail!" she cried. "Take me to jail. I'm a thief."

Now, there was everything in Miss Atherton's appearance to belie her confession. Coolidge saw at once that what appeared on the surface was not the truth.

"Are you hurt?" he asked solicitously.

His tone was reassuring. Miss Atherton looked up and saw a gentleman regarding her not only kindly, but admiringly.

Miss Atherton, though she had regained her equanimity and satisfied herself that she was in no danger of being dragged to jail, was still not herself. Nevertheless, she was still a woman. She began to throw the blame on to Mr. Coolidge.

"What were you trying to run me down for?" she asked in no friendly tone.

"I could not see that a lady was driving my machine, so I naturally supposed some one was trying to get away with it."

Miss Atherton looked as if she were about to burst into tears.

"You were quite welcome to use my machine, I assure you," faltered Coolidge, fearing a collapse.

"Then why didn't you say so?"

"How could I say so when I was not on hand?"

"But you cried out, 'Stop thief!'"

"I supposed some one was stealing my machine. I did not know that a young lady had merely borrowed it."

Miss Atherton was recovering herself slowly. She made no rejoinder to Mr. Coolidge's last remark. He concluded to make an effort to get her either to her home or his, anywhere but where she was. There were two vehicles to be taken care of, but now that she had ceased to be buoyed up by excitement he did not have to trust her to drive either of them. Besides, he did not know whether the one she had been driving would be available after the collision. Opening the door of the car in which he had made the pursuit, he begged her to enter.

"Where are you going to take me?" she asked.

"To your home."

"What will you do with the one I have injured?"

"Leave it where it is for the present."

She walked lamblike to the door he was holding open and entered the car. He entered at the wheel side and, turning into the road, drove back over the course they had been racing. But the return speed was very different from the outgoing. Mr. Coolidge was quite delighted with the adventure. He was pleased that his car had not been stolen and still more pleased to have a pretty girl beside him who had given him an opportunity to show his gallantry by borrowing his car without leave.

She begged him to permit her to send a man to take his machine to a shop and repair it, but he declared that it had not been damaged. Then began an explanation as to how she had come to run away with his car, but it was not exactly the one already given with this story. Up to the point where Coolidge had cried "Stop thief!" it was a succession of excuses. From that point onward it was a lamentation that he had made her think that she was flying from a long imprisonment. Coolidge declared that hanging would be too good for him, but he did not suggest anything else that he could have done under the circumstances. By the time he got her home he had implored her forgiveness, but what for did not matter. There was a sort of reconciliation between them, and everybody knows that making up between a young man and a young woman is liable to stir the emotions. At any rate when they parted Coolidge had received permission to call in the evening to learn if the shock Miss Atherton had received had been fraught with serious consequences.

Coolidge availed himself of the privilege accorded him, and Miss Atherton had scarcely finished dinner before he was announced. He seemed very anxious lest some sign of physical or mental shock had appeared during the interval since he had last seen her and gave vent to an expression of joy when she assured him that she had suffered no injury whatever, except that she should have placed herself in such an embarrassing position. Coolidge assured her that he understood perfectly the innocence of the motive that actuated her in temporarily borrowing his car and assumed all the blame for causing her to take to flight. These self accusations and his efforts to render them nugatory took up the evening until near midnight, when the gentleman bade the young lady good night and went home.

A few days later Miss Atherton's car arrived, and she did penance for appropriating Mr. Coolidge's machine by inviting him to drive with her.

During the summer the couple took many auto rides together, with the usual consequences. The nuptial festivities were celebrated in the autumn.

Influence of Woman.

You cannot think that the buckling on of the knight's armor by his lady's hand was a mere caprice of romantic fashion. It is the type of an eternal truth—that the soul's armor is never well set to the heart unless a woman's hand has braced it, and it is only when she braces it loosely that the honor of manhood fails.—John Ruskin.

Sugar and Coffee.

Brazil, using only a small fraction of the land adapted to coffee cultivation, produces three-fourths of the world's coffee supply—over a billion and a half pounds yearly.

Enough sugar is produced in one province of Argentina to sweeten this giant coffee cup. The province of Tucuman yields nearly 5,000,000 pounds of sugar a year.—World Outlook.

Sure Cure.

A nervous man at the opera sat behind a pair of those persons who explain the plot until his endurance was exhausted. Then he leaned forward and said:

"Excuse me, will you speak a little louder? Sometimes the music prevents my hearing what you say."—Chicago Herald.

Opposition.

The effects of opposition are wonderful. There are men who rise refreshed on hearing of a threat—men to whom a crisis which intimidates and paralyzes the majority, demanding not the faculties of prudence and thrift, but comprehension, immovableness, the readiness of sacrifice—comes graceful and beloved as a bride.—Emerson.

Proof Positive.

Mrs. De Pretty—Horrors! That woman who just passed is a young man in disguise. Husband—Well, well! How do you know? Mrs. De Pretty—She looked at my face instead of my dress.

Eyes of the Chameleon.

The chameleon's eyes are situated in tiny sockets projecting from the head. By this curious contrivance the peculiar little animal can see in any direction without the slightest motion save of the eye.

"TWENTY THOUSAND LEAGUES UNDER THE SEA"

Present day thrilling submarine events were foretold fifty years ago by Jules Verne, the greatest imaginative writer who ever lived. Today they are pictured down to the minute in the Universal's startling photoplay based on "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."

When you see this epoch-making drama you will have seen the most daring, the most sensational and most revolutionary achievement in cinema history.

You will see Jules Verne's "monster" that terrorized the seven seas.

You will see the mighty commander, Captain Nemo, who followed the path of vessels 20,000 leagues on his voyage of vengeance.

You will see the torpedo fired and photographed under the ocean while speeding on its deadly mission, and then see a full-rigged ship blown to atoms.

Through the magic window in the submarine "Nautilus" you will see the victims sinking to the silent depths. Through this window you are shown all the amazing wonders of the deep.

You see the "Nautilus" in a tropic ocean dive to mysterious depths, and human beings emerge exactly as Jules Verne wrote.

Hunters descend to the floor of the ocean among man-eating sharks.

They require neither life lines nor air pipes to connect them with the surface. With a supply of oxygen in condensed air tanks, they visit the wonderful marine gardens and coral caverns where human feet never ventured before.

Century old wrecks are found and searched for lost treasure.

There is a terrifying combat fathons deep, between Captain Nemo and a giant octopus crushing a pearl diver in its monster tenacles; positively the most thrilling spectacle ever photographed.

Scenes from under the ocean, on the earth and in the sky combine to make this first and only submarine drama truly the most amazing wonder-picture of all time.

"20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" will be presented for one night only, next Friday, Aug 3rd, at the Bradley opera house. Two shows will be given commencing at 7 and 9 p. m with all seats 25 cents. "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" comes direct from the Detroit opera house where it has been playing to capacity business for the past five weeks.

Martin Saxe, manager of the Knickerbocker Theater, New York, says: "Viewing '20,000 Leagues Under the Sea' from a technical standpoint, it is simply unsurpassable. The photography is absolutely wonderful."

SOLDIER BOYS WELL FAVORED

Soldier boys from all parts of Michigan are having occasion to find out that the State Headquarters of the National League for Woman's Service, 24 Witherell St., Detroit, is the place to go for "comforts" incident to military life. Generous donations of home made cookies, cherry pies and other kitchen delicacies have been received at the League for the boys of the 31st Reg. A full line of comfort kits and knitted articles are on display. A call for old kid gloves is now issued. Canadian officers have proven that kid glove vests are very comfortable. Patterns for making these vests are sent on request as are also the directions for kits, needed by thousands of Michigan men who are going into service.

The League has recently been requested to supply elevator women for the M. C. R. R. Depot. These are the first positions offered by this railroad to women replacing men and other openings are expected in a short time.

In cooperation with the Red Cross a number of soldiers' and sailors' wives have been given positions to enable them to be self supporting, that their husbands might be free to serve their country. A number of young married women have joined classes in wireless, stenography and telegraphy, so that they can become efficient in some special line.

Strangely Interesting.

"What a strangely interesting face your friend the poet has!" gurgled the maiden of forty. "It seems to possess all the elements of happiness and sorrow, each struggling for supremacy."

"Yes; he looks to me like a man who was married and didn't know it," growled the cynical bachelor.—Philadelphia Record.

The Word "Amen."

The word "amen" literally means "true." Used as a substantive, "that which is true," or "the truth." In the synagogues and private houses of the Hebrews it was customary for the people or the members of the family to say "amen" to the prayers offered by the priest or the master of the house. The custom was carried into the early Christian church.

Leben of Biblical Days.

The refreshing draft which Joel offered to Sisera "in a lordly dish" (Judg. v, 25) was a preparation of milk well known in the east and called leben. The method of preparing it is to boil the milk over a slow fire, adding to it a small quantity of old leben or some other acid in order to make it coagulate.

Consumption Among the Pilgrims.

Thirty-six of the sixty-one adult pilgrim fathers died in the first winter after landing at Plymouth. About half the crew died and only seven of the thirty-two youths and children. Dr. Edward E. Cornwall of Brooklyn deduces, from an analysis of their ages and from contemporary accounts, that consumption was what caused this terrible mortality.

His Gentle Hint.

Friend—I suppose if people would do just what you tell them you would have a great deal less trouble. Doctor—Yes, indeed! I would tell some of them to settle their accounts.—Boston Transcript.

A silver collection will be taken up for the Red Cross, but no limit is placed on the generosity of the audience. Do not fail to attend. You will have a good time and help a most worthy cause. Show your patriotism and help the wounded and dying soldiers who are giving their lives that you may be safe.

The wooden knitting needles, made for the benefit of the Red Cross, may be purchased at Headquarters at 10c per pair. They are suitable for surgical sponges, bed socks, etc. All money taken goes to the Red Cross fund. We have just received an order for them from Ann Arbor.

The Tecumseh Red Cross offers to snip for other branches with its power snipping machine FREE. Tear cloth into strips two inches wide and stitch the pieces together like carpet rags, preferably with the machine. Do not bring less than 2¼ pounds and roll so that the stripes will not tangle.

We need the help of someone who is driving to Adrian to take a load of cloth to the Adrian knitting mills. stuff is light but bulky. Please think of us next time you go to Adrian and 'phone Mr. Burridge.

Miss Hosmer reports 12 pairs of bedsocks and 12 doz. sponges sent to Adrian for one week.

Mrs. A. W. Mills requests those who are knitting socks to set up in future with 64 stitches, instead of 68 and to press lightly.

Mrs. Harris reports 20 surgical shirts ready to send to Adrian.

Major Gen. Leonard Wood says: "The Red Cross is the Big Brother of the Fighting Man. The Red Cross is the great volunteer army that is serving humanity as well as the nation. As a chain is no stronger than its weakest link, so no army is stronger than its Red Cross. It is the patriotic duty of every man and woman to become a member of the Red Cross."

The population of Tecumseh Townhip is about 3,500. We have less than 1,000 members. Come on in!

"The growth of the Red Cross must parallel the growth in both branches of the Nation's fighting force." Send in your membership. Without a Red Cross, a warring nation is almost helpless. The Red Cross is a much a part of the Government machinery as the army itself.

The Oil Bird.

One of the animal curiosities of South America is the "oil bird," or guacharo. It breeds in rock caves, and one of its favorite haunts is the island of Trinidad. It lays its eggs in a net made of mud, and the young birds are prodigiously fat. The natives melt the fat down in clay pots and produce from it a kind of butter. The caves inhabited by the birds are usually accessible only from the sea, and the hunting of them is sometimes an exciting sport.

Madagascar's Two Climates.

The island of Madagascar has two distinct climates, two classes of natives and two classes of fauna and flora. The island is about the size of France. Along the coast it is tropical and malarious, and the natives are darker than in the interior. The interior is a high tableland and mountainous. There the climate is cooler and the natives smaller and lighter in color than on the coast. But in the interior they are more intelligent, and they rule the island.

Here's Summer Comfort

This Fan Only $2.50

Can be quickly attached to your labor saving Sew E-Z motor

HERE'S the wonderful little home labor saver that does the work of four separate motors, converted into a fan—the same little sewing motor you saw advertised in the Saturday Evening Post.

A snap of the hand and the fan attachment is off—then one motion places the SEW E-Z Motor next to the hand wheel of your sewing machine and changes it instantly into an electric self-operator. Not a bolt or screw is needed. No more foot-pumping, tread-mill pedal drudgery, but fast or slow—a stitch at a time or eight hundred a minute—SEW E-Z sews for you all day without effort, at a cost for current so small that your bill will never show it.

Then there's the grinding and sharpening attachment for putting keen cutting edges on the houschold knives, and the polishing and buffing attachment that keeps all the silver clean and bright as a new minted dollar.

Phone Us for Free Trial

SEW E-Z is four pounds of concentrated electrical labor saving energy

THREE DAYS' SERVICE FREE

No cost, no obligation. Simply call or phone us and we'll be glad to arrange a free trial sight in your own home.

At the end of three days we will take SEW E-Z back if you do not want to keep it. If you decide to buy it, SEW E-Z will cost you only $15.00. The Fan Attachment, $2.50. If you also want the Grinder and Buffer Attachment that will cost you $1.50. You can buy just what you want and needn't feel under the slightest obligation.

HOPEFUL MEN.

Volcanoes in the United States.

More than a quarter of the active volcanoes of the world are on United States soil, according to the Popular Science Monthly. We have the distinction of possessing about sixty volcanoes in Alaska and in the Aleutian islands just off the coast. In the western United States, in the Philippines and in the Hawaiian Islands we have nearly as many more, making over a hundred volcanoes that we possess (not that we place any value upon their possession). There are but 417 throughout the entire globe.

WEDNESDAY'S PROGRAM

Adrian Imperial Band for Wednesday, August 8th

These are busy days for the farmer and he has his work laid out for many weeks ahead. He has very little time for pleasure and recreation, but this is one thing that he plans to do and does do and that is to make weekly trips to Tecumseh for the Wednesday evening entertainments. As one of their wives was heard to say last week, "I haven't missed one of these Wednesday nights and I don't intend to." That expresses the sentiment; our friends like to come to Tecumeh for they know they will be well taken care of and they are sure of having a good time.

This week the management announces the following program:

Janet & Co., novelty act

Condon & Alco, comedy acrobats

McMann & Co., dancing and bag punching

Music by Clinton band, Charles Skinner director

Just preceeding the evening's program a new automobile with self-starter and electric lights will be auctioned off on the corner by Rosacrans & Sons' store. This will take place at 6:30 o'clock sharp. Don't miss it.

The Adrian Imperial band which furnished such splendid music a week ago has been secured for the evening of August 8th

Everyone will be welcome. Plan to be here.

Rev. D. Hartzog has just received a telegram announcing the death of his father-in-law, Henry Richardson of Spencerville, Ohio. The telegram stated that death occurred this morning. Dr. Hartzog leaves this afternoon to join his wife, who has been there for the past few days.

Wayne the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Harper of Quincy Mich. passed away at the hospital in Ann Arbor, Sunday, where he was being treated for pluero-pneumonia. The child had been ill for eleven weeks. Miss Myrtle Foster was with her sister and the body was brought to Tecumseh Monday enroute to Quincy.

JACOB MILLER

Jacob Miller died at his home Monday at 5:30 a. m. after six years of illness, at the age of 63 years. He leaves a wife and two children, Ernest Miller of Northville and Lucile at home with two brothers, Joseph Miller of Davidson and Asa Miller of Flint, to mourn his loss.

About 20 years ago Mr. Miller came to Tecumseh from Northville and entered the business circle on our street engaging in the meat market business. For the last few years he has been in failing healh. Being unable to continue in business, he sold out to Albert Clark, who was his partner. From this time until the time of his death he has been a great sufferer, death coming as a welcome release. The funeral services will be held from the home, Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30, Rev. Dr. Balmer of the M. E. Church officiating. Burial in Brookside cemetery.

MRS. JOHN BLESING

Mrs. John Blesing, who has been in failing health for several months, fell into the last long sleep in the early morning hours of Sunday. About two o'clock her husband went into her room to give her a drink of water and found her cold in death.

Laura Blanch Priest was born in Ridgeway, Mich., March 16, 1876, and departed this life July 29, 1917, aged 41 years, 4 months and 12 days. March 23, 1896, she was united in marriage to John J. Blesing at Ridgeway. To this union eight children were born all of whom are left with their father to mourn their loss. She is also survived by her father Lewis Priest.

The funeral was held at the home Monday afternoon, Rev. Linton of the Friends church speaking words of comfort to the sorrowing ones. Burial at Brookside cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank the dear kind people who assisted us in our great sorrow To the minister we are especially grateful for his comforting words, also for the beautiful flowers

Son of Charles and Abbie Spencer Former Tecumseh Residents.

A telegram was received by B. J. Siater this morning announcing the death of Eugene Spencer, the youngest son of Charles and Abbie Svencer of Thompson, O The lad met his death by drowning, the accident occurring Sunday. No particulars were received.

The funeral will be held Thursday and Mr and Mrs Slater left this morning to attend, Mrs. Slater and Mrs. Spencer being sisters

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer are former Tecumseh residents and have many relatives and friends here who will regret to hear of this trouble which has come to them. Mrs. Spencer was formerly Abbie Matthews and was an employee of the Herald office for a number of years before her marriage We join with their many friends in this locality in expressing our sympathy.

NO EXCURSIONS DURING THE WAR

Official announcement is made by the D. T. & I. Railroad that no special excursions at reduced fares will be operated during the war, but regular passenger schedules will be maintained to meet the requirements of the public. The road is co operating with the Council of National Defense and conserving equipment and power for the government for the prompt movement of troops and supplies, and the handling of all regular freight business without congestion.

A greatly increased volume of business has been handled by the D. T. & I during the past few months, but the net earnings of the road, like those of all roads, have been greatly reduced by the burden of added costs of material and operating expenses without rate increases sought.

Many needed improvements have been made and a vast amount of new work is contemplated in the hope that the situation will speedily redeem itself, about $700,000 being expended on improvements now under way.

Mrs. Dora Marsh returned Saturday from a week's visit in Ypsilanti.

Word was received by Mrs. C. A. Bidwell, Monday announcing the death of her brother-in-law, Dr. Magenheimer of Mooreville, Ind. The doctor met his death in an automobile accident. None of the particulars were received. Mrs. Bidwell left at noon to-day for Mooreville to attend the funeral.

VILLAGE COUNCIL MEETS TO CONSIDER PROGRAM FOR POLE RAISING

A special meeting of the Village Council was held Monday evening at which time the matter of providing a suitable program for our pole raising was discussed. A flag pole 60 ft. high has been ordered and is expected to arrive in a few days. This pole will be raised on the four corners of the village where "Old Glory" will be unfurled to the breeze.

A committee composed of Dr. C. A. Waldron, B. J. Pulver and Lester Rogers was appointed to make arrangements for a suitable program with instructions to try and secure Thornton Dixon of Monroe for the speaker

The date for the raising was left open and will be fixed after the pole has arrived.

"A ROMANCE OF THE REDWOODS"

In accordance with his progressive policies and desire to give his patrons the best in films, Manager F. S. Anderson of the Royal Theatre has just arranged for the presentation of Mary Pickford's new Arteraft picture, "A Romance of the Redwoods."

This production was staged under the personal direction of Cecil B. DeMille who also wrote the story in collaboration with Jennie Macpherson Mr. DeMille, it will be remembered, is the producer of "Joan the Woman," the famous cinema spectacle concerning the Maid of Orleans

The art of Mary Pickford the superstar, combined with that of Cecil B. DeMille, the presiding genius, means a new standard of excellence on the screen. In direct contrast to her previous triumph, "A Poor Little Rich Girl," Miss Pickford's newest vehicle presents a red blooded story of the West, replete with dramatic situations as well as incidents of typical Pickford charm. Supporting the star in her forthcoming picture is an unusually effective cast including Elliott Dexter, the popular leading man and husband of Marie Doro, Charles Ogle, Tully Marshall, Raymond Hatton and Winter Hall.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Event Was Delightfully Observed by Relatives and Friends of Mr. and Mrs. F. Healey.

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Healey, 1022 S. Jackson street, was the center of great merriment Friday, July 27, when a company of relatives and friends assembled to help them celebrate the tenth anniversary of their marriage. These invited guests came from Macon, Tecumseh, Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Ypsilanti, Detroit, Toledo and Saline.

The national colors in place cards and favors with dainty baskets of sweet peas and ferns adorned the dining room. Nasturtiums and other flowers in profusion decorated the reception rooms.

At one o'clock the company was served a delicious three course dinner catered by Miss Mary Smith.

Some of the out-of-town guests came prepared to take group pictures. This followed the dinner hour. The remainder of the afternoon passed only too quickly in visiting, knitting and fancy work.

Mr. and Mrs. Healey were the recipients of many useful and ornamental gifts. The occasion was a most happy one for the host and hostess and the guests departed with many expressions of kindness and good will for their hosts.—Jackson Patriot.

35 YEARS AGO

August 1st, It Rained

We think that we have had some pretty severe rains and thunder storms this season, but on reference to our file of August 3rd, 1882 we find that it rained in those days.

"The thunder shower of last Tuesday put an embargo on business over the telephone lines for some time.

One heavy stroke of lightning dropped the 30 enunciators on the switch board all at once and half a dozen of them were dropped several times during the shower.

Immediately after the heavy storm Tuesday last the Brownville pond reached the highest point it has marked in 40 years. Fortunately the gates all worked well and in ten minutes every available space for the escape of water was opened and the flood was pouring into the river.

Last Tuesday afternoon Tecumseh was literally flooded and it seemed for an hour that another deluge had come. The streets were flooded cellars were filled with water, several houses were deluged by water coming down the chimneys, chickens were drowned by the dozen. Several buildings were struck by lightning and a general havoc played.

John J. Neely's barn in Raisin was struck by lightning and seven large hogs killed and a horse rendered stone deaf.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubols says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

OVER $50,000 IN AWARDS TO STATE FAIR EXHIBITORS

Largest Premium List Ever Compiled for Annual Exposition

BONUS FOR MICHIGAN STOCK

30% in Added Prizes Will Be Paid to Exhibitors in the State to Stimulate Live Stock Breeding Here.

Premiums to the amount of $53,000 will be offered this year to exhibitors in all departments of the Michigan State Fair which will be held at Detroit, August 31 to September 9, according to an announcement by George W. Dickinson, general manager of the State Fair.

Together with the cash prizes in the various class competitions, an additional 30 per cent in money will be paid to Michigan exhibitors who win awards in the live stock department. This represents an income of from $6,000 to $10,000 in awards to owners, in the state, of prize winning cattle, sheep, swine and horses.

This is the largest amount ever given in awards in the history of the Michigan State Fair. And it is another indication of the constant efforts of the Fair directors to attract the finest class of exhibits the state can produce.

The Michigan Live Stock Breeders' association is co-operating with the Michigan State Fair again this year and is offering valuable prizes to exhibitors in the live stock department. In addition medal, cup and cash prizes are offered by the live stock breeders' associations attracted by the excellent showing of Michigan cattle in other years. Among these are: the American Hackney Horse Society of New York, offering a silver medal; the American Percheron Society of America, silver medal; American Association of Importers and Breeders' Association offers $225 in cash prizes and the Michigan Horse Breeders' Association, silver cup.

Many Special Prizes.

Other cash prizes are offered for cattle by the American Short Horn Breeders' Association of Chicago, amounting to over $1,000; the American Hereford Cattle Breeders' Association, $300; the American Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Association, $200; Red Polled Cattle Club of America, $100; American Jersey Cattle Club of New York, $70; Ayrshire Breeders' Association of Brandon, Vt., silver trophy; Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders' Association, $25. American Shropshire Registry Association, $101; American Hampshire Sheep Association, $42; American Oxford Down Record Association, $45; Continental Dorset Club, $29; American Cotswold Registry Association, $15; American Fur Sheep Registry Association, $500 silver cup; Michigan Berkshire Association, $25 silver trophy; National Spotted Poland China Record Association, $100; American Hampshire Swine Record Association, silver trophy; O. I. C. Swine Breeders' Association of Goshen, Ind., $50; American Yorkshire Club, $15; National Duroc Association, $35; American Duroc-Jersey Swine Breeders' Association, $50.

Breeders Are Interested.

"Competition between breeders in Michigan has been increasingly keen and there is also a well defined rivalry between stock raisers in the state and exhibitors from other parts of the country and Canada," said Mr. Dickinson "in spite of this outside competition fully 85 per cent of the prizes awarded at the 1916 State Fair went to Michigan exhibitors. That, I consider, an excellent showing. When we realize the many diversified lines represented in the exhibits at a Fair as large as the Michigan State Fair."

TWICE-TOLD TESTIMONY

Tecumseh People Are Doing All They Can for Fellow Sufferers.

Tecumseh testimony has been published to prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills to others in Tecumseh who suffer from bad backs and kidney ills. Lest any sufferer doubt this evidence of merit, we produce confirmed proof—statements from Tecumseh people who again endorse Doan's Kidney Pills—confirm their former testimony. Here's a Tecumseh case:

Geo. Chaplan N. Ottawa St., Tecumseh, gave the followng statement on December 5, 1908. He said: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they proved to me that they are the good medicine that I have often heard others recommend. I had kidney trouble and got Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Son's Drug Store. They greatly benefited me."

ADDED PRAISE

On July 28, 1916, Mr. Chaplin said "I still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and my former endorsement still holds good."

Uranus.

It was on the evening of March 13, 1781, that William Herschel, at Slough, England, discovered a new planet. Wishing to pay a compliment to George III., his patron, he gave it the name of Georgium sidus, or the Georgian star. Other English astronomers, wishing to compliment the discoverer himself, suggested the name of Herschel. Continental astronomers proposed that the old mythological system be followed, and the name of Uranus was accepted by the scientific world for the seventh planet.

Arabia and the Arabs.

There is a saying among them that Allah's blessings upon the Arabs are four—namely, that their turbans shall be their diadems, their tents their castles, their swords their fortresses and their poems their written laws. This is more than a saying with the Arab; it is a conviction. And in it lies the secret of his weakness and power; in it is an explanation of the fact that he has never accepted a foreign civilization and that Arabia was never wholly conquered by any one of the great nations of the past.—Bookman.

DECEIT.

Shun all manner of deceit. 'Tis a cowardly and servile humor to hide and disguise a man's self under a visor and not to dare to show himself what he is. By that our followers are trained up to treachery. Being brought up to speak what is not true, they make no conscience of a lie.—Montaigne.

Modern Kitchens.

The back to the kitchen movement should receive an impetus from the difference between the modern kitchen and those in which our grandmothers used to work. There is a great advance from the old fashioned stove which was constantly fed with wood or coal and the modern gas or electric stove; also the kitchen cabinet saves many a step, and aluminum utensils are kept clean much more easily than those of copper or iron. The modern housewife has a picnic compared with her grandmother.—Portland Oregonian.

Revised.

"Mamma, can me and Tommy have some cake?" asked little Ruth.

"Not unless you ask grammatically," replied her mother.

"Well, then," said she, "may I have a piece of cake?"—Dallas News.

Miner's Luck

Story of a Girl's Bravery

By ELINOR MARSH

Pete Clarkson was working on a claim when he saw something glisten in the sunlight. Stooping, he picked up a small chunk of ore and held it near to his eyes.

Clarkson threw aside his pick.

He posted his notice of possession by laying the paper on the newly broken ground and placing a stone on top to keep it from blowing away. Any one who jumped that claim now might expect the wild justice of the mining camp to be visited upon him.

As he drew near the camp the thunder of the stamp mills smote the air, and the blur of smoking chimneys dimmed the eastern sky.

Pete Clarkson's persistent efforts and dogged determination to find something that would enrich him sufficiently to offer Molly Gray a home had resulted in his striking what was probably the lost vein of the Great Dome ledge.

He stopped once at the house of Jim Gray, superintendent of the Great Dome, and Molly Gray, sweet as a rose, with gray eyes, brown hair, pink cheeks and pink gown, came to the door.

"How'd you make out, Pete?" she asked, her little brown hand lost in his great earth stained palm.

"It's the Molly Gray," he said quietly, thrusting the lump of ore into her other hand.

"Oh, Pete," she cried joyfully, "where?"

"On Crow ledge, near Crow rock."

"Where we saw the sunset that night?"

"Same place."

"What were you doing there, Pete?" she asked, with dimpling cheeks.

"Prospectin'," he grinned sheepishly. Then, passing his hand over his unshorn chin, he nodded toward the Great Dome smelter. "I guess it will be all right now down there," he said confidently.

"You know it has always been all right with me, Pete," said Molly softly.

"I know," he said soberly. "I'm goin' down now to git out my papers. I'll stop on my way back."

"Haven't you registered yet?" she asked anxiously.

"Nope; stopped here first thing. Got her staked all right, though, and the name posted. Goin' back there to make camp. So long; see you later." And with a backward wave of his hand he loped down toward the registering office.

From the doorway of the cabin at the head of the street Molly, holding a pair of fieldglasses to her pretty eyes, watched him enter the office. Then her gaze fell upon the figure of a man sprawled upon the rough veranda encircling the one roomed building. A wide brimmed hat was drawn over his eyes, and to all appearances he was lost in slumber.

Molly looked at the open window over the man's head and calculated that if Pete Clarkson anounced his discovery in his usual bluff, hearty accents it could readily be heard by the man on the veranda if he were awake and listening, and if it should prove to be Dave Lumly, who was own brother to Jim Lumly, the registrar of claims, why, then, Pete Clarkson would have a race for his claim, that was all. She remembered the case of Allan Smith, the young prospector from the east who made a find and staked his claim. Before he could register it and return to the scene Dave Lumly had news of the find and had jumped the claim. With his brother to back his title to it, Lumly had defied the sheriff and his posse to oust him. Young Smith had shot himself, and, after all, the mine had proved worthless.

Ah, the somnolent one arose slowly, stretched himself, took a careful survey of the street; then, with a swift movement, leaped into the saddle of a waiting sorrel and rode out Black lane. It was Dave Lumly.

Presently she saw Pete emerge from the registry office and cross the street to the assayers. With sudden energy she re-entered the house, scribbled a few lines informing Pete of her whereabouts in case she could not find him, pinned the note to the front door, saddled her little mare Daisy, mounted and dashed down the street toward the assay office.

"Pete Clarkson?" repeated Browning. "Just left here for down the street."

"If he comes back tell him to go up to our place. There's a message for him. Will you tell him?" she inquired breathlessly.

"Sure thing, Miss Molly," he said heartily; then he watched her disappear down the long street and out upon the short cut through the canyon to Crow mountain. The afternoon sun shone on her hatless head and the light wind fluttered her pink skirts as the little mare broke into a gallop.

Once she drew rein and took a swift survey of the country.

Mile after mile the mare covered, scrambling up steep hillsides and sliding recklessly down the slopes. Molly, with blazing eyes and compressed lips, watched for the reappearance of the sorrel horse and its slouching rider. Lumly, taking advantage of the information he had gleaned at the registry office, would remove Pete's stake, substitute one of his own and claim possession of the Molly Gray. If she could only reach Crow rock before Dave Lumly she would fight with all the fierceness of old Jim Gray himself for the possession of her lover's rights.

Molly frowned as she thought all these things over, and every now and then she turned and looked back along the trail for some sign of the approach of Pete Clarkson. If he returned to the cabin, as he had intended doing, he would find her note.

With heart beating in time to the muffled thud of Daisy's hoofs, she drew rein on the crest of the ledge and looked about for Dave Lumly, but he was not in sight, and with resumed confidence she cantered along the narrow, uneven trail to Crow rock.

When she rounded the rock the sorrel was nipping the parched turf and Lumly, on his knees, was stuffing a piece of white paper into his pocket. His back was toward her, and he had doubtless mistaken the tread of her horse for the trampling of his own beast.

"Look here, Dave Lumly!"

Lumly jumped to his feet and looked into the barrel of a revolver leveled with cool precision.

"You git outer my way, young lady," he snarled defiantly, making a movement to grasp her bridle rein.

"Stop there or I'll fire!" she said calmly.

"What do you want?" he growled, looking at her out of stealthy red eyes.

"I want you to put that paper back in the hole," she commanded sharply.

"And if I don't?" he grinned savagely.

"Why, if you don't," she said, with a calculating glance, "I believe I'll just bore your right arm."

"The devil you will! It seems to me you are pretty highty tighty, miss."

"Are you going to do it?" she asked.

"Oh, sure; of course I couldn't refuse a lady," he said, taking the paper from his pocket with his right hand and furtively reaching with his left around to his hip.

"Your left hand up!" she commanded again.

With a muttered oath he swung his arm aloft. The sorrel horse drew near and, thrust an inquiring nose toward his master. With a quick movement Lumly held out the paper, the sorrel caught it between his lips, and in another instant it fell to the ground a mass of pulp. Lumly laughed exultantly.

Molly Gray whitened about the lips. "Other hand up!" she commanded shortly.

The man obeyed.

"Turn your back and walk toward me." Then, as he hesitated, she added contemptuously, "Don't be afraid. I'm not going to shoot you in the back."

He turned sullenly and backed slowly up to the mare's side. With muzzle pressed close to his shock of rough hair she abstracted the six shooter from his belt and ascertained that there was no other weapon. The man trembled slightly. It was a pesky dangerous thing to have a woman fooling with a revolver. One never knew what—

"Now walk forward twenty steps and don't turn; if you do it will be for the last time!" Molly did not recognize her own sweet voice in the firm tones that cut the air like the lash of a whip.

The man obeyed. When, at her word of command, he faced about, the feet of the little mare were gathered in the hole in the ground, and her rider, with shining eyes and bright, glad smile, looked at him down the length of his own six shooter.

"In fifteen minutes at the latest Pete Clarkson, Mill Hodges and the sheriff will strike this ledge. I advise you, Dave Lumly, if you value your life, to prospect around Cartertown way for a few years. The trail is plain; there's your horse, and I'm giving you a chance."

Lumly looked back down the trail. Several horsemen were riding rapidly up Crow creek bottom. There was a flash of sunlight on metal.

With a muttered curse he turned toward his horse. "You'll pay for this holdup, girl," he said threateningly.

"It's not a holdup; it's a hold down," retorted Molly saucily.

As Lumly disappeared among the distant western slopes three men rode madly down the trail and rounded Crow rock in a cloud of dust and a scatter of flying stones. Molly Gray, with trembling lips, smiled upon them.

"Where is he?" demanded Pete, while the other men looked mingled disappointment and admiration upon pretty Molly.

She pointed toward the west, where a solitary horseman was silhouetted against the amber sunset sky ere it dropped behind a distant hill.

"So you let the critter go!" uttered the sheriff ruefully.

Pete looked at her questioningly.

"I didn't want bloodshed on Crow rock, Pete," she explained in a low tone.

A light of understanding came into his eyes. He nodded his head. "That's all right, sheriff. I guess that coyote won't jump any more claims hereabouts, I reckon."

"Where is your claim, Pete?" asked Hodges, looking curiously around.

"Here it is," interpolated Molly, blushing. "He was jumping it when"—

"And you stood him off?" chorused the men.

She nodded gravely. "He fed the paper to the horse, so I held him up, and now I'm holding down the claim myself."

"I don't understand," said Hodges blindly.

"Why, you see," faltered Molly, while Pete grinned fatuously upon her, "I'm the claim—that is, I'm Molly Gray, and I'm holding down the claim. It's the Molly Gray, you know," she said, slipping down from the saddle into the outstretched arms of her lover.

The River of Life.

All life is lived in running liquid water. If the flow ceases the life stagnates and shortly dies.

The rule is absolute. The driest seeds, or spores of microbes, or those most minute objects that no microscope can reveal and no filter retain, may survive, with all their malignant possibilities, for months or even decades of years. But it is only when they get into a stream of water that they can really live and multiply.—Dr. Saleeby, in the Youth's Companion.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, July 25.—The advance of the Austro-German forces in Eastern Galicia continues uninterruptedly. Tarnopol has been captured and the Germans are nearing Buszacz. The capture of Stanislau and Nadnorna also is claimed.

Heavy artillery fighting is in progress in Roumania, on the front of Field Marshal con Mackensen. Russian troops, taking the offensive south of the Carpathians, penetrated the Austro-German lines.

Continuation of exceptionally violent artillery fighting in Flanders is reported.

Thursday, July 26.—Dominating positions on the Aisne front northwest of Hurtebise were captured by the Germans. French trenches on a front of 1,800 meters and 400 meters deep south of Ailles were stormed.

Germans captured four more towns in Galicia. The Russian retreat in this sector continues. In the Carpathians the Russians and Roumanians defeated the Teutons, taking 2,000 prisoners and many guns and large supplies.

Friday, July 27.—Ten villages were occupied by the Roumanians who advanced seven and a half miles from their former positions in their new offensive. The Austro-German forces retired in disorder. The Roumanians have advanced toward the upper reaches of the Suchitza river and are consolidating their gains. The Roumanians took 450 prisoners and captured six guns.

Russian cavalry threw back the pressing Austro-German infantry in the region southwest of Monasterzyska, in eastern Galicia.

Southeast of Trembowla, in Galicia near the Russian border, the Russians retired a short distance to new positions. The Austro-Germans have occupied the Galician towns of Plotycy and Szystylor on the Sereth river.

Saturday, July 28.—Roumanians and Russians advanced on Moldavian frontier, but in eastern Galicia the Russians continue to retreat.

Austro-German troops are near Pruth plateau on the road to Czernowitz. They gained on both sides of the Dniester, and approached Zbryz eighty miles east of Stanislau and approximately the center of the Russian line of retreat.

The French crushed fresh attacks by the crown prince's army on the Aisne front and inflicted heavy losses.

Paris was attacked by German air raiders. Two bombs were dropped.

Sunday, July 29.—Having retreated approximately 100 miles the Russian army in east Galicia is again on Russian soil on both sides of Husiatyn and is still being followed by the allied Teutonic armies. Likewise the armies to the north and south continue to retire before the enemy.

In the Carpathian region the Russians, aided by the Roumanians, continue to force the Teutonic allies to cede ground, especially in the upper Putna valley.

French troops in the Aisne region of France have turned in vicious counter attacks against the Germans, put down an offensive they had started between Hurtebise and La Bovelle and made good gains against them all along the line.

Thirty German airplanes were encounted for in the latest aerial fighting, in addition to two observation balloons which were shot down in flames. London admits that thirteen of the royal air squadron failed to return to their bases. Berlin asserts, however that thirty-five British planes were shot down.

Mrs. Mary Roe, ninety-six years old, a resident of Near Verdun since the Civil war, is dead.

Thomas Maxwell, sixty-eight years old, was instantly killed by lightning three miles southwest of Lawton.

J. P. Forbes, of Detroit, was appointed official tester of the Kalamazoo County Cow Testing association.

Governor Albert E. Sleeper visited Escanaba to investigate rumors that the I. W. W. is active in the vicinity.

The steamer Lynch, upbound, which went aground opposite Point aux Pins in a fog, was released without damage.

Can it be that thou insensate art,
O flag, so loved and cherihed
That armies countless thousands strong have fought for thee and perished?
That armies countless thousands
strong, by thy dumb call elated,
Again would spring to arms for thee, though knowing death awaited?

WILSON VICTOR IN FOOD FIGHT

Herbert C. Hoover Will Be Sole Supply Director.

SENATORS WON OVER, 4 to 3

House Plan Is Upheld in Conference. President Also Keeps Up Hostility to Create Congressional "Smelling" Committee on Expenses of War. Veto Strongly Hinted.

WASHINGTON — Conferees on the food bill agreed to President Wilson's demand for one food administrator instead of a board of three as proposed by the senate. The individual administrator will not be subject to confirmation. The senate conferees accepted the house provision. Chamberlain, Smith of South Carolina, Kenyon and Warren so voting. Gore, Smith of Georgia and Page stood out for a three member board.

President Forces Conferees to Yield.

The conferees yielded on the Hoover proposal only after President Wilson declared again his opposition to amendments providing for an administrative board of three instead of one and for the creation of a congressional committee on expenditures in the conduct of the war.

The President's position was made clear by Senator Chamberlain, one of the conferees on the bill. The President considers the committee on conduct of the war a reflection on himself and insists that there can be no question of the greater value of an individual food administrator over an administrative board of three.

Senator Chamberlain left the white house convinced that unless the conferees eliminated those provisions the bill must go back to the senate and house for further action. The possibility that the President might veto the measure if they were left in it was widely discussed in congress.

No Intimation Given Senator.

The President, however, it was said, gave no intimation to Senator Chamberlain that he was so strongly opposed to the provisions as to veto the bill.

Debate on the national prohibition constitutional amendment began in the senate under an agreement for a vote Wednesday.

Housewives Urged by Government to Start Canning.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sweltering heat, reported from coast to coast, is endangering America's perishable foodstuffs.

The department of agriculture issued a warning through the press that the housewife must buy and can quickly or vast quantities of edibles will be beyond recall.

"Buy up all surplus and can it and dry it at once," the department urged the women folks. "This hot weather makes immediate action absolutely necessary." The government weather bureau received temperature reports from all parts of the country ranging from 90 to 100 degrees.

URGES U. S. ARMY FOR EAST

Gen. Yassukovich Says 100,000 Americans Would Stiffen Up Slav Resistance

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—The presence of American troops on the eastern front would be fatal to Germany, according to General Michel Yassukovich, chief of the Russian military commission, who was here.

"If America will send 100,000 men to Russia she will furnish an army that will be the nucleus of a Russian army of a million men that may be grouped with fatal results to Germany," declared General Yassukovich. "Germany will not be able to face such a combination in the eastern theater, while France, Great Britain and America press her in the west."

U. S. TRANSPORT STRUCK BY LINER

No Lives Lost by Accident in Atlantic Port.

BOTH STEAMERS ARE SAVED

Many Vessels, Including Cruiser, Rush to Rescue of Sammies Awaiting Sailing Order—Large British Cruiser Is Torpedoed—38 Sailors Killed by Explosion.

AN ATLANTIC PORT — The U. S. transport Saratoga at anchor waiting sailing orders was rammed by an inbound American steamship, the Panama, of the Panama Railroad Steamship line.

Those on board were safely taken off in lifeboats or by tugs and other craft in the harbor, which responded to distress signals.

So far as is known no one was injured.

A deep hole in the transport's port quarter extending from below the water line to the rail resulted from the collision. The captain of the steamer which did the damage held the bow of his ship tight against the transport effectually blocking the wound. In this position he kept his vessel until all on board the transport were taken off.

More than a dozen vessels, including an American cruiser, were in the rescuing fleet. A number of them surrounded the transport after the other steamships drew away and supported her until she reached dock and was made fast.

British Warship Torpedoed.

LONDON, ENG.—The British cruiser Ariadne of 11,000 tons has been torpedoed and sunk, according to an official statement issued by the British admiralty. Thirty-eight members of the Ariadne's crew were killed by the explosion. All the other sailors were saved.

The Ariadne was an old British cruiser, having been built in 1898. It was 450 feet long, 69 feet beam and had a maximum draft of 27½ feet. Its complement consisted of 677 officers and men.

The Aridne carried sixteen 6-inch guns, twelve 12-pounders, and a number of smaller guns. It also was equipped with two submerged 18-inch torpedo tubes.

SWITCHMEN'S STRIKE ENDS

Labor Trouble at Chicago Periling Ice and Munition Supplies Settled.

CHICAGO, ILL. — Locomotives steamed out of Chicago railroad yards at short intervals pulling long trains of freight cars, many laden with military supplies which are awaited at Atlantic coast points. The switchmen's strike was called off at 5:30 a. m. and all railroads entering the city began rapidly restoring normal traffic conditions.

A joint statement issued by the conferees at the close of the meeting in which agreement was reached to call off the strike dealt explicitly with the closed shop issue. It read: "The rights of all other employes are safeguarded by a clause reading: 'It is agreed that the matters at issue are to be settled without the adoption of a closed shop rule or of any rule that might fairly be considered as equivalent to such.'"

TROOPS FOR GOGEBIC STRIKE

Michigan Guard and Big Police Force on Duty at Bessemer.

BESSEMER, MICH. — The Gogebic iron range is alive with preparations for the strike called at a mass meeting. Guards at the mines went on duty at 5 a. m. including twenty extra police sworn in at Ironwood and a like number at Bessemer, and it is expected that they will be augmented by a force of fifty troops, with horses, of the Michigan constabulary, ordered here by Governor Sleeper as a measure of precaution.

Police were stationed at various points with orders to prevent any illegal interference with men who wish to go to work.

HARRISON GRAY OTIS DEAD

His Newspaper Office Was Dynamited by Structural Iron Workers.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.—General Harrison Gray Otis, president and general manager of the Los Angeles Times, died at the home here of his son-in-law, Harry Chandler.

General Otis was born in Ohio, Feb. 10, 1837. In 1861 he enlisted in the Twelfth Ohio volunteers. He was twice wounded and retired with the rank of major. On Oct. 10, 1910, his building was dynamited and twenty of his workmen killed. The arrests and trials which followed were matters of nation-wide interest.

U. S. ORDERS DRAFT DODGERS PUT IN JAIL

Thousands Evaded, Department of Justice Finds

WASHINGTON — Criminal prosecution of men of draft age who evaded registration will begin at once, it was ordered by Attorney General Gregory. Mr. Gregory, in announcing that he had sent the orders to United States attorneys throughout the country, declared thousands of Americans and aliens resident in the country had failed to register June 5. It is known that for the last six or seven weeks government officials have been busy checking up on reports of evasions of the draft. It is understood they have located a great number of men who tried to dodge the draft, and the expectation is that these men will be proceeded against without delay.

TO SIFT BREAD PRODUCTION

U. S. Officials Plan Rigid Inquiry Into Foodstuffs Conditions.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Plans for investigation of the production and distribution of breadstuffs was completed at a conference of federal trade commission officials, department of agriculture experts and representatives of the food administration. The investigation will be a part of the trade commission's general inquiry into food prices. Wheat and breadstuffs will constitute one of its main divisions.

The inquiry into grain production will be made largely by the agricultural department. The trade commission will seek particularly to find law violations and uneconomic methods in the manufacture and sale of flour and bread. The information obtained will be turned over to the department of justice and to the food administration.

ASK AID TO END CAR STRIKE

Men Out in Springfield to Seek Intervention of the Mayor.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — The intervention of Mayor Baumann has been sought by strikers to induce A. D. Mackie, general manager of the street car company, to meet strikers' representatives in a conference looking to a settlement of the labor dispute which has caused daily disturbances since last Wednesday.

Recognition of the union is said to be the demand which stands in the way of a settlement. Mr. Mackie reiterates his determination not to treat with union men.

A few months ago a great movement was set in motion. Newspapers took it up and it was pushed into the limelight everywhere. "Business as Usual." Along with this was another, "Cut out the waste." These two movements seem to oppose each other and tend to confuse the minds of the American people. Both are essential and both should be driven home to every individual.

Because the Government is plunged into a great war, because it needs vast funds to carry it on and because our people are being asked for funds to help carry it on is no good reason why we should stop the wheels of industry and divert all of the resources of this nation into the channel of war.

People have got to live in war time as well as in times of peace and they must be provided for. Industries have got to be kept going to provide our people with what they require. Many of our men will be called into the service and taken out of the shops, stores and even the fields before the war is over, but industry must continue and others must take their places. Already in many places women are being called to take the man's job.

Work will be plentiful and wages good. No one who wants work should or probably will have to hunt long for a means of livelihood.

There is a good deal that could and ought to be said about waste. The American people for the past 20 or 30 years have lived at a break-neck speed. Money has been wasted right and left. Every means of inducement which could possibly be devised has been used to catch the money of the ever ready spenders. Things have been bought which have been of little use to those who have spent their money for these kinds of things and still it is going on. We have been educated to spend.

If the war lasts people must learn how to eliminate waste. They must teach themselves how to use their means to the best advanage. They should not become "panicky" and draw their money out of the banks and put it away where it would be forced out of circulation. Hoarding money does not do anyone any good, but it destroys the working power of the money withheld from circulation.

There are thousands of ways in which we all can cut out waste. We all must eat but is it necessary to place on our tables a variety of food when more simple dishes can be used? Is it necessary to buy new clothes just because we see Mrs. Jones wearing a beautiful new gown or Mr. Jones sporting around in a new suit when we have clothes that are good and sufficient for our needs?

The idea that because someone is wearing better clothes than we and that we must do as well as the other fellow even to the point of straining our supply of cash, is certainly waste, and in these times when the money is needed in more useful lines, should be avoided.

This idea of doing as well as someone who is in better circumstances than we are and that we must keep up appearances is all rot and gets many a good man or woman in wrong.

Is it necessary to trip it off in our autos when we have no place to go in particular just to satisfy our yearning to ride and be on the go? The supply of gasoline is becoming scarce, they tell us, and soon the Government will be using vast quantities of it to propel the new fleet of air craft, submarine chasers, etc. We had better ease up on this kind of waste and conserve for war purposes.

We might go on and on with the waste that enters inte every home and point out the unnecessary things that we all are using our money for. People must do some intelligent thinking and adopt their own ways of living to meet the needs of the times.

The merchants and business men of all kinds should figure to manufacture and place upon their shelves for sale goods of value and cut out the other class that is faddy and of little real value. People should buy what is needed whenever it is needed and shy away from the wasteful.

When we get these things through our heads and become sensible in our manner of living and buying we will have gone a long way toward cutting out waste and will have become of great service to the Government in throwing into the proper channels the great resources of this country.

Possibly the war will check the mad extravagance and waste that people have found themselves drifting into for America has long been known as a nation of spenders. Spend but be careful and thoughtful in spending and everyone will find themselves money ahead.

People need to apply some good old-fashioned common sense about these things and when they do they will find it easier to do their bit along the lines of giving for patriotic calls and to help win this great war for Uncle Sam.

An Appalling Moment

A Russian Soldier Meets Something More to Be Dreaded Than Battle

By ELINOR MARSH

Peter Nichlalief was a soldier in the Russian army, fighting with the troops near Riga, which is in the northwestern part of the empire. Peter was wounded, having lost an eye in battle, and was discharged from the service. So as soon as he was able to travel he prepared to return to his home in the province of Vologda, not far from the Siberian line. He went by rail to Petrograd and there wrote his wife to meet him midway between the capital and his home with a sleigh for the rest of his journey.

Now, Peter had been married two years before and soon after his marriage had marched away to the war. The parting with his young wife was very hard on both him and her. The chances were that he would either be killed in battle or die of disease or be so mutilated as to be a burden to himself if not to others. But now he was on his way home, having lost only one of his eyes, while the other enabled him to keep in touch with the world.

Peter would not have been allowed to keep his rifle had the fact been known. Indeed, he should not have taken it away with him, but he was so attached to it that he could not bear to part with it. He had named it for his wife and carved "Sonia" on the stock. So he carried it with him on his journey home, also a dozen rounds of ammunition.

Peter reached a little town about ten hours' journey from his home in the morning, and his wife was to join him there in the afternoon. Every minute that he waited for her seemed an hour. Just before sunset he heard the tinkling of bells up the road, and a moment later a sleigh appeared driven by Sonia. She pulled up before the inn where Peter was stopping. He jumped into the sleigh and embraced her.

Then Sonia turned to a basket in the rear part of the sleigh and lifted a fur robe and a blanket, exposing the rosy face of a boy a little over a year old.

"Our son?" asked Peter, his face lighting with pleasure.

"Yes; he is our little Peter. I have named him for his father."

The child's eyes opened, and seeing a man's smiling face bending over him he smiled back.

The next morning the sleigh was brought up to the inn, Peter and his family got in and started for home. The wife sat on the back seat with her boy in her arms, while Peter took the reins. The sun shone bright on the snow, but the air was cool and crisp. As Peter drove along his heart was full of gratitude that he had returned to his wife with no greater loss than he had sustained, and there was a great joy in the finding of the little stranger whose coming Sonia had kept from him for a surprise.

The reunited family jogged along, the child fulled to sleep in his mother's arms by the soft tinkle of the sleighbells. The country was sparsely settled, and for a large part of the distance the way led through dense forests. But Peter and his wife were used to that, having always lived in the region.

About 5 o'clock in the afternoon when they were half a dozen versts from home, suddenly they heard a distant bark. Peter turned and looked his wife in the face, from which the color had receded. Both knew the sound too well as that of a wolf, and they knew the danger.

"If I had only left the child at home!" moaned Sonia.

They at once made preparations for an attack from a pack of wolves. Little Peter was put in the basket and covered with robes. Sonia changed places with her husband, she taking the reins, while he took up his rifle from the bottom of the sleigh and inserted a cartridge in the breach. Then he waited in the back seat for a contest which he felt would very likely come.

The barking continued and drew nearer. Judging from the volume, there must be quite a large pack. Presently a wolf was seen emerging from the wood beside the road. Sonia urged on the horse, and the wolf, left behind, followed at a gallop. Peter lifted his rifle to his shoulder.

When the ex soldier had last aimed that gun it was at a line of Germans crossing a field. Although a well armed human enemy was advancing upon him and his comrades, he did not feel the fear that oppressed him now. Then he was a part of an army defending Russia; now he was alone and the lives of his dear wife and child were dependent upon him, and him alone. As to his own life he had become used to risking that.

Nevertheless he kept his nerve. He remembered that he had only a dozen cartridges and might have to repel a hundred wolves. He had fought the Germans when all his ammunition had been exhausted and knew the helplessness of one so situated. If he ground his teeth then, what would be his feelings should his dozen shots be exhausted now before he could drive off the wolves or reach home?

Peter was by no means ignorant of defensive warfare against wolves. He reserved his fire, while the brute followed in his wake, and when it approached too closely Sonia whipped up the horse and gained a little on it. Meanwhile wolves were pouring from the woods into the road behind the sleigh. They were yelping and snarling and tumbling over one another, but always keeping their fierce eyes on the object containing what would appease their hunger, for it was near the end of a long winter, and they were famished.

Finally the pack, now united, pressed so closely upon the sleigh that Peter felt it necessary to kill the leader, knowing that there would be a scramble for his dead body, which would occasion some delay. Peter was a good shot and put a bullet between the eyes of the foremost wolf. The beast dropped dead, and, as Peter had expected, many of the brutes pounced upon the body and fought for it. But there were so many in the pack that a number that could not get near the carcass followed on.

A wolf emerged from the wood in advance and made a spring for the horse, which was going at a gallop. Sonia had brought a revolver with her. Its chambers being loaded, she took the reins in her left hand and, drawing the weapon with her right, [illegible] clutch on the horse, rolled down into the road. His carcass took off a number of the wolves following.

The yelping and the shots awakened little Peter, who threw off the covering from his face and, realizing that something was wrong, added his own tiny voice to the din. But neither his father nor his mother could spare any time to attend to him, for the former was now forced by the pressing wolves to fire more rapidly, while the latter was emptying the chambers of her revolver upon those that were appearing in the road in front of the sleigh.

Though Peter husbanded his shots as best he could, all were gone at last. Some of the wolves had been killed by him, some had lagged behind, and some had dropped out of the chase altogether. There were now only half a dozen wolves in pursuit, but they were the largest, the strongest and the fiercest of the pack. The leader made a spring for Peter, who brained it with the barrel of his rifle. But in doing so the weapon slipped out of Peter's hand and fell in the road.

While the body of the wolf he had killed was being devoured Peter turned to his wife, put his arms about her and kissed her.

"Goodby, sweetheart," he said.

"What are you going to do?"

"The wolves must have another victim."

"Oh, Peter!"

"It is for you and the child. When the next one springs at me he will take me, but there will be food enough for all of them in my body, and you may escape."

"No; we will die together."

"I will go first. If they require more food it will be your turn next. God grant that I may save you both."

He bent down and kissed his little son; then, standing on the rear seat, was about to jump down into the road when a shot was heard and the foremost wolf fell dead. The rest scattered under shots fired from an unseen enemy.

"Pull up!" cried Peter to his wife.

Sonia drew rein and at the same time several men emerged from the wood on one side of the road.

"We are just in time," said one of them.

But Peter did not hear him; he was locked in an embrace with his wife, while the horse stood panting. Then the mother took little Peter in her arms, while tears of relief flowed fast.

A party of woodsmen working near the road had heard the yelping and the shots and, surmising the cause, had ran toward the approaching din. Having guns and ammunition, the driving off of the remaining wolves was an easy matter.

There was thankfulness in the hearts of Peter and his wife while completing their journey, and as soon as they had reached their home and put little Peter in his crib they fell on their knees side by side and with their arms about each other.

Peter Nichlalief's farm was besieged by his neighbors to hear about the war waged so far from them that they got no news of it except when some discharged soldier came home, usually broken down in body and sometimes in mind, to tell them about it. Peter's accounts were listened to in wrapt attention, but on telling of his adventures he always wound up by saying that under the most murderous fire he had never encountered anything so appalling as when the only remaining defense for his wife and boy was his own body thrown as meat to the wolves.

Not long after Peter's return another discharged soldier brought the news that the Little Father had abdicated the throne, and a new era had opened for the Russian empire.

By this time Peter, having become strong again, was seized with a desire to go back to the firing line. That is the singular feature of a soldier's life. While incurring danger many a man pines for safety and the comforts of home, but let him remain inactive for a short period and an irresistible desire comes upon him to get back into those very dangers that had been so intolerable.

Peter would have gone back at once had not Sonia begged him not to leave her, not to tear himself away from their little boy.

Peter listened to her appeals till the import of the stirring events came over him. In the deposition of the czar, the entering of the United States into the contest, he saw a struggle between imperialism and democracy. He believed in the rule of the people, and as one of the people he deemed it his duty to go on fighting for their cause. Then he went back.

Handkerchiefs	189
Wool socks, pairs	13

Mrs. John Nyland took 14 doz. handkerchiefs and 13 doz. wash cloths to Adrian which were made by her committee.

Mrs. Frank Nyland took over several ladies on Tuesday. They took several parcels and brought back supplies.

Miss Hosmer is going away over Sunday but supplies can be obtained at her shop just the same.

Some of the wooden knitting needles that were first issued from the headquarters have become a little rough. They are now being treated by a different process which keeps them smooth. If anyone has any needles that are rough, please bring them into headquarters where they will be exchanged for others.

No one has answered our appeal as yet to do our heavy trucking. We do not have much of it, but we need badly some one to do the little that we do have. Please help out.

We also need offers from people driving to Adrian to take our supplies over. Do not forget the Red Cross when you have some unoccupied space for every little helps.

Mrs. Raynor K. Anderson is still watchfully waiting for her supplies. In the meantime, she is helping the other committees.

The total amount subscribed in pledges for the year for the Patriotic League for Tecumseh Township, amounts to $3,748.00.

We are assessed for the sum of $6,000.00, less than an average of $2.00 per annum for every inhabitant in the township. Surely this, one of the richest agricultural sections in Michigan, will not want to fall below its assessment. Please do not make the work of the collectors so arduous. They are all voluntary workers and busy people. Come in and subscribe your monthly installment, whatever you feel you can afford.

Herbert Temple at the Lilley State Bank, is the chairman. Remember that you are taking out insurance for your future safety, for, if the United States fails through lack of enthusiasm among its citizens, then only Heaven can preserve the U. S. from the fate of France and Belgium, and that means YOU, your wife, and your children; it means your house burnt, it means your family fleeing from the tortures of a cruel conqueror.

If each one of us should leave the duty of paying to his neighbor, it would mean an empty treasury for the Patriotic League, and those of us who evade our duty of contributing our quota are worse slackers than those who evade the draft, for it is infinitely easier to pay a few dollars than to give one's life.

A number of people were under the impression that $1.00 monthly was the amount required by the Patriotic League, and this would be ample if everyone paid that amount, but as many cannot and many will not, it is necessary for those who can afford it, to pay more. Some are paying $2.00 monthly, some $5.00, some $10.00 and some more.

Several people are under the misapprehension that the Red Cross has all the money and supplies it needs and inquiries about this matter have come to this branch. There is NO LIMIT to the needs of the Red Cross both in money and in supplies and work.

German propaganda is responsible for these rumors, for they harm the Red Cross nd every harm done to the Red Cross is a gain for the Kaiser. The Hohenzollerns have singled out the doctors on the battlefield, for the death of each doctor means the death of hundreds his skill could have saved. They have raped the Red Cross nurse to terrorize the others from going to pursue their noble mission to save lives. Every time they can induce the millions of workers to slacken their efforts here, they deprive our fighting men of the necessities on which their lives depend, with consequently increased mortalty.

If you hear these rumors, if you ever hear that the Red Cross has converted money or goods to its own use, ask the speaker to prove the assertion, brand what he or she says as a lie and take their names and give them to the proper authorities.

Mrs. Harris has received the first printed directions for the surgical shirts. In copying from the samples several errors have crept in—hems on back 1½ inches finished turned on outside. Tapes ten (10) inches apart. Tapes cut nine (9) inches long. All garments must close from left to right. Baste and finish long seams beginning under arms. Pockets stitched around twice. 2 inch hem on outside. Ends of all hems sewed.

Do not forget the concert by the Red Cross Concert Company on Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at Putnam's hall at Sand lake. Fill your autos and bring all your friends. You will have a good time and will encourage a number of people who are doing their best to help the Red Cross.

War Reduces Insanity.

War as a palliative of insanity is a theory unfamiliar to most people, but we have no reason to doubt the conclusions of Dr. Oswald of Glasgow lunatic asylum on the matter. One phase of the subject is instructive and significant. This is "the removal of the powerful effect of poverty on the mind and its replacement by the higher standard of living and remunerative employment." Poverty and unemployment are thus by medical testimony more fertile causes of insanity than war.—London Globe.

During the electrical storm Wednesday afternoon, lightning came into the plant of the Electric Co. and burned out the steam turbin generator. The room for some minutes was filled with steam and gas, but luckily no one was hurt. The amount of damage to the generator amounts to $2,000. The company will continue furnishing service just the same thanks to the excellent water power.

The lightning played some queer freaks Wednesday afternoon during the severe storm. At one place in the south east part of town a chimney was swept to the ground. On North Union street, it struck a telephone pole slivering the top in fragments, but did not cut a twig or leaf off the shade tree that surrounded it. The telephone wires were thoroughly shaken up, and many phones [illegible]

Talking Good Coffee

Doesn't make coffee good, does it. If it DID all Coffee would be the best.

No—it takes more than talk. It takes a knowledge of what is what in Coffee to pick and choose—to pick and choose the GOOD—to let the rest go.

Because there are a great number of Coffees that masquerade under false colors.

We want you to judge our Coffee by the Coffee itself—not by what we say.

If we could get every person in town to do that we would never need to say much regarding Coffee again.

For we have really superior Coffee values.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT

Mr. Lavern Barrett suffered quite an accident Tuesday. As he was getting some material out of the refrigerator a melon rolled forward and broke the glass in the upper door. A piece of the glsss struck him on his stomach, cutting through his clothes and into the flesh for half an inch. He bled profustly, but for once his flesh served him well as otherwise the glass might have pierced the intestines.

Mr. Barrett is doing finely but does not care for a repetition of the accident.

Dr. Bredow Stands Highest in a Class of Eighteen

Dr. Pauline Bredow, who has been attending the Red Cross school of instruction for surgical dressing work in Adrian for the past two weeks, received first honors on her examination. Eighteen ladies from all over the county were in the class.

Her work was so superior that the instructress removed her own work from the case and substituted Dr. Bredow's. We feel proud of the honor paid our representative and congratulate her on her success.

FIRE ALARM

A call was sent in to the fire department Thursday morning from the home of Dale Hodges on WestLogan gan street, but the fire had been extinguished before they arrived.

Mrs. Hodges was generating gas for her stove and leaving a moment the gasoline dropped onto a cloth used about the stove. When she struck a match to light her blaze, the cloth was soon in flames. Throwing it on the floor she called for help and one neighbor was thoughtful enough to tell her to put on flour which she did with good results. As she was the only one up in the house she was a much scared woman for a few moments.

TECUMSEH FIRM ADDS NEW EQUIPMENT TO THEIR SERVICE

New Auto Hearse Purchased by Service & Son

The demands of the times have made it necessary for undertakers to discard the old horse drawn hearse and substitute the auto hearse in its place. This is the horseless age and very seldom in these days do we see a horse drawn vehicle in a funeral cortage.

Our local firm of Service & Son, realizing this have purchased a handsome auto funeral car. The hearse was made by the Charles P. Bradley Co. of Chicago and is the first of their manufacture to be used in this state. It is beautifully carved and has three panels on each side, one large one with plate glass window at the bottom in the center and a smaller one on either side of it. The color is a rich silver gray with trimmings of nickel. The interior is finished in mahogany and is fitted up with a rack overhead for cut flowers and set pieces while below is a large drawer extending the full length of the car to be used for carrying supplies.

The car is lighted inside and out with electricity and every known convenience has been provided.

We understand that it has already attracted a good deal of attention and several firms located in this vicinity are contemplating the purchase of a hearse of the same make.

ELIZABETH HANNAH WESTCOTT

Elizabeth Hannah Austin was born May 2, 1850 and died in Petersburg July 21, 1917. She was married to the late Horace Westcott on April 4, 1873. To them two children were born namely, Mrs. May Bird of Petersburg and Lotie who died in infancy.

Elizabeth suffered a stroke of paralysis the day before her husband died, only partially recovering, suffering another stroke one week before her death, never recovering consciousness.

She was a dear Christian woman and we shall all miss her, but she is happy with the companion she missed and sorrowed over. We can bear the separation better for we know it is as she wished and she is again with her loved companion.

PERFECT BABIES COMPETE AT FAIR

Physical Perfection Only Standard By Which Prize Winners Will Be Determined

In ancient times when strong men competed in the lists, attention was directed solely to physical perfection. The Spartan boy in olden Greece underwent a most gruelling adolescense to meet the high standard of body development set by his elders as a requisite for full manhood. Today we still discover a parental pride in the superiority of children, but our easier mode of living has reduced that standard of superiority until it has become almost solely a matter of beauty, in a child, rather than physical qualifications, which distinguishes one from another.

In its Better Babies' Contest the Michigan State Fair is going back to Spartan standards in awarding prizes to perfect children. Mere beauty is not considered as a dominant element by the judges in picking winners among the entrants; physical and mental development will determine the leaders in each of the classes, and awards will be made according to these standards.

MRS. E. S. LEONARD

To Show Development.

"Under the physical qualification standard the decisions of the judges will be of considerably more significance to the mothers and fathers of prize winning babies" says Mrs. E. S. Leonard of Detroit, who will be superintendent of the contest this year. "We are laying special stress on the bodily development of babies in accepting entries for the contest. In this way we aim to bring out the factors of improvement in one child over another and do away with the idea that this contest is a show room for infants, as some of the public pleases to regard it."

Dr. Mary Thompson Stevens will again be judge of the contest.

Entries in Before August 29.

All entries in the Better Babies' Contest must be received by August 29: the examinations beginning on the first day of the Fair, August 31. Competitions will be held in three divisions according to populated areas —those from rural districts and towns of 1,000 population or less, babies from towns over 1,000 population and less than 10,000 and contestants from cities of over 10,000 population.

Besides these distinctions there will be classes for babies from one year to two years of age, and from two years and under three. Boys and girls will compete in separate classes.

Red Cross Notes

The busiest place in Ridgeway is the Red Cross headquarters. Even since beginning the work on supplies in May a little bunch of ladies numberng about a dozen, or 15 at most, have spent every week day afternoon except Saturday at the rooms busily working. Through the hot weather of these last two weeks the ladies working on convalescent robes have been meeting two forenoons in the week.

The ladies greatly appreciate room which Mr. Barrett donates free. It is roomy and light, is equpped with long work table, counters, drawers and cupboards which make it very convenient.

Mr. C. B. Dibble painted and put n place over the front entrance a neat and attractive sign, "Red Cross Headquarters." This was also donated. People have been very generous donating articles to work with and material for rest pillows, old linen, etc., but have not had many cash donations. Anyone wishing to help in this way, please give all cash donations to Mrs. Mike Bachman, the treasurer, and leave all supplies at headquarters.

A cordial invitation is given to anyone to come in and see our rooms and what we are dong there.

The following list of articles have been made and sent out during the month of July:

19 doz. arm slings, 11 doz. head bandages, 8 doz. 4-in. rolled bandages, 4 doz. 3-in. rolled bandages, 13 doz. knitted sponges, 3 doz. rest pillows, 6 doz. rest pillow cases, 3 doz. wash cloths, 1 doz. shoulder wraps, ½ doz. convalescent robes, ½ doz. surgical shirts, ½ doz. pair socks, 5 pairs bed socks, 3 comfort bags.

Ridgeway made a supply of comfort bags to give to any of our Ridgeway boys who leave here for army service. Already there have been three given out, one to David Underwood who is training for the Army Y. M. C. A. work, to Harold Harrison and Robert McCloud who belong to Co. B at Adrian.

In addition to the work done at the rooms, we have about a dozen knitters who knit at home. We wish that many more would take up the work of knitting for that can be done at odd times when it would be impossible to come to the rooms to work. Our working force does not cover more than ¼ of the membership so the amount of work accomplished is much less than it should be according to the size of Ridgeway division. Are there not others who can either work at the rooms or take work home after working at the rooms and learning the work? You can take material home if more convenient to work there. The work is great, the call is urgent. This means you if you are a Red Cross member.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Ridgeway Red Cross will be held Tuesday evening, Aug. 7th. Reports will be given by all standing committees and other matters of business attended to The rooms will be opened at 6:30 and all are requested to come early as possible and bring shears to work at the clipping business Meeting at 8 o'clock.

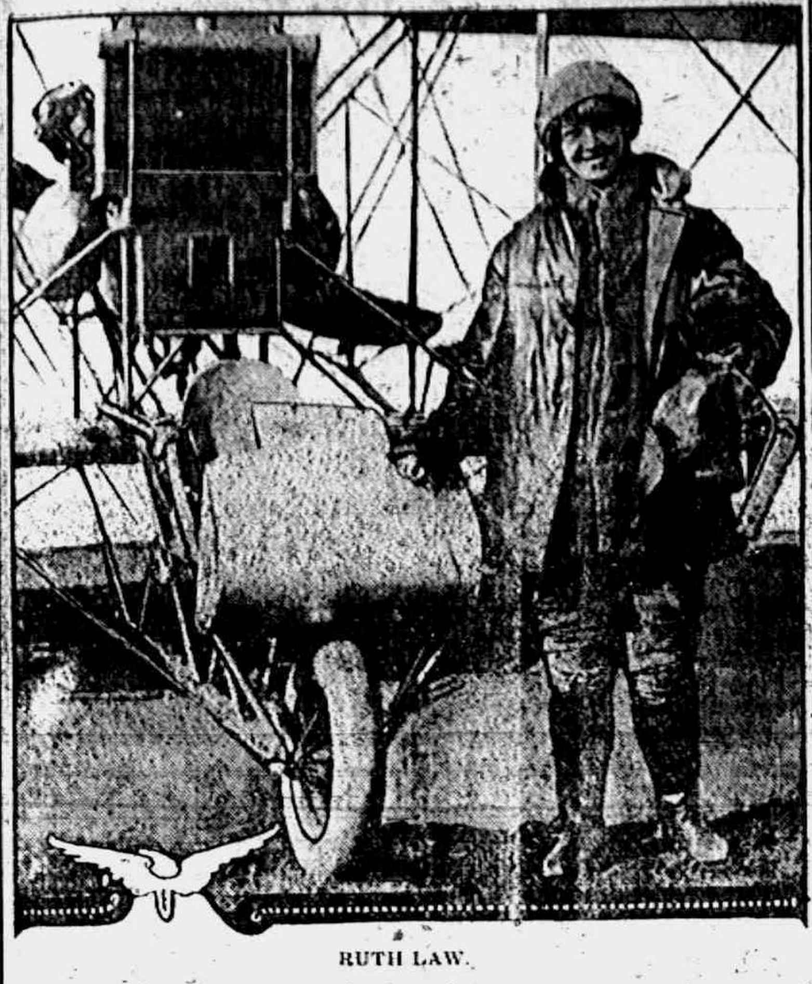
Wisner and family, Lawrence Dibble and family, Floyd May and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Billington, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Billington of Tipton, Everet Case and family of Sand Lake, Mrs. Rosetta Billington, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Billington of Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Billington, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Patterson, Mr. Poucher of Adrian and Mr. and Mrs. John Eckart Lowell Eckart of Oakley, Saginaw County. The parties motored from their various homes in the early hours of the morning. Various mishaps occurred to them, such as punctured tires and one car stopped at a garage for repairs, but all reached home safely in the evening.

Ruth Law, Flyer at Fair, Says Any Woman Can Do Her Stunts



RUTH LAW.

When Ruth Law, enwrapped in furs, sat in her aeroplane on the frosty November morning which marked the beginning of her flight to fame across the 785 miles of country intervening between Chicago and New York she little realized that her feat would mark an epoch in the history of woman's achievement in this world.

Never once, either in the preparation or the termination of her wonderful accomplishment, did Miss Law betray a weakness of her sex—not even a tremor of the voice revealed that she was the least bit nervous over the trip.

Combats Severe Cold.

To combat the chill of the higher altitudes Miss Law dressed in a novel cold-defying costume consisting first of a suit of silk, one of chamois, two of wool, a garment of soft leather and finally a heavy fur-lined overcoat. On her head she wore a woolen cap covered with a stout leather helmet; her feet were incased in two pairs of heavy woolen stockings and high laced leather boots, and on her hands were thick woolen mittens. Despite this apparently invulnerable protection from the icy wind on high, the aviatrice complained of the cold when she reached her destination—New York.

A girl who can undergo the rigors of such a trip would naturally be suspected of qualities of endurance and a system of nerves not common to women. Miss Law insists she is possessed of no unusual qualifications, and that anything she has done may be accomplished by any member of her sex.

Flys Over French Front

Following her remarkable cross-country flight, Miss Law went to France where she associated herself with the American aviation corps attached to the French army, and made a number of successful flights over enemy trenches on the western front. She was the first woman to participate in war maneuvers in an aeroplane and her daring, won the warm appreciation and compliments of army officers and aviators long experienced in aerial warfare. She is the only woman in the country authorized to wear the uniform of the United States signal corps and the insignia of the aero corps.

Miss Law's appearance in Detroit during the Michigan State Fair, August 31 to September 9, has created interest in her throughout the state. Her aerial feats will be fully as spectacular as her other notable accomplishments constituting the most remarkable demonstration of control in the air ever offered for the entertainment of Fair patrons.

BOYS WILL JUDGE LIVE STOCK

Boys of Michigan, under 21 years of age, will have an opportunity to exercise their judgment of live stock at the Michigan State Fair to be held at Detroit from August 31 to September 9, by entering the Boys' Judging Contest, a new feature of the Fair this year. Prizes to the amount of $150 are offered to the contestants making the keenest distinctions between the merits of prize stock.

Each contestant will be required to judge five classes—horses, beef and dairy cattle, sheep and swine. All entries must be made by Sept. 6th.

FRUIT CANNING PRIZES TO GIRLS

General Manager G. W. Dickinson of the Michigan State Fair has established a special class for a Girls' Canning Contest at the 1917 exposition which will be held at Detroit, August 31 to September 9.

Girls who are members of any regular gardening and canning club under the direction of the Michigan Agricultural College will be eligible to enter the contest. Three prizes will be awarded teams doing the best demonstration work, the first price is $150, the second prize $100, and third prize $50. Entries for the contest should be made before August 29.

STATE OF MICHIGAN.

The Probate Court for the County of Lenawee.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, on the 1st day of August, in the year one thousand nine hundred and seveneen.

Present, HARRY L. LARWILL, Judge of Probate

In the matter of the estate of ALBERT SOUTHWORTH, Deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Lunettie Southworth, administratrix, etc., of said estate, praying that she may be authorized, empowered and licensed to sell the Real Estate described in said petition at private sale, for reasons therein stated.

It is ordered that Monday, the 27th day of August next at nine o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition.

And it is further Ordered, That a copy of this order be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

(A true copy) Harry L. Larwill, Judge of Probate
E. I. Larwill, Probate Register.

Dinner Time.

Englishmen in Queen Elizabeth's time dined at 11 a. m., and Shakespeare rang up the curtain at the Globe theater at 1 p. m., the performance ending between 5 and 6 o'clock. By the time of Charles II. dinner had advanced to 1 o'clock, and the play began at 3 p. m., as Pepys records. A century later, Horace Walpole complained of dinner being as late as 4 o'clock and evening not beginning until 6 o'clock. Up to the middle of the last century theaters opened at 6:30. dinner being proportionately earlier.

The Old Order Changes.

The old Scots parliament decreed that "golf and football shall be utterly cryit dune," and today the Scots parliament does not exist, while football and golf have inherited the earth.—Dundee Advertiser.

Many women are successfully engaged in fruit cultivation in this country, the number in this occupation in California comparing quite favorably with the number of men thus engaged.

KERENSKY BACK; RUSSIANS FIGHT

Premier Says He Can't Refuse Reimposed Task.

SLAVS BEAT BACK TEUTONS

Leader of Republic Withdraws His Resignation, Attends Council Meeting and Issues New Manifesto. Southeast of Czernowitz Russians Display Fighting Zeal and Capture 500 Prisoners.

Petrograd, Aug. 6.—Premier Kerensky has returned to Petrograd and withdrawn his resignation. He attended a ministerial meeting on Saturday evening and afterward conferred with various political leaders.

M. Kerensky has issued a manifesto in which he declares that he considers it impossible when the country in threatened with defeat without and disintegration within to refuse the heavy task again intrusted to him, which he regards as an express order from the country to construct a strong revolutionary government to carry out the principle already laid down.

Will Introduce Changes.

"At the same time," said the manifesto, "I consider it inevitable to introduce changes in the order and distribution of government work without allowing myself to be influenced by the thought that these changes will increase my responsibility in the supreme direction of the affairs of state."

M. Kerensky's action followed close upon an all-night political conference which is described as the most momentous assemblage within the country's history of the last 300 years.

"Peace for Russia is inconceivable," Foreign Minister Terestchenke asserted at this conference.

"Russia must prepare to fight thoughout the coming winter," the foreign minister declared, adding that "Alexander Kerensky alone has the nation's confidence."

Vote Confidence, 147 to 46.

By a vote of 147 to 46 a joint meeting of the executives of the workmen's and soldiers' and peasant's councils confirmed the decision of the all-night political conference of continued confidence in Premier Kerensky.

Russ Capture 500 Men.

Petrograd, Aug. 6.—Russian troops operating east of Czernowitz, Bukowina, attacked the Austro-German forces and captured a wood near Balan, together with more than 500 prisoners and three machine guns, it is announced in the official statement. Southwest of this region the Russians are continuing to retire, as they also are doing in the vicinity of Kimpolung.

The repulse of a Teutonic attack on the front opposite Kovel, in Volhynia, is reported. Several successful scouting operations were carried out.

War on Holland, Kaiser Threat.

Rome, Aug. 6.—Germany is informing neutrals who are considering closing their frontiers against the Teutonic empire that such an act will be considered cause for war, it was reported here. The German threat, it was said, had been directed especially against Holland.

Restoring Navy to Greece.

Athens, Aug. 6.—The restitution of the Greek fleet by the Entente powers, which had exercised control over it during the events preceding the abdication of King Constantine, has begun. The light cruiser Helli was returned to the Greeks.

KALAMAZOO, Aug. 6.

Members of the Kalamazoo unit of the defense committee announce a plan to open a co-operative store at which farmers' wives can dispose of their fruits and vegetables. "Left overs" will be used in canning demonstrations.

RED CROSS PLANS TO GET WIDE PUBLICITY

Chairman Davison Issues Statement Covering Aims.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Henry P. Davison, as chairman of the war council of the Red Cross, makes public a statement setting forth the finances and other important facts concerning the Red Cross up to July 31, 1917. Mr. Davison in his statement says:

"It is the earnest desire of the Red Cross that the American people, to whom the Red Cross belongs, should know all about it acts and its affairs.

"The accounts of the Red Cross are regularly audited by the war department, and an annual report is made to congress. But it is the purpose of the war council to take the people, day by day, as fully as possible into its confidence. The war council was appointed by President Wilson on May 10. The period from then until July 1 was largely devoted to the campaign to raise money, and to developing an organization to administer the war fund when it had been raised.

"The campaign for $100,000,000 resulted in subscriptions of about $100,000,000 and Red Cross dividends of about $19,000,000. Final returns are not yet available. The total war fund subscriptions paid in on August 1, 1917, amounted to $30,047,116.13. Disbursements up to that date were $2,872,598.64. Total appropriations of the war council up to and including July 31 amounted to $6,175,752.

"Plans, which will be announced as soon as they are matured, are under consideration for effort upon a much more extensive scale, especially for the most effective possible co-operation with the army and navy in caring for our own men. Efforts to aid and assist the sick, wounded, and afflicted among our allies, will be based on careful inquiry now being made. All plans for expenditure will be determined after securing the best technical advice obtainable."

GEN. PERSHING ENCOURAGED

U. S. Commander Sees Allied Position Best Since War Began.

London, Aug. 6.—The London Sunday Times received the following telegram from General Pershing, dated Paris, Aug. 4:

"The spirit and morale of the allied armies are splendid and the general situation is better than at the beginning of any other year of the war. The allies should look forward with full confidence to a complete victory.

"JOHN J. PERSHING."

Real "Fellow" Came Along.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—After leading a revolt against war among University of Michigan co-eds pledged not to marry soldiers, Miss Rowena Bastin of Highland Park violated her vow. Her marriage to Kenneth C. Bennett of Chicago, a member of the Illinois national guard, last week at Bay View, Mich., has just become known.

Feelings Hurt, Steal $750,000.

Petrograd, Aug. 6.—Six armed men, three of whom were disguised as soldiers, motored to the senate building, garrotted the guards and stole a silver statue of Catherine II, and other antiques valued at $750,000, claiming such reminders of the autocracy hurt their feelings.

Powder Mills Explode.

Alton, Ill., Aug. 6.—Three wheel mills at the plant of the Equitable Powder company in East Alton were destroyed by an explosion. No one was injured.

ROOT RETURNS WITH FAITH IN RUSSIANS

Warns Americans to Quit Arguing About War.

A Pacific Port, Aug. 6.—"I have abiding faith that Russia, through trial and tribulation, will work out, create and perpetuate a great, free, self-governing democracy," Elihu Root asserted in an impassioned speech at a luncheon in honor of the return of the American mission from Russia.

Declaring that "America must muster its manhood with democracy against the power of autocracy," he said, "there will be death, widowed homes, sacrifice and suffering, doubt, almost despair. In the end will rise a great free country, remade in the spirit of our fathers, competent to accomplish its divine mission and carry liberty and justice throughout the world.

"Don't argue about why we are in the war, but realize that the time has now come when American liberty, American justice, American independence and freedom is the stake for which he must fight.

"As surely as the sun shall rise tomorrow, if this war ends with the triumph of Germany, this country will become a subject nation for the temperament of the Germans' ruling power will turn to those purple fields, these rich and vast spaces of the western hemisphere."

Slain Man's Body, Is Found.

Madison, Ind., Aug. 6.—The body of Albert Kauffman, twenty-seven, stabbed and killed on the bank of the Ohio river opposite here Tuesday night by Richard Lacey, thirty-eight, was recovered about two miles below the scene of the killing. Lacey surrendered and confessed according to the police. A family difficulty is said to have caused the tragedy. Officers have taken Lacey to Bedford, Ky., to await trial.

Scalds Kill Veteran Rail Engineer.

Decatur, Ill., Aug. 6.—John E. Rodems, veteran passenger engineer of the Springfield-Hannibal district of the Wabash railroad, died here from scalds received on June 8, when his engine was derailed at Valley City. He had worked for the Wabash railroad since 1879.

Fly 226 Miles in 6 Hours.

Waseca, Minn., Aug. 6.—Four officers of the army signal corps ended a balloon flight from Omaha on a farm four miles south of this city. The trip of 226 miles was made in six hours, which is said to be a record. The journey was uneventful.

Put German in Jail.

Denver, Col., Aug. 6.—Emil Italiener, representative of th New York Staats-Zeitung, is in jail here awaiting transfer to Fort Douglas, Utah, where he probably will be interned until the end of the war.

1,000 Japanese Enlist.

Seattle, Aug. 6.—One thousand Japanese have enlisted with the Canadian forces in British Columbia and are now serving in France, K. Takeuchi, editor of the Great Northern Daily News, said.

31 ARE DEAD; 20 ENTOMBED

Death List in Kentucky Mine Blast Grows as Injured Men Succumb.

Clay, Ky., Aug. 6.—The death list from the explosion here in the south entry of No. 7 mine of the West Kentucky Coal company has mounted to thirty-one, according to information supplied by Charles S. Richardson, vice president and general manager.

Twenty-four bodies were removed from the mine Saturday, according to Mr. Richardson, and one body Sunday. Six of the twenty-five injured men recovered died, he said, bringing the death list to its present total. A majority of those killed in the explosion were negroes.

OUR ALASKAN PARK

It Is Classed as One of World's Colossal Spectacles.

GRANDEUR OF THE SCENERY.

Mighty Mount McKinley, Most Lofty of All Our Country's Towering Peaks, Crowns the Titanic Glory of the Newest of Uncle Sam's Reservations.

The national park in Alaska which congress created in the spring of 1917 is one of the monster spectacles of the world. To say that Mount McKinley rises 20,300 feet above sea level and that it is the loftiest peak in America is to convey no idea whatever of its grandeur. There are several mountains in the Himalayas which materially exceed its height, one which rises more than 25,000 feet above sea level, and yet Mount McKinley to the observer is loftier than any of these.

The reason is that the greatest Himalayas are seen from valleys 7,000 to 10,000 feet in altitude, while Mount McKinley rises abruptly from valleys 3,000 feet and even less in altitude. The visitor to the Mount McKinley National park will look up more than 17,000 feet to the double peak, the upper 14,000 feet of which are covered with perpetual snow.

This enormous mass is the climax of the great Alaskan range which extends roughly east and west across southeast central Alaska, separating the vast northern inland from the more populated country whose shores are the gulf of Alaska. The range parallels the mighty Yukon many miles to its mouth.

The reservation contains 2,200 square miles. Its northern slopes, which overlook the Tanana watershed with its gold mining industry, are broad valleys inhabited by enormous herds of caribou. Its southern plateau is a perpetual winter wilderness through which glaciers of great length and enormous bulk flow into the valleys of the south. In this National park, which the railroad now building by government into the Alaskan interior will open to the public, America possesses Alpine scenery upon a titanic scale.

From the stormy south Mount McKinley is wholly inaccessible. But from the plains of the north valleys of easy grade lead one from another to its foot.

"It is an awe inspiring region of massive mountains and ice capped peaks," Belmore Browne of the Campfire club testified before the senate committee on territories. "The Piedmont plateau that follows the range affords a beautiful roadway direct to Mount McKinley, and when you reach the plateau all difficulties vanish and you see a view that is unique on this earth. You see the huge mountain line of perpetual snow, rising like a great wall on the southeast. You can ride a pony to where Mount McKinley rises 17,000 feet above you in a glittering wall of snow and ice. It is flanked by stupendous mountains, which make a wonderful setting for the monster."

North of the vast mountain, however, is a rolling country dotted with beautiful lakes and forests and inhabited by enormous herds of caribou. In fact, the special reason why congress set apart the region at this time was to conserve the wild animal life in advance of the invasion of hunters which the new government railroad will bring into Alaska, the road as projected running within twenty miles of this greatest of nature's spectacles.

Charles Sheldon of the Boone and Crockett club told the senate committee that several times he has counted as many as 500 mountain sheep in a single day of ordinary travel and that herds of caribou numbering from 1,200 to 1,500 are frequently seen.

As a game refuge and breeding ground the new National park conserves Alaskan game which elsewhere is rapidly disappearing. As in the case of the Yellowstone National park, the reservation serves as a perpetual center of game supply for large neighboring areas.

These animals do not greatly fear man, because they have never been hunted. One can approach the great herds of caribou. There are also many Alaskan bear of great size.

An extensive educational campaign has been inaugurated by the department of the interior for the information of the people concerning the hitherto unknown quality and extent of our national parks, of their scenic and recreational possessions, under which public interest in our national parks is growing with unanticipated speed, and public realization, interest and practical use is the condition as well as the object of national parks development. Public patronage of the parks has increased rapidly and steadily.

Co-operation in the public interest has been promoted between railroads and the government, between concessioners and park managements and between parks. Large private capital has been induced to enter several national parks for the enlargement and improvement of hotel and transportation service. Prices to the public have been decreased wherever possible.

Boudoir Gardening.

"How is your wife making out with those onions she is raising in a flowerpot?"

"They're drooping. Stirring the soil with a hairpin was all very well, but I don't think perfume from an atomizer is the sort of irrigation they need."—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

CANADIANS GAIN IN NEW THRUST

Pierce Enemy Line on Front of 1,000 Yards.

GERMANS IN COUNTER ATTACK

Further Progress Reported by French in Flanders—Germans Make Heavy Attacks Near Rheims, but Are Expelled from Single Trench They Captured—Artillery Activity in Belgium Intermittent.

British Headquarters in France and Belgium, Aug. 6.—The Canadians made an advance on a front of 1,000 yards to a depth of 200 yards towards Lens and consolidated the new position.

The Germans delivered a heavy counter attack at 5 o'clock in the morning in the neighborhood of Hollebeke.

London, Aug. 6.—Further progress has been made by the French northwest of Bixschoote, on the Flanders battle front, says the British official report.

The Germans worked up a heavy bombardment of the Entente lines in the Hollebeke region.

Only raiding operations are reported from other sections of the front.

Rheims Thrust Fails Foe.

Paris, Aug. 6.—Early in the day a heavy attack was made by the Germans on the French front to the south of Juvincourt, northwest of Rheims. The French line was preserved intact, the Germans being ejected from the single trench element which they had succeeded in entering, the war office reports.

The artillery activity in Belgium is described as intermittent. It was somewhat more violent at points in the Verdun region. Minor attacks on the Casemates Plateau, on the Aisne front, were readily warded off.

Foe Reports Winning Raid.

Berlin, Aug. 6.—There was no infantry activity on the Flanders front, army headquarters announced. The weather in the Aisne region and in the Champaigne was unfavorable for operations and only one action was reported, nearly 100 prisoners being taken in a raid on the French lines near Juvincourt.

CALLS 75,745 MORE GUARDS

With Sunday's Quota, U. S. Has 400,000 State Troops Armed.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The United States called into active service Sunday its last group of national guardsmen, numbering 75,745 soldiers. At the same time, all militia troops not now federalized were summoned automatically. With this latest call, the country has an estimated total of 400,000 or more national guardsmen ready for intensive training in southern camps.

The states called, the strength and their training camps, are as follows: California, 6,591; Utah, 1,358; Arizona, 665; Colorado, 3,950, and New Mexico, 1,276, to train at Linda Vista, Cal. Arkansas, 6,019; Mississippi, 4,438 and Louisiana, 2,888, to train at Alexandria, La. Kentucky, 6,164, and Indiana, 6,149, to train at Hattisburg, Miss. Kansas, 8,144, and Missouri, 14,145, to train at Fort Sill, Okla. Alabama, 5,487; Georgia, 5,629, and Florida, 2,842, to train at Macon, Ga.

RAIL SHOPMEN GO ON STRIKE

I. W. W. Influences Seen in Walkout at Silvis, Ill.

Davenport, Ia., Aug. 6.—Two hundred unorganized laborers at the Rock Island railroad shops at Silvis, Ill., are on a strike, a demand being made for a ten per cent wage increase.

Authorities believe I. W. W. influence has caused the strike, leaders of that organization having been seen conferring with Silvis shop workmen.

Dancers Fall in Whirl; Man Dies.

Stevens Point, Wis., Aug. 6.—Doing a wheel in a dreamy waltz, Max Ristow swung Miss Bernice Leary off the edge of a stairway. The pair fell heavily. Ristow, trying to protect the girl from the fall, died without regaining consciousness. The girl was slightly hurt.

Pitchfork Fatally Wounds Farmer.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Courtplaster forwarded to the public health service by the Ohio state board of health has been found in an analysis by the hygienic laboratory to contain tetanus germs.

MOVING A BIG ARMY

Transporting Troops In Time of War Is a Gigantic Task.

A WORK OF INFINITE DETAIL.

What It Would Mean In Railway Cars of Various Kinds and In Supplies and Equipment to Carry a Million and a Half Men Across the Country.

Before a body of troops is entrained the time and place of every move are mapped out, including the date and place of entraining, destination, time of arrival, route, assembly point, time of troops leaving assembly point, route of assembly point to train, time of arrival at station, time of loading train, time of departure of train, rate of travel over each section of route, time, place and duration of stops; time and place of feeding troops and animals and a schedule showing the assignment of troops and equipage to each car. Aside from this are countless details connected with procuring supplies, the disposal of troops and their care.

All these preliminary arrangements must be made by an officer of the quartermaster corps. The first thing to be done is to procure lists with weight of all property to be shipped, obtain this material and make out the bill of lading. This, with the number of men and officers, constitutes a basis on which he estimates the number and kind of cars needed. He then engages the cars and provides loading facilities, such as material for blocking and lashing, and constructs necessary ramps, or runways, for entraining animals or wagons.

Next, on the arrival of the cars, he inspects them from a thousand major and minor angles. All cars must be clean. Passenger cars must be fully supplied with water and ice, sufficiently lighted and heated and all other appurtenances in proper condition. Stock cars come in for special attention.

Then the number of men or kind and quantity of supplies allotted to each car is marked on the side or steps, together with the name of the organization. In loading men three are assigned to each section in tourist sleepers or three to each two seats in a day coach.

Another important point is to keep the troops of each unit with all equipment together. This is important in case of sudden attack. Imagine the fate of a unit of troops suddenly detrained at the firing line without equipment!

A possible element of delay lies in the timing of the arrival of troops at the station. There must be no time lost by cars waiting for the troops. The facilities for loading animals and wagons at each station on each route should be part of the quartermaster corps' records. Quick and noiseless loading and unloading of animals without confusion are an art in themselves. Dispositions of individual animals must be studied. Gentle animals should be placed opposite doors and therefore loaded last.

The time of loading and unloading has been carefully tabulated and should not exceed the following: Infantry, one hour; cavalry and light artillery, one and one-half hours; heavy artillery and engineers with bridge train, two hours. All movements, loading, entraining, detraining, feeding and watering and exercising men and horses, are made in military fashion.

With each train kitchen cars are provided. Otherwise baggage cars are fitted up by troops or arrangements made for procuring meals, or at least liquid coffee, at stations en route. Feeding of men and animals is in itself no small matter.

Say the war department was called upon to transport twenty field armies of 82,000 men each, or 1,640,000 men. In moving such a military force the railroads must carry, besides the 1,640,000 men, 700,000 mounts and draft animals, 60,000 vehicles and 3,360 big guns.

To accomplish this the quartermaster corps must have available at the right points 42,300 passenger coaches, 7,700 baggage cars, 21,100 box cars, 37,980 stock cars and 15,500 flat cars, making a total of 124,580 cars, or 7,320 trains with as many engines.

Here is the government's minimum estimate of the gross weight of materials needed each month by this force of 1,640,000 men: Rations, 250,630,460 pounds; ammunition, 7,046,160 pounds; forage, 623,147,600 pounds; general quartermasters' supplies, 33,794,440 pounds; clothing and equipage, 22,680,840 pounds; ordinance supplies other than ammunition, 1,622,740 pounds; engineers' supplies, 12,208,320 pounds; signal supplies, 9,043,260 pounds; medical supplies, 597,160 pounds; candy and tobacco, 319,680 pounds, making a total of 961,089,100 or nearly 1,000,000,000 pounds. The transportation of this enormous weight would require fifty-five trains of thirty cars each day as long as the force was in the field.—Leslie's.

Two Scamps

How They Invaded a Woman's College.

By PAULINE D. EDWARDS

"I say, Tom," said Jim Ruggles, "what do you say to a visit to the C. A. C. W.?"

"What's the C. A. C. W.?"

"The College For the Amelioration of the Condition of Women."

"What kind of college do you call that?"

"The intention is to educate young women on such lines that they may take the places of men in the higher departments of life—that is, legislators, judges, governors and, possibly, president of the United States."

"You excite my curiosity. I would like to see what kind of material they are molding for the purpose."

"Oh, that isn't what I wish to go there for. I want to see a girl I am sweet on. She has turned me down since she got the feminine craze, and there's nothing for me to do except to beard the lioness in her den."

"But do they allow men visitors at the college?"

"Oh, I understand that the college doors haven't any more objection to men than to women; but, of course, no college for women permits the undergraduates to receive young men whenever they like. We had better go as inspectors of the institution with a view to writing it up, thus advertising it and inducing others to found colleges for a similar purpose. I will palm myself off as a magazine writer. You might tell them that you are principal of a young ladies' seminary and desire to educate your pupils to fill the most exalted positions."

"That's all very well. But do you suppose they're going to be fooled into thinking that a man of my age would be trusted with the education of young girls?"

"You can make up for any age you like. Forty will do. Your premature baldness will help, and you can paint a few crow's feet at the corners of your eyes."

"Won't they spot the paint?"

"Not if it is carefully done, and I propose to make the visit after dark."

A few days later William Hargrave Spencer, the magazine writer, received in reply to a note he had written to the president of the C. A. C. W. an invitation to visit that institution and to bring with him Bryant Wotherspoon for an inspection of the institution.

On a certain evening the two gentlemen, apparently between forty and fifty years of age, appeared at the house of the president of the college and were received by her with consideration, she being greatly interested in getting free advertising for the institution. They had prepared a number of questions, which they asked, and made notes of the replies. After exhausting the subject Tom said:

"As principal of a young ladies' seminary I have found it possible to put my school in a favorable light to visitors. On one occasion I turned a visitor over to a committee of the girls, and the visitor afterward told me of certain irregularities that needed to be corrected. Since then I have always turned visitors over to others. May I suggest, without my motive being misconstrued, that Mr. Spencer and I be permitted to be shown over your institution by one or two of your undergraduates?"

The president acquiesced, though not with a good grace in this, and two young ladies were assigned to the duty. One of them assumed the lead, acting as spokesman and giving a lecture as she passed along with the inspectors. She was not a beauty, but was admirably fitted for what she was doing. The other girl had evidently been selected at haphazard. Jim was busy concocting questions that she could not answer—nor could any one else, for that matter—with a view to getting rid of her. This put her in a bad humor, when Tom said to her:

"Have you an undergraduate of the name of Bertha Griswold in your institution?"

"We have."

"She is a graduate of my seminary."

"Would you like to see her?"

"I would."

"The young lady went away to call Miss Griswold, and while she was gone there was an animated and hurried dialogue between Tom and the remaining girl. He explained the situation to her and told her that Miss Griswold and Jim had been spoons. Miss Wharton, the girl to whom Tom confessed, declared that she would not be a party to the deception, and the boys were fearful that they were on the eve of exposure, but when the girl who had left them returned with Miss Griswold Miss Wharton held her tongue. Miss Griswold recognized Jim the moment she saw him, but there was no disposition on her part to give him away.

"Laura," said the girl who had brought her, "I will turn these gentlemen over to you to be informed of anything they desire to know."

"I'll do what I can for them," was the demure reply.

The four who remained moved on for the inspection, Jim with Laura Griswold, Tom with Luella Wharton. Professors and undergraduates were there, and there was no opportunity for anything except the parts they were playing. Miss Wharton at first looked disgruntled at the part she was constrained to play, but a humorous remark on the part of Tom brought a smile to her face, and after that she came to enjoy the prank. As for Laura Griswold, she was disposed to be angry with her lover, but neither wished nor dared to expose him.

But there is nothing like daring to please a woman, and while Laura was explaining what the magazine writer and the principal of a young ladies' seminary came to see both girls were falling in with the spirit of the escapade.

"This room," said Miss Griswold, "is intended for the especial use of those undergraduates who are ambitious to sit on the bench."

"How about a sofa or easy chair?" asked Jim in a low voice.

"Wait. We'll come to that by and by," replied Laura under her breath.

"This room," continued Laura, "is occupied by a class that is studying the constitutional history of England."

She opened the door, and the young men were permitted to look in the room, where they saw a woman professor on a dais lecturing to a number of young women. Between the opening and the shutting of the door these words were heard:

"Up to the time of the accession of George IV. England had been a constitutional monarchy, the sovereign being usually a crackbrained man. Under the contemptible Georges it gradually changed into a virtual republic. But its most glorious half century was under the rule of that greatest of all its sovereigns, a woman, Victoria."

When the door was closed Tom suggested that "now England had got another George it had fallen into a relapse."

"Not a bit of it," retorted Laura Griswold. "Since Victoria there has been no need of a sovereign. Victoria taught the English people to govern themselves. That's something no man could do."

"Women are our natural governors," remarked Jim.

The party emerging on to the campus, Jim asked:

"What's that building with a dome on it?"

"That's the astronomical observatory."

"We must see that, of course," said Tom.

"The night being cloudy, no observations can be made. There's no one there to receive us," said Laura.

"Well, now," said Jim, "that's just the reason for our going there. I must have a look at Venus."

"Shut up, Jim," said Tom. "If any of the dons heard that remark the result would be serious."

The party were some time passing over the campus, for they were comparatively free from observation, but the boys hoped for greater privacy in the observatory, so they ascended to the dome. Laura turned on a light, thus giving a view of the telescope. There Jim and Laura went out on to the roof for a conference, leaving the other two where they were.

While the couples were separated Miss Euphemia Marston, the astronomer, seeing a light in the dome of the observatory, mounted the staircase leading to it, and, since a woman's shoes are not usually noisy, she was not heard by the inmates until she had entered the room. Tom and Luella fortunately were sitting in close communion behind the stone pier on which the telescope rested, and the lady did not see them. Going to a box of eyepieces, she was bending over it, unmindful of their presence. Tom gave a cough, and the professor, straightening up, looked around. Luella advanced and, somewhat ill at ease, told Miss Marston that she was showing the telescope to a visitor.

The lady received Tom with courtesy and entered into a long explanation of the different parts of the instrument.

Meanwhile Jim and Laura had heard the conversation in the dome and learned of the approach of the astronomer. The professor's presence, with Jim and Laura being out on the roof, was not without danger, and Laura did not know whether to put on a bold front and enter the dome or wait for the astronomer's withdrawal. Thinking that Miss Marston would not remain long, she adopted the latter course.

But the astronomer found Tom so appreciative of her explanation of the parts of the telescope and its general uses that she showed no disposition to leave. Then Laura and Tom were horrified to see a rift in the clouds and the moon appear. If the astronomer saw the moonlight she would lift the shutter of the dome and make observations.

"I have it," said Jim, and, taking off his coat, he held it against the only window in the dome that the moonlight would shine through.

But his game did not work. Suddenly the shutter was lifted and the dome began to turn.

"I'll have to go down from the outside," said Jim, and, finding a corner, by the help of a water spout and some intervening window ledges he reached the ground. Then Laura went into the dome.

When the party descended and had separated from the astronomer Jim joined them, and since it was getting late they felt constrained to return to the president's quarters. Jim, after thanking the head of the college for the attention he and his friend had been shown, wound up with a flourish in this statement:

"I am glad to say that the young ladies who have shown us over your institution have assured us that there is nothing in its appointments or management that can be improved upon. They are simply perfect."

The article Jim was to write never appeared. Both the men found wives in the girls who had been their guides.

The No Breakfast Plan.

The breakfast eating habit often creates an abnormal stomachic condition. If one is in perfect health and arises with a keen appetite for breakfast there will be no occasion for omitting the meal. There are, however, but few in perfect health, and the omission of breakfast gives the stomach a chance to adjust itself. It has an opportunity to develop a keen appetite for the particular character of nourishment most needed by the body at that time. The no breakfast plan is a splendid means of properly adjusting one's appetite, both as to quantity and character of food.—Physical Culture.

Quite Contented.

"He told her if she consented to an engagement she must be prepared to make all kinds of sacrifices and to be treated with the greatest neglect and even face cruelty and desertion."

"Was the woman in her senses to agree to such an outrageous proposition?"

"Oh, yes, for the engagement was to play the wronged and deserted wife in a melodramatic picture play."—Baltimore American.

Just Like a Woman.

"I understand your wife has been quite ill, but is now convalescent."

"Yes."

"How was she looking when you left the hospital?"

"In the hand mirror."—Florida Times-Union.

Aristocrat.

The word "aristocracy" comes from the Greek "aristos" (best) and "archo" (rule), meaning the rule of the best. Literally aristocrat means the "best man."

Two Lieutenants Discharged.

KALAMAZOO, Aug. 6.

Orders were received by Colonel J. B. Westnedge to discharge Lieutenants Otto K. Buder and O. H. Steinberger, of Company C, Kalamazoo. They were both recommended for discharges following a recent physical examination.

Hobb—You've been spending a week with Perkins, haven't you? How is his house furnished inside?

Nobb—I never noticed.

"Well, he always did have good taste."—Life.

ONE WAY TO WOO SLEEP.

Travel In Memory Some Road You Knew Well In Childhood.

It is hard for me to remember now that my knowledge of the sleepy road, gained so many years ago, came only through the chance bit of advice dropped by a wise, kind, weary old doctor as he shuffled at midnight down the corridor of the silent hospital, says the Atlantic Monthly.

Whatever was the errand of life or death that had called him in such haste, he had time to stop and give me a friendly word, although I, a small and incorrigibly sleepless patient, was sitting bolt upright among the pillows in defiance of all his orders and was staring wide eyed into the hot, pain haunted dark.

"You think you are never going to be able to sleep again, don't you?" he observed. "Well, shut your eyes and do just what I tell you. Think of some road that you know well, a good long road that winds and turns and shows you water and woods and hills. Keep your eyes tight shut and travel along it in memory. Go as slowly as you can, recall every sight and sound and perfume as you pass by."

"I have such a road of my own, the one I used to walk to school when I was eight years old. I have started out on it a hundred times when I thought I could not sleep, but I never get very far. I come just about to the old stone bridge over Damon's creek or perhaps to the swimming hole, where the willows dip into the brown water, but I never reach the end."

FACING THE CAMERA.

Don't Dress Up and Don't Pose When Having a Picture Taken.

"There are many things I would like to say to the woman who intends having her picture taken," said a famous photographer the other day.

"Many women come to me and say, 'Of course you prefer taking actresses. They must have many advantages over those women who never have time but to give an occasional glance in their mirrors.' This is entirely a mistake. The conscious pose never makes a satisfactory portrait. I would say emphatically to the woman who goes to have her photograph made not to rehearse her pose and facial expression beforehand.

"I always find it difficult to impress on the woman coming to my studio that clothes and jewels are of absolutely no account in a photograph. If a woman comes to be photographed in the clothes she is used to wearing she will feel at ease and therefore look her best.

"One of the curses of our present day civilization is the ever changing question of fashion. How much more civilized were the Japanese, who realized that the kimono was perhaps the most perfect dress for women at all times—who only varied it with different brocades and girdles. The photograph that concerns itself with clothes is soon out of fashion, and no matter how good a likeness of the face has been obtained, the picture is grotesque in a few years because the clothes are passe."

The Professor Worried.

The absent minded professor from the university town was in Indianapolis attending a convention. While in the city he took a tour of the larger department stores. In one of them he was much perplexed.

He read the sign over the door of the elevator:

"This car express to fifth and sixth floors. Up only."

Absently he read the sign again. Then the car door opened.

"I would like to know," he asked the elevator boy, "if this elevator goes only up, how on earth did you get down here?"

The elevator boy grinned, frowned, scrutinized the man closely and then said in a dignified voice, "Oh, I just came down."—Indianapolis News.

Putting the Cat Out at Night.

The practice of turning the cat out of doors at night is as cruel as it is unnecessary. No animal is fonder of warmth and comfort, and the pet's happiness certainly is not increased by a night spent outside in cold and dampness.

If as much energy was exhausted in keeping the cat indoors as too often is expended in putting her out, how great would be the boon to human nerves and unfortunate wild things! All felines are normally nocturnal, and it is at night, if ever, that a curb on their activities is needed.—Lee S. Crandall, in "Pets."

True Economy.

There are great joys in practicing true economy in the right spirit. True economy, you see, is not abstinence from necessary things—not at all. The joys of true economy are for those who make the most of what they have; who, finding what may be theirs, proceed to the extraction of the greatest benefit from what is within reach.

Too Much Flirting.

First Co-ed—Why, Doris, how tired your eyes look!

Tired One—Yes, my dear; I rolled them too much this evening.—Syracuse Orange Peel.

No Time For Her.

Physician—Your case is such, madam, that time alone will effect a cure.

Mrs. Randall—Then it is hopeless, for I never have even five minutes.—Life.

He Knew Her.

Mrs. Gabble—I met Mr. Brown today while I was shopping. Her Husband—That so? What did you have to say?—Boston Transcript.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Kidney Diseases and Diet.

Nearly all diseases of the kidneys are due to salt. If you are suffering with or from your kidneys the first thing to do is to smash all your medicine bottles, cut out salt and sugar from your meals and go on the fruit cereal diet. Steamed asparagus is the best thing in the world for your kidneys and bladder. Parsley is good for victims of kidney diseases, so also is water cress in the form of salad—but no salt. One should not eat too freely of parsley. Parsley will aid the eyesight by restoring the kidneys to their proper functions, but overdoses of parsley damage the vision. Pears are the very best of fruit for victims of kidney disease. But no matter the nature or the name of your kidney disease, you can get over it by following the instructions.—Los Angeles Times.

GENERAL HEATING PLANT

A meeting was called for Friday afternoon at Grange hall, to discuss the proposition of installing a heating plant for the benefit of the down town district. Ralph Bidwell of San Francisco California presented the plant.

Mr. Bidwell takes a great interest in his old home town and hopes this plant may be installed. The movement is being considered by the business men on the street.

BARGAIN DAY

In spite of the fierce storm that visited us last Wednesday afternoon cutting out the early performance entirely, everybody from everywhere was present in the evening our streets being packed with autos and people The evening proved a very pleasant one and the show was a good one

We are unable to give the program for this week, but feel assured that no one will be disappointed as it is sure to be a good one The music alone, the Adrian Imperial band, will be worth coming for.

RED CROSS CONCERT

At Sand Lake Sunday Evening—Good Attendance and Generous Offering

In spite of the threatening weather there was a good attendance at the concert given for the Red Cross benefit at Sand lake Sunday evening. The program as printed in a late issue of the Herald was given and was much appreciated. The collection was a generous one, $28.20 which was placed in the donation fund.

The storm rendered the ride home quite an unpleasant one, but everyone was in good humor and did their bit with a willing heart.

JAMES V. BURDETTE

James V. Burdette was born at Macon in 1854 and died at the home of his brother in Tecumseh July 18, 1917, after a long and painful illness.

His wife died Feb. 1. 1909, since which time he has lived alone in Macon. He was kind and friendly to all and was especiolly a friend in trouble and sickness.

He leaves one brother Eugene Burdette of Tecumseh and one nephew Ernest Burdette of Detroit and a host of friends to mourn his departure.

The funeral was held at the Methodist church in Macon Friday, July 20, with burial in Macon cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our most earnest thanks to the friends and neighbors for their loving kindness to us in our late affliction, especially to the K. of P and Maccabee lodges for their many deeds of good will, to the pastor for his words of comfort and to the singers.

TITLES OF THE ROMANOFFS.

Alexander III. Was Proud to Be Called the Peasant Emperor.

The late czar of Russia is now known as Nicholas Romanoff in the great land over which he held autocratic sway. It is not the title by which he expected to go down to posterity.

M. de Blowitz, the famous correspondent of the London Times at Paris, was responsible for putting on record a story regarding Alexander III., the father of Nicholas, which is worth recalling in this connection. The czar and his courtiers had been discussing by what added title he should be known in history. His father had been called Alexander the Liberator and Alexander the Martyr. What should the son be called? "Alexander the Just," suggested one. "Oh, no," replied the czar. "I am and shall remain the peasant emperor. So some of my nobility have styled me in derision, scoffing at my affection for the moujik. But I accept the title as an honor. I have tried to procure for the humble the means of livelihood, and this, I think, is the best and only means of keeping the world going. * * * My greatest ambition is to deserve to bear to the last the title of the peasant emperor."

Little could Alexander III. have thought that the world was so near the time when his son would run the chance of becoming the "last of the emperors of Russia."—Dundee Advertiser.

Sicily's Big Tree.

It is said the largest tree known in thickness is a partly decayed chestnut in Sicily, which is sixty feet across. Mexican cypress and the oriental plane have reached forty feet. This puts the California big tree and the baobab in the background, but the big tree is of greater bulk in combined height and girth, and the baobab is thickest in relation to height.

A Trifle Fresh.

"Sir," said the fair canvasser, "I am selling stock in a peach orchard."

"Are you a fair sample of the orchard output?" he inquired. "If so I think I'll invest."—Kansas City Journal.

It's futile for Opportunity to knock at the door if we haven't saved up money enough to take advantage of her proposition.—Detroit Free Press.

This Fan Only $2.50

Can be quickly attached to your labor saving Sew E-Z motor

HERE'S the wonderful little home labor saver that does the work of four separate motors, converted into a fan—the same little sewing motor you saw advertised in the Saturday Evening Post.

A snap of the hand and the fan attachment is off—then one motion places the SEW E-Z Motor next to the hand wheel of your sewing machine and changes it instantly into an electric self-operator. Not a bolt or screw is needed. No more foot-pumping, tread-mill pedal drudgery, but fast or slow—a stitch at a time or eight hundred a minute—SEW E-Z sews for you all day without effort, at a cost for current so small that your bill will never show it.

Then there's the grinding and sharpening attachment for putting keen cutting edges on the household knives, and the polishing and buffing attachment that keeps all the silver clean and bright as a new minted dollar.

Phone Us for Free Trial

SEW E-Z is four pounds of concentrated electrical labor saving energy

THREE DAYS' SERVICE FREE

No cost, no obligation. Simply call or phone us and we'll be glad to arrange a free trial right in your own home.

Lord Brougham's Dream.

Lord Brougham was one of the most stubborn believers in the "common sense" explanation of ghostly appearances as dreams. At Edinburgh university he and an intimate friend drew up an agreement written with their blood that whichever of them died first should appear to the survivor. Years passed; the friend was in India, and Brougham had almost forgotten his existence. Arriving late one night at an inn in Sweden, Brougham had a hot bath and was going to get out of it when he looked toward the chair on which he had left his clothes and saw his friend sitting on it. Brougham seems then to have fainted. On getting home he received a letter announcing that the other had died in India at the very time. Yet this incident, which most people would put down to telepathy at least, was dismissed by Brougham as a mere dream and pure coincidence.

Encouraging to Dullards.

Like Newton, Herbert Spencer in his schoolboy days showed no aptitude for study. Hugh Elliot, his biographer, says of him that "he was very backward as a boy in the ordinary subject of children's lessons. * * * Morally he was extremely disobedient and contemptuous of authority." At thirteen he "found the discipline of his school more severe than he cared about, and he ran away home to Derby again, walking forty-eight miles the first day." Yet as a man, "without money, without special education, without health," says his biographer, "he produced eighteen large volumes of philosophy and science of many diverse kinds, published a variety of mechanical inventions, and on endless other subjects, great and small, he set forth a profusion of new and original ideas."

Testing Aero Engines.

In testing an aeroplane engine of 200 horsepower a Detroit company mounted it upon a heavy motor truck, and the aerial propeller sent the truck flying along a boulevard at the rate of over forty miles an hour, says the Popular Mechanics Magazine. This was a speed that the truck could not begin to develop under its own motor power, and the method furnished a better practical test of the twelve cylinder aeroplane engine than was possible in the testing laboratory or in any stationary trial on blocks. As an additional test the rear wheels of the two ton truck were locked, so that they could not revolve, and in this condition it was driven across a ball park by the aeroplane engine and propeller through heavy drifts of snow and over ice. The motor weighs 800 pounds and develops power sufficient to drive a twelve passenger aeroplane at forty miles an hour.

DON'T WAIT!

There was an advance in fertilizer for fall shipment, as follows:—

Mixed goods, $6.75 per ton; Bone Meal and Acid Phosphates $2.00 per ton.

On account of this raise being so much greater on the mixed goods, the demand all over the United States has been greater than ever before on bone meal.

There is not a manufacturer in the whole country but is way behind his orders in bone meal. There is not enough anywhere to meet the demand, we foresaw this condition early and ordered a sufficient quantity of acid phosphates and bone meal from Darling & Armour's, therefore we have a very good stock on hand, and in transit.

We have not enough to supply the extraordinary trade, there will be this fall, as there will be more wheat put in, than ever before—if you delay it may be too late.

We suggest this—Buy your fertilizer NOW, not only give your order BUT GET IT HOME where you can see it and know you have it.

SUNDAY'S STORM

While Tecumseh was not favored with a heavy rain Sunday, only threatened with the lightning and thunder, yet all about us we hear of heavy rains wih fierce winds destroying crops and doing other damage. On the road to Chelsea they were visited with a heavy thunder storm, lightning striking two barns and burning them to the ground. The wind swept the wheat fields where the grain stood in shocks and spread it far and wide and uprooted large trees.

At Wampler's lake a heavy storm was reported, blowing in the cottage windows and doing other damage.

"TWENTY THOUSAND LEAGUES UNDER THE SEA"

Some fifty years ago Jules Verne wrote a most thrilling story entitled "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." in which he dwelt on the monsters of the deep, the man-eating shark, the giant octopus, etc., picturing them in a most graphic manner. Friday evening at the opera house this story was brought out in a most wonderful manner on the picture screen.

Scene followed scene most realistically—from under the ocean, on the land and in the sky, until one was dazed with the wonder of it all.

We feel assured that we voice the sentiment of the audience when we say it was a most amazingly wonderful production. It was thought marvelous that one man could concieve the story and how much more so that man could make it so real in the world of pictures. We have Manager Mark to thank for putting on this splendid production in Tecumseh.

RED CROSS NEWS

Irving Shaw and Allen Montgomery have volunteered to do the draying for the Red Cross free of charge. They will call for all heavy parcels.

The Headquarters presented a busy scene on Saturday. About 25 ladies and gentlemen were busy tearing up material, stitching it into strips, sorting goods, making ticks, sewing up pillows, or filling them with snippings, while others were running the snipping machine. 174 pillows were finished and tied up in neat parcels of 10, wrapped in brown paper and taken to Adrian.

Mrs. Harry Dunn needs some helpers for machine stitching to make ticks for pillowcases; you can either make them at home or at the headquarters as we have several machines now. Adrian has asked us for 200 more pillows.

An order for knitting needles came from Dundee and the Tipton church brought in a batch of cloth for snipping which will be done immediately. Our original snipping machine has received quite a good deal of publicity. Our offer is open to all other Red Cross branches. Bring in your goods, two inches wide, sewn together like carpet rags and we will snip them FREE for you.

An erroneous impression has prevailed among a few people that our specifications for work were being altered. That is not so, they remain the same they always were, but all workers are again urged to take no instructions from anyone, but the director at the head of their own department as they alone are responsible for the work.

Dr. John Murphy is a new member.

We have received a donation of $10.00 from Mrs. Cornelia P. Howland

Mrs. A. W. Mills reports that she has sent 16 pairs of knitted socks to Adrian. She has plenty of yarn and a fine committee of kntiters, but can always find work for more who can knit socks for the demand for them is great.

The headquarters are receiving many visitors from neighboring towns, among them was Mrs. Moreland from Adrian who came on Saturday to inspect the pillow department.

The Red Cross Concert Company gave a concert on Sunday at Sand lake. Owing to the bad weather lightning, thunder and rain, the attendance was not as large as usual, which one member of the company blamed on the 13 papers in which it had been announced. The collection, however, netted $28.20, which was handed over to the donation fund.

Mr. Robert Moore, Mr. Herbert Temple and Mr. Eugene Rosacrans took the performers up in their cars. Mr. Robert Moore was as usual stage carpenter and property man and Mrs. Will Waldron took Mrs. Ella Hodges place as accompanist in the Methodist church thereby enabling Mrs. Hodges to perform at the concert.

Any town or organization desiring the services of the Red Cross Concert Co., please communicate with Mrs. Fred Wood or Mrs. Jenny Law Hardy. The company gives their services absolutely free, the total amount of the collection going to the Red Cross fund.

The founder of the Red Cross, Jean Henri Dunant, was born at Geneva, Switzerland, in 1828 and died in 1910. He was a physician and was present at the battle of Solferino between Italy and Austria in 1859. He was so impressed with the horrors he saw there and the sufferings of the soldiers that he wrote a book, "A Souvenir of Solferino," in which he advocated that supplies should be collected and nurses trained in peace time so that if war should be break out, the regular military surgical corps could be supplemented

The Society of Public Utility in Geneva took the matter up and the first convention was held in 1863 in Geneva. Out of compliment to Switzerland, the 16 countries represented took the flag of that country to present it, changing it from a white cross on a red ground to a red cross on a white ground. Today 43 nations have united under the Red Cross banner, only Turkey having substituted the Crescent nstead of the Cross.

Holloway Red Cross

On July 31st a meeting was held in the Maccabee hall at Holloway, 31 being present.

A great deal of work was done and many parcels of prepared work were distributed and sent out among the neighboring committees.

A knitting bee is held every Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wm. Cox. All knitters are urged to attend. Come, whether you are acquainted or not, and do not wait to be asked; you do not know how badly you are needed.

The Holloway ladies say that one of the interesting features of these knitting bees is the interest taken by the children. Among the present generation knitting has to a large extent died out; it would be interesting, if the present recrudescence of the handiwork of our grandmothers should educate the coming generation in the tasks our ancestors loved.

Mrs. Andrew Wilson and granddaughter Clara returned Monday night from Saline after a two weeks' visit with her daughter Mrs. Frank Camburn and family.

Mrs. E. D. Chilson was in town yesterday enroute to her home in Painesvilel, O., after spending a few days with her daughter Mrs. Harry Moore at Sand lake.

A letter comes from Mrs. H. H. Hammel in which she tells of the reception of a cablegram from the Dr. sent from Liverpool, Eng. He arrived safely, had a long voyage as they had to go out of their usual track for safety. We are glad for Mrs. Hammel, that the suspense of waiting to hear from him has been broken. Later—Mrs. Hammel writes today that a later cablegram states the Dr. has arrived in Paris but had a [illegible] time getting into the city.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubolz says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

STATE FOOD CROPS SHOW REMARKABLE INCREASE IN YEAR

County Reports Insure Record Yields of Beans and Potatoes

STATE FAIR INFLUENCE FELT

Arousing Farmers Through Annual Exposition Has Worked Great Benefit to Entire State, Says General Manager G. W. Dickinson.

Michigan is well on the way towards accomplishing its part in the increased production of food for America and her allies. According to early crop reports the state has now 1,517,652 more acres of food crops under cultivation than ever before in its history.

Most of this acreage is devoted to beans and potatoes—two vital food crops in the production of which Michigan leads other states. The buckwheat and sugar beet crops this year will surpass all previous records by substantial margins. In every respect the condition of all the crops surpasses that of last year, giving every assurance that the fall will witness a most bountiful harvest.

Fair Plays Big Part.

In arousing the farmer to the agricultural advantages of crop improvement and the employment of modern machinery in advanced farming methods, much credit is due the Michigan State Agricultural Society and the annual Michigan State Fair. Through its hundreds of exhibits, daily tractor and farm machinery demonstrations, especially arranged lectures by noted crop experts, the Michigan State Fair has accomplished remarkable results in fathering the idea of agricultural development on a large scale.

Recognizing the importance of the Michigan State Fair in fostering the agricultural interests of the state, Governor Sleeper has again authorized the appropriation of $100,000 for the use of Michigan fairs. The O'Dell bill, through which the appropriation is made, provides for the donation of $50,000 a year for two years, to be shared by all fairs making application to the Michigan Agricultural Fair Commission.

"The underlying motive for the State Fair has been the encouragement and promotion of all branches of farming and stock raising," says George W. Dickinson, general manager of the Michigan State Fair. "We stand ready to co-operate in every way with any movement looking toward the advancement of agriculture in Michigan. I feel that the constant improvement noted in the quality of the exhibits at our Fair from year to year, will show what an influence this annual exposition has on the farmers and their interests in the state.

To Interest Everyone.

"Because of the conditions obtaining throughout the country this year we are particularly anxious to get everyone lined up for bigger and better crops. One of the greatest incentives we know of for arousing enthusiasm is competition. By means of the state appropriation it will be possible for us to give increased cash prizes in all our departments, thus encouraging keener competition which will in turn result in a betterment of products and live stock throughout the state."

Striking Thought.

"Do you think that the automobile will displace the horse?" asked the conversational young woman.

"It will," answered the nervous young man as he gazed down the road, "if it ever hits him."—Exchange.

VISITORS AT THE STATE FAIR ENJOYING THE FUN PROVIDED BY THE BIG ATTRACTIONS ON THE MIDWAY

No fair is complete without a Midway and for this reason the Michigan State Fair will be more complete this year than it has ever been in its history. With the superior attractions offered by the Johnny J. Jones Amusement company, embracing every variety of amusement providing conception before the public, there will be little to be desired in the way of fun making on the "pike."

Clean, wholesome entertainment is the object of the State Fair management in maintaining the Midway. Every amusement that shows on the grounds is carefully selected to see that nothing objectionable is presented to Fair patrons. In this General Manager Dickinson has always had the hearty co-operation of the amusement companies playing the Fair with the result that the Midway has maintained its reputation for clean amusements.

A Clever Ruse

It Was Heads I Win, Tails You Lose

By WARREN MILLER

The first time I saw Daisy she was coming over her father's broad acres on a horse whose lope was very like a rocking chair. She was riding astraddle with divided skirts. No other woman on the ranches thereabout would ride in any other costume. Barker was riding beside her, and the two made a very handsome pair. The brim of his sombrero was flattened against his forehead by the wind, a lariat hung at his saddlebow, and his splendid figure was revealed by his costume—viz. flannel shirt and trousers, with boots to his knee.

Daisy had gone out from the east with her father, who became a sheep raiser, and she had become fascinated with ranch life. Unfortunately she had conceived a romantic idea of the genus cowboy, and, Barker being physically a perfect type, she had persuaded herself, or, rather, he had persuaded her, that he was just the man for her. I say "unfortunately" because he was not an educated man and in every way beneath her. There were other features about him to render him undesirable which will appear presently.

The couple passed me, all of us saluting, though they were unknown to me, and I rode on to the ranch house, where I had business with John Nolan with reference to a large purchase of wool. While dickering with him on his veranda, up the roadway came the couple I had met and alighted at the foot of the steps. Throwing their bridle reins over a post, they walked up on to the veranda. Then I learned that Daisy was Nolan's daughter.

As the pair passed into the house I noticed a cloud flit over the face of the girl's father. I knew by Barker's bearing toward her that he was in love with her, and I judged that his attentions were not relished by Nolan. But he said nothing to me then and we went on with our dickering. When I arose to go he said:

"There's no place about here in which you will be comfortable except my house. Send for your traps."

I accepted the invitation, especially as I was pleased at being under the same roof with Miss Daisy. I knew she had a lover, but my attraction for her did not then go so far as to intend to come between them. I merely liked the idea of being near her during my stay.

But I stayed a good while and it was not very long before she and I each made a discovery. I discovered that I wanted her, and she discovered that she didn't want Barker. Meanwhile I found out something else—that he had become frightfully jealous of me and if I took her away from him he would probably kill me. At first he and I spoke to each other when we met either on the ranch or elsewhere. Then he only noticed me at the Nolan house.

I thought it best after awhile to remove to the (so called) hotel, a mile from Nolan's. If anything happened between Barker and myself I preferred that it should not happen under Nolan's roof. So one day I removed my luggage to my new quarters.

One morning I was sitting on the porch of the hotel smoking a brierwood pipe. Barker came out of the barroom, where he had been drinking, and took a seat about thirty feet from me. I didn't know he was there till, turning my head, I saw him out of the corner of my eye sighting his revolver at me.

Naturally I started.

"Hold on there," said Barker. "Your pipe makes a fine target. We don't allow people to smoke such expensive pipes out here."

The words were scarcely out of his mouth when I felt a faint tick on the bowl of the pipe, heard the crack of a gun and knew that a bullet had passed through the pipe.

"Hold up!" he growled as I was about to rise. "Your pipe won't draw with a hole in it, but it's still a mighty good target."

I snatched a look at him. He was evidently under the influence of liquor. I felt sure that if I didn't let him shoot at my pipe he would shoot at me and nerved myself to stand another shot. Indeed, this was all I could do, for I was unarmed. But a cold chill ran down my back and a cold sweat stood out all over me. Nevertheless I put up a pretty good front. I sat with comparative composure, occasionally letting a faint cloud of tobacco smoke escape from between my lips, but not daring to move a hairbreadth for fear of interfering with the man's aim.

Several persons from inside the hotel having heard a shot, came out to discover who had been killed. They arrived just in time to see the second shot and the top of the bowl of my pipe cut off. They at once took in the situation, and, seeing me coolly puffing, not knowing my internal condition, they cried out, "Good luck, stranger!" "Steady nerve!" "He ain't no tenderfoot!" and such like compliments.

Presently a third shot shattered what was left of the bowl of my pipe, and only the stem remained in my mouth. Whether my nerve made Barker half ashamed of himself or that he was headed off by the admiration of the others I don't know, but he desisted from further shooting. I fancy, however, he was satisfied with what he had doubtless intended for a warning that if I took Daisy Nolan away from him I would have to face sure death. The witnesses urged me to go in and have something, but I declined, saying that I was anxious for a smoke and would go upstairs for another pipe. The truth is I wanted a chance to go where I could, unobserved, give way to my feelings for a few moments, they having been controlled only by a most desperate effort.

When I was alone I staggered to the bed, fell on it and for a few minutes trembled like a leaf. But when I began to recover I started to get mad at the same time. Men will fight more desperately for a woman than for any other cause, and it occurred to me that, Daisy being the bone of contention, if she preferred me either Barker or I must die. I spent some time considering what to do, then went to the ranch, intending to offer myself to Daisy. If she refused me I would leave the field at once to all suitors. If she accepted me I would have it out with Barker.

I found Miss Daisy very much excited. She had heard of Barker's shooting escapade and had turned bitterly against him. I told her that I wanted her and if she wanted me I was willing to settle the matter between Barker and myself. Her reply was all I could have asked for, but she positively forbade my coming into collision with my rival. I told her frankly that I believed he would kill me if I married her and that the matter had better be settled before the wedding. Being a woman, she wished to get round the matter by subterfuge and for the time being would consent to nothing definite.

Daisy was very fond of an old rancher called Jake Huchins. To her he was "Uncle Jake." A day or two after Barker's shooting, as I was riding over the country on horseback, Huchins came up behind me and ambled alongside of me.

"I heard about the shootin' o' your pipe outen your mouth," he said. "Little Daisy was tellin' me about it."

"Oh, it was Miss Nolan who told you, was it?"

"Yes. And, what's more, she asked me to suggest some way o' settlin' the matter without blood spillin'."

"That's impossible," said I.

"So I thort at fust, but arter awhile I thort of a plan. Barker's mighty proud o' his shootin', and he's pretty much made up his mind that he's lost Daisy. I reckon he'd agree to settle the matter by a trial o' skill between him and you."

"I'm no shot. Such a contest would give Miss Daisy to him, and she doesn't want him."

"Not so fast. You don't need to be much o' a shot. Could you hit a hen's egg at twenty feet?"

"I might hit one, perhaps, in two or three shots."

"Well, I give Daisy my plan, and she's decided to try it. Here's a note for you, and here's a note for Barker. Whichever hits a hen's egg with a forty-two the most outen five shots she'll marry."

He handed me a note to that effect from Daisy and showed me another he was commissioned to deliver to Barker.

"Do you consent?" he added, drawing rein.

"Yes," I said. "I consent to anything Daisy desires."

Without waiting for more he turned about and rode back in the direction whence he came.

The next day Uncle Jake informed me that Barker had gladly agreed to the terms.

On the appointed day I made my appearance at the barn, wondering what was to be the upshot of this singular contest. I found an egg suspended over a basket by a fine thread. I won the toss and with it the right to fire five consecutive shots at the eggs. I missed the first and the fourth, but smashed the eggs on the second, third and fifth. For my life I could not see why I had not lost. It would be nothing for Barker to hit the eggs every time.

A new egg was attached to the thread for him to shoot at, and, whipping out his revolver, he fired with apparent carelessness. He was surprised to see the egg oscillate violently, but the shell was not broken. The next time he fired he took careful aim, but with no better success. He was thunderstruck. Since I had hit the egg three times he could now only tie me.

Barker aimed long and carefully at the center and sent the egg bobbing, but still the shell was unbroken. Flinging his revolver on the barn floor, he strode away.

I knew that Barker had been tricked, but could not conceive how. It appeared to me that nothing could be more fair than the trial. I asked Uncle Jake how he had managed to let me, a poor shot, beat the best shot in the territory. He would not tell me how it was done.

Barker was never seen there again. Daisy had induced him to sign a promise that if I beat him he would leave the field clear for me.

I married Daisy and took her east with me. She said she had had enough of the wild west and had no further use for cowboys, not considering them the romantic creatures she had thought them when she first went to the country. She learned the secret of the shooting match from Uncle Jake the day we were married and told it to me on our wedding journey. The meat had been taken from the egg Barker shot at, and the featherweight shell had been moved aside each time by the wind of the ball. To hit it was impossible.

Uncle Jake had learned the trick from a prestidigitator who had passed through the locality with a traveling circus.

I. W. W. FALLS BACK ON LAW OVER FUNDS

Appeals to Prosecutor For Arrest of Officer.

IRONWOOD, Aug. 6.

Government and laws may be obnoxious to the I. W. W., but its members do not hesitate to demand full protection by the forces of law and order when they themselves are victims of their fellow men.

Matt Hurskanen, treasurer of the I. W. W. local at Ramsey, and Jacob Kangas, secretary, are in jail at Bessemer charged with the theft of $500 of union funds. True to I. W. W. principles, Treasurer Matt disclaimed faith in such orderly institutions as banks and kept the club funds in his trunk.

He was gone all night and the next morning found his trunk open and the money gone. Matt explained his all night absence by saying he talked to a girl at a nearby location all night.

The members openly sniffed at Matt's alleged conversational abilities and hot-footed to Prosecutor Brogan, charging that their secretary had aided Matt in the cash disappearance act. Prosecutor Brogan ordered both men arrested.

NEW WALKOUT; TROOPS SENT

Employes of Cleveland Cliffs Company's Mines Go on Strike.

LANSING, Aug. 6.

In response to an appeal for help from Manager Duncan, of one of the Cleveland Cliffs company's mines, near Ishpeming, Governor Sleeper ordered twenty-five members of the state constabulary, from Bessemer to proceed at once to the Marquette iron range.

Manager Duncan in his telephone call to the governor said that his men struck and that trouble was expected at Negaunee.

Worldly Wisdom.

"Now that my engagement to Edgar is broken off I wonder if he will ask me to return the jewels that he gave me."

"If he doesn't ask for them I'd send them back at once, for in that case they're not genuine."

Washington and Jefferson.

Fairly close neighbors as they were, Washington and Jefferson never saw each other after Washington retired from the presidency, nearly three years before his death. The two men were not on friendly terms at that period.

A Fast Talker.

The orator spoke about the things he had not said, the things he did not believe and the things he would not do. "That fellow," observed the sailor, "is talking at the rate of about thirty knots an hour."

He who is made by an opportunity is usually the one who made the opportunity.

DRAFT RIOTERS FACE EXECUTION

Oklahoma Resisters Will Be Tried for Treason.

DEATH PENALTY TO BE ASKED

District Attorney Asks Bonds of Prohibitive Amount to Hold Them in Prison—Accused Men Taken to State Penitentiary to Foil Efforts to Free Them.

MUSKOGEE, OKLA. — United States District Attorney W. P. McGinnis announced that the men arrested on charges of resisting the draft in connection with the Oklahoma uprising will be tried for treason and that the death penalty will be asked by the government.

District Attorney McGinnis has sent two deputy attorneys to the infested districts of the state to gather evidence against the alleged traitors.

District Attorney McGinnis sent letters to United States commissioners in thirteen towns in eastern Oklahoma recommending that bonds for draft resisters be set at $10,000 and $20,000. The government intends to hold the men on prohibitive bail until they are brought to trial.

Held in State Prison.

It was announced that practically all of the resisters will be held in the state penitentiary at McAlister and the federal jail in Muskogee pending trial. Federal officials fear that attempts to rescue them would be made if they were left in the small county jails.

District Attorney McGinnis announced that probably all of the men arrested in connection with the Oklahoma uprising will be brought to trial at the October term of the United States district court here, unless developments warrant the convening of a special session of the court and the calling of a special grand jury.

26 Men Surrounded by Posse.

HOLDENVILLE, OKLA. — A band of twenty-six men, alleged members of the Working Class union, were reported surrounded by officers in the brush eight miles south of here. A detachment of men has been dispatched from here in motor cars to aid the small posse having the men encompassed. Apparently the posse has not been able to effect a capture, probably due to the smallness of its number.

Wallace Removed to Jail at Ottumwa.

DAVENPORT, IOWA—Daniel Wallace of Chicago, indicted here by the grand jury of the United States district court on a charge of violating the espionage law, was quietly taken from the Scott county jail and put on a train bound for Ottumwa, where he will be held for safe keeping. The federal authorities refuse to state the reason for removing Wallace from the county.

Call on Posse for Help.

SHAWNEE, OKLA. — A posse of twenty headed by Sheriff Darden left here on a special train for Asher, twenty-two miles from here, in response to a call for help.

Real Fighting.

"Well, have you been fixing your fences?"

"Been digging trenches," declared Congressman [illegible] "[illegible] for real fight."—Kansas City Journal.

GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, Aug. 2.—Both British and French gained further ground in the fighting in the Ypres sector, but the Germans by heavy counter attacks succeeded in recapturing the village of St. Julien and part of the village of Westhoek. The number of Germans made prisoner exceeds 5,000.

Thursday, Aug. 2.—The British checked heavy counter attacks delivered by the Germans on the Flanders front and recaptured positions the enemy regained Wednesday. The kaiser called a council of the leading military and naval authorities, probably to discuss the allies' drive in Flanders. The French hurled the Germans back in the Rheims sector. Berlin says the German battle line in Flanders has been advanced.

Petrograd admits the Russian retirement in several sectors. Korniloff is now Russian generalissimo, replacing Brousiloff, resigned. Austro-German troops are now before Kimpolung, according to Berlin.

Friday, Aug. 3.—Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina, has been captured by the Teuton forces. Kimpolung in southern Bukowina has been evacuated by the Russians, Petrograd admits.

Northeast of Ypres, in Flanders, Field Marshal Haig's troops again established themselves in the town of St. Julien, from which they were driven in the early part of the week. East of Monchy le Preux the Germans have been driven from nearly all the ground they captured Thursday night. On Tuesday the Anglo-French troops captured 6,122 prisoners.

Saturday, Aug. 4.—Gains made by the British on the Flanders front, when the village of St. Julien was reentered, were followed by an advance by the French on their front. The French forces drove in beyond the Kortekeer Cabaret, moving their lines forward, while their patrols pushed back German outposts and explored considerable areas in advance of the French positions.

Berlin sums up the campaign of the last fourteen days in the east as having cleared all Galicia of the Russians, with the exception of a small strip of territory extending southeast from Brody.

Sunday, Aug. 5.—The French have made further progress in the Bixschoote region. The Canadians Sunday night made an advance over a 1,000-yard front toward Lens and penetrated the German lines to a distance of 200 yards. The Canadians consolidated the positions captured.

JONES SUCCEEDS HURLEY

Chicagoan Named on Board to Keep Supplies from Germany.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Thomas D. Jones, Chicago business man and capitalist, whose nomination to the federal reserve board was rejected by the senate after a memorable fight, was appointed a member of the exports administrative board, succeeding Edward N. Hurley, who became chairman of the shipping board.

The appointment of Mr. Jones to the present position requires no approval by the senate, which rejected his nomination to the federal reserve board in 1913 on the ground of a close connection with "big business."

Root Returns With Faith in Russian.

A PACIFIC PORT — "I have abiding faith that Russia, through trial and tribulation, will work out, create and perpetuate a great, free, self-governing democracy," Elihu Root asserted in an impassioned speech at a luncheon in honor of the return of the American mission from Russia.

$2,006,970,000 WAR TAX BILL REPORTED

Finance Committee of Senate Acts Favorably.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The war tax bill, finally revised to meet latest estimates, was favorably reported by the senate finance committee. It proposes to raise $2,006,970,000 by taxation.

The house bill proposed $1,867,000,000 in new taxes. No provision for additional bonds to be considered later by the house, are made in the senate bill.

Chairman Simmons plans to call up the revised bill for debate the latter part of the week and hopes for its final enactment by congress early next month.

Most of the new taxes proposed under the revised bill for war expenses of the present fiscal year would come from incomes, war excess profits, liquor and tabacco taxes.

STRIKE HALTS SHIP REPAIRS

Workers Want More Pay for Getting Interned Steamers Ready.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The government repairs on the interned German steamships seized at the opening of the war is virtually at a standstill owing to a general strike of metal trades union men.

When this situation was called to the attention of Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, he said "It is manufacturers and shipbuilders who pay low wages and work their men long hours who are to blame. The cost of living goes up $3 a week, and when the men ask for a dollar raise they are called unpatriotic. We don't propose to have it put over us."

Fifty mounted state troops were sent to Ironwood to suppress I. W. W. activities in the upper peninsula. The men were taken from the state constabulary at East Lansing.

U. S. CAN'T TALK OF PEACE TERMS

Wilson Tells Senator Lewis Germany Is Not Serious.

9 GERMANS QUIT HIGH POSTS

Zimmermann's Successor in Foreign Office Has Been Foe to Ruthless U-Boat Warfare, an Anti-Annexationist and Pro-British—Thinks Germany Must Need Foe's Aid at Close of War.

WASHINGTON — President Wilson had a long conference with Senator Lewis, the Democratic whip. He urged haste in the final enactment of the food control bill and revenue bill and is understood to have indicated that he does not consider the present the time for discussion of peace negotiations with Germany.

Senator Lewis would not discuss the latter phase of his conference, but it was believed the President indicated that he did not consider Germany's recent peace feelers to be genuine and that he can be expected to let the country know when he believes the time has come for discussing peace. Senator Lewis declared the President would not allow the American people to lose any rights or suffer any wrongs which "his diligence could prevent."

The Illinois senator told the President he believed congress could adjourn Sept. 1.

Nine Quit High German Posts.

BERLIN — Official announcement is made that five ministers of state, including Foreign Secretary Zimmermann, and four secretaries of state, including Finance Minister Lentze and Interior Minister von Loebell, had resigned their portfolios.

Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann, the German ambassador to Turkey, has been appointed secretary for foreign affairs in succession to Dr. Zimmermann. In addition to the appointment of Dr. von Kuehlmann as secretary for foreign affairs, Herr Reudlin was made director of railways and minister of posts and Privy Counselor von Krause was named secretary of justice. Over President von Waldow was appointed chief of the department of army nourishment.

New Minister U-Boat Foe.

AMSTERDAM — In a character sketch of Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann (just appointed German secretary for foreign affairs), the Nieuwe Courant of The Hague says that Dr. von Kuehlmann has always been a vigorous opponent of ruthless submarine warfare. He is also, says the newspaper, a disciple of the policy of doing everything possible to avoid the further alienation of Great Britain, believing that after the war friendship between Great Britain and Germany is necessary to the latter.

Dr. von Kuehlmann, the Nieuwe Courant adds, is an anti-annexationist, and the newspaper expresses the opinion that in the foreign secretaryship he will do his utmost to bring about an understanding with England at the earliest possible time.

U BOAT OFF U. S. COAST

Harbor of New York Is Closed for Several Hours.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—A report that a U-boat had been sighted near the transatlantic lanes off this port caused the war department authorities to close the gate in the net protecting the harbor mouth here at 1 o'clock in the morning. The gate was opened again at 6 a. m.

It developed that an inbound passenger steamship sighted what was believed to be the periscope of a submarine on Saturday night. The steamship's gunners fired three shots at the object and preparations were made to abandon the ship if necessary. Nothing more, however, was seen of the supposed submarine and the vessel proceeded, arriving off port.

According to some of the passengers, the submarine was again sighted eighteen miles off shore.

FIANCEE IS DIVER VICTIM

U-Boat Kills Girl Engaged to Wed Its Own Captain.

NEW YORK — Hans von Teubinger commanded the U-boat that killed his own fiancee, Minna Larsen, according to Lars Larsen, Swedish skipper.

Larsen said the girl—his daughter—and Von Teubinger were engaged in Stockholm before the war. After a submarine shell had killed Minna aboard Larsen's schooner, the Baldar, he declared he recognized his prospective son-in-law on the U-boat deck directing the firing.

War on Holland, Kaiser Threat.

ROME — Germany is informing neutrals who are considering closing their frontiers against the Teutonic empire that such an act will be considered cause for war, it was reported here. The German threat, it was said, had been directed especially against Holland.

Former State Senator William M. Potter, of Hastings, has been elected president of the army appeal exemption board of the first district, comprising Barry, Eaton, Allegan, Kalamazoo, Van Buren, Calhoun, Berrien and St. Joseph counties.

Michigan has furnished more doctors for the medical officers reserve corps than any other state in the union, in proportion to the number of doctors in each state, according to Captain C. D. Brooks, president of the federal examination board.

Mrs. F. L. Goodrich of Ann Arbor was chosen leader of the Michigan Librarians' association. Other officers are: Mrs. Alma Olson of Marquette, first vice president; Miss Fanny Hall of Grand Rapids, second vice president; Miss Lucy L. Morgan of Detroit, secretary, and Miss Elizabeth [illegible], treasurer.

RUSS GENERAL TO BE SHOT FOR RETREATING

Maeovisky Is Ordered Executed By Court-Martial.

PETROGRAD — The first detachment of 150 women sailors were formed here, preparatory to going to the Murman coast.

LONDON, ENG. — General Maeovisky, commander of the guards corps which headed the Russian retreat on the southwest front, has been ordered shot, according to a dispatch to the Post from Petrograd. This sentence came after a court-martial which was ordered by General Korniloff, commander in chief, for noncompliance with his order to shoot deserters.

The Reuter correspondent at Petrograd, reviewing the political situation says: "A party of 160 women scouts left Kharkov for the southwestern front. The shooting of General Erdelli is denied officially." A dispatch from Petrograd Aug. 3 quoted the Bourse Gazette as saying that General Erdelli had been assassinated.

WASHINGTON — Eight hundred thousand workers have been assembled in food and garden clubs as one of the steps in a nation-wide home economics movement, the department of agriculture announces.

In addition 200,000 more are enlisted in the emergency food production and conservation work of the department. The clubs are engaged, for the most part, in home gardening or canning campaigns.

MANY DIE IN GERMAN BLAST

Munition Factory at Henningsford Is Wiped Out—300 Killed or Injured.

LONDON, ENG — According to reports received from the German frontier by the correspondent at Amsterdam of the Exchange Telegraph company, the explosion at Henningsdorf was one of the worst catastrophies of its kind that has happened in Germany since the war began.

A munition factory was wiped out, 300 people were killed or injured and enormous damage was done. Henningsdorf has been isolated by police and soldiers.

More Destroyers in Demand.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Co-operating with the shipping board, the navy department is extending the number of plants engaged in building destroyers. These factories are turning out a large number of the most modern type 315-foot boats which will be used to combat the submarine in European waters. The navy will complete several hundred submarine chasers early next year. Then, for the time being, it will abandon construction of those vessels.

THE PLAY OF "HAMLET."

Does It Always Make the Dane and the Gravedigger Enemies?

In his "Notes on Shakespeare's Workmanship" Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch says that "Hamlet" was written "not for an audience of Goethes and Coleridges, but for an audience of ordinary men and women," and, speaking of its popularity, he says that to this day a traveling company of [British?] actors, thrown on their beam ends for lack of money, having acted this or that to empty houses, always as a last resort advertise "Hamlet." * * * When an actor takes a benefit, "Hamlet" is the piece most commonly chosen. * * * But why does, the gentleman who enacts the first gravedigger also choose "Hamlet" for his benefit night?

I was once assisting at a dress rehearsal of "Hamlet" when the first gravedigger came off the stage in a passion. In the greenroom it exploded. "Why," he wished to know, "should I be treated like a dog by this conceited fool?"—meaning our Hamlet, of course. "His temper gets viler at every rehearsal. Surely, after airing his vanity through four acts, he might be quiet while I have my little say!"

"Bless you, sir," answered an old dresser, "it's always like that. In these forty years I've helped dress, I dare say, all that number of Hamlets, and Hamlet and the First Gravedigger always fall out. It's a regular thing. I've known 'em to come to blows. Hamlet and first gravedigger! When you've said that you've said oil and vinegar."

KEEPING TREES IN HEALTH.

Roots and Crowns Must Be Made to Balance Properly.

Well nourished, healthy trees are less liable to the attacks of insects than those that for lack of sufficient plant food are making a slow and uncertain growth. To keep trees well fertilized and in a vigorous condition is the best possible insurance against insect depredations and all forms of disease.

A soil which supplies abundant nutriment and moisture is the prime requisite for successful tree culture. In the forest natural conditions are favorable in this respect, but in the open field or town they are frequently quite the reverse. The roots are robbed of the required moisture and air by heavy sod or pavements. To grow trees under such conditions requires scientific care in the way of fertilizing and pruning to maintain proper balance between the roots and the crown or top.

If the nourishment received by the roots is scanty the judicious thinning out of the branches of a tree has much the same effect as soil improvement. A heavy top cannot be adequately nourished by a stinted root growth, and if not pruned the effect is quickly indicated by dying branches here and there, nature's way of maintaining the right balance between root and crown. It is better for the tree to forestall nature in this respect by timely and careful pruning. Dead branches are not only unsightly, but the scars thus left are slow to heal and invite disease and decay.—Tree Talk.

Caroline Herschel.

Among distinguished women who have helped to shed light upon abstruse subjects was Caroline Lucretia Herschel, the noted astronomer. She was the daughter of a musician of Hanover. Her early education was designed to lead to a musical career. She accompanied her brother, William—afterward the illustrious Sir William Herschel—to England. Brother and sister soon turned their attention to astronomy, and in 1798 Caroline published a "Catalogue of Stars." Until Sir William died in 1822 she was content for the most part to be known only as his assistant, but later she engaged in many original and independent investigations. She devoted special attention to the discovery of comets, and claimed priority in the discovery of at least five.

PHYSICAL CULTURE

As Good For the Business Man as For the Soldier In Training.

If physical culture is needed for those who bear arms in defense of the country why should it not be applied also to the soldiers of the business and professional world, the men in the commercial trenches? If a certain number of our citizens are compelled to go through a rigid course of physical training, why should not all others be called upon to follow suit?

The soft muscled clerk, the devitalized student, the overworked business man—they need awakening. Now, in many instances they are but little more than human ciphers, 25, 50 or 75 per cent men. With a little properly directed exercise they could be fitted for the ranks of the 100 per centers.

Six hours weekly, two hours for three days each week, would put the average flabby muscled, sedentary worker in fine shape. It would square his shoulders, stiffen his backbone, put some energy and enthusiasm into his makeup. It would make a real man of him.

Every man who is not in training should begin now. If he cannot train with other men let him follow a system of home training. Hard muscles, strong, stable nerves, high grade endurance—in short, a physique as "hard as nails"—should be the ambition of every sensible man.—Physical Culture.

BRIGHT BOYS AND GIRLS.

The Head and Physical Marks of Intelligence In Children.

In summing up his conclusions on the relationship of intelligence to the size and shape of the head Karl Pearson is quoted in the Journal of Heredity as making these statements about the intelligence of children:

"To sum up, then, while no characters in school children so far dealt with show very high correlation with intelligence, we may yet say that the intelligent boy is markedly conscientious, is moderately robust, athletic and popular; he tends rather to quick than to sullen temper. He is more self conscious and quieter than the dull boy; he has a slightly bigger head and possibly lighter pigmentation than those of more mediocre intelligence. His hair has a larger percentage of curliness.

"The intelligent girl is also markedly conscientious, moderately robust, athletic and popular. She, too, tends to quick rather than sullen temper. She is less self conscious than the dull girl and noisier than the girl of mediocre intelligence. It is the slow girl who is quiet and shy. The intelligent girl has a slightly bigger head than the dull girl, and her hair is more likely to be wavy and much less likely to be curly."

St. Sophia's Palimpsest.

Travelers who have visited the great Mohammedan mosque of St. Sophia in Constantinople tell of the visibility of inscriptions made in the interior of the building when it was a Christian church. These had been painted over by the Moslem conquerors, but time defeated their purpose of total effacement, says the Christian Herald. Over the entrance is the inscription in Latin, "I am the door; by me if any man enter in he shall be saved and shall go in and out, and he shall find pasture." The bricks in the great dome in the interior reveal this inscription: "Deus in medio eius; non commovebitur. Adiuvabit eam Deus vultu suo." The translation may be found in Psalm xlvi, 5. These facts are of interest in view of the present tottering condition of the Moslem power.

A Crop of Potatoes

It Was Connected With a Romance.

By F. A. MITCHEL

When the time approached for our going to our modest [illegible] home for the summer I had just parted with my fifth servant [illegible]. I concluded to advertise for another. I wrote out a tempting description of the place, expatiating on the delicious country air and mentioning that the house stood in a four acre lot.

I received just one reply. A few days after the issue of the advertisement a girl came to see me who said that she was looking for a situation. She was very plainly dressed, but there was an air about her that did not accord with her attire. She did not seem so interested in the wages I proposed to pay as in the place where she was to spend the summer. She asked me if there was room for a kitchen garden, adding that she would like to try her hand at raising vegetables. When I informed her that she could have all the land she could plant, that the soil was excellent and had never grown anything but grass, she accepted the position, but on condition that she might be permitted to go to the place by the middle of April in order to get her planting done in season. It was not my intention to go to the country before the 1st of May.

Margaret, my new maid, agreed to fill her position in my household for the few weeks remaining till she was to depart for the country. She came one day at noon and cooked the dinner. I had told my husband that I had secured a prize, and when he saw Margaret and ate the dinner she had prepared he admitted that I was right in my assumption.

"But I fear," he said, "that she will be above her work. She is evidently not of the servant class. I can't exactly make out to what class she belongs; but, from her personality, leaving out the fact that she is a servant, I would place her well up in the social scale. I don't believe she will be satisfied to remain long with you."

"If she plants a garden she will have to remain with me," I replied, "till she has gathered her crop."

Margaret showed no disposition to be dissatisfied with her work so long as we were in the city nor, for that matter, ever displayed such dissatisfaction. True, I treated her with more consideration than I had ever treated a servant before. But she did not exact such consideration and was always perfectly respectful to me, though she never addressed me as "ma'am." It was always "Yes, Mrs. Ackerman," and "No, Mrs. Ackerman."

On the 15th of April my maid left me for the country. I supposed that she would fear to sleep alone in the house, but she said she might have a sister with her some of the time, with my permission. This I of course granted. We missed the delightful meals Margaret prepared for us, for she was the best cook I ever knew. I was glad when the time came to follow her, though my husband said that if she were to make a farmer of herself she would deteriorate as a cook.

When I reached my cottage I found Margaret domesticated. She was alone, her sister having gone away the day before my arrival. What was my surprise to see two-thirds of the ground laid out for a garden and a few sprouts here and there. I asked Margaret who had turned over the ground, and she said she had hired a farmer in the neighborhood to plow it and a friend of hers had leveled it. She had done the rest herself.

"What have you planted, Margaret?" I asked.

"I have put in a variety in that corner," she said, pointing, "for your table; the rest has been given up to potatoes."

"Potatoes!" I exclaimed. "What do you propose to do with so many potatoes?"

"Sell them. You see, Mrs. Ackerman, that the world's war is reducing the earth's products. Not only will this tend to raise the price of food, but speculators will make this an excuse to hoard their products, which will greatly enhance the market value. I have put in this crop on speculation."

I was astonished. A servant girl had secured a situation that brought with it a piece of ground and had used it to enter upon a speculation. Her action was predicated upon sound reasoning and business principles. My husband's prediction that I would find her above her business was true in one respect, but false in another. She knew her place as a servant, but was competent to act in a far wider field.

As the weather warmed the vegetables in Margaret's garden came up, and since both the soil and the weather were admirably fitted for the growth of potatoes there was every prospect of her securing a fine crop. The stalks were not too luxuriant, and Margaret said she did not fear that the crop would be mostly stalk with few potatoes. The corner that she had planted for our private use gave us such a variety of vegetable food as one could enjoy.

And this corner was of especial satisfaction to us because by midsummer Margaret's calculations on prices had begun to show themselves correct. We could not buy vegetables even from the farmers about us at prices we could afford to pay, and, as for potatoes, when the old year's stock had given out one would have been obliged to go without them had we not bought the few we needed from Margaret.

When the summer was drawing to an end a man drove up in a wagon one morning and asked if Margaret Sayles was in. Margaret was out in the garden, and I sent him there. Later I saw him digging the potatoes, putting them into sacks and loading them on to the wagon. I did not notice the man's appearance particularly, but he wore a slouch felt hat and a pair of overalls. I don't know how many loads of potatoes he took away with him, but he was all day at the work.

That evening I asked Margaret how she was coming out on her crop. She said that she believed she would do very well, since potatoes were increasing in price every day. I replied that I was well aware of the fact, to my cost. She added that she had been solicited by the neighboring farmers to hold her property for a better price, but had declined. She did not believe in the principle and would risk losing all she had made. The price might drop and the potatoes might rot on her hands. I told her I thought she was wise.

We returned to the city on the 1st of September. Margaret continued to serve me faithfully till the end of the year, when she notified me that she expected to be married in the spring and would leave me whenever I had found another servant to suit me. Of course this was a great disappointment, but I had no blame for Margaret. I asked her whom she was to marry, and she told me her betrothed was the man who had carted away her potatoes, adding that he was a practical gardener.

When she told me this I was sorry that I had not more carefully noticed the man. I was a trifle disappointed that she was not to marry some one in a higher station, for both my husband and I clung to the idea that Margaret was fitted to fill almost any grade in social life. I asked a number of other questions about her betrothed, but she was as reticent about this as she had been about all matters pertaining to herself.

Margaret would not leave me till I had tried several persons to take her place. Finally I found a woman who was fairly satisfactory, and I insisted on parting with Margaret, for I knew that she wished to spend her time preparing for her wedding. I felt that I was losing a companion rather than a servant, and she seemed to have formed some attachment for me.

"Let me know when the wedding is to come off," I said.

"You will certainly receive an invitation," was her reply.

One morning in June it came. It was an engraved note stating that Mrs. Elihu Sayles would be pleased to see me at the wedding of her daughter, Margaret, at the residence of Mr. William Ferguson. There was nothing about it that bespoke the servant. Indeed, there was everything indicating that the parties concerned were of the better class.

On the day of the nuptials I drove up to the house of Mr. Ferguson, which I found on a first class residence street. Other vehicles were arriving, and those alighting were in costumes appropriate to a wedding in high life. There were perhaps fifty guests in all. At noon the couple took their position before the officiating clergyman, and in the groom, attired in a Prince Albert coat and gray trousers, I recognized the man who had carted away Margaret's potatoes. The bride was in traveling costume.

After the ceremony I passed the bride with the throng of guests, and her mother, saying that she would like to make me acquainted with her brother, Mr. Ferguson, took me to him. He beckoned me to follow him to another room and then and there explained the mystery of Margaret and her potato crop.

"If I were a young man seeking a helpmate," he said, "I should consider myself most fortunate if I could secure my niece Margaret. Her father brought her up in comfort, but practically. He considered the basis of a woman's education cookery and sent his daughter to a cooking school. He died a few years ago, and she has since, up to the time she went to you, made her living by some plan connected with cooking. She became engaged to the man she has just married a year ago. He has been studying agriculture and has just been graduated, but had no funds. Seeing your advertisement, it occurred to Margaret that by accepting a position with you she might secure the use of ground without cost on which to raise a crop. She sold her potatoes for $800, which is the capital on which the couple are to commence married life. Her husband will become scientific superintendent of a gentleman's farm at a good salary."

I was introduced to a number of Margaret's friends and relatives and found them all persons of refinement. Furthermore, they all spoke in the highest terms of her, not only praising her for her practical makeup, but especially commenting upon the absence in her of that false pride which prevents so many persons from accepting positions which are calculated to exclude them from social prestige. She did not hesitate to take a position which, though considered servile by the world, is perfectly honorable and furnished the key to fortune.

Margaret and her husband made a second step upward, occupying a cottage on the farm he managed, but it was not long before they had accumulated sufficient capital to buy a tract of land on which they planted fruit trees and eventually made a fortune.

There is nothing to be added to my story except that Margaret has become one of my most valued friends.

HE GOT THE SNIPER.

An Incident of the Landing of Our Marines In Vera Cruz.

Uncle Sam's marines know how to handle a rifle; 50 per cent of the force are qualified, listed shots. There is a story about the occupation of Vera Cruz that tells of good shooting and a sure eye. Our bluejackets were marching up the street from the Plaza between rows of low two story houses. A well dressed Mexican gentleman, with a newspaper over his knee, was sitting on the balcony of his house, apparently intent on watching our sailors advance, but hidden under the paper he held a big revolver, and as our men went by he fired. The bullets were striking, but our officers could hardly suspect a well dressed Mexican, reading a paper and looking peacefully on from his own house, of being the sniper.

Dropping his paper, the Mexican went inside to reload. When he came out again on the balcony the glint of the gun caught the attention of Lieutenant Colonel Neville on horseback in the Plaza, a thousand or more yards away. Through his eight power field glass the colonel saw plainly the flash of the shots under the newspaper.

"Get him," he said, turning to his orderly.

The man raised his rifle, pressed the trigger and the Mexican fell out of his chair.—Henry Reuterdahl in Youth's Companion.

CARELESS LIVING.

The Awful Toll It Takes In Needlessly Shortened Careers.

There are more than 600,000 preventable deaths in the United States every year. There are a million and a half people lying on sick beds in the United States any day in the year who should not have been there. Such are the declarations made in the University of California Journal of Agriculture by the distinguished economist Irving Fisher, professor of political economy in Yale university.

"Human life is needlessly shortened at least fifteen years in the United States," declares Professor Fisher. "Moreover preventable diseases, even when not fatal, cripple the power to work and mar the joy of living. I venture the opinion," he says, "that the average man or woman in the United States is not doing half of the work nor having half of the joy of work of which the human being is capable."

While there is now a decreased loss of life from infection by the germ diseases, there is an increased loss of life after middle age from the degenerative diseases, such as hardening of the arteries or Bright's disease. Neglect of individual hygiene is declared by Professor Fisher the chief cause of this degeneration, and he urges every one to observe absolute cleanliness, to eat the proper foods, to work hard, but to play and rest and sleep, too, and to avoid worry.

"The secret of life and of happiness," says Professor Fisher, "seems to be in taking one's life and work cheerfully. Almost any one can assume this attitude if the proper desire is present."

CADETS OF CHAPULTEPEC.

Heroism of Gallant Little Band of Mexican Schoolboys.

The defense of Chapultepec during the war between the United States and Mexico in 1847 was almost as gallant as was the attack. In this attack forty-eight Mexican cadets, among others, lost their lives. The story is a stirring one.

For many years the celebrated castle of Chapultepec, where Montezuma held his barbaric court in the surrounding groves of cypress, where during nearly three centuries lived the successive viceroys of Spain and where Maximilian made his imperial home, has been the West Point of Mexico.

When General Scott had taken the place by storm and General Bravo had surrendered, a Mexican cadet only fifteen years old, seeing the flag of his country in peril, most of his comrades being already slain, climbed the flagstaff, tore the banner from its place, wound it around his body and slid down, intending to plunge over the precipice in order to save the colors from falling into the hands of the enemy.

That act of heroism being frustrated, the brave boy, with the banner still wrapped about him, fought until he was cut to pieces. Forty-eight of these schoolboys, ranging in age from fourteen to twenty years, lie buried in one grave at the foot of the hill. Year after year the cadets of Chapultepec strew flowers upon the grave.—Los Angeles Times.

Finger and Toe Nails.

Finger nails and toenails are only another phase of the development of man from the animal that originally walked on four feet. Animals that walk on all fours use the finger and toe coverings, which in man is the nail, to scratch in the ground, to attack enemies and to climb with, and our nails of the present day are what the development of man into a civilized being has changed them to. At that there are still uses for finger nails and toenails, or man in his changing to a higher plane would have found a way to develop away from them, says the "Book of Wonders." They are useful today in making our fingers and toes firm at the end and enable us to pick up things more easily. The time may come when man will have neither finger nails nor toenails.

Livingstone's House Preserved.

Measures have been taken by the British government to preserve the remains of Dr. David Livingstone's house at Koloben, or Kolobeng, Bechuanaland, and the graves in its vicinity. Here Dr. Livingstone lived as a missionary among the Bechuanas before setting out upon his great journeys of exploration. With the aid of the native chief, Sechele, the ruins of the house have been fenced and protected by a shed, and the site is to be kept clear of jungle and placed under the care of the headman of a neighboring village.—Scientific American.

Origin of the T Rail.

Robert Livingston Stevens sailed from New York to Liverpool before the advent of the ocean steamer. In those days the passage took two months, and Stevens passed many an hour, jackknife in one hand and a piece of wood in the other, brooding over a problem that had often worried him—how to run a railroad without stone stringers for tracks. He wanted to get an iron rail that would "hold" and would take the place of the thin strips fastened to the chair of the roadbed. Just before he reached England his whittling revealed to him the solution of his problem, and that solution took the form of a T rail with a broad base that could be applied direct to a solid wood support. That T rail is still in use on all the railways of the world.

Our Supreme Court.

As originally made up the supreme court consisted of a chief justice and five associate justices. In 1807 a sixth associate was added when a new district had been created to take in the new western territory comprising the states of Ohio, Tennessee and Kentucky. In 1837 the expansion of the nation westward again called for an increase in the court, and two more associate justices were added.

In 1863 a ninth associate justice was needed, but five years later, when approaching vacancies made it likely that President Andrew Johnson might have the appointment of the new members, congress, then in open antagonism to the chief executive, reduced the number to seven, thus preventing him from making an appointment.

This number two years later, after the inauguration of President Grant, was increased to eight associate justices and a chief justice, and as then constituted the court has remained.

Her Secret of Success.

"How is it that you are able to do so much more than other people?" asked a tired, nervous woman who stopped Mrs. Palmer for a word at the close of one of her lectures.

"Because," she answered with the sudden gleam of a smile, "I haven't any nerves or any conscience, and my husband says I haven't any backbone."

It was true that she never worried. She had early learned to live one day at a time, without "looking before and after." And nobody knew better than Alice Freeman Palmer the renewing power of joy. She could romp with some of her very small friends in the half hour before an important meeting, go for a long walk or ride along country lanes when a vexing problem confronted her, or spend a quiet evening by the fire reading aloud from one of her favorite poets at the end of a busy day.—Mary R. Poisonous Snakes.

Poisonous snakes have a diamond shaped head, about four times larger at the jawbone than at the neck, and sharp tails. All snakes, however, are poisonous during the "shedding" period of seven days. They go blind two days before shedding. The Gila (pronounce hee-la) monster is so called on account of being found near the Gila river in Arizona and New Mexico. Its bite is deadly, and it is much feared by the Indians, as no remedy is known for the bite. They are peculiar creatures, having the shape of a large lizard, with feet marked like those of a monkey. Some scientists say that the bite of the Gila monster is not poisonous in itself, but that if its breath is blown on a person with a weak heart, the person will faint away for an indefinite time. In captivity the Gila monster is fed on warm milk and chopped meat every six weeks.—Wide World Magazine.

Life Saving Aeroplanes.

Aeroplanes may in time be a part of the regular equipment used by the United States life saving service. There are numerous cases in which it is impossible for small boats to reach a stranded steamer in heavy weather. Upon some occasions even the line throwing guns cannot get a hawser aboard. It is argued that aeroplanes in any but exceptional circumstances would be able to carry a line to vessels in distress, making it possible to use a breeches buoy and get passengers and crew to shore.

Should congress approve this plan it would open a new field to aviators more hazardous than any other branch of flying, not excepting war work. They would be compelled to make ascents in the worst possible weather, requiring skill and courage of the highest order.—Exchange.

Purely Business.

Little Bobbie, aged five, was one of those who permitted few things to escape his attention and consequently was always asking questions. Some of the members of the family were talking about life insurance, and Bobbie had to know what that was. He was told it was a provision whereby, when his father died, the family would receive a certain sum of money. This seemed clear to the youngster, but it was noticed he seemed to be engaged in deep thought. Finally he said, "But, mamma, how soon will we have to kill him?"—Indianapolis News.

Equal Division.

"It's a good thing for man and wife to have tastes in common."

"True to some extent. But you can divide the newspaper more amicably when she's satisfied with the society news and doesn't want to take the sporting section away from you."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Their Opportunity.

Miss Fluffy—I made quite an impression at the reception, didn't I? Everybody seemed to be talking about me.

Candid Friend—They talked still more about you after you had gone.

Mean.

"What did the lady say when you told her I was out?"

"She smiled and said, 'Friday's not always an unlucky day.'"

Good.

"He has a good wife, hasn't he?"

"I should say so. He can always borrow money from her when he goes broke himself."

Earth and Sun.

A body weighing one pound on earth would weigh twenty-seven and a half pounds upon the sun.

Men shut their doors against a setting sun.—Timon of Athens.

Illiteracy In Spain.

In many villages and small towns in the interior of Spain no one knows how to read or write. There are in Spain 30,000 rural villages without schools of any kind and many thousands which can be reached only by a bridle-path, there being no highroads or railway communication of any kind. Attendance at school is voluntary, not obligatory. Seventy-six per cent of the children in Spain are illiterate.

Another View of It.

"How did Binks get all bunged up?"

"Tried to come between a man and his wife."

"Interfered in a family row?"

"Oh, no—tried to cross the street when each was coming toward him in an auto."—Florida Times-Union.

Ups and Downs.

"I threw up a good position to please that girl."

"Did she appreciate the sacrifice?"

"No, she didn't; she threw me down."—Baltimore American.

Finger Prints.

Finger prints for identification were used by the Chinese as long ago as the seventh century.

MICHIGAN STATE FAIR Aug 31 to Sept 9

The golden harvest of Michigan's productive soil will be spread out in marvelous array as a token of what the state is doing to feed the nation.

Here will be exhibits of the five-acre food crops entered in the competition established with the object of stimulating a larger production of food crops. Liberal cash prizes will be awarded the winners in each class.

ENLARGED STOCK EXHIBIT

The rapid strides Michigan has taken as a stock raising state will be reflected in the mammoth exhibit of live stock, including the establishment of classes for Devonshire cattle, Persian fur and Poland China hogs never before exhibited at the State Fair. To arouse a deeper interest in the breeding of prize stock the State Fair has instituted a Boys' Steer Judging contest for Michigan boys under 21 years of age.

BIG TRACTOR SHOW

Every variety of mechanical appliances found on the modern farm has a place in the huge exhibits of labor saving machines in the big Machinery Building. In the field adjoining there will be daily tractor demonstrations by the leading manufacturers in the country.

FLIGHTS BY RUTH LAW

Nothing has been spared in providing patrons of the Fair with the highest class of amusement features. Beginning with Ruth Law, the celebrated military aviatrice, the program includes such excellent attractions as: Louis Disbrow, champion auto race driver; Louis Gertson, most daring aviator in America; California Frank's pioneer Wild West Show, in daily free performances; Johnny J. Jones' refined Midway attractions and a complete bill of spectacular patriotic Fireworks.

DON'T WAIT!

There was an advance in fertilizer for fall shipment, as follows:—

Mixed goods, $6.75 per ton; Bone Meal and Acid Phosphates $2.00 per ton.

On account of this raise being so much greater on the mixed goods, the demand all over the United States has been greater than ever before on bone meal.

There is not a manufacturer in the whole country but is way behind his orders in bone meal. There is not enough anywhere to meet the demand, we foresaw this condition early and ordered a sufficient quantity of acid phosphates and bone meal from Darling & Armour's, therefore we have a very good stock on hand, and in transit.

We have not enough to supply the extraordinary trade, there will be this fall, as there will be more wheat put in, than ever before—if you delay it may be too late.

We suggest this—Buy your fertilizer NOW, not only give your order BUT GET IT HOME where you can see it and know you have it.

WE ARE JUST A LITTLE BIT SELFISH

We admit it. We don't do as we do SOLELY for the good of our customers. There is no philanthropy about business.

When we stock up with nothing but high-grade groceries, we do so because we think the majority of people prefer that kind.

This is why they SHOULD prefer that kind—

Because the good of good eatables is far reaching. Good eating is health, and health is EVERYTHING.

So you see our good financially and your good physically are depending upon the purity of our food supply.

Our opinoin is that it is just about perfection. We are anxious to have YOUR opinion.

RED CROSS NEWS

The concert given by the Red Cross Concert Company at Sand lake brought in a total of $30.95 as several people decided to pay additional amounts. It was placed in the donation fund

The company intends to give the next concert at Wampler's lake. Full particulars later.

A Polish girl, who works for a family at Sand lake, refused the offer of the lady of the house to contribute for her and paid $1.00 out of her own pocket, saying she was "glad to be able to help." It is the people who have suffered from the war who have learned to be generous. May Heaven preserve us from learning in as hard a school as they have.

Miss Doris Anderson of Tecumseh offers to teach free the most necessary French phrases to anyone going to France in a military capacity or who is in the Red Cross service. She will be here until the beginning of October.

Mrs. Hurry's Sunday-school class is working on handkerchiefs.

The work in the headquarters is going along beautifully and the big pile of stuff collected has diminished wonderfully. However Mrs. Helen Clark can still use a number of helpers. Mr Charles Burridge spends most of his spare time there running the snipping machine.

Mrs. Tom Mingay and daughter Mrs. Samuel C. Taylor gave a porch party for the Red Cross on Thursday to about eight friends. The ladies spent the afternoon making handkerchiefs.

Mrs. Raymond Mills and Mrs. Sena Crane report that they sent nine pajamas to Adrian Monday, that they have a good number started and that they have a nice committee of good sewers At the same time they would be glad if they could get a few more good seamstresses.

Mrs. Faron Anderson has been unable to obtain sheeting for her department.

There will be a meeting of the Ex-executive Board in the headquarters at 7 p. m. on Friday.

There will be a meeting of the Executive Board and all the department directors in the Headquarters on Tuesday, Aug. 14th, to discuss matters relative to the Headquarters and other important matters. Please be present, you are needed. The meeting starts at 7 p. m.

Mr. Lester Rogers of the Tecumseh Laundry has done another big washing of goods, collected for the Red Cross.

Major Gen. Leonard Wood says "The Red Cross is the Big Brother of the medical services. The army and navy cannot get along without it. Without it a warring nation is almost helpless for the reason that a nation in time of war is unable to provide an adequate medical organization without civilian aid.

In no war have there ever been ENOUGH nurses and surgeons. As no chain is stronger than its weakest link, so no army is stronger than its Red Cross. So clearly is this understood that in time of war the Government requires the Red Cross to give all its energy and facilities to the Nation, caring for the fighting men and their dependents at home."

Remember that every dollar you give, every bit of work you do goes absolutely to care for the defenders of our country, for every woker labors for nothing, and all accounts are open to all. Every dollar is acknowledged and the accounts of the American Red Cross are audited annually by the War Department. Any irregularity is absolutely impossible.

Jenny C. Law Hardy,
Publicity Director.

IMPORTANT GRAIN GROWERS' MEETING

CO-OPERATIVE HALL

Saturday Evening, August 11, 1917, at 8 o'clock

Our county agent and a professor from the Experiment Station, Agricultural College, Lansing, will be with us to demonstrate the necessity of treating your seed before sowing, for we have another enemy to fight this year in the form of Blight as well as "our old friend Smut."

Let everybody attend as it is of the utmost importance that we strike early in order to raise a maximum crop of the best quality to do 'our bit" towards raising the 40,000 000 bushels of wheat that Michigan will attempt to produce for the coming year in response to our country's call.

We will also be shown the importance of selecting good seed and the preparation of the soil, etc Come in and ask questions and get the full benefit

Bring in a sample of your seed wheat and have it examined as to Blight.

CLASS MEETING

The class of Mrs. Albert Waring of the M. E. church and a number of friends gathered at her pleasant home in Brownville on Tuesday afternoon for a social visit. There were 37 present and it is needless to say that they had a good time. Mrs. Roy Collins of Toledo was the out of town guest.

A bountiful picnic supper was served at the close of the afternoon, after which the guests left for their homes each and every one voicing the sentiment that Mrs. Waring was a fine entertainer and that they hoped they might have many more such happy reunions.

FIFTH ANNUAL REUNION OF THE BRADLEY FAMILY

The home of F. E. Bradley west of town presented a very lively appearance Wednesday when the Bradley clan, over eighty in number, gathered for their fifth annual reunion. A picnic dinner was served on the lawn in front of the house, after which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—F. E. Bradley, Tecumseh

Vice President—F. M. Bradley, Weston

Secretary—Mrs. Villa Raymond, Adrian

Treasurer—E. C. Dersham, Adrian

Chairman Program Committee—Mrs. Chas. Bradley, Britton

Chairman Com. on Resolutions—Arthur Bradley, Detroit

Guests were present from Toledo, Detroit, Adrian, Jackson, Napoleon, Onsted, Clinton, Lansing. The next meeting will be with C. A. Gallup the second Wednesday in August, 1918, in Adrian

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cuthbert were in Toledo today.

MRS. R. C. YOUNG

Mrs Lulu May Young, wife of R. C. Young, died at her home in Kalamazoo August 2nd

The deceased was born in Canada, May 16, 1879, moving to Michigan with her parents when a little child For several years the family lived on a farm east of Tecumseh.

When but a young girl her mother died and soon after two of her brothers Alfred and Arthur enlisted and served in the Spanish-American War. After the death of her mother she made her home with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Martin of Ridgeway, Mich. She spent several years in the employment of the Clinton Woolen Mills and one year in New Mexico as agent for the Santa Fe R. R.

On July 2, 1907, she was married to R. C. Young, at that time superintendent of the Clinton public schools. The wedding took place in the home of her friends, Mr. and Mrs Martin, where just ten years and one month later the funeral services were held. Several who attended the wedding were present at the funeral.

Her father died seven years ago and her brother Alfred died in service just at the close of the Spanish American War.

She leaves a husband, two little children, Ione and Ruth, six and one half and two and one half years old, two step children, Merwin and Cecile Young, and two brothers Alfred Weeks of Tecumseh and Milton Weeks of Cotopaxi, Col., all of whom mourn her loss.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to express my thanks to the many kind friends of Ridgeway and Tecumseh for extending their sympathy and comfort during the bereavement and funeral services of my wife.

R. C. Young

BARGAIN DAY

For once Wednesday was pleasant all day, with no rain and the entertainment was given both afternoon and evening. The chair balancing act was a very good one and called forth the hearty applause of the crowd. This was followed by a juggling stunt, and the last act was by the Whitcombs in a funny stunt, the man doing some fine imitations of birds and beasts much to the amusement of the young and old.

The music by the Adrian Imperial band was exceptionally fine and was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. While the crowd was not as large as usual yet there was a great number present and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Dubois says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

Thousands of Mothers Worry

When the children cry in their sleep, are peevish and constipated and take cold easily. Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children has for 30 years been a trusted remedy in many thousand homes. They frequently break up colds in 24 hours, move and regulae the bowels and destroy worms. adv

More than 250 enlisted men of the Thirty-first Michigan regiment, stationed at Detroit armory, have been ordered discharged from the service as a result of findings of United States army medical examiners.

Three Flint automobile workers are in the hospital seriously injured as the result of their automobile overturning near Montrose. The injured are: Alvin Law, lower jaw fractured; Alfred Briszois, badly fractured collar bone, and Owen Emmons, left hip fractured.

The Thirty-first infantry has 295 discharges or 14.07 per cent of the total enrollment. The Thirty-second infantry has 271 discharges or 14.93 per cent of the total enrollment. The First squadron of cavalry has but 45 discharges or 10.06 per cent of the enrollment.

Ervin Steeby, of Allegan, pleaded guilty to United States Commissioner Stockwell to a charge of mailing a letter demanding that John Kackele, a Mobile farmer, deposit $500 in the basement of a brick church near his home with the alternative of losing his life.

Despite assurances given by Michigan manufacturers earlier in the season that men in their shops familiar with farming would be released during the busiest seasons in agriculture to assist the farmer, tillers of the soil can not get help and are working long hours, assisted in many cases by their wive and children.

Disbarment proceedings against Attorneys John M. Rhodes and William A. Harrington, of Grayling, before Judge Weist of Lansing, were finished when Judge Weist found each guilty of malpractice and suspended them from practicing law anywhere in Michigan for six months. Harrington is prosecuting attorney of Otsego county.

Michigan's wheat growers, 500 of whom on invitation of the Michigan Agricultural college assembled on the campus for the first wheat congress in the history of Michigan, pledged themselves to double Michigan's wheat yield in 1918 but they will expect the government to do its share by exempting farm hands from at least the first army call.

FRENCH IN REPRISAL RAIDS ON GERMANS

Frankfort-on-Main Bombarded; Germans Raid Britain.

Paris, Aug. 13.—Two French aviators dropped bombs on Frankfort-on-the-Main, one of the most important cities of the German Empire, having a population of more than 300,000. A French official statement announcing the raid says it was in retaliation for the German aerial bombardment of Nancy and the region north of Paris.

Both French machines returned undamaged.

London, Aug. 13.—About twenty German airplanes raided the southeast coast of England. An official statement says that some bombs were dropped in the neighborhood of South End, forty miles east of London, and on the seashore resort of Margate, eighty miles southeast of the capital.

No reports of damage or casualties have been received. British aviators pursued the raiders out to sea.

PREFERS WAR TO ARREST

Wanted Wife to Save Him From Draft; He Is In Jail.

Kokomo, Ind., Aug. 13.—An appeal made to the police for protection by Mrs. George R. Gearhart revealed the reasons of Gearhart for waiving exemption from military service after having claimed grounds for release before the exemption board.

Mrs. Gearhart said her husband threatened to kill her if she did not make claims to save him from the draft and she feared him. Gearhart, a farmer, was apprehended and is now in jail. His action in voluntarily giving himself up for military service was a surprise to the board.

Indianans Made Army Officers.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 13.—Commissions announced by adjutant general's office in Washington: At Fort Benjamin Harrison—Frank W. Bryant, West Lafayette, captain; Jesse P. Must Call 100 More.

Boonville, Ind., Aug. 13.—Rejections because of physical defects will necessitate the local board calling about 10 more men in Warrick County to make up the quota.

A Browning Face.

"A nasty jolt," said Senator Penrose at the Philadelphia club, discussing a political betrayal; "a nasty and an unexpected jolt. It reminds me of the octogenarian banker who said to Gobsa Golde:

"'Your beautiful girl wife declares that your face is like a poem.'

"'Yes?' Gobsa chuckled. 'Have a cigar. So my wife says my face is like a poem, does she?'

"'Yes,' answered the banker, with a loud, harsh laugh. 'She says your face is like a poem by Browning because it's got so many deep lines.'"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Man and Pie.

"Pie is all you need give any man for dessert," said Mrs. Helen E. McLane, the food expert. "He thinks that pie is all there is to dessert anyway, and the more you give him of it the better he likes it. So give it to him, but be sure to give him the best, most nourishing kinds of pie, for there is a great difference.

"Mince pie is the best because it has more food value. But it is also the most expensive. Prune pie properly draped and trimmed is a favorite with my men, and they know good pie when they see it."—Exchange.

Effective Threat.

"Having any more trouble with that temperamental ingenue?"

"No," replied the manager. "I contrived to get hold of a photograph of her son, who is now thirty-six years old, and the last time she got huffy I threatened to show it to a newspaper man."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

ENEMIES ACCUSED OF $100,000 FIRE

Arrest Made After Blaze at Aetna Powder Plant.

Gary, Ind., Aug. 13.—Fire destroyed the Aetna Explosives Company, near Gary, Ind., yesterday morning, as the result of a supposed incendiary war plot. Buildings and machinery valued at $100,000 were burned out and loss to the government in war contracts was estimated at more than $1,00,000

It is believed the withdrawal of 150 Indiana National Guard troops from the company's premises last Sunday caused enemy agents to fire the plant.

George Bragdon, chief of the secret service in Gary, and Police Chief William F. Forbes and Detective William Lynn arrested Otto Eickoff in connection with the destruction of the factory.

Veteran Dies.

Washington, Ind., Aug. 13.—W. W. Barnett, born at Rockport seventy-five years ago, civil war veteran and one of Washington's foremost business men, is dead. Four children and a widow survive.

Mere Man Wants Little.

I heard a man say one time that the things he looked for in a room were a comfortable chair, a strong writing table and a good light. That does not seem much for a man to want. But how many men get it? The girls and women of the household decorate and furnish their rooms to please themselves, but it is not very often that very much thought or trouble is spent on the men's rooms. One reason that they don't think more about it is that as most men have these comforts at their offices they do not bother to voice their opinion about what they might have at home.

Every one who has a boarding house is rather anxious to rent the rooms to men, as they are proverbially less trouble and easier to please than women, and how much more easily the rooms might attract men if they should bear in mind the three things this man said were essential to his happiness.—Washington Post.

Punishing a Sparrow.

It is quite common in early spring for young and inexperienced sparrows to steal twigs and other building material from the nests of their elders. If this theft is detected, as it usually is, a posse promptly visits the offender's nest and scatters it to the four winds, soundly thrashing the occupant in the bargain.

A story is told of a sparrow which stole the nest of a martin and was making himself comfortable in it. The angry owner summoned all his friends and immediately they came, several hundred strong, but the intruder held them at bay for some time by pecking all who came near enough to the opening. Finally the avengers withdrew and held a consultation. In a few moments they returned, each with a mouthful of mud, and proceeded to plaster up the hole, walling the occupant up alive.—Nebraska Legal News.

A Common Economic Mistake.

The type of man who feels he has discharged his obligations as a husband when he provides his wife with a place to do housework for her board is not uncommon.—Topeka Capital.

SLAVS STRIKING BACK AT KAISER

Counter-Attack, After Repulsing Foe, Nets 1,200 Prisoners.

GERMANS CLAIM 6,700 TAKEN

Spirited Fighting Continues on Roumanian Frontier—Latest Russian and Roumanian Success Is on Fokshani Sector—Resistance to Teuton Advance Constantly Growing Bitter.

Petrograd, Aug. 13.—Desperate engagements are being fought by the Russo-Roumanian and Austro-German armies along the Roumanian front. In the center of this battle line, according to the Russian official statement, the Russians and Roumanians Saturday repulsed strong Teuton attacks along the Fokshrani-Marasechti railroad, then counter attacked and captured 1,200 Germans, only to retire later in the evening.

In southwestern Moldavia the Russians took the offensive, smashed the Teuton lines and captured a number of prisoners and four guns.

In western Moldavia the Austro-Germans, after battles of great intensity, forced the Roumanians to retire to Ocna.

Teuton Offensive Wanes.

In consequence of the heavy losses inflicted on the Austro-German forces and the desperate resistance of the Russians, says a telegram received here from Odessa, the Teuton offensive on the Roumanian front is diminishing in intensity.

6,700 Captured, Says Berlin.

Berlin, Aug. 13.—Field Marshal von Mackensen's forces fighting in central Roumania yesterday took more than 6,700 Russian and Roumanian prisoners and captured eighteen cannon and sixty-one machine guns. The German general staff reports that the Austro-Germans did not lose a foot of ground.

In western Maldavia the Austro-Germans stormed the village of Grozesni and also captured the dominating height positions. Bitter Russo-Roumanian counter attacks were repulsed, says the German statement, which adds that the "fresh enemy forces bled themselves to death."

A Russian attack at the mouth of the River Buzeu, northwest of Braila, was repulsed.

The Use of Names.

Judge Giegerich of New York in denying the petition of a foreigner desiring to use an American name recently said: "I have the greatest objection to foreigners who take up their residence in this country assuming the names of old American families of New York. It causes embarrassment to men who are of high standing in the community and take pride in their family names."

Solomon's Servants.

Solomon's servants (Ezra ii. 55-58; Nehemiah vii. 57-60) were the descendants of the Canaanites reduced by Solomon to the state of slaves. They were compelled to work in the king's stone quarries and in building his palaces and cities.

MICHIGAN DEALERS STOCKING UP LIQUOR

Figures Indicate Soloons Expect Long Dry Spell

DETROIT, Aug. 13.

Liquor dealers of Michigan are stocking up for the long, dry spell that will come after prohibition becomes effective in the state May 1, 1918, according to totals compiled by Richard L. Lawson, United States collector of customs for the port of Detroit, which includes all of Michigan, giving the state's imports for the year ended June 30, 1917.

Imports for the year just closed were $2,190,777.53, an increase of $496,835.07 over the preceeding year, when imports totaled $1,693,942.46. Records of the collector's office showed that fully nine-tenths of the half-million gain was from importation of an increased amount of intoxicating liquors.

Outstanding in the report are the figures for May, 1917. During those thirty days the imports totaled $195,120.33, compared with $130,155.22 for the corresponding month of the preceding year, an increase of $161,695.22. Large increases also are shown in April and June.

IMMUNE TO DIVER ATTACKS

Machinist Who Has Survived 30 U-Boat Raids Settles Down Muskegon.

MUSKEGON, Aug. 13.

Fresh from the scene of Germany's submarine warfare, Thomas Vanderwall a machinist on one of the trawlers of a Dutch fishing company, has established his home in Muskegon

Vanderwall has seen 30 of the company's vessels sunk by German submarines, but each time has escaped himself. Repeatedly vessels on which he sailed have struck mines or been torpedoed, going to the bottom in short order. The submarines invariably submerge after they have hit these trawlers, Vanderwall says, affering no assistance whatever to the crews of the vessels rapidly settling to the bottom of the sea.

Value of Thunderstorms.

"Thunderstorms," says Professor Ward in Science, "bring us much that is of benefit. To them we owe much, in parts of our country even most of our spring and summer rainfall. Without these beneficent thunderstorms our great staple crops east of the Rocky mountains would never reach maturity. One good thunderstorm over a considerable area at a critical crop stage is worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to American farmers. Our stock markets time and again show the favorable reaction of such conditions upon the price of cereals and also of railroad and other stocks. Thundershowers break our summer droughts, cleanse our dusty air, refresh our parched earth, replenish our failing streams and brooks, bring us cool evenings and nights after sultry and oppressive [illegible]

1,496 ROOKIES MADE OFFICERS

Training Camp at Fort Sheridan Passes Into History.

TWELVE CHOSEN FOR MAYORS

Commissions Are Awarded in Reserve Corps and in National Army—Work Accomplished Has been of Amazing Character—American Energy and Adaptability Shown in Marked Degree.

Fort Sheridan, Aug. 13.—The first reserve officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan has about passed into history.

The army instructors have done their work. The students have done theirs. Majors, captains and lieutenants have been evolved from students, clerks, mechanics, lawyers, policemen and scores of other trades and professions.

Commisions have been awarded and the men, no longer training camp students, but officers in the United States reserve army, are ready to take up their work.

Some will go to Rockford to train the new great National army. Some have been assigned on special details, the objects of which are military secrets. Some will go into the quartermaster's department, some to the adjutant general's office and some into the regular army. No matter where they go, each will bear his rank as U. S. R.

Vacation for Regulars.

The new reserve officers' training camp will be officially opened Aug. 27 In the meantime the regular army officers assigned to the fort, the men who have worked so zealously to turn out officers that will be a credit to the Stars and Stripes, will be given a little rest.

Commissions of two designations were granted. One set is known as Officeer' Reserve Corps and the other as Officers of the National army.

There is no difference in rank or honor. It is merly a matter of designation. The first group belonged to the Officers' Reserve Corsp before they took the training at the camps, and are now designated to the O. R. C. because the commissions previously given them have been confirmed. Those designated to the National army have not held these commissions.

Twelve Made Majors.

The 1,496 commissions were awarded as follows: Majors, 12; captains, 188; first lieutenants, 206; second lieutenants, 1,090.

Here are the commissions granted in the infantry branch of the service to members of the Officers' Reserve Corps: Majors, 7; Captains, 109; first lieutenants, 97; second lieutenants, 489.

National army commissions in the infantry branches were awarded as follows: Captains, 28; first lieutenants, 39; second lieutenants, 53.

In the cavalry branch there were named the following:

Officers' Reserve Corps—Majors, 2; captains, 9; first lieutenants, 42.

National army—Captains, 5; first lieutenants, 7; second lieutenants, 10.

Commissions were awarded as follows in the field artillery:

Officers' Reserve Corps—Majors, 3; captains, 31; first lieutenants, 9.

Named for Other Branches.

In the quartermaster's corps there were 190 National army second lieutenancies awarded. Five first and five second lieutenancies were granted in the statistical department of the adjutant general's department and in the ordnance department there were selected four captains, thirteen first lieutenants and eleven second lieutenants for the National army.

U-BOAT SINKS U. S. SHIP; 5 CAPTURED

Captain and Four Gunners Taken Prisoners.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Sinking of the American steamer Campania, a Standard Oil tanker, with the probable capture of her captain and four members of the naval guard by the attacking German submarine, was announced by the Navy Department.

The department issued this statement:

"The Standard Oil tanker Campania, American steamer, was sunk by a submarine on the morning of Aug. 6 143 miles west of Ile de Re. Forty-seven survivors reached land in safety. It is believed that the captain of the steamer and four of the guards are prisoners on board the German submarine."

New York, Aug. 13.—The Campania was formerly the steamship Dunholme. She was built in 1901 at West Hartlepool, England, and was registered at 3,313 tons gross, 2,133 tons net. She was 335 feet long, with a beam of 47 feet.

SLAYER DIES AT STATE HOME

Was Sentenced to Penitentiary When 70 Years of Age.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 13.—Alexander Kennedy, eighty-two years old, died at the Soldiers' Home from a complication of diseases. Kennedy was a friend of Dr. Philip Tresch, a local druggist, but while drinking on the night of July 15, 1905, he went to the drug store and killed Tresch. Kennedy was sentenced to serve from two to twenty-one years in the state prison on a charge of manslaughter. He had been pardoned a short time and had since been living at the Soldiers' Home with his wife. He served in the Second Michigan Regiment during the civil war.

ALL LOST GROUND IS RETAKEN BY FRENCH

St. Quentin Line Restored; Counter Attacks Parried.

Paris, Aug. 13.—French troops last night resumed counter attacks against the positions which the Germans had captured on the night of Aug. 9-10 north of St. Quentin. The French official statement issued in the afternoon said the ground previously lost was reconquered in its entirety.

South of Ailles, in the Aisne region, two strong German attacks on the trenches captured earlier by the French were repulsed with heavy Teuton loss.

London, Aug. 13.—The weather on the battle front in Flanders has been wet and stormy. Fighting between the British and Germans took place east of Givenchy-lez-La Bassee, seven miles north of Lens, where the British occupied the nearer lip of a mine crater and drove off the German counter assaults.

Berlin, Aug. 13.—After hours of artillery fire, several British regiments attacked the German lines north of Hollebeke, on the Belgian front. The German general staff reports that the attackers were forced to repeat with heavy losses.

On the Aisne front two French attacks at Cerny-en-Laonnois broke down with heavy losses, and on Mont Carnillet French hand grenade detachments were repulsed.

WOULD CALL TOWN PERSHING

East Germantown, Ind., Wants to Switch Name to U. S. Commander.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 13.—Because residents feel that the name of their towns slurs their patriotism, citizens of East Germantown, twelve miles west of here, have sent a petition to Postmaster General Burleson asking him to change the name to Pershing. Every resident of the town signed the instrument.

East Germantown is one of the oldest settlements in Wayne County and was founded by Pennsylvania Dutch, who came here in 1830. Descendants of these pioneers have long since ceased using the German language. No one in the town can speak German.

Will Hold School of Instruction.

Orleans, Ind., Aug. 13.—Local business men met here with the Orleans Grange and decided to hold a farmers' school of instruction under the auspices of Purdue University for a week next January. Professor Frier addressed the meeting and explained the course in detail.

Fighting the Fly.

An excellent remedy for the fly pest is formaldehyde. The correct strength may be secured by adding three teaspoonfuls of the concentrated formaldehyde solution to a pint of water. The solution should be kept in such a way that the flies can drink it. A good way is to take an ordinary thin walled tumbler and fill it partly full of the solution. Place on a saucer or small plate a piece of white blotting paper and cut it to the size of the dish. Then place it over the glass and turn the glass bottom up on the dish. As the solution dries out of the saucer the tumbler should be slightly raised up, so that the liquid will again flow over the entire surface.

Another simple remedy to keep flies out of the house is by means of an odor unpleasant to flies. Any odor pleasing to man is offensive to the fly and will drive them away, as, for instance, oil of lavender, diluted; geranium, mignonette or heliotrope.

Cows' Milk and Casein.

It has been proved that casein, which forms over 3 per cent of the total weight of cows' milk, is an important commercial product and may be profitably employed in the manufacture of glue, combs, buttons, linoleum, hairpins, toys, paints and even shoe polish.

In the preparation of casein for commercial purposes about 700 gallons of skimmilk are put into a great vat and heated to about 135 degrees F. Then very dilute sulphuric acid is added to precipitate the casein or curd. The whey is drawn off, and the curd is drained and cut into chunks, after which streams of cold water are played on it to wash out the acid. The curd is then dried with rotary fans and ground into powder, in which form it is placed on the market. One hundred pounds of skimmilk will yield about three and one half pounds of casein powder.—Popular Science Monthly.

Kindergartens.

"The first kindergartens in our country," said an educator, "were conducted for the children of the well to do. The remarkable value of this training for the children of the poor was soon recognized, and mission kindergartens became numerous. Then the more progressive cities and towns tried them experimentally in their public schools. That their worth has been abundantly proved is clearly shown by the spread of the kindergarten, and the general introduction of kindergarten training departments into state normal schools and city training schools.

"At present 1,228 cities have an aggregate of 8,463 kindergartens in their public schools, with an enrollment of 434,000 children."

Politely Searched.

A well dressed man leaving a Washington theater recently, absorbed in reflection on the performance he had just witnessed, noticed a crowd of theatergoers lingering at the entrance. The W. D. M. did not flatter himself that he was the center of attraction, although he had been somewhat prominent in his home town, and, glancing backward, saw a party leaving the theater, of which the president was the center. This was the cause of all the commotion. At this juncture the W. D. M. lost his equilibrium, stumbled and fell in a heap in the president's path. An alert corps of ever present secret service men, instantly on the job, lifted the prostrate W. D. M. to his feet and courteously brushed him off, handing him his hat, cane and glasses. The W. D. M. later confessed to friends that he had a faint suspicion that in the brushing process he had been systematically and incidentally "frisked" for concealed weapons.—Indianapolis News.

The Turk and the Crescent.

The crescent was not originally the emblem of the Turk. It was first used by the primitive Christians of Constantinople and the eastern provinces of the old Roman empire as an emblem of the growing influence of Christianity. It was not until about the year 1453, after the Turks had overrun Asia Minor and part of southern Europe and had captured Constantinople, that the Turks adopted the crescent as their national emblem. The Koran prohibits the use of images and symbols in the religious ceremonies of the strict Turks or the internal decoration of the temples and mosques; the rule being so strict as not to allow the martial or civic decoration of the greatest generals or pashas, successful commanders or other distinguished persons. The adoption of the crescent by the Turk as a national emblem is an oddity which has so far remained unexplained.—Philadelphia Press.

Men Who Wear Feathers.

Among the strange tribes of men about whom little is known are the Chamacocos of the region about the upper Paraguay river. Although the Chamacocos wear but little clothing, they excel in the art of making personal adornments from the feathers of birds. Their country abounds with birds of the most beautiful plumage, including parrots, toucans and trogons, whose feathers are dazzling in color; rheas, with gray plumes; musk ducks of a glossy black color, egrets with feathers of pure white and spoon bills of a delicate pink hue. All this wealth of color and graceful plumage is combined by the Chamacocos in a most artistic manner. Some of these savages walk their forest glades in colors more brilliant, if less ample, than any woman's dressmaker could produce.—Los Angeles Times.

Clogged Mufflers.

The poor performances of a motor may be caused by a clogged muffler, and by increasing the back pressure the power of the engine is inevitably lessened. The muffler certainly ought to be cleaned out once a year. The muffler is filled with metal convolutions, which gather dirt and carbon, blocking the passage and hindering the escape of the exhaust gases. If the stoppage reaches a sufficient degree of completeness there is danger that an ill timed explosion may extend back to the muffler, which acts like a closed explosion chamber and blows it to atoms. The clogging of the muffler is assisted by the use of too much oil in the engine. This excess oil finds its way back and, getting on the passages and parts, acts as a catch-all for carbon and dirt.—New York Post.

Animal Curiosity.

A cow will approach a new object fascinated, but with timorous suspicion, and a horse is even more timid, gazing at a distance for awhile, ready to flee in a moment. The monkey will snatch at everything that is new and deliberately examine it till, finding that he cannot eat it or mock mankind with it, he will drop it and let it pass from his shallow memory. There is a pathos in the slenderness of animal curiosity, it is so easily satisfied. The thought, if thought it be, usually ends with the first flush of surprise and the impression of safety.

Poise and Power.

The man of poise is the man of power. He has taken time to find himself. He knows his abilities and limitations. He knows when he is encroaching too far on his reserve vitality, and he has will power enough to stop—yes, quit—when he has gone the limit. As you cultivate poise you generate power. It is the silent yet powerful dynamo that gives momentum to your life and work.—Edward B. Babcock.

Epilepsy.

The word lunatics is used twice in the New Testament (Matthew vi. 24 and xvii. 15). The word evidently refers to some disease affecting mind and body. By the description given in Mark ix, 17-26, it is concluded the disease is epilepsy.

A Choice Of Sides

The Cloud That Came Between the Lovers.

By ELINOR MARSH

Something more than half a century ago there occurred in America a great convulsion pertaining to human liberty.

Up to that time it was the most stupendous of its kind that ever had occurred. In that great clash father was set against son, brother against brother, friend against friend.

Northern men in the south and southern men in the north found themselves called upon to make decisions of vital importance.

No one, except aged persons, has seen the palmy antebellum days in the southern states, when the patriarchal system was in vogue, when the family was considered a sort of sovereignty and the family were elevated to virtue and restrained from vice by a sense of noblesse oblige. All this has given place to what we call progress. But progress is liable to take a step backward in putting on new apparel, and the south today has new vigor in her veins.

Colonel Joseph Archibald was a typical southern planter. In 1850 he had lived half a century and had not kept pace with the times. He wore a ruffled shirt, brass buttons on his coat and a hat of real beaver—that is, in winter. In summer he wore an expensive panama straw. The colonel had no real right to his title. Any southern man of prominence in those days was likely to be dubbed general, colonel or major, to distinguish him from the commoner or the man who did not own many acres and many negroes.

Colonel Archibald's family consisted of his wife, his oldest child, a son—when this story begins a man of twenty-three—a daughter of twenty and four other children, boys and girls, all under sixteen years of age. Not one of these young persons but had been trained never to do anything unbecoming to his or her station. The planter of that period was misjudged because there were persons in the south who were too ready to talk about their honor and too hot in its defense. But the real southern gentleman of the mid-nineteenth century was an inheritance of those splendid men who brought about the birth of a nation.

Not far from the Archibald plantation dwelt another planter named Sheffield. He had married a northern woman, and her children were taught by her that the system of making slaves of human beings was totally wrong.

Her doctrine made no difference in the plantation over which she presided as mistress unless it tended to bring about a better treatment of the negroes. Be that as it may, those on the Sheffield plantation were happy and quite content with their lot, there being no runaways among them.

Harry Sheffield was the only son and heir to this estate. He was educated at a New England university, where his mother's prejudice against the labor system then in vogue in the south was stimulated. He was used to defend it to his fellow students on the ground that it had been planted in the south, not by the southern people; that they had inherited it and were not responsible for it. The only thing they could do in the premises was to make it as wholesome as possible.

Young Sheffield returned from college to his plantation home a couple of years before the outbreak of the war which was destined to effect so marked a change in the labor system of the southern states. He and Alma Archibald were of an age to mate, and it was not long before Harry went to Colonel Archibald and asked for his daughter's hand. Before the colonel would consent he told Harry that he had heard that his views upon the question that was agitating the country were singular and he would like to know what they were. Harry was too conscientious to win the girl he loved by a false statement and told the truth.

"I honor you, sir," said the colonel, "for your frankness in acknowledging what will make you unpopular among the people of the south, but in view of the importance of your opinions I do not think it best either for you or for my daughter that you should wed. We are on the eve of a great issue in the south, and a house divided against itself will surely fall. With your views acted upon conscientiously, your place is or soon will be in the north instead of the south."

While Harry Sheffield was obliged to admit the truth of the argument, he was not willing to subscribe to it, for true love subscribes to no argument that separates lovers. But he did not consider it honorable for him to take Alma surreptitiously under the circumstances. He was much troubled about the impending crisis and the part he should take when the storm broke, fearing greatly that if forced to take sides he could not conscientiously enter upon the defense of a system that he condemned. Under the circumstances he bade adieu to Alma, the lovers agreeing to wait for the approaching gale to blow itself out, after which perhaps her father might reconsider the matter.

One of the great strains of the war between the states at its opening was the decision of so many persons as to which side they would take. There were men in both armies, men who became the principal leaders, who had a hard struggle to decide on which side they would fight. The regular army was full of such cases. In one instance a young officer who felt that his duty lay in one direction, while his sympathies lay in the other, became temporarily insane.

The bulk of these persons who were in doubt were southern born men who had been educated at West Point or Annapolis. Cases like that of Harry Sheffield, a southern man with nothing that could be interpreted as an obligation either way, were more rare. But Harry had an additional reason for fighting against his own people, in his sweetheart. He felt that his duty called upon him to fight with the north, but he must not only fight against his own people, but his doing so would separate him from the southern girl he loved.

Harry Sheffield's state, Tennessee, was divided. East Tennessee was all for the Union, while middle and west Tennessee sympathized with the Confederacy. The Sheffield plantation was in middle Tennessee, not far from Nashville. When the struggle between the north and the south came Harry walked the floor all one night struggling with himself to do what he considered his duty. His heart was for the south, but he believed that his duty lay with the north. When morning came without submitting himself to endure a goodby with those he loved he started for east Tennessee and enlisted in a federal regiment organizing at Knoxville.

* * * * * * * *

One morning in the spring of 1865 Major Sheffield, having been mustered out of the United States service, mounted his horse in Nashville and took a road leading southward. Reaching a rise in the ground, he shaded his eyes with his hand and peered down upon the place where he had been born and raised.

The homestead was there, but it was a sorry looking structure. The row of negro huts were still standing, and here and there a negro was seen moving about in the general ruins. By the proclamation of emancipation issued during the war they were all free, but evidently some of them clung to their old home. The owner had been killed commanding a regiment of Confederate troops during the war, and Harry Sheffield was now the owner of what was left of a fine estate. His mother had gone north to her people, taking with her the younger children.

"Thank heaven," muttered Sheffield, "my interests are in no better condition than those of my neighbors."

Riding on, he pulled up between two posts that had supported the gate to the plantation and surveyed the scene at closer view. An old negro came tottering toward him.

"Hello, Ben!" said Sheffield.

The man looked at him scrutinizingly, then exclaimed:

"Fo' de Lawd, it's Mars Harry!"

The major asked what had become of Colonel Archibald and was told that he had been one of the first to succumb to the storm that had swept over the south. His oldest son had died of camp fever. His wife and Alma and the children had gone south to Louisiana to her people, who lived there.

"I suppose, Ben," said Sheffield, "the Archibald plantation is in as bad shape as this, isn't it?"

"Wo'se, Mars Harry, wo'se. Yo' see, dere was fightin' over dar, and de plantation house war riddled."

Sheffield cast his eyes about him, taking in the forlorn appearance of his once happy home, then turned his horse's head and started toward the Archibald plantation.

When he reached it he saw a woman on the veranda giving instructions to some negroes who were carrying baggage into the house. It was Alma, who with her mother had returned to their ruined home. Harry rode up to the veranda, dismounted and stood face to face with the girl he had left without even a goodby four years before. She looked at him for some time without a word, then, influenced by what had occurred since their last meeting, put her hands to her face and wept.

Tears had checked reproaches. Sheffield moved toward her, put his arms about her, and her head sank upon his breast.

This scene was typical of thousands of others. The struggle was over, and the system that had caused it, a system that no person living had been responsible for, had died a violent death.

Sheffield resolved that his first task should be to bind up the wounds of this stricken family before he attended to his own affairs. A college chum wrote him offering pecuniary assistance, which he accepted for himself and used for the necessities of the Archibald family. As soon as he could get workmen he sent them to patch up the holes left by cannon balls in the homestead and rebuilt fences with his own hands. Not till he had got the property into fair shape did he begin work on his own premises.

Sheffield married Alma Archibald and took her to his plantation, the other property being left to Mrs. Archibald and those of her family who had survived the struggle. The major was one of the first to adapt himself to the new labor systems and in time got his property in working order. He was also, one of the first men sent to the federal congress after the reign of carpet bag law had ceased. Though he had fought on the side of the north, he was one of the most trusted of southern men. Since then there is no questions asked as to which a man supported in that unfortunate struggle. When he died, there being no cemetery for Union soldiers in which to place his body, it was laid to rest beside Confederates.

THE FIREPLACE.

Social Importance of Its Position In the Home.

The center of hospitality in the home is that point about which the family itself gathers most often. This point is in most homes the fireplace; hence its location and construction are of vast importance in building a home.

The fireplace, if there is only one, should be in the living room, for there the family and friends can enjoy it most. It should be located in the center of a wall space, either on one side or at one end of the room. Select the space which will permit the greatest number of people to sit around it.

In the construction of the fireplace you must not forget that its chief purpose is for a fire. The more simple the lines of construction the better taste is displayed and the more room the open fire receives.

There is a great variety of material suitable for a fireplace, and your individuality and taste can be well expressed in this important factor of the home. Brick, tile, wood and many tile substitutes may be used. These offer great possibilities both for good color and design and lend themselves to any style of architecture.—Farm and Fireside.

The Value of Birds.

Without birds successful agriculture would become impossible and the destruction of the greater part of all vegetation would take place. New York state now pays an annual insect tax of $10,000,000, and birds are the chief agents in keeping this tax from increasing yearly. As consumers of weed seed a single species, the tree sparrow, is estimated to consume about 900 tons in New York state each year. The ravages of field mice and other rodents are kept in check by hawks and owls, and the farmer upon whose land a hawk or owl stays is saved upon an average $20 a year by each owl or hawk. The damage done by some few species of birds to growing crops is more than offset by the benefits of their work in destroying insects, rodents and weed seeds.—New York Sun.

Speaking Softly.

"I'll demand a jury trial," declared the lawyer.

"Perhaps it would be better to request it in a polite manner," suggested his feminine client. "I fear I'm a trifle guilty."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Fireless Cooker.

The fireless cooker has come to stay. Its usefulness is no longer a question, but a fact. It is one of the modern conveniences and, unlike many of them, it does not keep running up bills after it is installed. Buy it, and the cost is ended. It does not get out of repair unless greatly abused. It does save fuel bills and labor. It cooks many things better than they can be cooked in any other way.

There are many kinds of fireless cookers on the market. In choosing among them one may select the kind best adapted for the particular conditions it is to meet, and the space in the kitchen which it is to occupy. Of course a factory made cooker is best, but any one who cannot afford to buy one will find it worth while to use a home made one. A person with only a little mechanical skill, by following the directions which can be procured from the department of agriculture at Washington, can make a cooker that will fulfill most of the needs.—Woman's Home Companion.

Kissing the Black Stone.

As well die a Jew or a Christian as not make the pilgrimage to Mecca, said Mohammed, and no obligation of Islam is more piously discharged. It is believed that the ritual connected with the visit to the Ka'aba—the "square building"—and the kissing of the black stone go back to days of idolatry, the "time of ignorance" before the new faith bloomed.

The black stone, which measures about six inches by eight, is believed to have fallen from paradise, to have been guarded during the deluge and handed to Abraham by Gabriel when the Ka'aba was built. Certain parts of the ceremonial—the throwing of stones at the devil and the imitation of Hagar's distracted wanderings in the desert—are supposed to have had significance for the pre-Mohammedan times as well as for Islam.—London Chronicle.

Sailors' Signs.

Strange signs frequently hang from ships which puzzle even dwellers in seaport towns. A basket, slung from the mainmast head is a sailor's sign to notify that the cargo has been loaded or discharged, as the case may be, and that the ship is ready to start on her next trip.

A generally mysterious emblem is a broom lashed to a mainmast or bridge railing. This is to signify that the vessel is for sale.

Occasionally a dark blue stripe may be seen running fore and aft on a vessel. As a matter of fact, this is a sign of recent bereavement. Blue is the sailor's mourning, and the stripe of this color takes the place of the black margin or band used by the landsman as a notification of death.—Exchange.

The Sundial.

The sundial is an instrument of great antiquity, for it is referred to in the Bible (Isaiah xxxviii, 8), and it has been estimated that the date of this sundial would be about 700 years before the beginning of the Christian era.

The first sundial of which history distinctly tells us is that of the Chaldean astronomer Berossus, who probably lived about 300 B. C.

Then and for many years afterward the art of constructing sundials to suit any place and situation was an important branch of mathematical study.

The sundial as invented by this Berossus remained in use for many centuries, four of these having been found in Italy in modern times. One which was discovered at Tivoli in 1746 is believed by some to have belonged to Cicero.

Very Funny.

Tommy—Do you go to bed very early, Mrs. Peck?

Mrs. Peck—Yes, Tommy, sometimes—when I feel tired.

"You wouldn't go so early if you were married to my father, would you?"

"Oh, Tommy, you funny boy! Why not?"

"'Cause my father told mother that if he were your husband he'd make you sit up!"—Exchange.

Mean Comment.

Grace—Don't tell anybody for the world. See this ring? George slipped it on my finger last night. Ethel—Yes, it's nice looking, but it will make a black circle round your finger before you've worn it a week. It did on mine.—London Tit-Bits.

The Jury.

Citizen—What possible excuse did you fellows have for acquitting that murderer? Juryman—Insanity. Citizen—What! The whole twelve of you?

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Proper Posture.

A proper position of the body is a greater factor in maintaining good health than is generally realized. A simple test suggested for discovering whether the carriage of a child is correct is the passing of one's hand over its back when it happens to be standing naturally and easily. If the ends of the shoulder blades can be felt it is proof that the child is not standing correctly. The habit of standing on one foot should be corrected at once, as it causes one hip to grow out more than the other, while a common fault in walking is that of carrying the head a little to one side. When sitting the head and back should always be drawn up and the body never allowed to loll.

The Sea of Space.

The mind cannot comprehend what is meant by the four little words in the expression "the sea of space." If the volume of "space" included within our solar system—which is perhaps but a single train of planets among hundreds of millions of a similar kind—were occupied by one single globe 5,600,000,000 miles in diameter it would be but as a feather in the marvelous spread of "vacancy" surrounding it. In fact, it has been calculated that in the space occupied by our solar system 2,700,000,000,000,000 globes of the size of our earth could revolve, each at a distance of 500,000 miles from the other, and the whole business would be nothing, for there is no wall to the treasure vault of heaven.—Exchange.

Personal Responsibility.

There is such a thing as personal responsibility which cannot be delegated to another. In the navy, for example, we dock ships, and the docking officer is held personally responsible. Disbursing officers in the navy are personally responsible for every payment made not only by themselves, but by their assistants. They cannot delegate responsibility to the pay clerks even for the petty cash.—F. C. Coburn in [illegible]

ORDER

WHEREAS, the assessment rolls for the townships of Adrian, Blissfield, Deerfield, Macon, Madison, Raisin, Ridgeway, Riga and Tecumseh, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, for the year 1917 have heretofore been made by the supervisors of said townships and reviewed by the regularly constituted boards of review of said townships; and

WHEREAS, said assessment rolls are now subject to inspection by the Board of State Tax Commissioners of the State of Michigan, or by any member thereof; and

WHEREAS, it has been made to appear to said Board of State Tax Commissioners that property in said townships has been so irregularly and unlawfully assessed that adequate compliance with law cannot be secured except by a review of said assessment rolls; it is

THEREFORE ORDERED, that in accordance with the provisions of Section 15 of the General Tax law, as amended by Act No. 153 of the Public Acts of 1913, said assessment rolls shall be subject to review, and that Frank Scribel, supervisor of said township of Adrian, John A. Osborne, supervisor of said township of Madison and John L. Calhoun, supervisor of said township of Raisin, be required to appear in the supervisors' room in the Court House in the city of Adrian on Tuesday, the twenty-first day of August, A. D. 1917, at nine o'clock in the forenoon; that Frank Saxton, supervisor of said township of Blissfield, and Frank Bierman, supervisor of said township of Riga, be required to appear in the village council room in the village of Blissfield on Wednesday, the twenty-second day of August, A. D 1917, at nine o'clock in the forenoon; that J. E. Gilson, supervisor of said township of Deerfield, and Grant H. Osterhout, supervisor of said township of Ridgeway, be required to appear in the village council room in the village of Deerfield on Thursday, the twenty third day of August A. D. 1917, at nine o'clock in the forenoon; and that John Ladd, Jr., supervisor of said township of Macon, and John F. Schreder, supervisor of said township of Tecumseh, be required to appear in the village council room in the village of Tecumseh on Friday, the twenty-fourth day of August, A. D 1917, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, and have with them at the aforesaid places the assessment rolls for their respective townships for the year 1917 and all sworn statements filed with them for said year; and it is

FURTHER ORDERED, that public hearings be held as follows:

For the townships of Adrian, Madison and Raisin in the supervisors' room in the Court House in the city of Adrian on Tuesday, August 21, 1917;

For the townships of Blissfield and Riga in the village council room in the village of Blissfield on Wednesday, August 22, 1917;

For the townships of Deerfield and Ridgeway in the village council room in the village of Deerfield on Thursday, August 23, 1917;

For the townships of Macon and Tecumseh in the village council room in the village of Tecumseh on Friday, August 24, 1917; and it is

FURTHER ORDERED, that each of the aforesaid hearings shall begin at nine o'clock in the forenoon on the days mentioned, and that at said hearings the Board of State Tax Commissioners, or any member thereof, shall hear and determine as to the proper assessment of all property and persons subject to taxation in said townships, and shall take such action as will correct any irregularities that may be found to exist; and it is

FURTHER ORDERED, that any person affected, or liable to be affected, by said review of assessments may appear and be heard at the aforesaid hearing; and it is FURTHER ORDERED, that due notice be given of said hearings in accordance with law.

WITNESS our hands and seal this tenth day of August, 1917

Orlando F. Barnes,
Thomas D. Kearney,
Cass R. Benton,
Members of the Board of State Tax Commissioners.

Our Greatest Industrial Asset

An efficient railroad is the greatest industrial asset a community or state can possess.

It is the foundation of the whole industrial structure.

Business would become one gigantic paralytic but for the life-giving throb of the locomotive.

The New York Central Lines
"America's Greatest Railway System"

operating over 12,000 miles of railway in the most populous section of the United States, employing nearly 200,000 men and equipped with every device and facility for the safe and efficient handling of passengers and freight, are essential to the prosperity of the territory they serve.

To continue to render the public and the government efficient service demands constant expenditures of millions of new capital, for a railroad is never finished except in a community that is dead.

The necessary funds must be secured in competition with world-wide borrowing and only as the public and the government see to it that the railroads are granted rates that will provide a fair return and that regulation is constructive, will railroad securities attract new capital.

STENOGRAPHERS AND TYPEWRITERS WANTED

Men and Women.

Greatly increased demands for stenographers and typewriters in the United States Government service at Washington, D. C., owing to the present emergency, require frequent examinations. Appointments in large numbers are to be made as soon as eligibles are available. It is the manifest duty of citizens with this special knowledge to use it at this time where it will be of most value to the Government.

For the present, examinations for the Departmental Service, for both men and women, wll be held every Tuesday in 400 of the principal cities of the United States, and applications may be filed with the Commission at Washington, D. C., at any time.

The entrance salary ranges from $900 to $1,200 a year. Advancement of capable employees is reasonably rapid.

Applicants must have reached their eighteenth birthday on the date of examination.

The Government service offers a desirable field to bright and ambitious persons.

It is possible even probable, that at no distant date the number of trained stenographers and typewriters in the country will be less than the number of positions calling for such special knowledge. Obviously the thing to do is to encourage the training of MORE stenographers and typewriters. This is the point the Commission wishes to bring especially to your attention at this time. While there should, of course, be no relaxation in your efforts to obtain applications at once from those already trained all possible publicity should be given to the suggestion that young men and women who take up a course of stenography and typewriting are practically sure of an offer of Government employment at a salary from $900 to $1200 a year when they shall have qualified in the Commissions examinations. Furthermore, by so doing they will be serving their country in an hour of trial. The demand for stenographers and typewriters in the Government service is practically without limit, and there is no present prospect that it will soon be less.

Communicate with the district secretary Fred Dickinson for any information desired and for application blanks and any other printed forms needed.

OUR SOLDIER DEAD

Dear Sir:

Realizing long ago what a loss it would be if the bodies of our soldiers killed abroad were not immediately prepared so that they might eventually be brought back home for burial, we have worked hard with the Government to have this done. The War Department already has gone as far as the laws will permit. Hence, we have offered to supplement its work along lines similar to those of the Red Cross.

Unfortunately so far, only sufficient provisions has been made to about take care of the bodies of the highest officers.

A bill authorizing the acceptance of the Purple Cross is now in Congress and will come up for vote in a few days. It is vital that every member of Congress and of the United States Senate be impressed with the necessity for and the humane aspects of this work. Therefore I want to urge most insistently that you immediately write a letter to every member of Congress from your State and to every United States Senator from your State asking their earnest efforts to secure the passage of the Purple Cross House Bill No. 5410

Here is a list of Senators and Representatives of your State.

Write a letter to each one on the list and ask them to Vote for the Purple Cross House Bill 5410.

The following should be addressed House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Hon. Frank E. Doremus.
Hon. Mark E. Bacon,
Hon. John M. C. Smith.
Hon. Edward L. Hamilton.
Hon. Carl E. Mapes.
Hon. Patrick C. Kelley.
Hon. Louis C. Cramton.
Hon. Joseph W. Fordney.
Hon. James C. McLaughlin.
Hon. Gilbert A. Currie.
Hon. Frank D. Scott.
Hon. W. Frank James.
Hon. Charles A. Nichols.

The following should be addressed to U. S. Senate, Washington D. C.

Hon. William Alden Smith,
Hon. Charles E. Townsend.

If you wish to have your husband son or father, after falling upon the battle field sent home to you in a recognizable condition, do not hesitate but write every one of the men mentioned above at once. Otherwise, if this bill does not go through congress, your loved ones will be buried somewhere in Europe.

This is a grand work and should be endorsed by every reader

MICHIGAN STATE FAIR

Aug 31 to Sept 9

The golden harvest of Michigan's productive soil will be spread out in marvelous array as a token of what the state is doing to feed the nation.

Here will be exhibits of the five-acre food crops entered in the competition established with the object of stimulating a larger production of food crops. Liberal cash prizes will be awarded the winners in each class.

ENLARGED STOCK EXHIBIT

The rapid strides Michigan has taken as a stock raising state will be reflected in the mammoth exhibit of live stock, including the establishment of classes for Devonshire cattle, Persian fur and Poland China hogs never before exhibited at the State Fair.

To arouse a deeper interest in the breeding of prize stock the State Fair has instituted a Boys' Stock Judging contest for Michigan boys under 21 years of age.

BIG TRACTOR SHOW

Every variety of mechanical appliances found on the modern farm has a place in the huge exhibits of labor saving machines in the big Machinery Building. In the field adjoining there will be daily tractor demonstrations by the leading manufacturers in the country.

FLIGHTS BY RUTH LAW

Nothing has been spared in providing patrons of the Fair with the highest class of amusement features. Beginning with Ruth Law, the celebrated military aviatrice, the program includes such excellent attractions as: Louis Disbrow, champion auto race driver; Louis Gertson, most daring aviator in America; California Frank's pioneer Wild West Show, in daily free performances; Johnny J. Jones' refined Midway attractions and a complete bill of spectacular patriotic Fireworks.

All members of Board and all Department Directors, please do not forget the meeting at headquarters Tuesday at 7 p. m.

William Howard Taft says: "The Red Cross is the only recognized agency through which we may help to take care of the wounded of the Army and the nations that are fighting our battles. It is an admirable arrangement that some such avenue as that should be supplied to give vent to the patriotic desire of those who cannot go to the front, to work in behalf of their country and the world.

Every country has a Red Cross and every country must have it, because no army can furnish the instrumentalities adequate to meet the proportion of wounded that this war furnishes.

Think of it! Forty million with the colors; seven miillon dead; six million on beds of pain and the whole of Europe taken up with hostilities. You cannot exaggerate the function that our Red Cross will have to perform merely in attending to the wounded of our army and other armies in carrying on this fight. Therefore one hundred million dollars, great as the sum seems, is inadequate: but the first one hundred million dollars will be the hardest hundred miilion to raise. And we must leave no doubt about it; and I thank God that the organization is in such competent hands to do the great work that has to be done."

Jenny C. Law Hardy,
Publicity Director.

THE PITY OF IT!

This has been a strenuous time with our young men who have been called to report for examination at Adrian for service in our army Many are carrying sober faces as they realize the step which they have been called upon to take at this time and the whole community are grieving over the terrible necessity that is taking our noblest and best from us.

We as a nation are sending thousands to the trenches. Nobody is expected to like it, but we have to submit for the good of our country, for the preservation of our nation. We can only hope and pray that in His own good time God will bring our boys back to us, brave and true as when they left us and that the horrors of war will have been conquered and peace once more reign over the earth.

WHEAT GROWERS MEETING

The Co-Operative Association had a very successful Wheat Meeting in their hall Saturday evening. Dr. Chas. Waldron, president of the association introduced County Agent Coffeen and Professor Nicolson of M. A. C. and they gave some very interesting talks. The main points they tried to impress on the minds of the farmers present was the necessity of sowing the best of seed obtainable.

They spoke very highly of the Red Rock variety of wheat as it has proven itself a better yielder of the best quality of any variety in the state. They also explained the importance of treating of seed for smut and scab as the new grading of the market wheat required by the government will necessitate the farmers producing a much better quality of wheat if he expects to get anywhere near the first or second grade prices. They also advocate the sowing of Rosen Rye in the place of the common rye as the yield has been two or three times greater.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubolz says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

CARDINAL PIETRO GASPARI.

Papal Secretary of State Who Is to Quit His Post.

Cardinal Gaspari's decision to resign is said to be due in part to his poor health and partly to the desire of Pope Benedict to exercise more direct personal control over the vatican's policies. Cardinal Scapinelli, former papal nuncio to Vienna, is mentioned as his successor. Cardinal Gaspari is strongly pro-French in his sentiments and has been untiring in his efforts to effect a reconciliation between France and the Vatican. For eleven years he was a professor of the Catholic University of Paris.

Cheap and Dear Men.

In an interview with Darwin P. Kingsley a writer in the American Magazine reports:

"Suppose you explain, Mr. Kingsley, some of the differences between the $1,000 a year and the $5,000 a year man."

"Punch, faithfulness, capacity for work and inclination for it," returned the life insurance president, "make up the yardstick which measures most differences in salary. It's not at all difficult to spot the youth who has the makings of a winner.

"The $5,000 a year man, to begin with, is always on the job. He is too busy to watch the clock. He is likely to be quicker at his work than the man at the next desk, and he is always looking for more things to do. In a roomful of clerks the man who is always holloing for heavier tasks doesn't have to ask for promotions."

Counting Seconds.

An easy method of counting seconds that is sufficiently accurate for photographic purposes is to repeat a phrase that it takes one second to pronounce. The majority of people will require one second of time to pronounce the words one hundred and one as rapidly as clear enunciation will permit. The last word of the second should always indicate the number of seconds that have been counted. Six seconds, for instance, should be counted one hundred and one, one hundred and two, one hundred and three, one hundred and four, one hundred and five, one hundred and six. Many who use this method can count from thirty to sixty seconds without varying more than one or two seconds from the time recorded by a watch.

Butter From Bird Fat.

A queer sort of butter is obtained in Trinidad, where cows and cream are scarce. This butter is the boiled down fat of a bird called the guacharo. This bird lives in the darkest caves and seldom is seen in the daylight. The young birds are extremely plump, and from them is obtained the rich fat. The birds are taken from their nests when two or three weeks old. After they are killed they are put on to boil, not in water, but in their own fat. The natives experience some difficulty in getting at the nests of the guacharo, for they must creep through caves and wade through stagnant pools to reach their prey. The full grown guacharo is so timid that no one ever has been able to photograph a living specimen.

Odd Marriage Ceremony.

Polynesia is probably the only place in the world where the marriage feast takes place without the presence of the bridegroom. For some unexplained reason the young man is "sent into the bush" when negotiations are opened with the family of his bride, and he remains there during the subsequent festivities. It is only when the guests have departed and the girl is left alone with his parents that messengers are dispatched for him.

Spikenard.

Spikenard, or nard, mentioned by St. John xii, 3, and St. Mark xiv, 3, was a highly aromatic plant growing largely in the Indies. From this plant was made the valuable extract or unguent or favorite perfume used at ancient baths and feasts.

Not So Wrong.

A Russian applicant for naturalization papers was asked, "What is the constitution of the United States?"

"Rugged and healthy," he answered. Of course there is a laugh, but still he said something.—Washington Herald.

A Civil War Romance

Story For Memorial Day

By F. A. MITCHEL

We used to think the war between the states was the biggest fight the world had ever seen, and until the pan-European fight came, involving the whole civilized world, it was. The war of '61 is now so far behind us that it ranks in period with the war with Mexico, and comparatively few living took any part in it.

Then, too, the southern and northern people have been mingling for the fifty or sixty years since the war. Some northerners have gone south, and a great many southerners have come north. I ran across a story of the great contention the other day, bearing it on northern territory. The hero and the heroine were septuagenarians, but they showed me photographs of themselves that took me back to the days of their youth as effectively as if I saw them when they first met. This is the story:

In the spring of 1862 a division of the Federal army advanced through Bowling Green, Ky., to Nashville and thence to Murfreesboro. At the latter point the army waited while the railroad that had been broken up by the Confederates was being repaired. During the execution of this work the army, with the exception of those engaged in the work, was idle, and, since there was no enemy near, the soldiers were allowed a good deal of freedom.

One day Johnny Warfield, a youngster who had enlisted in the Federal army on the day he was eighteen years old, concluded that he would go out foraging for delicacies, the paymaster having been around. The spring was coming on, and Johnny enjoyed tramping independently with no file closer to tread on his heels and no officer to yell orders at him. The air was balmy, and the sun shone bright. Johnny bent his steps southward partly from curiosity and partly because there were no Confederate forces in the vicinity, and he was as safe in one direction as another, though he was safe nowhere beyond the Federal lines from those independent mounted troops called partisans or from the guerrillas, who robbed friend and foe alike.

Johnny stopped at several farmhouses for the purpose of purchasing eggs, butter, milk and other delicacies, but the women to whom he applied preferred to keep their supplies, when they had them, to themselves and refused to sell. So Johnny went on southward, rejoicing in the warm April sunshine, listening to the singing birds and the hum of insects, till he arrived at one of those double houses so common in the south, with an opening, a porch, between them. Looking over a rail fence that separated the house from the road, he saw a girl working a churn on the porch. She looked to be about fifteen years old, wore her dress not far below the knees, and her hair, held back by a semicircular comb, was cut square around her neck.

"May I have a drink of buttermilk?" asked Johnny.

The girl made no reply, but, taking a tin dipper hanging to a nail, lifted the cover of the churn, filled the dipper with buttermilk and handed it to him. He drank it off and, taking from his pocket some paper war currency issued by the United States government in lieu of silver, offered it to the girl. But she said a drink of buttermilk was not worth paying for and declined to receive the shinplaster.

Liking the looks of the girl, Johnny climbed the fence and went with her to the house. Seating himself in a rocking chair on the porch, he took out his pipe, filled it and sat smoking contentedly. He soon learned from her that he had struck a Union family, and the Unionists of the south were very bitter against their Confederate neighbors. Johnny was given whatever of food there was in the house and was not permitted to pay for anything.

"See hyar, my boy," said the mother of the girl, "ain't yo' takin' a risk comin' down hyar alone? Morgan passed along the road airly this mornin'." (John Morgan was the celebrated Confederate partisan leader.)

Johnny said he hadn't thought much about the risk. He had scarcely spoken the words when a distant tread of horses' hoofs was heard coming up the road. The girl looked at Johnny and turned pale. Her mother beckoned him, and he ran into the house and was secreted in the cellar. Morgan and his men passed the house without stopping and rode on to make one of those dashes against the Union pickets which were a common practice with them.

John did not risk a return to camp for several days, during which he was sheltered and fed by his hosts, the Torbert family, and when he did venture out on the road he was thinking more of Emily Torbert, with whom he had been companionable, than of his safety. When he got back to his command he found it had been supposed he had been captured by the men who had made the raid.

A year passed, during which Johnny Warfield marched with his command into northern Alabama. Then the Union army was driven back into Kentucky, and after the battle of Perryville it started south again. In the summer of 1863 Johnny Warfield found himself again in Murfreesboro. The railroad had again been destroyed by the Confederates, and the army, now a very large one, was again waiting while the road was being repaired. When this was done and the corn was ripe so that forage could be procured for the animals, the Federals moved on southward. A small battle occurred a short distance south of Murfreesboro, in which Johnny was wounded and carried into a house near by.

When he gathered his faculties what was his astonishment to see Mrs. Torbert standing beside his bed. He stared at her, momentarily thinking that he had never left the house. Then he realized that he was in the room in which he had slept when there before. To crown his surprise a girl came into the room whom he recognized as Emily. Her dress reached to the floor, and her hair had been permitted to grow and was done up in a knot on the back of her head. She was a year older than when John had left her, and in that year she had grown to be a woman.

Several other wounded men had been lodged at the house, but they all soon recovered and rejoined the army, which had marched on southward. John was badly wounded and was to have been sent back to a hospital at Murfreesboro. But at the time for his removal he was very low, and he was left where he was. He remained there some time, nursed by Mrs. Torbert and her daughter, before he recovered his strength.

There had been a change, so far as Emily was concerned, in the family affairs. A neighbor who was a soldier in a Tennessee regiment of Confederates had been at the house, had seen Emily and wanted her for his wife. He was thirty years old and heir to one of the best plantations in that region. Mrs. Torbert, realizing that he would be a good match for her daughter, had persuaded Emily to consent to marry him. At that time the Confederates were marching northward, but before Emily would assent to an immediate wedding the Federal troops had occupied Murfreesboro, and the Confederates had retreated to Tullahoma, leaving the space where the Torberts lived again debatable ground.

Shortly before John regained strength enough to rejoin his command a letter was received from Walter Bristow, Emily's betrothed, stating that he had received leave of absence to go to the Torbert plantation and claim his bride. He would be permitted to be absent but a day or two, after which he must rejoin his command, which had moved on south, followed by the northern army to Chattanooga. He would be obliged to pass around the Federal lines in order to reach the home of his bride.

John's reunion with the little southern girl had revived the feelings he had cherished when he had met her the first time. And, as for Emily, she had been captivated by the young soldier at the moment she saw him. When Johnny had left her after that first meeting she had never expected to see him again. But he had slipped into her heart and there lay, if not hopefully.

When the letter came from Bristow announcing that on a certain day he would come to claim his bride Emily collapsed. Her mother, ignorant of the fact that a love affair had grown up where she had arranged for an advantageous marriage, made no secret of the fact of the Confederate's coming and at once began to prepare apparel suitable for a bride. Johnny may have looked love to Emily, but he had never spoken it. The fact that a day was appointed for her to be given to another appalled him.

"Oh, Emily," he exclaimed, "don't do it!"

"I've promised!" she gasped.

Thus were the two suddenly plunged into a sea of difficulty.

"Maybe he won't come. He may not be able to get here," suggested Emily.

"If he is not here on time will you marry me?" pleaded John.

To this there was neither assent nor dissent. The lovers did not know what to do. A union between a soldier boy from a northern state to a portionless girl of Tennessee was not an especially practical act in itself, but when a man of means who, if killed in the war would leave her his property, was coming to marry her the situation was doubly complicated. John had not the assurance to ask the mother to give him her daughter under such circumstances, and Emily had no faith in her mother's permitting what would seem to be so ill timed a proceeding.

What they did was to hope the groom would not come. Indeed, he must take a great risk to do so. When the day came that he was to arrive the bride was arrayed in her wedding dress, and a country parson was engaged to perform the ceremony, for Bristow had written that he might dare to remain but a short time for fear of capture by the Federal troops. At 10 o'clock in the morning he was not there; at noon he had not arrived; at dark nothing had been heard of him.

Mrs. Torbert was angry.

"Come, Emily," said John.

"Where?"

"To the parson."

Emily yielded passively. The two slipped out, went to the parson and were married. Emily returned. John was not seen there again till the end of the war, which was two years later He found his wife waiting for him and took her to his home beyond the Ohio river.

Bristow on his way to claim his bride had been captured by Federal troops.

He was taken to a Federal prison north of the Ohio river, where he was confined till the end of the war and never could communicate with her.

It was hard for me, looking at the old couple, then at their likeness taken in wartime, to realize that they were the same couple.

Wanted to Help Him.

His kindness to his men once placed Dr. William H. Nichols in a predicament which caused him the worst mortification in his whole life, says a writer in Leslie's. The head of one of the concern's largest customers came to him and complained that he had been systematically cheated by short weighing of carboys containing acid. Dr. Nichols could not believe the allegation, but on going to the consumer's plant fifty carboys were weighed, and each was found ten pounds short. He promised to make an immediate investigation.

One employee was pointed out to Dr. Nichols as the man responsible for seeing that every carboy contained the proper quantity of acid. This employee Dr. Nichols would have trusted with his own money. But when questioned he colored up and stammered. Finally he blurted out:

"Mr. Nichols, the boys is very fond of you, and we wanted to help you."

The Diphthong.

Answering the question, "Why was the diphthong devised and why has it disappeared from general use?" the New York Sun says:

A diphthong is any two vowels that come together in the spelling of a word. Diphthongs were not deliberately devised any more than English spelling was deliberately invented. They have not disappeared from general use except in a few instances. In a "proper diphthong" the sounds of both vowels are retained, though merged in one syllable, as in "noise." An "improper diphthong" is one in which the sound of only one of the vowels is heard. "Eo" in "people" is an illustration. Such changes as have been made in diphthongs have aimed at keeping the vowel sounded. That is why some prefer to write "maneuver" in place of "manoeuvre." Then there is the simplified speller's favorite "thru."

Of Course.

"How did Blanche happen to marry an optician?"

"It was an optician that asked her." —Puck.

Woman and Her Beauty.

Woman is the master stroke of beauty. Woman is the jewel in the crown. No chisel ever carved such lines of softness; no painter ever put such luster in the eye. Nature molded cliffs and gave us twilights, gave us the horizon in the east and west; gave us the flowing, shimmering river that travels toward the sea; let the moonbeams glimmer on the tranquil ocean; gave us flowers with their fluffy petals, some soft and snowy white, others tinted all the colors of the rainbow. Yet when all has been looked upon, when all the landscapes have been viewed with wonder, man turns back to something stronger, turns back to that which soothes and heals, back to that which satisfies the eye and heartstrings—woman, the crowning glory of all revealed.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Start of Our Navy.

The United States navy has the distinction of being somewhat older than the government itself, for nine months before the actual Declaration of Independence congress authorized the construction of two "national" cruisers and appointed a committee to purchase vessels to form the nucleus of a fleet. Within three months of its appointment this committee got together fourteen armed vessels and appointed a personnel of officers, among whom was the famous old sea dog, John Paul Jones. During the war of the Revolution the infant navy captured as many as 800 prizes, but suffered so heavily that by the time peace was declared it had almost ceased to exist. A new start on a more ambitious scale was made in 1794.

The "Tawdry Saint."

St. Ethelreda has been unfortunate, inasmuch as her memory is perpetuated in the disagreeable adjective "tawdry," and she is sometimes even referred to as the "tawdry saint." In the Isle of Ely, where she died, a fair was formerly held in her honor, at which a peculiar kind of cheap but showy lace was sold, which, as St. Ethelreda's or St. Audrey's lace soon became proverbial and tawdry, an easy corruption of the saint's abbreviated name, was used to denote all things more gaudy than valuable.—London Chronicle.

FIRST TROOPS IN CAMP BY SEPT. 5

Four Dates Set for Entraining Civilian Army.

TO BE PATRIOTIC OCCASIONS

All Men Will Be in Camp by October 1st—Major Chiperfield Intimates That Some Tardy Exemption Boards Will Be Ousted—Heroic Steps Possible.

WASHINGTON — The new national army will be moved into cantonment camps beginning Sept. 5, Provost General Crowder announces. The first increment of thirty per cent will be moved Sept. 5. The second of thirty per cent Sept. 15, and the third Sept. 30. The remaining ten per cent will be moved to camps as soon thereafter as possible.

The dates specified for each movement of troops are for entrainment at home stations.

Final decision on mobilization dates for the first 500,000 men drawn indicates that virtually all of the first citizen army will be in training by the first week in October. Each mobilization day will be turned over to a patriotic demonstration.

To Entrain in 24 Hours.

The first day will be Wednesday, the second Saturday and the third will fall on Sunday. On the days named the men accepted for service will report to the local boards and will entrain for camp within twenty-four hours after they report.

They must present themselves in civilian clothes, with nothing but absolutely necessary baggage.

For many days the war department and railway experts have been working out plans for the great troop movement to camp. It is stated the men will go with the least personal inconvenience, but it will be necessary to send all in day coaches.

Tardy Exemption Boards Face Ouster.

CHICAGO, ILL. — Drastic action was threatened by Major Chiperfield against some of the exemption boards which deliberately lag, according to reports which reached the government's representative here.

Major Chiperfield and Major E. E. Irons, representing the medical division, toured district headquarters of the northwest side with the purpose of hurrying up the belated boards. If necessary, Major Chiperfield said, some of the boards would be replaced by others in order to rush the work to completion.

The major declared that the tardiness of some of the exemption boards was unjustified and that heroic steps would have to be taken to hurry them up.

James McDowell, sixty years old, committed suicide at his son's home at Ionia by shooting himself.

In a barn fire Burt Bullock of Charlotte lost three horses, this year's crop of hay and all his farm equipment.

Ezra Randolph, twenty-six years old, a farm hand at Carland, is dying as the result of a self-inflicted revolver wound over the heart.

John Ryan is dead at Detour and several others are seriously ill as a result of drinking bedbug poison which was taken for whisky.

George A. Tyler, seventy-eight years old, buglar for the First Michigan cavalry in the civil war is dead at Flint.

William Kaiser, Allen hotel proprietor, committed suicide by hanging himself.

U. S. HAND MOVING AFTER FLOUR TRADE

Sale of Wheat Products to Be Directed Through Hoover.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Creation of a grain control board within the food administration to supervise distribution of wheat and manufacture and sale of flour, will be announced within a few days. To the board will be delegated authority to carry out regulations governing wheat and flour, announced by the food administration.

President Wilson will issue a series of executive orders, giving the food administration powers conferred on the executive under the food control bill. The first will deal with wheat and flour and will direct the food administration to proceed Sept. 1 with the enforcement of the regulations announced Sunday night.

Wheat and flour are taken up first, it is said at the food administration, because the wheat crop is beginning to move, making it the most difficult problem to handle now. The movement of most other foodstuffs is about the same, month by month.

Preparation of a form of license, under which grain elevators and flour mills will operate after Sept. 1, was begun.

DESTROY 2 RAIDING PLANES

German Death Toll in Latest Attack on Britain Is 23.

LONDON, ENG. — Two of the German machines which Sunday evening raided the English southeast coast watering places were destroyed by British naval airplanes. The official statement issued by the government says that one of the machines was a Gotha airplanes and the other a seaplane.

Reports from various local correspondents indicate that probability the German airplane raid Sunday, which killed twenty-three, including nine women and six children, and wounded fifty, would have been much more serious but for the preparedness of the British defense.

Kentucky Mines Closed.

LEXINGTON, KY. — Reports reaching here are to the effect that every coal mine of a large size in the southeastern Kentucky district, or district 19, United Mine Workers of America, are closed down following the strike of between 17,000 and 20,000 men Saturday. The operators, according to the dispatches, have reiterated that the men are now drawing higher wages than ever before.

It is known that federal agents have been in the neighborhood several days and United States marshals in surrounding districts are keeping in close touch.

To Discuss U. S. and War.

WASHINGTON — Scandinavian countries are expected to hold a conference at which the main point of discussion will be the effect of America's entrance into the war. Information to this effect has reached here through official channels.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, Aug. 8.—The British made successful raid near Lombaertsyde in which they captured a few prisoners and a machine gun.

Russian troops are on the offensive in the Chotin region near the southeastern frontier of Galicia. They drove the Austro-German forces from two villages, captured a height and took more than 300 prisoners and four machine guns, the war office announces.

Thursday, Aug. 9.—Another gain of ground was made by French troops on the Flanders front, northwest of Bixschoote. North of Vaux les Palameix on the Aisne front, a French detachment cleared a Teuton trench, inflicting losses on the Germans, and returned to their own lines unhurt.

Strong forces of Russians and Roumanians endeavored to recapture ground taken from them north of Fokshani, in Moldavia, but all the attacks were repulsed with sanguinary losses. The number of prisoners taken by the Teutonic allies in these attacks has been increased to 3,300.

Friday, Aug. 10.—Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig's forces at daybreak captured virtually all the German forward positions east of the Belgian town of Hooge, on the battle front between Frezenburg and the Ypres-Menin road. The assaulting forces gained virtually all their objectives to the depth of several hundred yards in the first rush.

On the Roumanian front south of Aeruth and as far as the village of Solka the Teutonic allies conducted a series of attacks of considerable intensity. All were repulsed.

Saturday, Aug. 11.—Near the Russo-Roumanian frontier, the Austro-German troops were forced to retreat in places with the loss of 400 men in prisoners, in one case being pushed back across the Putna River

The Flanders battle has been raging violently east of Ypres. The British ground gained in the Westhoek region its entirety against six violent German counter-attacks. In addition, General Haig's troops, on the right flank, where the complete objective was not gained in the first attack, were able to move their lines forward during the night, gaining addition.

Sunday, Aug. 12.—The Russians and Roumanians repulsed strong Teuton attacks along the Fokshamn-Maraschti railroad, then counter-attacked and captured 1,200 Germans, only to retire later in the evening.

In southwestern Boldavia, the Russians smashed the Teuton lines and captured a number of prisoners and four guns.

In eastern Moldavia the Austro-Germans forced the Roumanians to retire to Ocna.

French troops resumed their counter attacks against the positions which the Germans had captured the night of August 9-10, north of St. Quentin. The ground previously first was reconquered in its entirety.

12,156 Cannon Taken by Germans.

AMSTERDAM — According to the Taegliche Rundschau of Berlin, the booty captured by the Germans up to July 26 includes 12,156 cannon, 1,655,000 rifles, 8,352 machine guns, 2,298 airplanes, 186 baloons and three airships.

Place Lumber Orders.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Orders for lumber for more ships have just been placed by the emergency fleet corporation with the Southern Pine Emergency bureau.

On the same day and only a few hours apart, sons were born at Flint to Mr. and Charles Terry and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Terry in the same house where Charles and Thomas Terry, brothers, and their wives, who are sisters, live. Both babies were the first born of their parents.

Sixty men who were convicted of failing to register at Negaunee under the draft law and of having conspired to keep others from registering were sentenced by Judge Sessions, two to Fort Leavenworth and the remaining fifty-eight to service in various jails [illegible] from fifty to ninety days.

MISSIONARY SHIP SUNK; 19 PERISH

Five American Passengers Are Among the Lost.

19 MISSIONARIES ARE SAFE

American Steamer City of Athens Hits Mine Near Cape Town, South Africa—Fifteen Passengers and Four of Crew Lose Lives—U. S. Concerned Over Campana Gunners Captured by Diver.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Five American passengers were lost when the American steamer City of Athens struck a mine and went down near Cape Town, South Africa, on Aug. 10, according to state department dispatches. Ten other passengers and four of the crew also were lost, the dispatches say.

The dispatches say four of the Americans were missionairies, and name Mr. and Mrs. Naygard, Miss Robinson and Caroline Thompson. The later is of the Methodist mission board. A Mr. Pointer of that mission was saved. Nineteen other missionaries of an organization with headquarters at 356 Bridge street, Brooklyn, were saved.

The fifth American who was lost was a Mr. Sumner, address not given.

In addition to those five, an Englishman named Duckworth, with his American wife and six children, also lost their lives. Mrs. Duckworth's father lives in Denver. His name has not been ascertained.

Nineteen Missionaries Saved.

The nineteen members of the American Inland Mission party reported saved are Arthur X. Davis, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago; William J. Gee, Bennett, Neb.; Miss Amelia Buchanan, Kewanee, Ill.; Miss Hulda E. Danielson, Moody Bible Institute; Miss Myrtle B. Wilson, Camden, N. J.; Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Bowe, Candy, Minn.; Rev. and Mrs. Earl I. Camp and two children, Holmes, N. Y.; Raymon L. Davis, Philadelphia; Verba B. Furness, Lyndonville, N. Y.; Benjamin F. Harter, Bible school, N. Y.; Miss Bertha Henry, Berwick, Pa.; Miss Florence M. Levy, Philadelphia; Miss Blanche Magnin, Darby, Pa.; Rev. C. H. Mount, Loneview, Tenn., and Mrs. Mount, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Rev. and Mrs. B. M. Scudder, East Charleston, Vt.

Fights U-Boat; Neither Hit.

NEW YORK — A half-hour engagement between a German submarine and an American steamship, off the coast of Ireland, July 31, was reported here. The ships exchanged shots, neither scoring a hit.

U. S. Concerned Over Gunners.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sinking of the American steamer Campana, a Standard Oil tanker, with the probable capture of her captain and four members of the naval guard by the attacking German submarine, has been announced by the navy department.

Coming rapidly on the heels of the reports of the brutality in the treatment of Americans of the British steamer Belgian Prince, who were drowned after surrendering by being placed on the back of the submarine, which submerged, leaving the helpless crew of the torpedoed craft on the submarine's deck to perish, the reports of the capture of the armed guard are viewed with very grave concern by American officials.

SINISTER HANDS IN COAL

Influence of Pro-German and I. W. W. Is Seen.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — That I. W. W agitators and German influences are responsible for the spreading strike of Illinois coal miners was the charge made by a high state official The official declared these influences have been at work for months among the miners.

A shut down of thirty-two of the forty coal mines in the Springfield district as the result of strikes among mine workers was the situation that faced Justice Orrin N. Carter, appointed coal director by Governor Lowden, when he called representatives of the coal mine operators, unions and state council of defence to a conference. This was the first move the director made in solving the coal situation.

U. S. Would End Strikes.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Chairman Peabody of the coal production committee of the national defense council and representatives of the United Mine Workers were in congerence in an effort to settle thirty-three strikes in Illinois coal mines. The miners' spokesman stated the men were eager to settle their differences in a manner that will not impede the war preparations of the government.

Deport I. W. W. Man.

RENO, NEV. — Fifty armed business men of Lovelock went to Rochester Mining camp at midnight, seized C. W. McKinnon, brother-in-law of W. D. Haywood, and an I. W. W. organizer, took him to Lovejoy and shipped him away to Ogden.

Eddie Lehto, the third man wanted in connection with the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth Nicholas of New York, for the killing of whom Arthur Waltonen, a former barber of Ironwood, recently suffered the death penalty at Sing Sing, has been located in Finland.

In response to an appeal for help from Manager Duncan, of one of the Cleveland Cliffs company's mines, near Ishpeming, Governor Sleeper ordered twenty-five members of the state constabulary, from Bessemer, to proceed at once to the Marquette iron range.

Thrusting out from under the door of her room in a Flint hotel, a note in which she accused a young man whose name the police withheld, of wronging her, a young woman, who had registered as Miss Caroline Day, of Cleveland, O., attempted suicide by swallowing poison.

BERLIN FALSIFIES IN KAISER NOTE DENIAL

Wilson Gives Out Text Sustaining Gerard's Statement.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The German emperor's cablegram of Aug. 14, 1914, to President Wilson, in which the kaised declared that Belgium's neutrality "had to be violated on strategical grounds," was made public officially by the state department for the first time.

The state department gave out the message, which was quoted and commented upon by former Ambassador Gerard in his new book, after the receipt of dispatches from Berlin stating that the existence of the cablegram had been denied.

GOOD ALTERNATIVE, THOUGH

Neutrals Protest the Drafting for Army of "First Paper" Aliens.

WASHINGTON — Protests have been made to the state department by representatives of the neutral countries against the drafting for foreign service of aliens who have taken out their first naturalization papers.

The point has been raised by at least one of these countries that if "a first-paper alien" makes objection he should be at least given the opportunity of returning to his own country within a reasonable time.

3,000 Coal Miners Return to Work.

TERRE HAUTE, IND. — More than 3,000 miners of the Clinton field, who have been on strike as a result for better car service in transportation to and from work, will return to the mines. The men accepted the temporary arrangement of the railway company to put ten new passenger cars in service and obtain others at soon as possible.

Summer Boarders.

Summer boarders are people who spend several weeks in the country each summer longing for a trip home. They are usually very witty persons and make comical remarks to the farmer. Aside from the board they pay him the farmer cleans up a tidy sum each summer by sending the things his boarders say to the comic weeklies. A summer boarder can merely look at a cow and quick as a wink he will say something funny. The farmer puts this down in a book he always carries around with him. In the course of a couple of weeks he has several pages of good jokes to sell at his own rates. If you board with a farmer any summer say some funny things to him about the cows or the pigs. If he keeps a horse always poke fun at his horse. He will laugh at the funny things you say. Then he will go in and open up a can of fresh country peas out of his own cellar so that when you go back to the city you will miss the country vegetables. When you leave be sure and tell him how you enjoyed the country eating so that he can laugh some more.—Philadelphia Star.

Respect the Children.

Don't call the children kids. A kid is a goat, and, while goats are all right in their way, children are better. The dictionary says "kid" applied to a child is slang. And so it is. It depreciates the child. There is no sense in taking away the dignity of a child by calling him an animal. We must keep up the human relation, where respect, sympathy, love dwell. The older people may overlook the false appellation, but it stays with the child and makes him feel, after all, that he is only a little goat and that his fond delight is in eating old rags and paper boxes. Really the child is an angel rather than a goat and is entitled to the sweet considerations that belong to a human being, and if he does not get these it is very likely he will be a sort of goat all his life. So drop the "kid" vocabulary and give the child every chance to be a true human.—Columbus State Journal.

The Largest Insect.

The grasshopper has a cousin who is the largest insect in the world. He is called the cyphocrane and makes his home principally in Java and Sumatra. This greatest of small creatures is twelve inches long and during his lifetime gets a new skin upon seven or eight occasions. And each time he sheds his skin he grows a bit larger. If the process were continued long enough he doubtless would grow up.

The cyphocrane is described as having a bulging head of a deep green color spotted in brown, with eyes of bright green crossed by fine brown stripes. The body of this insect is disproportionately large and brilliantly colored, says an exchange. The legs are similar to those of the mosquito, having the power to draw blood from a victim. The cyphocrane is a particularly annoying and dangerous pest.

What His Scrap Book Tells.

I take down my old scrap book, wherein I have pasted certain clippings to the number of about 6,000. Among them are references to gents who elope, relate meteorological reminiscences of the years agone, tote amulets to ward off pestilences or boast of their distinguished ancestry; items about men who blow down the muzzles of guns, race with limited trains for railroad crossings and insist upon advising the president and many others of their silly ilk. When I have perused the battered tome for an hour or so I feel greatly refreshed, for I realize that I am not more than half as big a fool as other people seem to think I look.—Festus Pester in Kansas City Times.

Old Time Virginia Taverns.

So universal in the early days in this country was the custom of free entertainment that it was a law in Virginia that unless there had been a distinct agreement to pay for board and shelter no pay could be collected from any guest, no matter how long he remained. In the few taverns that existed the prices were low, about a shilling a dinner, and it was ordered that the meal must be wholesome and good.—Exchange.

Unfortunate Beginning.

Sometimes, to be sure, the opening is so unfortunate as to incur instant resentment and positively invite refusal. Take the case of the diminutive man of kindly appearance who was accosted in the loop by a seedy purist with the words:

"Sir, I am looking for a little succor."

"Well," snorted the wearer of the size 13½ collar, "do I look like one?"—Atlanta Journal.

A Misconductor.

The Poet — So you've disposed of your little Pomeranian? I thought you were so fond of him? The Violinist—Yes, but I had to decide between him and my art. Every time I played a nocturne on my instrument he wagged his tail in ragtime.—New York Globe.

A Disembodied Spirit.

"Do you think you can pull me through, doctor?"

"Yes, but you will have to get behind yourself and push." — Birmingham Age-Herald.

Particular Spot.

"Did the prisoner strike you in the height of exasperation?"

"No, sir; just between the eyes."—Baltimore American.

It is as impracticable to tie up the tongue of malice as to erect barricades in the open fields.—Don Quixote.

RED CROSS NEWS

All Department Directors are notified that all finished articles, which have been inspected and approved by them, should be sent to Local Branch Headquarters before Saturday of each week. Please notify Mr. Widdifield and he will attend to transportation.

All Department Directors are notified that requisitions for material or supplies from Chapter Headquarters at Adrian or from local merchants should be communicated to Miss Phelps at Local Branch Headquarters between 12:00 and 2:00 p. m. any day except Sunday. Miss Phelps will see that the material is procured and delivered.

Department Directors, please take special notice. Hereafter all general directions to Department Directors will be communicated through the Red Cross notes in the papers. Please watch each issue.

The Rev. J. C. Widdifield has accepted the office of Director of Transportation. This department will undertake to supply and attend to all the different classes of transportation required in connection with our Red Cross work, and if you want anything moved from one place to another, all you have to do is to notify Mr. Widdifield and to give him particulars and he will see that it is done. There will be enlisted into service a corps of boys with hand carts for light package work around town. Mr. Montgomery and Mr. Shaw have volunteered for the heavier work in town and we will arrange for volunteer automobiles for transporting goods between Tecumseh and Adrian.

Please bear in mind that this service, like all other Red Cross work is strictly volunteer and help as much as you can to economize the time and effort of those who are doing it.

The Rev. J. C. Widdifield requests all boys who are willing to take packages around town in their hand carts to communicate with him, either personally or by telephone, No. 293. You will wear Red Cross badges.

Mr. Widdifield also appeals for the use of volunteer automobiles to take goods to the Adrian Headquarters. If you can give your car for certain hours on certain days, please say so, or if you are going to Adrian and have room for parcels, can you not notify Mr. Widdifield a few hours before hand, or the day before? Do not wait for another appeal, we would like to have a nice list of volunteer auto owner's names for the next issue of this paper.

The west side of the ground floor of the Patterson House has been secured for Red Cross Headquarters. There are five rooms, one of which will be a clerical and reception room, another will be used for surgical dressings, a third will have a large high table built in for the use of the cutters of garments. One room will be a work room and the fifth will be for storing materials and finished goods.

A meeting of the Executive Board and all Department Directors was held at Headquarters on Tuesday to ascertain what space each particular officer needed and to apportion the new duties among those willing to assume them. Mr. Chas. Burridge was in the chair and about 20 were present. Mrs. B. J. Pulver will superintend the cleaning out of the rooms and Dr. Pauline Bredow and Miss Phelps offered to look after their own rooms.

Mrs. B. J. Pulver appeals for volunteers to help clean out the new headquarters on Monday or Tuesday of next week. She asks people not to be backward about offering their services for a good deal of help is needed from both men and women. We will also need janitor service after we are located. Please 'phone Mrs. Pulver, No. 198, or put your name on file at the present headquarters before SATURDAY EVENING.

Mrs. Lavern Bidwell has 151 pillowcases torn and would like helpers to make them. Tel. 241.

Mrs. Helen Clark at Headquarters needs volunteers to sew rags together for snippings. If you have an hour or two to spare, do drop in.

Dr. Pauline Bredow, who will have charge of the surgical dressing room, appeals for a donation of oilcloth or linoleum and for eight chairs, an old bureau to keep finished dressings in, or other suitable furniture. These goods will be returned to donors, when the war is over.

Dr. Pauline Bredow also appeals for volunteers to make surgical dressings. This work is very interesting, and is not hard on the eyes, besides you will be making the identical things that will go on the soldiers wounds, the men who have been hurt at the front.

One of the workers we are proud of is Mrs. Beamish, a lady of 86, who has knitted four pairs of beautiful socks. It takes these veterans to show us how to work.

Mrs. M. C. Widdifield is a new member.

We have received a donation of 5 lbs. of wool fom Harlow Smith.

We are in receipt of a second installment of material from Tipton, and one from Dundee, to be cut into snippings by our snipping machine, we still hold out our offer to snip free, for all other Red Cross branches.

The Red Cross company will give a concert on the four corners in Tecumseh, on Wednesday evening, Aug. 29th, at the same time as the usual performance has always taken place We intend to have some out of town talent for the occasion. As usual a silver collection for the Red Cross donation fund will be taken. Miss Camilla Hayden, chairman of the collecting committee, has organized a committee of twenty charming young girls, who will wear Red Cross badges and will do the collecting.

The same company will give a concert in Seneca.

The Patriotic League has received $4,320 to date. This is seventeen hundred dollars less than their assessment. The committee, being composed of very busy men has not yet been able to make a systematic campaign for funds, also they thought that there would be more enthusiasm when the boys began to go. They are however going to start very soon. to bring the amount up to the $6,000 we have to raise in Tecumseh Township. Think this over, talk it over with your husband or wife and be ready to sign up when the committee calls on you. We do not want Tecumseh to be the only township to fail in patriotism. He who gives early gives twice, and prevention is better than cure. It is cheaper for us to subscribe liberally now, to beat Germany, than to have to fight her on our shores, and to subscribe perhaps to redeem a few devasted and ruined states on the coast. Mr. Herbert Temple is the chairman for the Patriotic League.

You may perhaps think that we are begging all the time; so we are, and we are going to continue it, it is a great deal less than has been asked of martyred Belgium, of France bled white, of England that has lost the flower of her young men, we need the help and money of every American Citizen.

Jenny C. Law Hardy,
Publicity Director.

ORDER

DR. HAMMEL UNDER FIRE FROM SUBMARINE

Interesting Letter From First Tecumseh Man To Go To France.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Hammel we print the first letter received by her from Dr Hammel since he arrived in England and which was dated Aug. 1st, London, Eng , knowing that it will be of interest to his many friends here.

At last, in London! And it was some exciting trip, too I know what it is to have an enemy's shell fall fifty feet from me! The details I will write on a small slip of paper which I shall attach to the last sheet of this letter and then, if the censor won't let it go through, he will not have to cut anything out.

I surely enjoyed the salt baths on the ship. We saw sharks once and saw porpoises playing in the water nearly all the way across.

The meals were very good except the cold storage chicken. I was rather lucky and did not get seasick once.

Our favorite diversion was to watch for ships and submarines. We also sighted a whale one day.

One of the most beautiful sights that ever struck my eye was when one morning we were obliged to take refuge from submarines in an Irish port The hillsides looked like a giant mosaic, the fences between the fields being hedge. The whole country was "as green as an emerald."

On this trip I saw many things, German floating mines, English warships, torpedo boats, English dirigible balloons, aeroplanes, etc.

We arrived in an English port late last night and debarked this morning. I sent you a cable the first thing There sure was a great scramble to send cables.

We took the "express" here, London. I have so much on my mind I can hardly think. This is a very wonderful hotel and we are at the expense of the English government.

The officer here who has charge of us says that we will probably know in forty-eight hours where we will go—in all probability to the front in France

Submarine attack not cut out by the censor:

A submarine attacked us near the end of our journey and fired 50 shots at us. They fired all about our ship, but none hit us One exploded above the ship Our gunners opened up and fired 40 shells. We put one of their guns out of commission They were three miles away I guess I had better not say more, maybe this won't get thru

RESEARCH CIRCLE

Mid-Summer Meeting.

Tuesday, Aug 14, the Research Circle held its annual mid-summer meeting at the home of Mrs Otis Sisson

There were some thirty of the members present and a very interesting patriotic program of music and recitations was given as follows:

Song, "America"

Curious Facts about the Declaration of Independence—Mrs. A C. Bryan

There is Something in a Flag—Mrs Floyd Bryan

History of the Flag—Mrs. Andrew Wilson

Francis Scott Key and our National Anthem—Miss Mary Whitelock

Singing, "The Star Spangled Banner."

A fine picnic supper followed which everyone enjoyed, the dining room presenting a very attractive appearance.

As the evening shadows gathered, the guests left for their homes, each having spent a most enjoyable time and looking forward to their meetings of the ensuing season with great pleasure.

SECOND CALL MADE

334 LENAWEE COUNTY MEN EFFECTED BY THIS CALL

A List of the Men Notified in this Locality will be Found Below.

Notices have been sent to 334 men in the county to appear before the draft boards in the City of Adrian for examinations to determine their eligibility for service in the first National Army. A previous call summoned 418 men but, because a large proportion of these were found physically disqualified, a second call was found necessary to make up the full quota which Lenawee County must furnish for the army.

Examinations are to be held in the City of Adrian next Monday and Tuesday by the board of examiners for the First District and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for the Second District.

All men who have received such notices must present themselves before their board for examination. If in case the eligible is sick and unable to appear before the board, he must have placed in the hands of the board before that date an affidavit from his physician, certifying his illness and a like affidavit from a member of his family who shall report to the board. Men who fail to appear before the board are automatically drafted without further recourse or opportunity for exemption.

A list of the men effected by this call and who must present themselves before their board for examination, who live in this locality, follows:

EDNA VANVLEET

Miss Edna VanVleet, who passed away Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock, was the daughter of Mr and Mrs Edgar VanVleet. She was born in Ridgeway and while yet a child moved with her parents to the farm home just east of Tecumseh where she spent her life.

She was quiet and reserved, delighting most to administer to the comforts of the loved ones in the home circle.

Father and Mother in their declining years have lost a prop. Brothers and sister have lost a counselor and friend.

In the four months and more of her sickness, she never complained and was always eager to have her friends come in to see her.

Everything was done for her that love and money could do but the message came and she, obeying passed on to her reward.

The funeral services were conducted at the home Thursday morning, Rev. W. B Hartzog officiating. The profusion of flowers which covered her casket bore mute testimony from her loving friends.

It may be truly said of her

"She lived for those who loved her,
For those whose hearts were true,
For the Heaven that smiled above her
And the good that she could do.

"Through our life our cares she lightened,
Helped to bear each ache and pain.
Her whole life was for her loved ones,
All for us who now remain."

Miss Veyla Hendershott is home from Detroit for a visit with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Hendershott.

OFF FOR CAMP

The 9 o'clock train Wednesday morning brought a wave of sorrow as it passed through Tecumseh, for Co. B, of our Michigan troops were enroute at Camp Grayling and from there we know not how soon they will be sent to France.

Brave mothers with streaming eyes gave their sons a fond farewell, fathers, brothers and sisters gave the hand of parting to their loved ones, sweethearts and friends with tearful eyes watched the train as it moved on its way with its cargo of soldiers, who go to fight our battles on foreign fields. And the solemn prayer was echoed from every heart, "O God bring them back to us safely and end this cruel war."

And it is a cruel war for it breeds hatred in our hearts where love should abound, brotherly love is swallowed up in the fierce struggle for revenge for the brutal work that has been wrought upon the helpless women and children. The innocent ones, who have had to be sacrificed, at the behest of the tyrant, who is at the head of the army of the enemy.

There is an unfaltering faith in the world, that Providence in its own good time and in its own way, will punish these murderers of the innocent, these ravagers of the world, these disturbers of the peace.

Tecumseh people sent a big basket of tobacco, cigarettes, etc., into the cars for the boys, with their compliments and hopes for their speedy return to their country and their homes.

LAMKIN REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lamkin entertained the members of the Lamkin family for their 8th annual reunion Saturday. A bountiful picnic dinner was served to about 60 guests. This was followed by a musical program and a business meeting when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year.

Pesident—Ira Lamkin.
Vice President—Edward Pawson.
Sec. and Treas.—Rosalind Helm

Later in the afternoon ice cream and cake were served.

Those present from away were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kentner and son of Painesville, Ohio, Mrs. W. J. Helm and Rosalind of Vermontville, Mich., Mrs. Thos. Birdsall and two children of Defiance, O., Mrs. J. S. Butrick and daughter of Adrian, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Lamkin, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lamkin, Detroit, Mrs Henry Ruggles and Muriel Nelson of Three Rivers.

Each one reports a most delightful time and look forward to another yera with bright anticipation.

Dr. George M. Lochner of Adrian who has many friends in Tecumseh, has received a captains commission. He is in the Medical corps.

DURING THE HEAT OF SUMMER

Housekeepers should take things as easy as possible. The Cooking and baking should be reduced to a minimum.

We are able to help out a lot on this work-reducing plan—because we have a nice variety of ready-to-eat eatables that make the prepartion of a summer meal almost no work at all.

We have Canned and Potted Fish, Meat and fowl, about all the best lines there are.

We have all the seasonable Fruits that are so healthful in summer.

We have those Biscuit dainties that make baking unnecessay in hot weather.

In fact, many a meal can be chosen here all ready to eat. Thus we lighten housekeeper's work on hot days.

RAYNOR K. ANDERSON SELECTED

Tecumseh Business Man Notified to Report to Fort Sheridan August 27, 1917.

H. H. Hanna, Jr. on List of Alternates

Word has been received by Raynor K. Anderson from Major Frank L. Wells, examining officer for the Department of Michigan and located in Detroit, that he has been selected for the Officer's Training Camp and has been ordered to report at Ft. Sherdan August 27th.

In Michigan there were about 3,000 applications for this second camp and out of these applications 625 men were chosen. An alternate list of 62 was selected to fill any vacancies that might occur because of any of the first list failing to report. H. H. Hanna, Jr. stands 16 on this list and stands a fair chance of being accepted.

Mr. Anderson is one of our prominent business men having been connected with the firm of Webster Anderson Co. for a number of years, and holds the office of secretary and treasurer in this company at the present time.

He has for a long time back felt a keen interest in military matters and the Herald congratulates him in being chosen for the Ft. Sheridan camp, and, if he is fortunate in getting a command in the new army, we feel certain that he will fill his new position with credit to the army that he will pledge himself to serve.

H. H. Hanna Jr. has been the local agent in Tecumseh for the American Express Company for the past several years and is one of our promising young business men.

BARGAIN DAY

Again the elements were in our favor and Wednesday was a perfect day. There was but a small crowd on our streets in the afternoon for our farmer friends were too busy to spend any time in pleasure, but in the evening they were out in force, enjoying the entertainment and visiting with their freinds.

The entertainment was an unusually good one. The Crazy Quilt performers had a variety of stunts which were given in a crazy manner much to the amusement of the crowd. The contortionist was wonderful and tied himself into all sorts of shapes, but the cream of the performance was the three roller skaters who gave some great stunts in high and lofty tumbling, hand balancing and others too numerous to mention. Taking from start to finish, the program was an excellent one, and the Tipton Band was not the least of the pleasures of the evening.

Lieut Raymond Mills is home on a furlough from Ft. Sheridan. Our street looks quite military with so many of our boys in their Khaki suits, who are home on leave.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Crane are entertaining their son Ronald Crane and wife of Evanston, Ill. Mr. Crane is professor in the English department, of the Northwestern University.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Schreder, Mrs. Leon Schreder and son, Harold, Mrs. Ed Pangle and baby son attended the Smith—Lester family reunion yesterday at the home of Albert Smith in Adrian.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Wilson and son, Clare, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fagan were at Devils Lake, Wednesday. The men went fishing without a doubt, and the ladies attended the county convention of the Lady Maccabees.

The Presbyterian youngsters and also their families and teachers, not forgetting the minister and the rest, had one big day at Sand Lake Tuesday. A bountiful dinner was no small feature of the occasion and the kidlets took to the water like ducks, while their elders enjoyed an afternoon visiting. After a supper, which about cleaned out the baskets all came home tired but happy and the day had passed without an accident.

SEVERAL ACCIDENTS TO TECUMSEH PEOPLE

Elmer Harris has Leg Broken—"Uncle Tom" Lowry hit by Auto—John Hubbard Suffers Broken Arm.

Elmer T. Harris met with quite a serious accident Tuesday while threshing at the farm of C. A. Dibble in North Adrian. He was taken with a dizzy spell and fell to the ground, a distance of some 12 feet.

As he fell his leg was caught in the belt and he was carried over the pulley, striking on his head and shoulders. One leg was broken between the ankle and knee and he was badly bruised by his fall. Drs Bland and Miller of Adrian rendered the necessary aid.

As "Uncle Tom" Lowry was crossing the street Wednesdpy afternoon. he was struck by a car driven by Mrs Greenfield and thrown quite a distance. He was picked up and taken to his home by John B. Smith. A doctor was called and made him as comfortable as possible.

In his feeble condition the shock alone would have a serious effect and the shaking up will lay him up for awhile

John Hubbard, a Civil War veteran, 85 years of age, had the misfortune to fall down cellar Wednesday at his home in Brownville and sustained a broken arm and other bruises. The break was near the wrist. Owing to his advanced age, the shock was quite enough to lay him up for awhile.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubolz says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients and free from any harmful drugs.

A Mistake

The Story of How Two Sisters Were Reunited.

By PAULINE D. EDWARDS

Although the Horner sisters had lived in the same house for forty years, during twenty of those long years they had not exchanged a word.

No one in Rosedale knew why Abigail had suddenly taken up her residence in the north wing of the old house and Sophia had settled her belongings in the sunny south half. At the time conjecture had been rife, but the nine days' wonder had settled into a strong conviction that they had disagreed over the "prop'ty," for it was shortly after old Judge Horner's death that the estrangement began.

Every Sunday morning the sisters stepped primly down the graveled path to the gate and in wordless silence wended their way to church and up the aisle to the Horner pew. In vain had the pastor remonstrated with them singly and together. While open to reason and conviction on every other point, they were dumb regarding the cause of their wordless strife.

It was June now, and Sophia was digging among her pansies. She was slight and pale, with a pleasant, mild face that now and then startled one by settling into firm lines around the mouth. Abigail's features were cast in a sterner mold, and the lines about her mouth were deeper, and this characteristic feature in both sisters was known as "Horner spunk," and it was generally agreed that "Horner spunk" was at the root of the trouble.

Abigail stood under the cedars with a copy of the county paper in her hand. She was slowly reading an article for the fifth time:

> The Rev. Paul Weemers, pastor of the Park Methodist church, New York, will preach in the First church at Rosedale on Sunday evening next. It will be remembered that the First church of Rosedale was Mr. Weemers' first charge, and his return will be the occasion of much pleasure to his old friends and parishioners. Mr. Weemers will be accompanied by his wife.

She looked across the boxwood hedge into Sophia's garden. The news would interest Sophia as well as herself. Abigail thought of this as she stood there looking at Sophia's stooping form. There was a certain stern integrity about Abigail that urged her to break the long silence and to impart the news she had read to her sister. There was an underlying tenderness, too, toward her younger sister that the bitter resentment of years could not destroy. She resolved that Sophia should not be taken unawares.

She leaned over the hedge and dropped the newspaper under Sophia's nose.

Sophia squeaked with surprise as the paper rattled among the pansies, and there was blank astonishment in her nearsighted eyes as she lifted them to gaze upon the grim, uncompromising face of her sister.

The latter pointed to the paper with an old time gesture of command, and Sophia, adjusting her spectacles, sought the wrong page with agitated eagerness. Then she turned the sheet and presently a nervous cluck and the dull reddening of her cheek announced that she had found the item. In her excitement the younger woman spoke. "He will call," she said softly, as if to herself.

The next day was Saturday, and all day long Sophia's lavender muslin hung on the clothesline, bending and swaying in the soft west wind like a misty wraith of Sophia herself. Abigail looked sternly upon the dress. She had been on her way to the front chamber to look over a well preserved summer silk, but the sight of the dress seemed to proclaim the boldness of Sophia—a boldness that was unexpected and that seemed to rouse a stern maidenliness in the older woman. She reddened darkly and went hastily downstairs again.

In the solitude of her own front room she sat and thought. The stern upbringing of the Horner girls had discouraged the coming of suitors, and it was not until after their father's death that Paul Weemers came to preach at the First church. He had been equally attentive to both sisters, and it was perhaps natural that each should believe herself to be the preferred one and the other an interloper. When Paul received a call to a larger parish he came to say goodby, and when he asked old Hannah if Miss Horner was in the sisters appeared simultaneously. Suddenly Abigail was called away, and when she returned to the parlor the young minister had gone and Sophia was standing at the window with a bewildered look on her pretty face.

Then a white rage had taken possession of Abigail, and her tongue had loosed upon the frightened Sophia, who turned fiercely with upbraiding contradictions. After that scene, which no one witnessed, began the long silence. As her thoughts wandered back to the past she knew she had been unjust to her sister, for really neither of the sisters had any real reason for thinking Mr. Weemers was in love with her, which made Abigail's outbreak toward her sister all the more unjustifiable. It was of these things that Abigail was thinking.

The next day was Sunday, and Sophia stepped down the path alone, her worn hymn book clasped in her mittened hands. She cast many anxious, backward glances at the north wing, where Abigail's stern profile was outlined against the windowpane. She was bent over the pages of a religious journal, and it was evident she did not intend to go to church that mornin. Sophia went on alone, swinging her fresh muslin skirts and holding her head rather high, quite unaware that Abigail was watching her with accusing eyes of mingled pity and resentment.

Sophia did not know why she was hurrying to church that morning with a pink spot in either faded cheek, but her heart beat quickly, and she was conscious of a pleasant excitement at the idea of seeing Paul Weemers again. That was all. She fluttered the leaves of her Bible as she waited for the service to begin. She wondered vaguely where Mrs. Weemers would sit and concluded that she was the fashionably attired woman who sat in the minister's pew. She was a plump, pretty woman, with dark hair waving back from a fresh, youthful complexion. Then Paul Weemers came in, and Sophia gasped with surprise. He was rather stout and much older, and his hair and beard were quite gray.

The next morning while the sisters were attending to their separate household duties the doorbell tolled dismally. Abigail went into the front hall and, peering through the side window light, saw a man in clerical garments accompanied by a woman. She paused for a moment with a hand on the knob; then she opened the door.

"Now, Miss Abigail, I don't believe you recognize me," exclaimed the man heartily. "I didn't see you in church yesterday, although I am sure that I recognized your sister."

"Mr. Weemers, isn't it?" asked Abigail coldly. "Won't you come in?"

"Yes, and this is my wife; my dear, this is Miss Horner, one of my old friends and parishioners."

"I have heard my husband speak of you and your lovely old house, Miss Horner," said the lady pleasantly.

They went into Abigail's cool parlor.

"Where is Miss Sophia?" inquired Mr. Weemers with evident interest.

"I will call her," said Abigail reluctantly.

She stepped across the hall and opened Sophia's door. That was the signal when there was company for both.

"Don't you care, Sophia," she whispered with fierce intensity as her sister followed her into the room.

Sophia was visibly agitated. She stammered greetings to the minister and his wife, which Abigail tried to cover by commonplace remarks, but there was an atmosphere of constraint over the four people.

"Will you have some refreshment?" asked Abigail presently. "It is a very warm day," she observed. She left the room and presently returned with foaming glasses of root beer and a plate of freshly cut sponge cake. She ate nothing herself, but looked intently from her sister to Mr. Weemers and then at the minister's wife.

The latter set down her glass. "Do you know, Miss Horner, that when my husband told me he was coming to Rosedale on Sunday I was delighted. The first thing I said was, 'Now I shall see the Horner teapot!'"

Abigail's face softened. "So he remembered our teapot?" she asked.

"Yes, indeed. I have a mania for old china, and Paul shares the mania. He has spoken of the teapot as such a lovely example of willow pattern, and I told him I positively must see it."

Abigail went to a walnut cabinet and brought forth a large blue and white teapot. It had been in the Horner family for many generations and was a treasured heirloom.

"How perfectly lovely!" exclaimed Mrs. Weemers, while her husband hung over it in silent admiration. Suddenly he straightened back in his chair and laughed heartily.

"You do not know, Miss Abigail, how hard I strove one day, many years ago, to ask you to sell me that famous teapot. I had seen it and succumbed to its beauty. I remember, just a day or so before I left Rosedale, I called to say goodby and at the same time to ask if you would sell it, but I realized my presumption and hardly hoped you would do so. I tried to broach the subject, but somehow I couldn't seem to make any headway. I recollect that you were called from the room, and I tried to approach your sister on the subject, but she seemed to want to talk of everything except the teapot, so I gave it up and went away. I wrote to you once and asked about it, but as I never heard from you I presume the letter went astray."

Abigail and Sophia were looking at each other over the blue teapot. There was a startled expression in Sophia's eyes, while Abigail looked pityingly at her sister.

Abigail found her voice first. "My sister and I would like to give you the teapot, Mrs. Weemers," she said, with decision in her tones. "There is no one to care for it after we are gone, and you and your husband seem to prize it so highly we would like you to have it."

"But—we cannot—it is too much"—stammered Mrs. Weemers.

"Oh, yes!" cried Sophia eagerly. "You must take it. We want you to have it. Abigail and I have so many old fashioned things."

Abigail left the room to wrap the teapot in paper and to escape the effusive thanks of the delighted Weemers. Sophia followed her sister, trembling with some unexplained emotion.

Removing the lid, Abigail thrust her hand into the teapot and drew forth a yellowed envelope. She held it toward Sophia.

"It's yours," she said shortly.

"No; it's yours," returned Sophia.

"If it's mine," said Abigail in grim tones, "I'll burn it up." And she thrust it into the stove.

"Shall we have tea together in the big dining room tonight, Abigail?" asked Sophia timidly.

"Of course we will," said Abigail.

U. S. AIR RAIDER FAILS TO RETURN

American Aviators Played Part in Attacked on Teuton Plants

MEET FEW GERMAN MACHINES

American Airman Believed to Have Brought Down Opponent in Vast Attack in Which 28,000 Pounds of Explosives Are Dropped on Kaiser's Military Establishments, Railway Stations and Encampments.

Paris, Aug. 20.—The Lafayette squadron, composed of American aviators, played its part in the French air raids reported in the official communication in which it was announced 28,000 pounds of bombs and explosives had been dropped on German military establishments, railroad stations and encampments.

Corporal Harold Willis of Boston, a member of the squadron, has not returned from the raid, which resulted in a number of aerial fights with the Germans.

Two groups of chasers were chosen from the ranks of the Lafayette squadron, commanded respectively by Lieutenant Raoul Lufbery of Wallingford, Conn., and Adjutant Didien Masson of San Francisco, which traveled proctectingly to the right and left of a bombing machine as it entered enemy territory across the Rhine. Another group from another squadron followed in the rear.

Meet Few Germans.

The groups, however, saw few German machines. The Lufbery command obtained most of the action and Aviator Dudley Hill of Peekskill, N. Y., had a narrow escape when two Germans attacked him with incendiary bullets.

He escaped, however, with one bullet hole through a lower plane by outmaneuvering his opponents. He is believed to have brought down one German.

Adjutant Masson's command was attacked by a patrol of three planes, which were easily repulsed.

Hope for Safety.

Corporal Willis was missing when his group returned to its base after the bombing raid, but it is hoped he will turn up.

W. A. Courtney Campbell Jr., of Kenilworth, Ill., who two months ago lost one whole wing of his machine in midair and yet managed to return to his own lines safely, was again the victim of a peculiar accident.

Just as the bombing party reached the home field a heavy bombing machine balked and landed squarely on top of his light chasing machine. He saw the danger in time and scrambled out to safety. His plane was cut squarely in two.

CASUALTY LIST BY AUG. 27

Indicates That U. S. Troop Will Soon Be in Battle Abroad.

Washington, Aug. 20.—That American troops will soon be in the fray abroad was indicated when it was learned the war department will start a casualty column in the official bulletin Aug. 27. This is not to be taken as an exact date for American participation, however.

The bulletin section reserved for such lists will be marked "No casualties" on days when there are none. Then if there are only a few casualties, the column will print the soldier's name, organization, and next of kin. If, however, the lists run heavily, only the soldier's name and organization will be noted.

HEAVY FIGHTING ON MEUSE RIVER

Region of Braye and Cerny Scene of Violent Cannonading.

BRITISH CAPTURE TRENCHES

Troops Defeat Germans in Neighborhood of Gillemont Farm, [illegible] South[illegible] Havrincourt [illegible] Inflict Heavy Casualties—Kaiser Forced [illegible] Warfare in West.

Paris, Aug. 20.—The official communication says that there was violent artillery fighting in the region of Braye and Cerny and on both banks of the Meuse. Six hundred shells were hurled into Rhems by the Germans.

British Take Trenches.

London, Aug. 20.—British troops stormed the German trenches in the neighborhood of Gillemont farm, between the towns of Lempire and Bony, on the Somme front in France. On this same front British raiding parties entered German positions southwet of Havrincourt.

Trench War Changed.

British Front in France and Belgium, Aug. 20.—The beginning of the fourth year of the war finds the Germans rapidly making a radical change in their methods of defense along the British battle front in northern France and Belgium.

The continuous lines of wonderfully constructed forward trenches, with their deep dugouts, in which lived and fought great numbers of men, are fast passing into the discard.

The enemy is adopting the system of scattering his advance force over a great depth. Cunningly constructed strongholds among the myriad shell holes along the front now conceal innumerable small and more or less isolated garrisons of men who formerly fought shoulder to shoulder along the great stretches which communication was not broken for miles.

Sell Storms Cause Change.

This alteration has been brought about by the ever-growing preponderance of British artillery, which has buried the German front line trenches under an avalanche of shells and has left the defense nothing but heaped furrows of earth and has made the famous dugouts veritable man traps, in which countless thousands have lost their lives without a chance of fighting back.

The continuous deluge of breaking steel made repair work on the trenches impossible, and as the Germans were gradually pushed back they of necessity were forced to invent another mode of stemming the ever-advancing tide.

An Eye Opener.

Always have a glass medicine dropper and a bottle of rosewater in the medicine chest and in your traveling bag. Then when you get a foreign body in your eye you will be spared much pain and discomfort if the following very simple and harmless method is pursued: Put into the medicine dropper six drops of the rosewater. Pull down the lower lid and float the liquid on the surface of the injured eye. After the rosewater has been in the eye for a few seconds use the empty medicine dropper to suck out the liquid, and the foreign matter will come with it.

Poor Place For a Will.

"I was reading in the paper," said the fat plumber, "about a man who had his will tattooed on his back."

"Gee," the thin carpenter exclaimed, "I'd hate to have my will on my back."

"Why?"

"Because many a will is broken by the courts."—Youngstown Telegram.

SHEEP BY MILLIONS SOUGHT BY MICHIGAN

Northern Boosters Plan Appeal to Western Herders.

TRAVERSE CITY, Aug. 20.

Although expecting opposition from the national wool organization, in their effort to bring millions of sheep from the northwest to Michigan and convert the northern part of the state into sheep-grazing territory, men back of the plan have another card to play—they will go direct to the herders if necessary.

Congressional acts having barred herders from pasturing their flocks in the national reserves, they were at a loss to know what to do, when Michigan and Wisconsin boosters came to the rescue. Northern Wisconsin, like northern Michigan, has thousands of acres of waste land devoted almost solely to Jack-pine, swamp and forest fires. The plan is to convert this land to sheep grazing.

A Chicago meeting has been postponed until September 11-12. In the meantime, the boosters for sheep herding in Michigan, headed by John I. Gibson, of the Western Michigan Development bureau, are forming another plan. The sheep herders have their annual convention in Salt Lake City in January. It is the plan of Gibson and his colleagues to go directly before the herders.

ESCAPED CONVICTS RETURN

One Went Home on Visit—Other Was "Just Loafing."

JACKSON, MICH., Aug. 20.

Two escaped convicts have voluntarily returned to complete their terms in the penitentiary at Jackson.

A few days ago Bob Woodall took French leave of the Rankin convict farm. The management had made him a trusty and had great confidence in him. However, three days later he returned, explaining that he had "just been down to Lincoln county to see his family." Lester Black and three other convicts escaped last march from their quarters in the old capitol yard by sawing a hole in the roof of their shack. Three were recaptured in a few days, but Black succeeded in getting out of the country. The other day he walked into the penitentiary office and explained that he had been "loafing around over in Texas and Mexico."

3-YEAR TERM FOR AUTOIST

Detroit Man Who Killed Child Given Severe Penalty.

DETROIT, MICH., Aug. 20.

Judge William F. Connolly sentenced James Small to serve three years in Jackson prison because Small's automobile ran over the curb on May 19, instantly killing little Joseph Tartortamina, who was playing on the sidewalk.

Small pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter, and asked the court for leniency.

The sentence is the heaviest ever imposed in Michigan for reckless driving of an automobile that resulted in the death of a pedestrian.

RED ROCK WHEAT IS CHEAPER

Farmers Agree to Reduce Price; Also That of Rosen Rye.

LANSING, MICH., Aug. 20.

It is announced that the association of farmers who have control of the Red Rock wheat and the rosen which is wanted for seed for next year, have agreed to a distinct drop in prices.

Red Rock wheat was dropped from $4 a bushel to $3.25 for the certified, and $2.75 for the uncertified quality. Rosen Rye will be sold at market price.

Prof. A. G. Gully Dead.

EAST LANSING, Aug. 20.

President Frank S. Kedzie, of the Michigan Agricultural College, has been advised of the death of Professor Alfred Gurdon Gulley, in Willimantic, Conn. The professor was a member of the class of 1868, and was one of M. A. C.'s oldest alumni, and later still was a member of the college faculty.

Rhubarb Leaves.

More than one case is on record where leaves of the rhubarb plant produced fatal results when served as "greens." A survey of all the available data indicates that while the stalks of the common garden rhubarb furnish a perfectly safe article of food for most persons, the leaves of the same plant may not prudently be employed for culinary purposes. Rhubarb wine, which was once extensively used in adulterating champagne, is made from the stalks, yet Dr. William Prout, an eminent physician and chemist who died in 1850, thought it was so potent an agency in producing stone in the bladder that he wanted parliament to prohibit its manufacture.

The safe course in regard to rhubarb appears to be this: Stick to the stalks, but let the leaves alone.—New York Sun.

COLONEL R. M. THOMPSON

Navy League Chief Is Urged to Resign.

Colonel Thompson has aroused the ire of Secretary of the Navy Daniels by his charge of laxity in the inquiry into the fatal fire at Mare Island navy yard. In his reply Secretary Daniels urged Colonel Thompson to resign and "permit the league to be directed by those who in a crisis like the present would not permit a statement to be given out to the public which attempts to discredit the entire navy department and which will be ready with contempt and disgust by every honest citizen of America."

WARNS OF DISGUISED DIVE.

Captain Reports Receipt of Message Telling of Sailing Ship Ruse.

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 20.—Warning of the presence off the Atlantic coast of a submarine operating under a disguise as a sailing vessel was brought here by an oil steamer, which reported receipt of a wireless message to this effect while off the Florida coast.

The captain of the steamer said he believed the message was sent from Bermuda. The warning was: "Be on close watch for strange submarine disguised with top half of schooner covering."

73 Held as Anti-Draft Rioters.

McAlester, Okla., Aug. 20.—Seventy-three alleged anti-draft rioters from Seminole county were held to the federal grand jury in bonds aggregating almost half a million dollars at the completion of their preliminary hearings before United States Commissioner R. P. McMillen. Twenty-seven prisoners were liberated by the court but held on $10,000 bonds as witnesses.

British War Act Block Big Strike.

London, Aug. 20.—The munitions war act applied to a threatened strike of 40,000 engineers and firemen on English railways. This prohibits the walk-out and requires submission of the railroad employe' demand for recognition of the principle of the eight-hour day to the labor minister.

Nick Still Own Property in Berlin.

Amsterdam, Aug. 20.—The Weser zeitung says that according to entries in the Berlin registers the property of the Russian embassy in Berlin, which is valued at between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 marks, is the private property of former Emperor Nicholas.

Kaiser Seizes Siam Property.

London, Aug. 20.—An Amsterdam dispatch to Reuters states that Berlin newspapers announce the seizure of all property in Germany belonging to the government of Siam, or to its citizens.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Fainting.

First aid treatment for fainting should consist in getting the patient into an open air space as quickly as possible, lowering the head if the face be pale and raising it if it be congested. At the same time the clothing must be loosened from the neck to the waist. It is absolutely necessary that a free circulation of air be had, so if there is none stirring vigorous fanning helps considerably. If the patient is unconscious give nothing by the mouth, but if she is conscious the sooner fluids are given the better. Cold water in sips, cold tea, hot coffee, cold milk and warm beef tea are all useful, but some stronger and more quickly acting stimulant may be necessary. Ammonia in the form of sal volatile is the stimulant usually supplied in ambulance hampers. A dose of from five to thirty drops of this salt in two tablespoonfuls of water is generally effective, but a great objection to its use is that it sometimes causes vomiting, which is especially undesirable in one who is already weak and exhausted.

EX-CZAR'S NEW HOME IN TOBOLSK, SIBERIA

Abode Birthplace of Gregory Rasputin, Mystic Monk.

Petrograd, Aug. 20.—It was officially announced for the first time that the new residence of Nicholas Romanoff, the deposed Russian emperor, is at Tobolsk, a western Siberian town which recently achieved a dubious publicity in revolutionary Russia as the birthplace of Gregory Rasputin, the mystic monk who wielded a remarkable influence over the ex-emperor's family up to the time of the priest's assassination in Petrograd last December.

The official announcement says:

"Owing to reasons of state the government decided to transfer to a new residence the ex-emperor and ex-empress, who are detained under guard. The place selected was Tobolsk, where they were taken after requisite measures had been made to insure their safety. With them went of their own free will their children and certain of their entourage."

The train on which Nicholas Romanoff traveled to Tobolsk had a long delay on the journey owing to a breakdown of the locomotive.

BIG SUBMARINE BLOWN UP

Gunfire from British Freighter Sinks Diver After Collision.

New York, Aug. 20.—Officers of a British freighter which arrived Saturday at an Atlantic port brought the news of the sinking of one of the latest types of German U-boats by gunfire after a collision with the vessel off the coast of Ireland on the eastward voyage to a port in England.

According to the senior officer, the U-boat, coming to the surface, hit the freighter and lost its periscope. The diver amidships and the submarine's petrol tanks blew up. The second shot blew the undersea craft to pieces.

Millers, Yanks, Exempted.

Sandusky, O., Aug. 20.—Elmer Millers, an outfielder playing with the New York Yanekes, was exempted from military service by the local exemption board. Miller claimed exemption on the ground that he has a dependent wife and child.

Bare Escape Plot.

San Franciesco, Aug. 20.—Ernest Herbert Summerfield and Ernest Leutz, interned as "enemy aliens," have been removed to Fort Douglas, Utah, as a result of uncovering plots to bring about the escape of the interned Germans.

Strike Shuts Oil Wells.

McDonald, Pa., Aug. 20.—Five hundred oil wells in this district were shut down as a resut of a strike of 200 employes of the South Penn. Oil company.

TO SPARE HOSPITAL SHIPS

Kaiser Agrees to Neutral Commissioner Aboard to Guarantee Status.

Madrid, Aug. 20.—The German military attache has handed to the Spanish government Emperor William's definite acceptance of conditions unde which hospital ships are to be protected from attacks by submarines.

Seven Spanish officers have gone to France to act as commissioners on board the hospital ships. Under the arrangement a neutral commissioner will be carried on each hospital ship to guarantee that it transports only sick and wounded.

Italian Airmen Shell Austrians.

Rome, Aug. 20.—"Since dawn Sunday," reports the Italian general headquarters staff, "our artillery has been shelling the enemy positions from Monte Nero to the sea. "Our fights of airplanes and airships have bombarded troops massed behind the enemy lines."

Russ to Cut Expenses.

Petrograd, Aug. 20.—In a statement to the press Minister of Finance Nekrasoff says the government intends drastically to reduce unnecessary expenditure, and for this purpose a special commission will be appointed.

500,000 Bales Cotton to Japs.

San Francisco, Aug. 20.—Japan is in the market or 500,000 bales of American cotton, to cost $65,000,000, Shima, Tokyo cotton buyer, announces.

High Collars in Quito.

In an article on "Quito, the City of the Equator," Harry A. Franck describes in the Century some of the difficulties he encountered when shopping in South America.

"The line of demarkation between the gente decente and the gente del pueblo of Quito is the white collar. Naturally the tendency is to make it as wide and distinct as possible. When I had searched the entire city I found my customary brand of collar at four times its American price, but the lowest collar in stock was weirdly suggestive of some species of human giraffe.

"'You misunderstood me,' I protested. 'I did not ask for a cuff, but for a collar.'

"'But this is a collar, senor!' cried the shopkeeper.

"'Something lower, please.'

"'But this is a very low collar. It is so low that no one in Quito will wear it, and we are not importing any more of this brand.'"

All rubbing and wringing by twisting is harmful when washing woolens. Be sure to get out all the soapsuds by thorough rinsing.

Physical Examinations.

There is a side to the whole problem of physical examination which is very important. I am interested in physical examinations, not to shut men out of work, but to use them more intelligently and to give them a proper chance. Oftentimes employers and the men affected do not know that something has gone wrong with an employee. There was one concern that did not care two straws about physical examinations and would not pay any attention to the question. One day an elevator man took up a party of investors who were going to a board meeting in the establishment. He was seized with heart disease right between the floors, but fortunately the elevator stopped itself by the rarest good fortune. The executives of the plant now agree that physical examinations are no idle luxury. Men owe it to themselves, the company owes it to itself, and the company owes it to its employees to have such examinations.—Meyer Bloomfield in Industrial Management.

May Be the Oldest Book.

In an ancient Samaritan synagogue at Shechem a double roll of parchment is guarded jealously and is zealously preserved. It was to Shechem that Abraham came in his first visit to Canaan. Near Shechem Jacob sank his famous well, and the returning Israelites heard here for the last time the voice of Joshua. Shechem was the first residence of the kings of Israel and was a city of refuge. Here at Jacob's well Jesus met the woman of Samaria. Here the great Justin Martyr was born. After the division of Israel into two kingdoms Shechem became the religious center of the northern kingdom, and Jeroboam's self appointed faith degenerated into the Samaritan worship of our Lord's day, which is perpetuated in the old synagogue which holds this scroll. This double roll of parchment possibly the oldest in the world contains the first five books of the Old Testament and may be as old as the days of Jeremiah.—Christian Herald.

Joy of Pockets.

The pocket has to be lacked before it is properly appreciated, the London Chronicle says. This [illegible] had taken his pockets as a matter of course until one evening he attended a fancy dress ball in costume which, he discovered when too late to remedy the defect, was absolutely pocketless. The question at once arose what to do with pocket handkerchief, money, cloakroom ticket, and so on. The handkerchief, of course, went up his sleeve, but it took some minutes to devise receptacles for coins and other necessaries in the lining of the cap, the heels of the shoes and the cuff of the coat. All night long, however, he felt lost through having no place to thrust his hands into. Since then he finds himself frequently putting his hands into his pockets to experience the sheer joy of knowing that they are there.

Care of Harness Leather.

Harness leather cannot be neglected without injury that lessens its durability. It should be washed and oiled frequently. The washing should be done in tepid water with a neutral soap and a sponge or stiff brush. After rinsing in clean tepid water the harness is hung up to drain a little while before oiling.

For driving harness neatsfoot or castor oil is best, but for heavy harness there may be some tallow in the oil. The applications should be light for driving and liberal for heavy harness. The oil, warm to the hand, is rubbed thoroughly into the leather while it is still wet from the washing. Excess oil which the leather is unable to take up should be removed with a clean, dry cloth.—New York Sun.

A Legend of Agincourt.

For many centuries we English have plumed ourselves upon the victory of Agincourt. But the French have an account of the affair not so much to our credit. It was arranged, according to this fable, by the two leaders that only the nobles on each side were to fight. King Henry V. then artfully ennobled his whole army and hence got the best of the enemy. Shakespeare unwittingly gives a little countenance to the legend when he makes the king declare in his address to the soldiers, "Be ye ne'er so vile, this day shall gentle your condition."—London Standard.

Wrong Either Way.

The various packages contain—12 linen napkins, 14x14, 24 handkerchiefs, 72 handkerchiefs, 72 handkerchiefs, 84 wash cloths, 110 comfort pillows, 10x18, 30 hot water bottle covers, 4 comfort pillows, 10x18, 8 comfort pillow cases, 12x12, 14 suits of pajamas, 13 pairs of wool socks, 78 comfort pillow cases 12x20, 1 knit muffler, 9 pairs of Bed socks, 51 linen napkins, 15x14, 5 knit wash cloths, 10 comfort pillows 10x15, 4 comfort pillows 10x15, 7 feather comfort pillows, 30 feather comfort pillows, 17 linen tray covers, 14 linen napkins 14x14, 3 suits of pajamas, 250 surgical sponges. A total of 932 pieces.

Mrs. Harry Dunn needs helpers to make ticks for comfort pillows, call on her or Telephone No. 94.

Mrs. T. C. Harris is also in need of workers on surgical shirts.

Mrs. Sena Crane reports 17 pajamas ready t[illegible] and she requests her committee to please bring all finished goods in on Fridays, if not finished, you can keep them until the following Friday. She is very pleased indeed with her committee.

The Rev. J. G. Widdifield reports that in answer to his appeal in a former issue of this paper, the following boys have volinteered to take packages, for the Red Cross in their carts, Gaston Burridge, Webster Anderson, John Anderson, Frederick Temple, and Billy Beardsley. We are glad to welcome our young co-workers to our ranks.

Mr. Widdifield has however not been as successful in obtaining volunteer autos, to take supplies to Adrian. Will you not register your cars with Mr. Widdifield for future use. If he has a list of car owners, he can call up and find out, who can go on a particular day. Please let us have your names for the next Red Cross notes.

In respondse to the appeal by Mrs. Pulver to help clean the Headquarters in the Patterson House, the following have volunteered, Dr. Hartzog, Mrs. Rathbun, Dr. Bredow, and Mrs. Pulver. Mrs. Albert Clark offered to pay for one woman to clean the Headquarters. if you cannot come yourselves, will you not contribute owards the payment of a woman who will do so. Telephone Mrs. Pulver.

Mrs. Frank Lewis has given a bureau for the surgical room, Dr. Pauline Bredow, is repeating her request for 8 chairs one from a donor, will be gratefully accepted. She also is still in need of linoleum or oil cloth for the floor of the surgical dressng room.

Miss Hosmer has 9 additional pairs f bedsocks ready for the next shipment.

The Headquarters will shortly be in receipt of a large consignment of yarn to supply all those who wish to knit.

Dr. Hartzog as Director of the membership Department is making a plea, regarding the membership of Tecumseh Township.

We have a letter from Chairman H. A. Fee, of the Lenawee Co. chapter stating that extensive publicity will be given to the ten Chapters showing the highest ratio of County Membership in proportion to the population.

Lenawee County has made a splendid record in Red Cross membership nd work. We all should take pride in making our county the leader in this matter. Mr. Fee says: "To do this every branch will have to get busy and do some mighty hard work to increase its membership before OCTOBER FIRST, when the reports will have to be in."

We have over 900 members. We made a very systematic canvass some time since. We found some, who t that time, for various reasons did not become members. About a hundred memberships were gained after the canvass was mde. We are sure that there are some who have not become members, but who will do so NOW, especially since the honor of Lenawee County is at stake.

Will every one reading this, who is not a member of the Red Cross, go at once to the Headquarters, pay a dollar and enroll? Please do not put it off. DO IT NOW. Do not wait for some one to call on you and urge you to do, what you know YOUR part in this great work.

New members—Mary A. Gooding Elbert Temple, Bertha Dieterle.

The Patriotic League has on hand $4,538.00, nearly fifteen hundred dollars less than our assessment.

The Red Cross concert company will give a concert on the four corners in Tecumseh, on Wednesday evening, August 29th. Mrs. Fred Wood musical Director. A collection will be taken up by twenty young ladies, under the leadership of Miss Camilla Hayden, on behalf of the Red Cross. The smallest sum will be gratefully accepted, without however putting any limit on the generosity of the audience. Everybody come, and help to swell the fund, to save our boys across the ocean.

The concert by the same company at Wampler's Lake has been postponed to Sunday, September 9th at 3:30 p. m. Full program later. Mr. John Pennington of Macon has joined the Red Cross Company.

Any town or village desiring the services of this company, please communicate either with Mrs. Fred Wood or Mrs. Jenny C. Law Hardy. The company gives its services absolutely FREE. Where there is a Red Cross Branch one half of the collection is given that Branch, and the other half goes into the Tecumseh Red Cross fund. Where there is no Red Cross Branch, the whole collection goes into the Tecmuseh Red Cross goes ultimately into the American fund. Of course the whole amount Red Cross, to provide for our soldiers who are fighting for us.

Jenny C. Law Hardy,
Publicity Director.

SEMI-MILITARY UNIFORMS FOR WOMEN

Detroit Mich. The first step in the conservation of Woman's clothes has been established by the National League for Woman's Service in Detroit. Samples of war-time uniforms of semi-military style have received at Headquarters. Orders are being taken for these uniforms which will be made by a Detroit firm. There are three different designs, each costing less than $10.00 made of khakette, a material less expensive than khaki, but of similar color. This material is not in demand for soldiers' uniforms, so the league is not a competitor of the government. The designs are simple and neat. Each one has roomy pockets. When groups of women are working to gether the uniforms will come in for good service. Indnviduals engaged as taxi-drivers and elevator women, as well as mechnics in factories, will find hem a great boon.

THE NOBLEST PUBLIC VIRTUE

That patriotism which, catching its inspirations from the immortal God and leaving at an immeasurable distance below all lesser, groveling, personal interests and feelings, animates and prompts to deeds of selfscrifice, of valor, of devotion and of death itself,—that is public virtue; that is the noblest, the sublimest of all public virtues.—Henry Clay.

TRADING IN STOCKS.

Things a Man Must Know to Be a Successful Speculator.

"All those who are trading in the stock market might well ask themselves whether they are speculators or gamblers," says John K. Barnes in the World's Work. "Any one can gamble in stocks, but it is not profitable. It takes a high degree of specialized knowledge and training to speculate. Here are some of the complex requirements of technical knowledge that are indispensable to the successful speculator:

"He should know how to read the business barometers. Among these are the bank clearings throughout the country, which show the rapidity with which money is changing hands through the banks, and thus gives the best measure we have of the business doing; the unfilled orders on the books of the United States Steel corporation, our largest industrial company, which are reported ten days after the close of each month; railroad gross earnings, which are now reported weekly by some roads and monthly by all, and railroad net earnings, which show the prosperity in that important field; the production figures for coal, iron, copper, etc.; the export and import figures, which control our international credit position and have been of great importance since the war began; money rates and the elements that affect them—gold imports, foreign loans, etc., and probably, above all, he should watch carefully the crop prospects throughout the country.

"Unless a man understands the meanings of these things and has a very special and unusual temperament besides he can never succeed as a speculator."

In other words, the average man has no chance in the speculative markets.

MANSARD'S ROOF.

By It the Architect Won His Son's Life From Louis XIV.

The great hall of the Hotel de Ville of Arles, designed by Mansard, is the wonder and admiration of every one who has seen it on account of the groined roof.

In regard to this a neighboring cafetier tells a somewhat grim story. King Louis XIV. happened to be passing through the city just at the time Mansard was superintending the completion of his creation. The roof was supported by a powerful pillar. The monarch admired the work and congratulated the architect on his design. At that moment the architect was passing through great domestic tribulation. He had a son under sentence of death, so he thought it would be a good opportunity to intercede on behalf of the lad.

Mansard threw himself at the feet of the king and said: "Your majesty sees in the center that massive column? If you will spare the life of my son I will remove the unsightly pillar, and the roof shall stand without support." "Mansard," replied the king, "if you accomplish that miracle I will pardon your son, but if you fail I will hang you with him."

The architect removed the pillar without great difficulty and with the result desired. The cafetier is a philosopher, and he concludes his story with the reflection that had not Mansard's son been a scamp the hall at Arles would be just like any other hall.—London Globe.

Patience.

Enter into the sublime patience of the Lord. Be charitable in view of it. God can afford to wait. Why cannot we, since we have him to fall back upon? Let patience have her perfect work and bring forth her celestial fruits.—G. Macdonald.

The Fine Art of Visiting.

"Visiting is an art," says Woman's Home Companion. "To make people feel at home in their own house when you are there is the highest point of human conduct."

The uncertainty of death is in effect the great support of the whole system of life.—Ben Jonson.

SHOOTING AFFRAY NEAR CLINTON

Prosecutor Bean and Deputy John Smith Investigate.

Prosecuting Attorney Bean was in town saturday, and together with Deputy Sheriff John Smith made a trip to Clinton where they investigated the shooting affray which occurred on the Lump farm last Thursday night. It was reported that Merton Miller went to the Lump farm 2½ miles southwest of Clinton Thursday night to make trouble for Mr. Lump, who he claimed had been living with his wife. Not being able to get into the house he poked his gun through the screen door and he is reported to have fired a shot into the room.

Investigation did not show any signs of a shot being fired as there were no bullet holes in the walls of the room, but a jagged hole in the screen did show that something had been forced through. The affair was reported to Dept Sheriff Lancaster Thursday night and he made a trip to the farm and located Miller, who was hiding in the corn field. He was taken to Clinton and locked up. Dept Sheriff John Smith and Prosecutor Bean took Miller to Adrian where he is in jail pending a hearing

WAMPLER LAKE ITEMS

Mrs. L. B. Schneider and son Louis were up for last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron were at the lake Sunday long enough for a swim.

Miss Elizabeth Smith is entertaining her friend Miss Alice Warren of Detroit at the Smith cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Austin and daughters were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Whiting at their cottage Sunday.

Misses Clara Waldron, Ruth Keeney and Zilla Mills, Earl Rector, and James Waldron were week-end dwellers at the Monagin cottage.

Don't go to the lake just for the fishing. Right now it is "punk" or maybe our fishermen are not onto the favorite haunts of the finny tribe at this season. Any way we would welcome one of Albert Clark's good beefsteaks.

A change of invironment may be necessary in a vacation but a mother with her family of little people welcome her home again, no matter how humble, if it be for no other reason than that the old familiar slipper and the switch used not frequently are found again.

The trip west of the lake through the Irish hills also a favorite drive of Tecumseh people and well repays the autoists for the scenery so we are told equals the Berkshires. Now tht we have seen the hills a trip east is not necessary. They tell us of the lakes of Ireand nestling in the green hills with more hills and lakes in the distance. Now we appreciate how beautiful they must be.

The Farm, Wampler's lake, a favorite resort for any Tecumsehite, who owns a machine or can hunt up a friend who does. Among the people from here to visit the akes last Sunday were Percy Bowen, Dale Hodgse, Wyman Service, Wiley McCann, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Heidenreich, Grant Schreder and wife, Misses Anna Schreder and Vevia Hardcastle, John Wyrill and family, and party of relatives, Bert Aten and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sweet, Mrs. Ethel Mathias and daughter Ella, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron, Mr. and Mrs. Jas Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Butrick, Mrs. Marietta Wyrill, Mrs. Annette Crossman, L. D. Dewey.

Charles Anderson of Ann Arbor is in town and is preparing the McDermott market for occupancy. He has leased the store and expects to open up a cut rate cash meat market about September 1st.

LIFE ON A SUBMARINE.

Physical Evils That Come From Long, Continuous Duty.

According to Assistant Surgeon Walter W. Cress of the navy, long, continuous duty on submarines is conducive to high blood pressure, with its attending evils.

"Whether that is due," he says, "to mental strain, loss of sleep, overeating with lack of exercise, excessive use of tobacco, coffee and tea or some toxic agent peculiar to submarines I am unable to say. It was noted that a slight fall occurred after a forty-eight hour surface run and a three hour dive. Undoubtedly that could be accounted for by fatigue or lack of physical exercise during the preceding forty-eight hours."

One effect, natural under the circumstances, he says, was that of loss of weight, and it is observed that there is probably no occupation, excepting that of a boilermaker, giving rise to as many cases of partial deafness as submarine duty. It is not uncommon, he says, for men to report that they have increasing difficulty in hearing the commands. That is attributed to the constant vibratory movement of the submarine, the straining of ears to hear above the noise of the engines, the presence of cold drafts of air down the hatches while operating on the surface, the excessive heat while running submerged and the inhalation of gases given off by the batteries and fumes from oil tanks.

"It is becoming more and more apparent," concluded Dr. Cress, "that all men should undergo a thorough physical and mental examination before being assigned to submarine duty."—Washington Star.

Corn Bread.

In making corn bread be sure to get the proper kind of meal; otherwise it needs flour to keep it together. Ask for the old southern milled cornmeal. It is very fine, white and needs no flour. A good recipe for corn bread is as follows: One and one-half cupfuls of cornmeal, one-half cupful of milk, a pinch of salt, a piece of butter the size of an egg, one-half teaspoonful of baking powder and one egg. It must not be too stiff. Put in a pan that will make the batter about one and one half inches thick and bake till brown. It is impossible to make the southern corn bread with the sparsely milled meal, says a southerner.—New York Sun.

THE MACARONI CO.

Resumes Business Under New Management.

Machinery Set in Motion Monday Morning.

R. T. Mead Factory Manager.

After a few weeks of idleness, Uncle Sam's Macaroni factory started up again Monday morning. During the last few weeks the organization has been perfected and the big bins stocked with flour so that when the plant was once in working order there would be no delay.

R. T. Mead of Tecumseh, has been chosen as the factory manager and will have local charge. Mr. Meade has had much experience in the Macaroni game being the originator of the Uncle, Sam's Macaroni Co. conducting he business in the old Prespyterian church building in the east end of town, and later, being connected with the organizaion in the new factory. Mr. Mead informs us that the Quaker Oats people will run the new factory to its capacity, and we understand that new machinery will soon be placed to increase the manufacture of the popular brand of macaroni

C. L. Cuthbert, who has been connected with the local factory for a number of years, leaves for Chicago the last of the week, where he will take up his duties in the main office of the Quaker Oats Co. as one of the managing head of the sales department

CLASS REUNION

Class of 1916 T. H. S. Meets at the Home of Milburn Keyser

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Keyser was the scene of great festivities, Saturday, when the class of 1916 T. H. S. held the second of their annual reunions there. The president, Miss Norma Moody, who has made her home with the Keysers' for the past year, being the hostess of the occasion, and filling the bill most admirably. The copious amount of grub which was served on the lawn, was well disposed of with the assistance of the honorary members, Miss Martha Caldwell, Miss Genevieve Hallday, Miss Mildred Armstrong of Adrian and Mr. O. B. Goodrich, formerly teachers of the class.

Those who made things lively Saturday were Winnifred Mitchell, Ruth Kotts, Mary Bloomer, Norma Moody Camilla Hayden, Parker Comfort, Burton Garlinghouse, Lloyd Aebersold, and Carlyle Kay of Detroit. And the only reason that Metta Stewart, Eunice Orr, Ethel McIntyre, Jason Meades and Gordon Bachman were so unusually quiet, was due to their inability to attend the classical diversions

Seeing that the Keyser home was not entirely up rooted when the merrymakers had made their merriest, Winifred Mitchell saw fit to invite her beloved class to hold their next reunion at her home in Holloway.

DEATH TO THE MOSQUITO.

Attack the Pest by Warring Upon Its Breeding Places.

By doing away with breeding places, such as tin cans, broken crockery and various receptacles that hold water, by the drainage of bodies of water likely to contain immature mosquitoes, by application of oil to bodies of water that cannot be drained or the introduction of fish into pools that cannot either be drained or oiled millions of mosquitoes may be destroyed.

Water is necessary for the life of the mosquito. The eggs which are laid on the surface of the water by the adult mosquito hatch in from twenty-four hours to several days, depending on the temperature. The larvae issue from the lower ends of the eggs and wriggle about in the water.

The larvae of the house mosquito rest with the tips of the abdomen at the surface of the water and the heads hanging downward. The larvae of the malaria fever mosquito lie parallel with the surface of the water to obtain air. In from one week to ten days they change to another form, the pupae, which have two respiratory tubes on the thorax. These pupae float in the water and transform to adults in from five to six days. The adults winter in the dormant condition.

The germ causing malaria fever has been carefully and repeatedly traced through its life history, and it has with certainty been found to pass a part of its existence in man and part in the body of the mosquito. By the bite of the mosquito the malarial fever organism is transmitted to man. No practical methods have been devised to destroy adult mosquitoes. All successful methods so far have been to check their numbers by either doing away with hiding places or by destroying the young mosquitoes.

Kerosene oil applied to the water surface at the rate of one-half teacupful to one barrel of water or one ounce of kerosene to fifteen square feet of water is sufficient to destroy any young mosquitoes that might be present in the water. An application of the kerosene should be made every fifteen days.

A Mathematician.

"Daddy," said Bobby, who was eating an apple, "what would be worse than finding a worm in this apple?"

"I do not know, son, unless it would be worse to find two worms."

"No," said Bobby. "It would be worse to find half of a worm."—Everybody's.

So He Does.

"Why don't you open the door? That may be opportunity knocking."

"It's much more apt to be a bill collector."

"Well, if you only knew it, a bill collector offers a good opportunity to get out of debt."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Ideal

HAYDEN'S MILL ENTERED

Wheat Emptied From Bin on Second Floor Into the Basement.

When the mill hands arrived for work Monday morning at Hayden's Mill, they were much surprised and mystified to find the contents of a large wheat bin on the second floor piled high in the basement. The bin held in the neighborhood of 2000 bushels of wheat. The grain was held in the bin by a gate or shutter located in the spout in the ceiling of the first floor someone apparently opened the gate and let the grain fall to the first floor and from there through the belt hole to the basement.

Mr. Hayden is at a loss to know how this all happened, and thinks it must have been the work of some one who was trying to appropriate some of the wheat for their own use. On examination it was impossible to find any window or door open, or that had been tampered with, and nothing else seemed to be disturbed. It required several hours work to remove the grain from the basement back to the bin.

JACKSON COUNTY FAIR

September 10 to 15

With Jackson county's 1917 fair still several weeks away the management is confronted with the problem of housing the thousands of displays which will make this year's fair the biggest event of the kind ever held in this part of Michigan. Assurances from farmers throughout the county indicate a display of agricultural and farm products which will tax the capacity of the huge buildings. In order to meet the demands which are going to be made on the building facilities Manager Burris is taking steps to provide more exhibition space

Temporary additions are to be placed on all buildings to care for the overflow. A tent 180 by 65 feet in size is to be erected to house the increased county school exhibit, the manual training display, the state dairy and feed division, the state board of health exhibit and the fruit department. Extra space must also be provided in the cattle and horse departments.

The main building arrangement will be very similar to that of last year. Booths will occupy the west end of the main floor! The center will be given over to a big floral exhibit. Part of the agricultural display will be in the east end of the building

The art and needle work exhibits will be placed in the south gallery. The Town Improvement Society will have space in the west gallery and there will be a rest room in the east gallery.

RHODES DIED UNSATISFIED.

His Last Words Were, "So Little Done So Much to Do."

"So little done, so much to do."

This was the sigh of Cecil Rhodes, one of the greatest men the world ever knew. John Hays Hammond, who knew him well, tells about Rhodes in the American Magazine. He says:

"The achievements of Rhodes are almost unthinkable. Long before American trusts were attempted he formed what was then the greatest business combination in history and became absolute autocrat of the diamond business of the whole world. He organized a huge consolidation of gold companies. He was the first financier courageous enough to institute deep level mining on the Rand, the method on which now depends the future of the greatest of all gold fields.

"No Roman emperor ever won more territory than Rhodes brought under his native British flag. Through the chartered company, incorporated in 1889, he added to the British colonial dominions territory, equal to the combined areas of the British Isles, France, Prussia, Austria and Spain. He made possible the federation of all South African states and planned to link Cape Colony and Cairo by rail, a project that he carried halfway to fruition before he was cut off by death when he was only forty-nine years old.

"Yet with this record of empire building behind him his last words as he lay dying were these:

"'So little done, so much to do.'"

Health Examinations.

"Periodic health examinations are the best safeguard against degenerative diseases," says a leading physician. "It is as foolish for a man to neglect his health and not consult a physician until he suffers acute pain as it would be for a business man to go without having his books balanced until after he had gone into bankruptcy. Every man should be compelled to take a physical examination and learn just how he can improve his health. To know what you lack is the first step toward getting it."

Chances For Success.

I have many times been asked if, in my opinion, the young man of today had as good chance to make his mark in the business world as did his elders. My answer is, "Never since our pilgrim fathers landed on the shores of Plymouth were the opportunities for the young man's success greater than they are today. It is for him to determine whether he will be a success or not."—Stephen A. Knight.

NOTICE OF MEETING BY DRAIN COMMISSIONER

To Whom It May Concern:

Be it known, that on the 16th day of May A. D. 1916, an application was filed with Almon J. Roberts County Drain Commissioner of the County of Lenawee for the locating and establishing of a certain Drain, which said Drain was described in said application as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at the highway about 40 rods south of the NW corner of N fifty acres of the W½ SW¼ Sec. 23 T5S R4E belonging to Thos. Lowry thence running in a northeasterly direction across said land of Lowry onto the E½ SW¼ of Sec. 23, belonging to John S. Temple, thence northeasterly across said land of Temple onto the S½ NW¼ Sec. 23, belonging to Harry Abbott, thence northeasterly across said land of Abbott onto the W½ NE¼ Sec. 23, in a northeasterly direction to highway belonging to W. J. Hendershot, thence across said highway onto the W½ SE¼ Sec. 14 Clinton Twp., belonging to John Murphy, thence northeasterly across said land of Murphy to a point about ten rods east and 80 rods south of the NE 72 acres E½ SE¼ Sec. 14 and there ending on land of Fred M. Goheen.

Said drain to be an open drain across said land of Lowry with a two foot bottom, and a tile drain the remainder of the course commencing with 18-inch tile and diminishing in size as the drain commissioner may determine that said Drain will traverse the Townships of Clinton and Tecumseh.

Now, therefore, be it further known, that by virtue of the power vested in me by the statues in such case made and provided, I hereby designate that on the 30th day of August A. D. 1917 at 10 o'clock in the Forenoon at the Residence of John Murphy SW¼ SE¼ Sec. 14 in the Township of Clinton and County of Lenawee State of Michigan, as the time and place of meeting to consider and take action on said application for the purpose of determining whether or not said proposed Drain is necessary and conducive to the public health, convenience and welfare; at which time and place aforesaid all persons interested or owning land liable to assessment for benefits, or whoes lands may be traversed by said Drain, may appear for or against said drain proceedings, and are notified to meet and offer their reasons why said petition or prayer should or should not be granted.

Conrad Ottgen.
County Drain Commissioner of Lenawee County, Michigan.

Mud, slush, and manure make a mighty nasty combination when you have to clean the barn by the laborious, back-breaking wheelbarrow method.

There's a quicker, better, easier way; why not take advantage of it?

There's a Louden Litter Carrier for your barn at a price you can afford to pay. It will render years of service, it will save you a world of time and labor. It will make it possible to keep the barn clean and preserve manure values.

Can you conceive of a more profitable investment in farm machinery?

Louden Litter Carriers are made in five styles, at a wide range of prices. Rod track carriers are suitable for simple track arrangements. Solid track carriers are best where curves and switches are used.

You'll need a Louden Carrier this winter. May we work out an itemized quotation for you?

Dainty refreshments were served and a most delightful evening was reported. Fred was as young and lively as any one present and enjoyed every moment.

MONDAY CLUB

The Program committee of the Monday club wishes to annaunce that the programs are now finished and are at the Library. Every member is urged to procure one immediately in order that those whose papers occur at the early meetings may have ample time for preparation. The committee feels that the program is an interesting one, or can be made so and hopes that both leaders and writers will unite in making each day an attractive one.

There is an abundance of enteresting fiction in the Library aside from the more solid matter, which each member could well afford to read, and by so doing lay a basis of knowledge for the work of the year The library will gladly give you these on request. A few of the books will be touched on, in the program, but owing to the abundance of material many are left for outside perusal.

The opening meeting, October first is to be especially favored by the presence of Mrs. W. W. Crabbs of Morenci our County President and Mrs. Albert E. Bulson of Jackson, Mich. our State President. The day will surely be a noteworthy one and we hope all members will attend.

NEW FLAG POLE HERE

Teccumseh's new 60 ft. flag pole has arrived and workmen were busy Monday riviting the sections together. The pole is made in five sections with an ornamental ball to decorate the top. At the council meeting held last evening, it was decided to add one more section of 11 ft making 71 ft of pole instead of 60 ft This will give the pole 65 ft, above ground with 6 ft at the base to be set in a foundation of cement.

Brackets will be placed on the pole for traffic signs and the sewer crock which has decorated our main corner for so long will be laid quietly to rest

The date of erection has not been set but the Village President informs us that a suitable program is being arranged for, and the date will be announced in the near future.

Mrs. James Stevenson, nee Betsy Thompson formerly of Tecumseh, but now of Jackson suffered a stroke of paralysis about two weeks ago. One side is paralysed, but at last reports she was resting comfortably.

Mrs. Nellie Mingay Taylor, who had been spending a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. Mingay, left for her home in Sault Ste Marie, Saturday. She was accompanied by her daughters, Misses Marjorie and Audrey Taylor who had been living with their aunt in Nellie, Ohio for some years past.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubolz says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

TECUMSEH TESTIMONY

Home Proof, Here, There and Everywhere.

When you see Doan's Kidney Pills recommended in this paper you most always find the recommender a Tecumseh resident. It's the same everywhere—in 3,000 towns in the U. S. Forty thousand people publicly thank Doan's. What other kidney remedy can give this proof of merit, honestly and truth? Home testimony must be true or it could not be published here. Read this Tecumseh recommendation. Then insist on having Doan's. You will know what you are getting.

Mrs. W. W. Shurtz, W. Kilbuck St., Tecumseh, says: "My Kidneys acted irregularly and I had dull, nagging backaches. I felt dizzy headaches. My feet and ankles became swollen, too. Doan's kidney pills relieve the backaches and put my kidneys in good order. The swellings left me and I felt better in every way."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Shurtz had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

Freedom.

Great is the moment when tidings of freedom reach us, when the long enthralled soul from amid its chains and squalid stagnancy arises, were it still only in blindness and bewilderment, and swears by him that made it that it will be free. Free? Understand that well, it is the deep commandment, dimmer or clearer, of our whole being to be free. Freedom is the one purport, wisely aimed at or unwisely, of all man's struggles, toilings and sufferings in this earth. Yes, supreme is such a moment (if thou have known it); first vision as of a flame girt Sinai in this our waste pilgrimage, which thenceforth wants not its pillar of cloud by day and pillar of fire by night. Something it is even nay, something considerable—when the chains have grown corrosive, poisonous, to be free from oppression by our fellow man.—Carlyle.

Musicians In Army and Navy.

Each regiment of the army has a band. Men in the band have no military duties to perform other than that of playing, unless the band be mounted, in which case the care of a horse follows. They have ample time to practice and are constantly under the instruction of a chief musician, who is an expert in his line. The duty of a musician in the navy is not hard. The band plays twice daily for an hour. Musicians attend no drills and do no work except keeping their quarters clean.—Kansas City Star.

Warlike Women.

The most celebrated warlike women among the ancients, apart from the fabled amazons, were the Helvetian ladies. Caesar praises highly their military achievements. In more than one instance the legions of Rome turned their backs on the fair ones of Switzerland. During the crusades women often performed the most romantic and chivalrous deeds, dying cheerfully by the sides of their lovers and [illegible]

Country Children.

Alice Freeman Palmer, the far famed president of Wellesley college, grew up as a farmer's daughter. In after years it is said that she was always sorry for children who do not grow up with the sights and sounds of the country. "One is very near to all the simple, real things of life on a farm," she used to say. "There is a dewy freshness about the early out of door experiences and a warm wholesomeness about tasks that are a part of the common lot. A country child develops, too, a responsibility—a power to do and to contrive—that the city child, who sees everything come ready to hand from a nearby store, cannot possibly gain. However much some of my friends may deplore my own early struggle with poverty and hard work, I can heartily echo George Eliot's boast:

But were another childhood world my share,
I would be born a little sister there.

—St. Nicholas.

Origin of Chalk.

Deposits of chalk are found on some shores of the sea. A piece of chalk, such as the teacher uses to illustrate something on the blackboard at school, consists of the remains of thousands of tiny creatures that at one time lived in the sea. All of their bodies excepting the chalk—called carbonate of lime in scientific language—has disappeared, and the chalk that was left was piled up where it fell at the bottom of the ocean, each particle pressing against the other with the water pressing over it all, until it became almost solid. It took thousands of years to make these chalk deposits of the thickness in which they are found, says the "Book of Wonders." Later on, through changes in the earth's surface, the mountain of chalk was raised until it stood out of the water and thus became accessible to mankind, including schoolteachers.

Guinea Pigs as Food.

The cavy (guinea pig) is typically a pet animal and has no other excuse for existence than the pleasure he gives those who appreciate his good qualities. But it is to the undeniable edibility of the cavy that we owe the existence of the cheerful little squeaker of today.

The Incas of Peru long ago domesticated the wild ancestor of the modern animals—a small, tailless, [illegible] colored member of the genus Cavix, the exact identity of which is a matter of some doubt. These creatures were allowed to run freely about the home of their owners, whose object in breeding them undoubtedly was for their food value.

The time which must undoubtedly have elapsed since this domestication was first begun is evident from the entirely changed color of the present day cavy.—"Pets," by Lee S. Crandall.

Encourage the Workers.

If you have people working for you one way to encourage them to do more and better work is occasionally to pick out instances where they have shown signs of ability and commend them. Any worker, particularly a young worker, is likely to be unable to discriminate always between his good work and his poor work. If you are his boss it is up to you to help him distinguish between the two. It is also up to you to take the young man in hand and explain to him why the good job is good and why the poor job is poor. In the first instance he will be hearing something pleasant and inspiring, and in the second instance he will be in a better mood to listen to you. You can also depend upon it that the man who is intelligently praised for a good piece of work will try to duplicate that work, so that he may earn more praise.—American Magazine.

Sneezing In Persia.

The well known superstition that to sneeze once is a bad omen seriously interferes with many of the duties and pleasures of the Persian. When he is so unfortunate as to sneeze once he quickly says, "Sebar amad" (a time for waiting has come), and for at least two hours thereafter he cannot be persuaded to take medicine, start on a journey or begin any new or important work. A missionary surgeon who has more than once had to postpone an operation because he or the patient sneezed once says, "I have now become an adept at producing double sneezes."—Los Angeles Times.

A Regular Job.

He—Do you believe a woman should promise at the altar to love, honor and obey her husband? She—Perhaps she ought to make the promise, but it always has seemed to me that she was taking on a pretty big contract.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

His Success.

Gibbs—I sang a song at the banquet last night, and everybody shouted, "Fine!" Dibbs—Did any one mention how much the fine should have been?

Her Preference.

"The doctor says he'll remove my appendix for $1,500."

"Oh, George, I'd much rather have a [illegible]."—Life.

A Race For A Stake

But There Was More In It Than the Money.

By ALAN HINSDALE

A number of persons stood on the front porch of a summer hotel near Washington, now looking at their watches and now up the road as if expecting something or somebody. Among them was a young lady, dressed evidently for an automobile ride.

"If he gets here at 3 o'clock he'll be an hour ahead of time," said one.

"What time is he due in Washington?" asked another.

"At 6."

"What's up on it?"

"Oh, nothing valuable. It's a gentleman's race, against time. A dozen pairs of gloves are all there is in it."

"Here he comes now."

The last one of these remarks was scarcely spoken before a minute cloud of dust was easily discernible up the road. An automobile appeared a mere speck and began to grow in apparent size. In another minute it pulled up at the steps of the hotel. A young man jumped out, calling for gasoline and such other automobile equipments as he needed. The lady mentioned stepped up to him and said:

"Mr. Champlin, I believe."

"I am," replied the auto man, bowing and trying to get hold of his cap to pull it off.

"My cousin, Humphrey Cook, knowing that I was here, that I adore automobiling and that I wish to go to the city, has written me that you would stop here and possibly would take me in."

Mr. Champlin hesitated.

"I'll be no trouble," the lady added.

"Really I should be delighted for your company, but in case of any delay I may have to proceed at breakneck speed."

"The faster you go the better I shall like it."

"Very well. I'm an hour ahead and if nothing breaks shall have no trouble in reaching the goal on time. Are you ready?"

"I am."

"Step in, Miss— I beg your pardon. I didn't get your name."

"Hood—Jaqueline Hood," replied the girl.

Mr. Champlin started. "Jack Hood!" he exclaimed.

"The same. Is there anything about Jack Hood that you don't like?"

"I've heard she's the worst feminine daredevil the world has ever seen."

"You've also heard probably that she knows all about an auto. Perhaps she may aid you in case of trouble."

By this time Miss Hood was settling herself comfortably in the auto, tying her veil under her chin. There was a singular look on Champlin's face. He had bet Humphrey Cook that he would drive his auto to New York and return by a given time. Might not Cook have sent this girl to delay him?

"I'm sorry, Miss Hood," he said, "but I've changed my mind about taking you."

"I haven't changed mine about going."

A bewitching smile hovered on her lips, and her eyes danced with mischief.

"Very well," he said, "I'll take you. But remember that in case there's any rascality perpetrated I shall treat you just as if you were a man."

"Good! That's the way I wish to be treated."

During this scene the onlookers had gathered around the machine, and at the last words some of the men and all the women clapped their hands. Champlin got in, and the couple rolled away, followed by cheers and the waving of handkerchiefs. In another minute nothing could be seen of them but a tiny dust cloud.

For an hour Miss Hood entertained the driver of the auto in such a way as to make him forget everything but her. Nevertheless his eye was on the speed gauge and the clock, and nothing pertaining to winning his race was neglected. There are women who can do more with a man in an hour than other women can do in a lifetime. Miss Hood simply absorbed him.

"Have you time to stop for a glass of milk?" she asked.

"Certainly."

"Well, there's a farmhouse off the road up there. Would you mind getting one for me?"

Mr. Champlin stopped before the gate and went up to the house. A woman answered his knock at the door, and he went inside. He was no sooner out of sight than Miss Hood jumped out, took a small nickel plated monkey wrench from her belt, unscrewed a nut and put it in her pocket. She had not finished her work before Champlin reappeared with a glass of milk in his hand. Miss Hood was awakened to his presence by hearing the breaking of glass on stone. Looking up, she saw Champlin the picture of astonishment and chagrin. He knew that he had been "done."

Striding with a quick step to the auto, he said sternly:

"You know what I said before leaving—that if there was any rascality perpetrated I would treat you just as I should a man."

"Oh, yes," she replied, making a face at him; "I remember that."

"Give me what you have removed."

"I decline to do so."

Champlin made a dive for her. She sidled around the auto. He followed, chasing her in a circle. She was too fleet for him. He was strong, but she was agile. At every stop there would be the pretty face brimming with mischief, her eyes riveted on him that she should be ready for his slightest move. Finally he gave it up.

"Did Cook send you out to do this?"

"Yes."

"Well, I suppose I shall have to lose the bet."

"That isn't necessary."

"What do you mean?"

"That if you ask me to give you what I have taken I will do so."

"On what conditions?"

"No conditions."

"No conditions! What do you mean?"

"I mean that I agreed with Humphrey, for a dozen pairs of gloves to come out and delay you. Please don't ask me why I prefer not to do so."

She cast down her eyes, and her meaning was plain. She had "gone soft" on Champlin.

She handed him the nut. He replaced it, and in another minute they were shooting again along the road.

Champlin was delighted. Cook had very nearly got ahead of him—would have got ahead of him had it not been that the girl had taken so great a fancy to him that she hadn't the heart to "do" him. What a splendid joke it would be on Cook and the party who were present at the making of the bet when Champlin and Miss Hood rolled up to the —— hotel on time! Miss Hood hadn't even asked for the gloves her cousin had offered her to help him win them. Champlin told her that as soon as he received the stakes he would give them to her and she could change them for ladies' gloves. Instead of being pleased at this, she appeared to be very much hurt. Champlin begged her to tell him why, and she replied that she had not consented to be a turncoat for a bribe. This left him to understand that she had done it all for him. There was a very tender scene between them, at the end of which the misunderstanding was made up, and for the rest of the journey Miss Cook held the steering wheel, while Mr. Champlin's arm was about her waist.

There were no more delays. On approaching the city, having still an hour's leeway, they concluded to stop at a convenient place and get the dust out of their throats with an ice. Champlin left the lady for a brief season while he poured out something more effective than an ice in doing away with dust. On rejoining her they partook of the ices and resumed their journey.

"What are you smiling at?" asked Miss Hood of her companion.

"Oh, I was thinking how surprised that cousin of yours will be when we roll up on time. That was a rascally proceeding of his, and it deserved to fail. If you hadn't been the dearest girl in the world it would have succeeded. But just think of his surprise when he hears of the other part of it."

He managed to get hold of her hand with his left, holding on to the wheel with one hand, and they bowled along in this way until they met another conveyance.

And now the dome of the capitol with the figure perched upon it loomed up faint in the distance. It was not long before the outskirts of the city were reached, and half an hour before the time limit had expired they stopped at the ladies' entrance of the —— hotel. A liveried servant advanced and said:

"Mr. Cook and a party of ladies and gentlemen are in a private dining room waiting for you, sir."

Entering the room, Champlin expected to find Cook eager to know why his scheme had failed. Instead Cook handed his cousin a dozen pairs of ladies' gloves. After this he put out his hand to Champlin.

"I congratulate you, old boy, with all my heart on your engagement."

Champlin stood mute with astonishment.

"Champ, old boy," added Cook, "you need an explanation. To make you lose I sent my cousin Jack out to effect an entrance into your auto and delay you on the way. If she succeeded she was to have a dozen pairs of gloves for a reward. She has lost the gloves."

"That's plain," said Champlin.

"Well, there was a bet between Jack and me of another dozen pairs of gloves against a hundred cigars that she would make you propose to her on the way."

Champlin looked so many emotions, of which astonishment and shamefacedness were the most prominent, that all burst into a laugh, in which he finally joined. Then, turning to Miss Hood, he advanced, with a puzzled, inquiring look on his face.

"Was it all a sham?" he asked.

She made no reply in words, but a slight color rising to her cheeks indicated that the brief period she had passed, even of a sham engagement, had not been unpleasant to her. Besides, Champlin was regarded as one of the best catches in Washington. Since he could get no word of confirmation he concluded to apply a test. Putting an arm around the girl's waist, he drew her toward him and kissed her. She submitted without a protest.

"It's a go!" shouted Cook, and there was a burst of merriment, all crowding around Miss Hood to congratulate her, the men with handshakes, the women with kisses.

"Good for you, Champ!" cried Humphrey Cook. "You've won out all around. But the stake on the race is nothing compared with winning a wife. And you've got a dandy one, that can run anything, from a car to a man, and you'll find that she can take both the auto and the man apart and put them together again without the le-

WEIGHT OF THE FEET.

Greater When You Are Asleep Than When You Are Awake.

Your feet weigh more when you are asleep than when you are awake. At least that is the conclusion of a scientist who has experimented with the question. These tests were conducted in a most interesting manner. The subject was laid on a long plank, which was then placed upon a crosstree, seesaw fashion. The man upon the plank was balanced on this crosstree, and the plank remained at a level without any effort upon his part. But the moment that he went to sleep it began to incline downward at the end opposite his head.

This experiment was repeated with a number of persons belonging to both sexes, and in every case the result was the same. In no instance did the sleeper's head incline toward the ground.

This phenomenon is explained by the fact that the head is drained of surplus blood when a person is asleep, and the blood naturally flows toward the extremities of the sleeper. Immediately this makes the head lighter in weight, the difference being sufficient to upset the balance of a man resting in the position described.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Theodore Thomas Retort.

A characteristic story is told of one of the first rehearsals of the college choir (of the Cincinnati College of Music), at which Theodore Thomas had reprimanded some of the sopranos sharply for inattention. "He treats us as if we were members of his orchestra!" exclaimed an indignant singer to her next neighbor. Thomas overheard the remark and let it pass for the moment, but at the close of the rehearsal, as the performers were leaving the stage, he passed the lady in question and, turning to her, said very quietly, but with that biting sarcasm which those who knew him did not care to excite, "Madam, you will have to sing a great deal better than you do now before I shall treat you as I treat the members of my orchestra!"—Memoirs of Theodore Thomas.

Leisure is time for doing something useful. This leisure the diligent man will obtain, but the lazy man never.—Franklin.

RED ROCK WHEAT FOR LENAWEE COUNTY

Banker Guarantee Fund to Buy Red Rock Wheat for Lenawee County.

The U. S. and it's allies are facing a deficit of 400,000,000 bushels of Wheat. The only way to meet this deficit is by the most rigid economy amounting in may cases to actual suffering. With this condition existing in the U. S., it is the plain duty of every Lenawee Co., Farmer to see to it that every acre of land is prepared for wheat and is seeded to the best variety he can find. Mr. F. A. Spragg of the Michigan Agricultural college, has given us that best variety and the Bankers of Lenawee County have made it possible for Lenawee County Farm Bureau to purchase Red Rock seed Wheat to be sold to Lenawee Co., Farmers at actual cost. The [illegible] will not be more than $3.25 per bu. and judging from the past record of this variety in Michigan, it will mean an increase of $66.00 in value of every acre of land seeded to Red Rock Wheat over what it would be if seeded to a common variety. Therefore the Bankers of Lenawee County are directly responsible for a scheme of Agricultural developement of no mean proportion. Any one wishing to obtain this seed should write C. L. Coffeen, Adrian, Michigan, of Phone 669 M. Orders will be filled also take orders for seed wheat.

FINDS U. S. SOLDIERS IN EXCELLENT FORM

Pershing and Petain Make Surprise Visit of Inspection.

PARIS, FRANCE — General Pershing thinks his soldiers are "progressing satisfactorily" in their battle training. He said so, following a surprise inspection visit.

"I am entirely satisfied with what I have seen," the American commander asserted. "One thing that impressed me forcibly was the spirit of the officers and men."

The first notice the Amrican troops had of their commander's visit was a burst of bugle calls about dawn. The men tumbled hurriedly from their bunks and lined up at assembly. Then the word flew over the camp that General Pershing and General Petain had quietly slipped into the adjacent town during the night.

The United States troops stood at attention while a dustcloud grew bigger and bigger on the snakelike road heralding the visitors' approach in automobiles. Then came the formal reception at camp headquarters and inspection. The two generals passed between long rows of the American troops, General Petain being particularly interested in the sharpshooter and marksmanship medals won by numerous American fighters and talked to the men thus decorated.

TAKE UP POPE'S PEACE PROPOSAL

Reichstag Committee to Consider Military Matters.

WILL DISCUSS ECONOMICS

Will Deal With the Military Situation and the Food Shortage—Give Michaelis—Chance to Select New Aids and Acquaint Himself with Situation.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Immediate [illegible] the reichstag will meet next Tuesday to deal with the military and economic situation in empire, which is said to be considerably improved over conditions existing six weeks ago, when the political crisis occurred. At that time the Russians were penetrating further into Galicia, while the U-boat figures threatned to show a falling off in sunken tonnage.

The food situation in Germany was then anything but confidence-inspiring, due to a shortage of potatoes and absence of new vegetables and fruit and to reduced bread rations. Today the food situation has been eased by the arrival of a new potato crop, added bread rations and an improvement in the supply of vegetables, while the military situation on the eastern front, according to the official leaders, has been converted into an overwhelming rout of the Russians and Roumanians and redemption of Austrian soil from the invaders.

Says Flanders Drive Is Halted.

The outstanding military feature since the quieting of the recent political storm, however, is found on the western front, where the offensive of the entente in Flanders, in the German view, is again halted and the German U-boat base on the Belgian coast has been successfully defended.

The new chancellor and his newly appointed staff of secretaries, therefore, are permitted to enter into the initial conferences with the reichstag main committee at a moment when the central powers are declared again to be in military ascendency and the domestic situation is shorn of features which embarrassed the government on the eve of the crisis.

Gave Michaelis a Chance.

The desire to give Chancellor Michaelis an opportunity to select new aids, to inform himself rgarding the chief problems confronting the nation and to formulate his program warranted the brief intermission, which now has come to an end with the summoning of the main committee.

In view of the unparalleled economic and military situation, the opinion prevails in many quarters that the Reichstag, unmindful of the clamors of the pan-Germans, should unequivocally reiterate the principles of the pac resolution as adopted by a two-thirds majority at the close of the recent stormy session.

Consider Pope's Note.

It is not unlikely that the papal peace note will be informally discussed early in the session of the main committee, which will further occupy itself not only with an active review of military and economic affairs, but with new legislation relating to the reorganization of the food bureau and the division of the department of the interior. This department will have a subdivision devoted to legislation respecting commerce, labor and social questions, in which fields far-reaching reforms and innovations are forecast.

Fine Training.

"Where did Fibson get his early training as a war correspondent?"

ITALIANS TAKE 7,500 IN DRIVE

Start Big Offensive by Crossing Isonza River.

INFANTRY BATTLE CONTINUES

Guns and Many Machine Guns Are Among Materials Taken—Vienna Reports Offensive—Germans Abandon Positions on Verdun Sector. French Start Offensive on Wide Front.

PARIS — Three members of the American ambulance service have been wounded at the front and brought to Paris. None of them were wounded seriously. The wounded men are: Earl Osborn, Garrison-on-the-are: Earl Osborn, Garrison-on-the-Hudson, N. Y.; Dominick Rich, New York City; W. Pearl, St. Johns, Mich.

ROME, ITALY — The Italians in their offensive on the Isonzo front, have crossed the Isonzo river and already have taken 7,500 prisoners, it was officially announced by the war department.

Guns and many machine guns have been captured by the Italians, and the Austrians have suffered serious losses. The infantry battle continues vigorously.

Italians in Big Offensive.

ROME, ITALY — Commenting on the new Italian advance, the press says that it, like the British attack in Flanders, will be of service if it demonstrates how the people and armies of the allied countries feel toward the premature peace proposals of Pope Benedict.

It is said Austria apparently realizes the seriousness of the situation, as announcement is made that Emperor Charles is soon to visit the Austro-Italian front, presumably to encourage his troops.

Vienna Reports Big Drive.

VIENNA — The Italians have begun another big offensive against the Austrians in the Isonzo region of the Austro-Italian theater, where fighting is in progress over a thirty-seven mile front, running from the region of Tolmino to near the head of the Adriatic sea, on the Carso plateau. This information is contained in the war office communication.

Germans Withdraw on Verdun Lines.

BERLIN — The war office announces that the French, without fighting, have occupied the Talou ridge on the Verdun front, east of the Meuse.

At all other places over a front of over fourteen and three-eight miles, the German general staff reports, fighting is in full swing. The German high command says that Talon ridge was given up by the Teutons because this line of defense since last March had been occupied by outposts only.

Sixteen entente allied aeroplanes and four captive balloons, according to the statement, were brought down by the Germans.

UNION OF 5 REPUBLICS PLAN

Costa Rica Proposes Central American Governments Merge.

LA LIBERTAD, SAN SALVADOR. —Unification of the five Central American Republics, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Salvador, Nicaragua and Honduras, was proposed when the government of Costa Rica asked the other Isthmian governments to consider the prolongation of the Washington treaties of 1907, now nearing expiration.

At that time Guatemala, Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica pledgd themselvs to preserve the absolute neutrality of Honduras. As it is impossible for troops to go from one country to another without crossing some part of Honduras, was would be physically impossible while the treaty was observed. The government of San Salvador had previously made a similar proposal to renew the peace agreements. The unification idea already has been received enthusiastically by the people of Honduras. The San Salvador corporation has expressed its adhesion to the plan, and the Hondurean and Salvadorian newspapers are printing articles in favor of the union.

HALF OF SALONIKI BURNED

80,000 People Made Homeless Removed to Neighboring Villages.

LONDON, ENG — More than half the walled city of Saloniki, in Greek Macedonia, which is under occupation by the entente allied troops, was destroyed by fire.

Eighty thousand people who were made homeless were being removed to neighboring villages, according to a dispatch received in London. The fire is now under control.

Andrassy to Be Premier.

COPENHAGEN, DEN. — Budapest newspapers say that Count Julius Andrassy is slated to succeed Count Moritz Esterhasy a premier of Hungary. The prime minister is expected shortly to leave his post on account of ill health.

Scene from the musical comedy, "THERE SHE GOES," at the Bradley Opera House, Friday, August 31.

"THERE SHE GOES"

The management of the Bradley takes great pleasure in announcing Harvey D. Orr's newest type of musical comedy "There She Goes" as the opening attraction for the coming season. "There She Goes" is by the same author and under the same management as "The Million Dollar Doll" which played the Bradley last fall and was acclaimed by all who saw it as one of the best and cleanest attractions ever seen in Tecumseh.

"There She Goes" has the reputation of being the most gorgously costumed show on the road, and the scenery, of which there is a complete car load is of the very best ever seen here. The company numbers in the neighborhood of 40 people including a big chorus that can sing and dance. 24 big song hits and dancing numbers are introduced during the action of the play.

One of the big novelties of "There She Goes" is the special "Jazz" orchestra carried by the company and in fact the only one outside of New York.

"There She Goes" is the fastest musical comedy produced in years, something doing every minute, new and original, and different from all others. Really the biggest show ever offered at prices within the reach of all, 25c, 50c, 75c and best seats only $1.00, and the local management gives his personal guarantee that it is the biggest dollar's worth you will ever get in the amusement line. You can reserve seats now by phoning 365.

"There She Goes" will be at the Bradley next Friday evening, August 31.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE STATE TAX COMMISSION

Holding a Session at the Council Building Today

Representatives of the State Tax Commission are holding a session in the Council Building today for the purpose of giving all property owners in Tecumseh and Macon townships an opportunity of reviewing the recent valuations which have been placed upon all taxable property in these two townships. All complaints are being considered.

The work of the commission started in this county last March and representatives from the State Board have been working on the rolls since.

The committee here are:

Cass W. Benton of Northville, a member of State Tax Commission.

B. J. Hatch of Grand Rapids, Foreman of the field force working in this county.

Mrs. B. P. Hatch of Grand Rapids, who is acting as clerk on the board.

Chas Murray of Munich, Jackson Co., in charge of the Real Estate.

James E. McGregor of Ypsilanti, in charge of Personal and Merchandise stock.

Tuesday the board were in Adrian where they held a session for the townships of Madison, Adrian and Raisin.

Wednesday. Blissfield and Riga
Thursday, Ridgeway and Deerfield
Friday, Tecumseh and Macon

MRS JOHN SUTFIN

Mrs John Sutfin, who for the past year has been with her daughter Mrs Will Jones of Morenci, passed away Wednesday evening. She has been in failing health for some time, but her last illness was brief. She is survived by two children Mrs Stella Jones and Will Sutfin of Cedar Falls, Iowa.

Mrs. Sutfin has been a resident in Tecumseh for many years until failing health made it necessary for her to go to her children. She was with her son Will and family in Cedar Falls for some time, later going to her dughter, Mrs. Jones, where she was tenderly cared for until the end.

The remains will be brought to Tecumseh Saturday, and the funeral services will be held at the home of Eugene Service at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, Rev. Rex officiating. Burial in Brookside.

VIRGINIA MOATZ

Virginia, the baby daughter of Mr and Mrs. Floyd Moatz, of Detroit died Sunday, aged 1 year. The remains were brought to the home of Wm. Hendershott, Wednesday, where the funeral services were held, Dr. W. B. Hartzog officiating. Burial in the Eaton cemetery.

GEO. L. STEWART

George L. Stewart passed away at the home of his sister Mrs. Geo. Lewis of Tipton, Thursday evening, the eve of his 56th birthday. No funeral arrangements have been made as we go to press. The Masonic fraternity will have charge of the services

FREE CANNING DEMONSTRATION

On Tuesday afternoon, August 28th, at 2:30, a free canning demonstration will be held in the Grange hall under the auspices of the Tecumseh Monday Club. Miss Clara Waldron, who gives her services free as doing her "bit", will have charge of the lecture and instructions. She will be assisted by Miss Illenden of Adrian.

In order to make the demonstration as interesting as possible, two vegetables one fruit and a green will be canned, corn, tomatoes, peaches and swiss chard. Every woman of the community is urged to come and profit by these valuable lessons. Bring a note book and pencil for the instructions must be carried out to the letter if you would win success in doing your own canning.

These demonstrations are being carried on all over the state by various graduate instructors. In Lenawee, the county agent Mr Coffin, and the Patriotic League are pushing the matter. At Clinton over seventy five women were present, let Tecumseh be sure to better this number.

ENTERTAINED AT BRIDGE

Mrs. A. S. Cummins was hostess Tuesday afternoon to the Bridge club honoring her guest Mrs. Raynor Lilley. The rooms were beautifully decorated with roses and other summer flowers. The afternoon was spent in playing Bridge.

At the close of the games refreshments were served. The out of town guests were Mrs. Raynor Lilley, New York City, Mrs. Geo. Tiffany, Minneapolis, Minn., Mrs. M. E. Corey, Citronelle, Ala., Mrs. Julia McClure, Pittsburgh Pa., Mrs. P. W. A. Fitzsimmons, Detroit, Mich.

TECUMSEH SAVINGS BANK MAKING IMPROVEMENTS

The Tecumseh State Savings bank are making quite extensive improvements in their banking house. For some time they have been crowded for working space and are now extending their marble partition to the coupon booth, throwing this space into their office room. This new space is to be supplied with the necessary cupboards, drawers, and pigeon holes necessary for the supplies. A third window will be opened to relieve the congestion on busy days so that the public may be served more rapidly.

The directors room has been thoroughly remodeled and re furnished. A handsome mahogany directors' table with chairs to match, and a new chandalier give it a fine appearance. Workmen from the Hein Furnishing House of Toledo, are pushing the work rapidly.

DRAFT BOARD TO MAKE THIRD CALL

Lenawee County Draft Board to call Four Hundred More Men Next Week.

Cannot Fill Quota out of First Two Calls.

The Lenawee County Draft board now in session at Adrian, announced Wednesday that it would be necessary to issue a third call for men to bring up Lenawee's quota to full strength. It has been impossible to fill the required number out of the first two calls, and notices will be sent out the first of next week to men in the first district whose numbers run as high as 525. and it is expected that in the second district they will include all men up to 642.

This call it is expected, will call out 400 additional men from the two districts in this county for examination before the County Draft board.

HONORING LIEUT. PERRY C. SATTERTHWAITE

Tuesday evening, a merry party of neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Pulyer for a porch party honoring Lieut. Perry C. Satterthwaite, who is home on furlough from Ft Leavenworth. The affair proved a great success, if one could judge from the shouts of laughter, many stunts and games being played. Not the least of the entertainment was the bugle call which sounded loud and clear on the evening air. We know that the other Perry in the neighborhood was responsibie for the honking horn for no auto was in sight.

Lieut Satterthwaite is a well beloved member of the neighborhood, and while we honor him for the stand he has taken, yet we regret the necessity that calls him to take up arms and leave Tecumseh.

ANOTHER GOOD PROGRAM WEDNESDAY

In spite of the threatening weether a good crowd was in town Wednesday evening for the Bargain Day program, the afternoon attendance being larger than usual. The attraction this week was a novelty act by the Johnson Co., who gave an exhibition of strength, the Melinos in their acrobatic and aerial acts, and the Majestic Duo, a musical act. The Tipton band gave a fine program which added largely to the enjoyment of the crowd.

The program as a whole measured up well with other attractions which we have had here this season, and from the applause given the acts, it would seem to infer that our friends were well pleased. Next Wednesday closes the entertainments for the season and we expect to have an extra good program for the closing night. The Red Cross Concert Company will be present and will do their bit to help the cause along. Every one come and help make the last night the biggest of the season. You will be sure to enjoy it all.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF THE HOME AND FOREIGN SOCIETIES OF THE M. E. CHURCH

A joint meeting of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the M. E. church was held at the home of Mrs Horace Eaton east of town, Thursday afternoon, about 40 being present. Officers for the ensuing year were elected in the home society as follows:

Pres.—Mrs. E. M. Lewis
1st. Vice Pres.—Mrs. Alva Waring
2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs Fred Rosacrans
Cor. Sec.—Mrs. John McIntyre
Rec. Sec.—Mrs. A. J. Bigelow
Treas.—Mrs. F. J. Temple
Mite box Sec.—Mrs. B. Hurry
Supt. Queen Esthers—Mrs. W. J. Balmer
Supt. Mother Jewels—Mrs. Sam'l Reed.

The annual mite box opening of the Foreign society was also held. A fine picnic supper was served at 6.30.

RED CROSS NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Raymond took the large consignment of finished goods to Adrian this week, the stuff completely filled the auto. It is the largest consignment of goods that the Adrian Headquarters have received.

Miss Hosmer requests everybody to save every bit of yarn, and to return it to her. She will eave town to be gone a week, on Friday. During that time please leave yarn and materials with Miss Phelps, at Headquarters, between 12 p. m. and 2 p. m.

Miss Mary Whitlock has completed her hundredth sponge.

Mrs. O. B. Finch receiving word from her daughter-in-law in West Virginia that they did not publish Red Cross News, sent her the Tecumseh items, and she managed to get a Red Cross column started there.

New members—Frederick Temple, Mrs. Della Belcher, Miss Iva Boyd, and John Reese. John Reese is a little boy, who earned the money himself to join.

Mrs. R. A. Heesen has donated one chair to the surgical dressing room, Miss Jennie Gillespie one, Mrs. Chas. Burridge two chairs, 1 cupboard, one ironing board and one table. Mr. Guy Belding has offered several chairs, and Mr. John Blessing has offered to paper the room for nothing.

The trustees of the Presbyterian church have given one enameled pitcher and basin, with stand for same, and Mrs. Beardsley one table.

Towards cleaning of Headquarters Mrs. Winifred Anderson $2.00, Mrs. Chas. Burridge 50c and Mrs. Frank Clarkson 25c.

Dr. Bredow will be glad to receive donations of Tungston, or other electric burners for surgical room.

Due notice will be given in Tuesday paper, regarding the time when the surgical dressing class will begin. There are a great many applications for it.

Deliveries to Chapter Headquarters to August 21st. Comfort pillows, 259; comfort pillows 10x10; 4; feathers pillows, 37; comfort pillow cases 12x12, 8; pillow cases standard, 92; sheets, 161; surgical sponges, 1192; surgical shirts 150; pajamas suits, 80; bed socks, pair 50; bath robes, 44; wash cloths, 312; handkerchiefs, 501; wool socks pair 42; linen napkins (14x14) 146; linen tray covers, 98; knit mufflers, 2; hot water bag covers, 30. Total 4154 pieces.

Mrs. T. C. Harris sent in 16 Surgical shirts this week.

Mrs. J. B. Kennedy has sent in 19 bathrobes this week. She wishes to thank her committee for the fine work they have done, and to notify them that all material has been used up for the present. Owing to the unavoidable absence of some of her committee, Mrs. Kennedy had to finish a number of these bathrobes herself, and comment was made on the excellence of the work.

Do not forget the Concert on the Four Corners in Tecumseh on Wednesday the 29th. The performance will begin as usual at 7 p. m. and the Red Cross company will begin at 8 p. m. Mrs. Wood has planned some surprise, and Lester Coller has donated the use of the piano.

The Wamplers lake concert takes place at 3:30 on Sunday, Sept. 9th.

An appeal has come to the American Red Cross from Major Grayson M. P. Murphy, Red Cross Commissioner for Europe for 1,500,000 knitted sets comprising sweater, muffler, wristlets and socks, and in turn a call is being made on the Chapters throughout the United States, for the production of these articles. A manual will soon be out with instructions.

The Red Cross Supply Bureau is arranging for a large supply of yarn and knitting needles to meet the requirements of Chapters.

Desperate need will exist for these articles before we can get them made.

Please have all your members understand that there should not be the least cessation in efforts of workers in the production of surgical dressings and hospital garments. More workers are absolutely necessary.

HOLLOWAY RED CROSS NEWS.

Holloway sent to Adrian last 42, 10x15 snipped pillows; 84 cases for same; 108 surgical sponges; 10 pairs of knitted socks; 10 surgical shirts; 32, shoulder wraps; 6 pajamas suits; 42 wash cloths; 24 handkerchiefs; 72 roll bandages; 8 head bandages.

On Friday the following goods were sent by the ladies 24 10x15 snipped pilows; 48 cases for same; 14 feather pillows; 28 cases for same.

The little girls meet every Thursday afternoon at the home of Gladys Riley for a snippng party.

Mrs. Cox is earnestly appealing for knitters to make sweaters; do not fail her, the need is bitter. Think of the cold winter coming and the men are fighting your battles in the trenches without sufficient clothing.

Jenny C. Law Hardy,
Publicity Director.

Action to avert the threatened coal shortage in Michigan next winter has been taken by Governor Sleeper and coal experts, who met in conference at the state capitol.

FOR YOUR BARN

For some time we have been investigating different kinds of barn equipment, so that we could offer our customers the very best in that line. We believe you cannot do better than put in the

Louden Barn Equipment

BARN Cleaning's A "Snap" With a LOUDEN Litter Carrier
IS THIS YOUR COW ?
OR THIS?

Mud, slush, and manure make a mighty nasty combination when you have to clean the barn by the laborious, back-breaking wheelbarrow method.

There's a quicker, better, easier way; why not take advantage of it!

There's a Louden Litter Carrier for your barn at a price you can afford to pay. It will render years of service; it will save you a world of time and labor. It will make it possible to keep the barn clean and preserve manure values.

Can your conceive of a more profitable investment in farm machinery?

Louden Litter Carriers are made in five styles, at a wide range of prices: Rod track carriers are suitable for simple track arrangements. Solid track carriers are best where curves and switches are used.

You'll need a Louden Carrier this winter. May we work out an itemized quotation for you?

Do your cows enjoy the comfort and freedom of flexibly hung, swinging steel stanchions, or are they cramped and miserable in rigid, insanitary wood "stocks"? The comfort of your cow is a vital factor in her milk production. The difference in results between a comfortable and uncomfortable tie represents YOUR PROFITS! The Louden Tubular Steel Stanchion is strong, comfortable and sanitary. Costs the same as a good halter; outlasts your barn. May be hung in wood or steel frame. Come in and see it; we'll quote you attractive prices.

BUSINESS CHANGE

Albert Boyce Succeeds R. K. Anderson as Secretary and Treasurer of the Webster Anderson Company.

Albert Boyce, an old Tecumseh boy, has bought stock in and becomes active in the management of The Webster Anderson Company. He also becomes Secretary and Treasurer of the Company, succeeding R. K. Anderson, who leaves, Saturday, for Ft. Sheridan, Ill., to enter the Officers Training Camp.

Mr. Boyce through modern merchandising methods, will endeavor to give the people of Tecumseh and vicinity one of the best and most up-to-date Dry Goods stores in the county. The years he has spent in the Dry Goods business, to-gather with his knowledge of the manufacturing of women's ready-to-wear garments of all descriptions, to which he has given his entire attention for several years past, gives him an experience gained by very few retail merchants, not excepting even those in larger cities.

Mr. Boyce is no stranger to Tecumseh people, as he was born and raised on a farm north east of Tecumseh and attended our Tecumseh schools. It is interesting to note that just 29 years ago the last of February, he left High School to enter the employ of The W & S. W. Anderson Company store as errand boy and continued in their employ for 2 years. During his absence from Tecumseh, he has spent most of his time in Detroit and New York and is considered an authority in the Dry Goods line. For a number of years he was connected with The Edson Moore Company of Detroit as head of one of its departments.

The Anderson store was first established in Tecumseh in 1866 under the firm name of W & H. E. Anderson and is one of the oldest stores in this section of the State. During the 51 years of its existance the business has always been kept in the Anderson family and at this time it bears the name of one of its founders, Webster Anderson. The store has had an enviable record, for it has always enjoyed a florishing business and has counted its customers from all over this section of the country. Through all these years the business has been conducted in the same building.

R. K. Anderson, the retiring member of the firm has been connected with the Anderson store as its Secretary and Treasurer since 1909, at this time the firm organized with the following officers:

President—J. D. Shull
Sec'y. and Treas.—R. K. Anderson.
General Mgr.—Faron S. Anderson.

R. K. and Faron S. Anderson have been the active heads of the business for the past eight year and Faron S. Anderson who remains in the management of the concern has been active in the store for the past 19 years.

Beginning next Wednesday morning the store will be closed for inventory but will be re-opened at a very early date. Full particulars pertaining to its affairs will be given from time to time through the columns of the Herald.

Mrs. Wilfred Waldron returned from a short visit in Deerfield Wednesday.

Mrs. Clarence Conklin was here for the funeral of her brother Wallace Tilden, Wednesday.

THE FAMILY GROCERY BILL

It is important enough to demand the proper attention of every housekeeper,

The Grocery account runs into a lot of money in a year, and we suppose every head of the house wishes to make her grocery money go just as far as she can.

It has been proven over and over again that this can be done best by spending the money on the highest qualities of eatables that can be found.

As we have often told you people this store stands for purity in eatables, and we especially solicit the patronage of housekeepers who think as we do on the question of grocery economy.

Old men in Tecumseh should be careful on Wednesday, which seems to be a hoodo. Last week on that day John Hubbard 85 years old, fell down the cellar stairs and broke his arm. Thomas Lowry about 90 years old, was run down by an automobile and was cut and bruised. There are no old ladies in that village, hence they are not represented in the casualty list.—Hudson Post. Right you are friend Stenrewald, we have no old ladies in Tecumseh, many have retain their youthful feelings and keep in touch with the times.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubolz says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients and free from any harmful drugs.

TECUMSEH TESTIMONY

Home Proof, Here, There and Everywhere.

When you see Doan's Kidney Pills recommended in this paper you most always find the recommender a Tecumseh resident. It's the same everywhere—in 3,000 towns in the U. S. Forty thousand people publicly thank Doan's. What other kidney remedy can give this proof of merit, honestly and truth? Home testimony must be true or it could not be published here. Read this Tecumseh recommendation. Then insist on having Doan's. You will know what you are getting.

Mrs. W. W. Shurtz, W. Kilbuck St., Tecumseh, says: "My Kidneys acted irregularly and I had dull, nagging backaches. I felt dizzy headaches. My feet and ankles became swollen, too. Doan's kidney pills relieve the backaches and put my kidneys in good order. The swellings left me and I felt better in every way."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Shurtz had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

MACON

CAMBURN REUNION

Wm. Langan and sister entertained the members of the Camburn family for their 21st annual reunion, Friday, August 17th at their home in Macon. There were 140 present from the white haired father and mother, down to the baby. It was a beautiful scene, full of animation and will always be a bright spot in the memory of all who were so fortunate as to be present.

All who were there were decendents of Wm. and Elinor Hepborn of New Jersey, who were born nearly two centuries ago. There were four sons, Levi Camburn, born in 1765, who settled in Franklin, William and John both settling in Seneca and Hebron Camburn locating in Macon. All the Camburns in Michigan are decendants of the above named.

Dinner was served in the M. E. church parlors. At the conclusion of the sumptuous repast the time was spent at the home in social chat. Late in the afternoon the President, Laverne Camburn called for order. After the secretary's report the historian, Rev. Arthur Camburn was called on who gave an interesting talk, speaking of the past generations and of how we are related to one another. Officers were then elected for the ensuing year. It was decided to hold the reunion next year at Wamplers Lake. Cake and ice cream were then served to the company. This closed one of the best events the family has even held. The day was in accordance with the event, pleasant.

Guests were present from Chicago Grand Rapids, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Belleville, Pinckney, Whitmore lake, Teconsha, Seneca, Clayton, Tecumseh, Milan, Saline, Clinton, Homer, Metamora, and Ridgeway.

Hollis Koebbe was home from Detroit last Sunday.

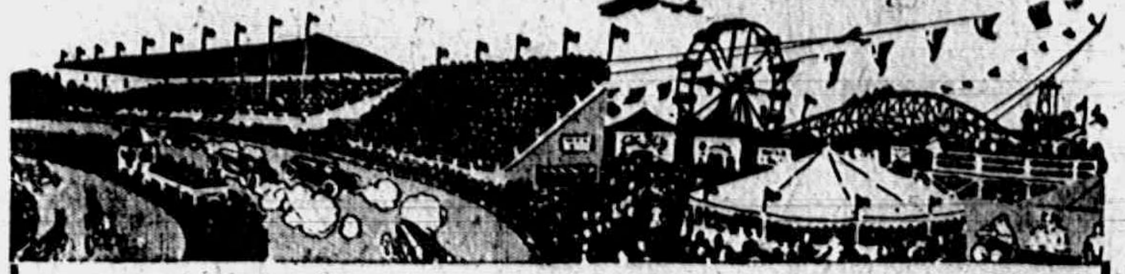
MICHIGAN STATE FAIR

AUG. 31 to SEPT. 9



Unequalled Entertainment Features Every Day of the Big Annual Exposition

There will not be a moment's delay in the succession of thrilling and interesting amusement numbers which make up the entertainment program of the Michigan State Fair this year.

Thousands of dollars have been spent in bringing these remarkable entertainment features together, forming the greatest array of exhibition and platform talent ever gathered at a State Fair.

Ruth Law and Louis Gertson In Day and Night Flights

Two of America's most renowned masters of aviation—Ruth Law, the only woman military flyer in the United States; Louis Gertson, most daring army aviator in this country—will be seen in day and night aerial exploits never before exhibited. These reckless flights are a revelation for there is nothing known to aviation that is untried by these exponents of sensational performances in the air.

Disbrow Defends Race Title; Fast Harness Horse Events

Mile-a-minute averages will fade into insignificance when Clark, Klein, Horey and others strive to wrest the dirt track championship from Louis Disbrow in the speed carnival at the opening of the big annual exposition, Saturday and Sunday. Trotters and Pacers from all parts of the U. S. and Canada will be entered in the program of harness horse events which will feature the Fair this year.

Wild West, Horse Show, Midway, Fireworks are Daily Features

A true picture of frontier life is presented by California Frank and his company of 35 people in realistic Indian fighting, roping, shooting and riding acts. Thoroughbred riding and driving animals are entered in the evening horse show. Wholesome amusement, for young and old, in Johnny J. Jones' superior Midway attractions. Patriotic fireworks close the Fair program every evening.

All these are in addition to immense exhibits of farm produce, live stock and mechanical farm helps. Valuable educational suggestions are offered in the Child's Welfare Exhibit, Boys' Live Stock Judging Contest, Girls' Canning Contest. Better Babies' Exhibit, Boys' State Fair School and Girls' Milking Contest.

RED CROSS WILL CARE FOR U. S. PRISONERS

Arrangements Made to Care for Sammies in German Camps.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The American Red Cross has perfected plans to care for Americans who may be captured and held in German prison camps. A Prisoners' Relief committee has been organized at Berne, Switzerland, under the supervision of Ellis L. Dresel, of the American legation. Today only about one hundred American prisoners are held in Germany. Most of these are civilians taken off American merchantmen that have been sunk by Teuton submarines. Speedy provision for their relief and for those who may be taken prisoner is necessitated by the German policy of giving their prisoners war food totally inadequate to keep men in good health.

A recent cable dispatch from Paris tells of a French soldier just back from a German prison camp and in the last stage of tuberculosis. This soldier was one of a battalion of a thousand young and healthy men captured in a body early in the war.

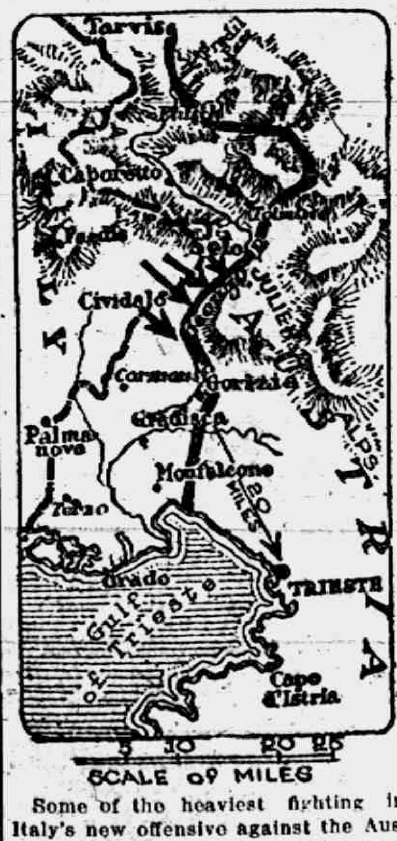
WHERE ITALIANS ADVANCE

Map Shows Location of Offensive on the Isonzo.



Some of the heaviest fighting in Italy's new offensive against the Austrians is taking place on the Isonzo front, which is shown in the map. North of Gorizia, which the Italians have held for some time, strong blows have been struck, and only seven and a half miles from the city the Italians have crossed the Isonzo in their effort to break the enemy's line that runs east of Gorizia and thus pave the way for an advance from that direction on Trieste. Still further to the north in the Julian Alps other gains have been made.

COLORED SOLDIERS TO GET ARMY TRIAL

Maj. Gen. Bell Breaks Up Meeting of Houston Whites.

Houston, Tex., Aug. 27.—A meeting of white citizens here bumped up against the United States army and as a result Major General George Bell modified his promise to withdraw martial law in this city.

Despite the general's promise that the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fourth infantry who caused the race riots in which seventeen would receive "quick army justice" and his statement that death by the firing squad was the penalty for mutiny and murder, the white citizens—at least many of them—were not satisfied.

They want the negro soldiers returned to Houston for civil trial on charges of murder, for which thirty-four of them were indicted by the grand jury. Policemen and deputy sheriffs circulated petitions making sucsh a demond on Secretary of War Baker, and a massmeeting of protest was called. Major General Bell promptly broke up the meeting, declaring it was a violation of martial law.

EAT MORE FISH SAVE MEAT

Government Will Endeavor to Improve Marketing Conditions.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Believing that one way to save meat is to eat more fish, the federal food administration has begun a campaign to increase the consumption of sea food and to broaden retail distribution into the interior of the country.

Kenneth Fowler of New York, formerly secretary treasurer of Chesbro Bros., of Fulton market, will undertake the task of bettering the market conditions, establishing distributing centers, opening up more distributing markets, increasing cold storage and preserving facilities, and obtaining better transportation arrangements.

SPORTS BARRED FROM CAMP

Civilian Employes Caught at Gaming Promptly Deported.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 27.—Crap shooters, card sharks and other nimble-fingered gentry are having a hard time breaking into the camps of working men established at United States army cantonments.

Six professionals from Memphis reached the government cantonment at Little Rock. Within an hour after their arrival they had a game "going." They were deported. Other cantonments had the same experience.

Trading in Wheat Pit Ends.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Trading in wheat for future delivery on the Chicago board of trade is a thing of the past. The order of Herbert C. Hoover, federal food administrator, to shut down as a war measure had been promulgated weeks ago. The end was neither unexpected nor sensational. Traders have until Sept. 1 to close their transactions. From that date the government will be in charge. The end of the week will see the wind up of all of the markets in the United States.

Want to Change Cheese Law.

MADISON, Aug. 27.

There will be a meeting of the dairy interests of the state in Madison before the special session of the legislature. These interests may desire some modification in the butter and cheese laws to meet the dairy situation. It is likely a skim-milk cheese law will be asked for in the special session.

Butter Men to Meet at Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 27.

The annual convention of the National Creamery and Buttermakers' association will be held in Milwaukee, Oct. 9, 10 and 11. The Wisconsin Buttermakers' association will meet at the same time. It is estimated about 1,000 creamery men will attend the two conventions.

AGREEMENT WITH LABOR REACHED

Shipbuilding Strike Settled; Commission Will Quiet Troubles.

LABORS LEADERS IN ACCORD

Commission Will Consist of Three Members, With V. Everett Macy as Chairman, Samuel Gompers Will Name Another and the Emergency Fleet Will Name Third.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The navy department, emergency fleet corporation and Federation of Labor have agreed to the creation of a labor adjustment commission to settle or avert peacefully and at once all strikes threatening the shipbuilding program.

It is understood that all other labor disputes in which the government interests are involved will be settled by similar procedure. The commission will consist of three members. President Wilson has designated V. Everett Macy of New York, president of the National Civic Federation, as chairman.

Gompers to Name One.

Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor, will name another, and the emergency fleet corporation will designate the third. Where navy work is concerned, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt will sit as a member.

A strike of more than 100,000 men on the Pacific coast has been threatened since August 14. It would stop work on more than 750,000 tons of steel and wooden ships and paralyze one of the greatest shipbuilding centers in the world.

As basic standards the board is to use such scales of wages and hours as were in force in each plant July 15, but shall give consideration to any circumstances arising since which may seem to call for changes in wages, hours or conditions.

GERMANSOLONS DECRY SUBS

Claim England Is Not Being Hurt Very Badly.

Copenhagen, Aug. 27.—The submarine controversy again has been raised in the German reichstag's main committee by the government's efforts to convince the members that the unrestricted U-boat campaign is a great success.

Herr Scheidemann took issue with Dr. Helfferich, questioned his account of the workings of the unrestricted campaign, and warned the government that it must not deceive itself regarding the effect of the sinkings on England. Herr Scheidemann said that nothing had been brought forward to change his party's attitude on the submarine question.

Aged Man Suicides.

KALAMAZOO, Aug. 27.

John Doran, sixty-six years old, killed himself at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George F. Derhammer, of Portage. Four years ago he suffered a sunstroke and from that time on his mind gradually weakened.

Three Traitors Nabbed.

MADISON, Aug. 27.

Charles Lueht, Jenny Ikler, alias Jenny Seubert, and Conrad J. Seubert have been arrested at Spencer on a charge of conspiracy against the government in an attempt to evade the selective law.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 27.

A movement has been started to call upon Milwaukeeans to observe Sept. 5, mobilization day for the national draft army, as a gala day.

CAPT. MATTES' BODY ARRIVES IN CHICAGO

Body of Officer Killed by Negroes Comes Home.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—The body of Captain "Joe" Mattes came back to Chicago. The casket which carried his bayonet-scarred body was met at the Dearborn station by a company of sad-visaged comrades in khaki, who escorted it to the undertaking rooms.

The body will lie in state guarded by an "honor watch." The funeral services will he held Tuesday, Father Scandon officiating. Taps for the dead will be blown and a salute fired over the grave. Thus will homage be paid to the regiment's first casualty in the new campaign.

At Camp Wampold at the foot of Chicago avenue, where the Second artillery is bivouacked pending entrainment for the south, where Mattes died, a streamer of crepe flaps against the regimental colors and on the serge uniforms of the officers appear broad bands of black.

67,000 Tractors in 1917.

NEW WAR LOAN ON OCTOBER 1

Investment Houses Making Preparations to Handle New Bonds.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The next installment of Liberty Loan bonds may be put out as early as Oct. 1. The expectation is not based on official information, but on intimations from observers in the east and deductions from the known expenditures of the government.

Our loans to our allies have passed the $2,000,000,000 mark, which uses up the proceeds of the first installment of Liberty bonds.

ITALIANS DRIVE AUSTRIANS BACK

Scale Monte Santo; Cut Gaps in Enemy Lines.

AVIATORS AN AID TO SUCCESS

Counter Attack by the Enemy on Carso Positions Held by Latins Break Down—Naval Guns Placed at Mouth of Isonzo River Carry Past Miramar.

Rome, Aug. 27.—The second Italian army, after sweeping Monta Santo, eight miles northeast of Goritz, clear of Austrians, is now marching across the plateau to the east.

Wide gaps have been broken in the Austrian line from below Mount Gabrielle to a mile or so above Monte Santo, and the Italian reserves are swarming through the holes and pursuing the Austrians, who are offering a stiff resistance, but who are unable to cope with the triumphant troops of the tricolor.

Scale, Win Monte Santo.

General Cadorna's gallant troops completed the crossing of the Isonzo river north of Goritz at a point where the Austrians believed such a feat was impossible and scaled Monte Santo, 2,245 feet high.

Every inch of the ground was bitterly contested by the desperate Austrians.

Monte Santo in the Goritz sector, now in the hands of the Italians, has been the stumbling block for General Cadorna since 1916 when he overwhelmed the city of Goritz only to find his victory almost barren of military results due to the fact that the Austrians clung to the mountain which they had turned into a veritable Gibraltar, and dominated the region for miles.

Italian flyers were in the thick of the fighting and contributed mattrially to the success of the troops. The Caproni planes bombed closed packed enemy troops in the Chiapovano valley and then swept down near the earth, attacking with their machine guns. Of the 233 machines engaged in the fighting only one failed to return.

Fierce Fighting on Carso.

On the Carso plateau the Austrians are still counter attacking the positions recently won by the Italians a mile and a half beyond Selo, to the north of Mount Mermada.

Reports from the front declare the Italians have placed naval guns at the mouth of the Isonzo river which have carried far beyond Duino, the key to Triest, clear past Miramar, the imperial resort, less than two miles west of Triest.

Bulgar Chief Wants Peace.

Sofia, Aug. 27.—"The central powers want peace and will make concrete proposals along the general line of the Papal note and will answer it individually," Premier Radoslavoff of Bulgaria stated.

New Gains by French.

Paris, Aug. 27.—New gains have made by the French on the Verdun front, rounding out the victory won in the offensive begun last Monday.

The French advanced north of hill 304, Paris announces, and captured three fortified works near Bethincourt.

AIRMEN MAY TRAIN AT GRAYLING CAMP

Governor to Inspect Ground Following Washington Hint.

LANSING, Aug. 27.

Governor Sleeper and other members of the war preparedness board are visiting the national guard mobilization camp at Grayling. There is an indication in certain Washington quarters that the Grayling camp may be used as a cantonment for aviation troops.

The fields the government has tried out for fliers have proved inadequate and inquiries have been made of the Michigan officials to see if Grayling might be used.

WILSON ANSWERS COAL PLEA

Gov. Philipp Receives Letter Promising Early Relief.

MADISON, Aug. 27.

President Wilson will, it is expected, take steps to supply the citizens of Wisconsin and other states in the northwest with a sufficient quantity of hard coal for the coming winter.

Governor Philipp received a letter from President Wilson as follows:

"My dead Governor Philipp: I have your telegram of Aug. 14 You may be sure I appreciate to the full the critical situation of the northwest and I am hoping early steps will be taken which will be adequate to remedy the situation. Cordially and sincerely yours, Woodrow Wilson."

I. W. W. Leaders Deported.

GRAND RAPIDS, Aug. 27.

Ten men, suspected of being I. W. W. leaders, have been ordered to leave the city in the crusade to clear Grand Rapids of all labor agitators. While the investigation has been carried on zealously, plans have been made so that quick prosecutions may follow when arrests are made. Men caught spreading the seed of discontent among laboring men with the intent of fomenting trouble will meet with severe punishment.

Bank Sells Fertilizer at Cost.

Columbus, Ind., Aug. 27.—The Farmers and Merchants bank of Elizabethtown has ordered a large quantity of fertilizer and will sell it at cost to farmers. The bank also will make loans to farmers to increase crops next year.

Tomorrow night ends the Bargain Days for this season, unless the merchants decide to continue them for two or three weeks, which there is some talk of their doing. These days have been popular all through the season and large crowds have flocked to our town to take in the program and to do their trading. Most all of the merchants whom we have seen express themselves as well satisfied with the results. Our towns-people have also enjoyed the programs and every one has had a good time.

The management have been fortunate in getting good attractions, there being only a few that were considered poor Once in awhile we hear of some townsman who calls it tomfoolery etc. Once in our hearing a man objected to the village council appropriating any of the village money for that purpose. We can't see why any one should object to a series of such fine attractions, such as this town has been putting on for the last three years

The village for years, appropriated money for band concerts, and almost every town and city in the country does it and we certainly have had good band concerts each Wednesday evening during the summer. The town or city that does not inject life into the monotonous every day trend of events is a dead one. Ask people who live about Tecumseh and many from distant points what they think of Tecumseh and they will tell you that we are alive and wide awake. These Bargain Days have advertised our town and have brought people here who have not been coming in years past

Does it hurt our town to stimulate trade and bring money here that formerly has been spent in other places? Does it hurt our property and make it worth less? No, it is a good thing for our town looking at it from any angle. The small amount that tax payers are asked for these band concerts, if separated and placed on the tax receipt would put any one to shame for even suggesting that it raised the tax

If you want a good live town, help any worthy cause that will better its conditions We are glad that those who object are few and a long ways apart. We congratulate the boys who have had these Bargain Days in charge and who have been responsible for their success.

ANNIVERSARY PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dickinson celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary Monday evening, August 27 A very pleasant evening was spent in a social manner. Refreshments were served.

Those who helped in the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Athol Brainard of Onsted, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Waring of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Service, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Mulvaney, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron, Miss Gladys Gothal of Blissfield and Dale Hodges.

REV. J. G. WIDDIFIELD'S BROTHER WOUNDED

Rev. J. G. Widdifield has received word from his brother who is on the firing line in France stating that he had been wounded and was being sent to a hospital in England. The letter was written to his mother in Canada and stated that he was doing finely. He may be granted a furlough and come home for a visit.

The Methodist Sunday school will hold their picnic at the home of Chas. Snedecor in Brownville, Thursday, August 30th, pot-luck dinner Bring your own silver, dishes, sandwiches and one other article of food. All wishing transportation, meet at the church at 11:15. Everybody welcome A boat ride will be one of the attractions.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our kind friends for the flowers and other favors that made it possible for us to entertain our Moore family reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hanley.

Wedding Music.

"Custom," says a writer in the Woman's Home Companion, "has decreed, to be sure, that the simplest and most conventional musical program for a wedding in church is, as some one has tersely expressed it, 'Lohengrin to go in on, Mendelssohn to go out on and something soft during the ceremony.' Something a bit different would be 'Tannhaeuser' to go in on and 'Swedish Wedding March' from 'Hochzeit zu Wulfsberg' to go out on."

Answering With Another Question.

"What's become of the old fashioned servant girl who used to entertain her beau in the kitchen?"

"Shucks! What's become of the old fashioned kitchen that used to be big enough for a girl to entertain company in?"—Detroit Free Press.

EXTENSIVE WELFARE EXHIBIT AT FAIR

Costly Display Gives Valuable Suggestions for Care of Children

"Save the Babies" is the cry raised by National public health authorities and heard around the country. The fate of Europe, today, depends upon the preservation of her children. We in this country will face a similar emergency if we are not more careful of the health of our little ones. Every high point, every vital curve in the child's life chart, should be familiar to its parents, who can thus safeguard the infant through the danger zones of his existence.

The National Child Welfare association of New York has expended over $75,000 in preparing an exhibit which shows by pictures, models, and demonstration charts how the homes, schools, churches, clubs, playgrounds, streets, libraries, settlements and all other social and opposing anti-social agencies are molding the child's plastic body and mind.

This remarkable exhibition will be shown at the Michigan State Fair at Detroit from August 31 to September 9.

The success of the New York exhibit led to inquiries from other cities of the country and Europe with the result that London, and Dublin and cities in France and Belgium have held exhibits.

The charts and panels are illustrated by one or more colored paintings or photographs. They begin with the importance of proper care of the baby before birth and the influence this has on the life of the child. Other panels deal with the care at birth, registration, proper feeding, mental and moral developement of children, developement of character, growth through study, growth through work and many other subjects vital to the proper rearing of children. The entire exhibit will occupy over 200,000 feet of floor space and will continue throughout the ten days of the Fair.

PATRIOTISM WILL DOMINATE WHOLE OF FAIR PROGRAM

Speeches and Special Exercises Every Day of Exposition

SPECIAL DAYS ARE NAMED

Aim to Inspire Loyalty Among People of State, One of the Objects of the Michigan State Fair.

Patriotism will ring throughout the Michigan State Fair every one of the ten days it is in progress in accordance with plans for patriotic exercises, speeches, and the proper observance of saluting the flag and singing the national anthem, as outlined by General-Manager G. W. Dickinson.

Two days have been set apart this year for special patriotic observances. Tuesday, September 4, which was formerly Old Soldier's Day, will be known as Patriotic Day, this year. The occasion will be marked by reviews of the G. A. R., patriotic music, singing and exercises by children and Boy Scouts. Friday, September 7, is The Nation's Day and besides the special program of patriotic numbers there will be addresses by speakers of national prominence.

Patriotic Opening Day.

The Fair will be opened on August 31 with a patriotic observance. Following that every day promptly at 1 o'clock a salute will be fired and every band on the grounds, every musical instrument, every phonograph will play America and the crowds will be asked to halt their amusements and sightseeing long enough to sing the national anthem.

"HUMAN NIGHTHAWK" GERTSON ARMY INSTRUCTOR AT STATE FAIR

LOUIS GERTSON

Aviation training camps established at various places throughout the country are creating an efficient air fighting force for Uncle Sam. Among the most prominent instructors at Ashburn, Ill., one of the aviators' reserve corps training camps, is Louis Gertson, "the human night hawk" and the most spectacular flyer in the country, who will be seen in day and night flights at the Michigan State Fair August 31 to September 9.

Gertson has charge of a large class of recruit aviators and makes numerous flights every day in the course of his instructions. Two thousand feet altitudes are "easy" distances in the aviation training camps. Long distance flights are every day occurences.

Louis Gertson is credited with having originated more "thrillers" in his career as an exhibition aviator than any other flyer in this country.

ADVANCEMENT OF STATE REFLECTED IN FAIR EXHIBITS

Improvement Noted in Displays at Annual State Exposition

MANY NEW CLASSES ADDED

Rare Exhibits of Animals Never Before Shown at a State Fair—Enlarged display of Farm Produce.

For sixty-eight years the Michigan State Fair, now the oldest state fair in the United States, has fostered the agricultural development of the state. Its influence has been felt in every movement having as its object the greater advancement of Michigan as a food raising section. Today the great prominence of the state among the pre-eminent agricultural and stock raising commonwealths of the nation, is reflected in the elaborate exhibits of farm produce and live stock, which mark each annual exposition.

A decided improvement is noticable in the quality of live stock bred in the state, and much of this can be traced directly to the efforts of the Fair in encouraging the introduction of blooded stock in Michigan. The movement to this end was at first slow and met with many reverses but the persistence of General Manager Dickinson was finally rewarded by the general interest inspired in the breeding of blooded animals.

New Classes Established.

As an indication of the attention given to live stock raising a number of new classes have been created in this department of the State Fair. Included in these is a special class for heavy draft horses in teams, harnessed and attached to a suitable wagon.

In the cattle department a novelty is introduced with the establishment of a class for Devonshire cattle, a breed rarely shown at Fairs. General Manager Dickinson is assured of several exhibits of these uncommon animals. The State Fair has also established a separate class for dairy breed cattle—distinguishing them from the beef breeds—and has put up special prizes for exhibits in this new division.

Rare Animals On Display.

Two exhibits of Persian Fur sheep, commonly known as sacred sheep, will be added to the animal classes at the Fair this year. These interesting beasts have long, fine, shaggy wool of exceptionally high value. This exhibit should be of interest to breeders and the general public as well. Another announcement of interest to exhibitors is the establishment of a special class for Spotted Poland China hogs, which should bring out a number of additional pens.

The agricultural exhibits this year, more than ever before, will demonstrate the advancement the state has made along these lines. Probably never in the history of Michigan has there been such a keen interest in this subject nor more accomplished, in a material way, in enlarging the state's food output.

Daily Wild West Performance.

California Frank, Pioneer Wild West Showman, will appear in daily free performances at the Michigan State Fair at Detroit from Aug. 31 to Sept. 9. In his company of 35 people are included Indians, in native garb, cowboys, plainsmen and cow girls all of whom participate in the spectacular performances before the grand stand which include, roping, shooting, Indian fighting and other characteristic features of frontier life.

STATE FAIR OFFERS FOOD CROP PRIZES

Aids in National Movement to Encourage Growers

Heeding the call of the nation for larger food crops this year the Michigan State Fair, in an effort to encourage farmers of the state to greater effort in raising bumper crops, is offering special prizes for the best crops of beans, potatoes and corn. In this the State Fair is actuated by motives of patriotism as well as the carrying out of its fundamental policy which looks to the advancement of Michigan's agricultural interests.

Michigan, today, holds the distinction of raising fully 72 per cent of the bean crop of the United States. In view of the increased demand for beans, it will be expected to produce an abundance of this important crop. In the growth of potatoes the state stands second in the country. Since this crop is now considered the most vital food product in the world the people of Michigan have a patriotic duty before them in the more extensive cultivation of potatoes.

Great Benefit to Michigan.

Realizing that an increase of food production, for whatever the immediate necessity, means a permanent establishment of Michigan as a food producing district, General Manager Dickinson of the State Fair, foresees a great future if the people will cooperate in the movement to the full extent of their resources.

"Every five acre garden patch in the state can enter this contest," said Mr. Dickinson. "We have taken that area as a standard for judging food crops so that the small grower as well as the big producer can compete for prizes. It will not be necessary for the contestants to send their produce to the Fair, for we will accept the statement of the county agent, or other reliable judge, as sufficient evidence of the crop's worth. While we hope this contest will have the effect of helping to meet an urgent national need in producing larger food crops, at the same time we look to the more lasting benefits to accrue to the state through the stimulation of food production within our borders."

Liberati's Band In Daily Concerts.

A. Liberati, the distinguished band master, and his renowned musical organization, will appear in daily concerts at the Michigan State Fair this year from August 31 to September 9. Liberati will furnish the same high class musical entertainment which featured last year's program

DICKINSON HAS GOOD RECORD

Five Years As Secretary-Manager Shows Remarkable Development of Annual Exposition.

That nothing succeeds like success is so generally recognized today that a successful man is one to be sought after and admired in every activity of life.

G. W. Dickinson, general-manager of the Michigan State Fair, had been for several years superintendent of transportation on the Fair board and in this capacity the directors came to know him as a man of ability for successful accomplishment.

While a member of the state railroad commission he made a lasting reputation for himself as a man of force with a capacity for doing things. In his home city of Pontiac, Mr. Dickinson was known to his fellow townsmen as a successful merchant, a successful banker and a successful farmer. In this last capacity he harvested some excellent crops through the adoption of original methods for the cultivation of the soil.

G. W. DICKINSON

The present high standing of the Michigan State Fair is largely due to the great measure of success which has attended Mr. Dickinson's five years incumbency as secretary.

Patriotic Day, Sept. 4.

General Manager G. W. Dickinson of the Michigan State Fair, has designated Tuesday, September 4, Patriotic Day at the State Fair this year, and it is dedicated to the members of the G. A. R. in the state. Admission tickets have been forwarded to the several posts.

DISBROW DEFENDS TITLE AT STATE FAIR

Program of Speed Events For Ford Racers on Closing Day

At a meeting of automobile racing enthusiasts at Chicago last fall Louis Disbrow, America's foremost circular dirt track speed pilot, announced that after a year's absence from the racing arena he would defend his title against any driver in the country and backed up his statement with a side bet of $1,000 on the outcome of such a race. General Manager G. W. Dickinson of the Michigan State Fair, who attended the meeting, promptly took the famous driver at his word and arranged a race meet during the Michigan State Fair at Detroit from August 31 to September 9.

All of the races will be under the auspices of the International Motor Contest association, and will be officially timed for records. Thousands of dollars in prizes are assured drivers participating so that every event will be featured by a large entry list. Aside from the money prizes the State Fair will put up a trophy for the Interstate event in which drivers representing various states will compete.

Unusual interest attaches to the special card of Ford racing events on the last day of the Fair. Inquiries have been received from scores of drivers regarding this year's races giving ample assurance of entries from all parts of the country. The Ford races at the State Fair are becoming a classic and are yearly attracting more drivers of the lighter cars throughout the country. Rich purses are offered winners aside from trophies which are awarded annually to signify the leaders in the various light car classes during the year.

IMPROVEMENTS AT STATE FAIR

Thousands of Dollars in New Lighting System and Walks For Convenience of Visitors.

Thousands of dollars have been expended in improvements at the Michigan State Fair this year and visitors to the annual exposition at Detroit from August 31 to September 9, will be greeted by a number of betterments on the grounds and in the buildings.

The entire lighting arrangement of the State Fair has been reconstructed providing a decided improvement in the illumination of all exhibition buildings and outside displays. Every building on the grounds will be topped by an electric sign announcing the exhibit it contains.

The boulevard lighting system which was introduced last year has been considerably extended until now there are over 100 lights on the grounds.

Several miles of concrete sidewalks were laid during the summer and over a mile of roadway has been constructed.

State Fair Auto Show.

One advantage that visitors at the Michigan State Fair at Detroit August 31 to September 9, will enjoy is the opportunity afforded at the automobile show of viewing the new models long before they are exhibited in the national shows. With Michigan the center of the automobile industry every manufacturer in the state takes a personal pride in showing his latest product to the people of his own state. Other makers, according to G. W. Dickinson, will also exhibit and every motor car of prominence made in this country will be on display at the State Fair show.

RED CROSS NEWS

The Red Cross Concert Company will give a concert on the four corners in Tecumseh on Wednesday evening. The usual Wednesday program will begin at 7 p. m. and the company will start at 8 o'clock.

Program

Song, "Under the Stars and Stripes"—The Temple Quartette
Baritone solo—John Pennington
A Dutch "Klappdans"—Ten young ladies
Piano duet, "Stars and Stripes Forever" — Mrs. Fred Wood and Mrs. Ella Hodges
Solo, "We'll Never Let Our Old Flag Fall"—Harold Lowry
Solo, "Flag Song"—Mrs. Robert Moore
Appeal for the Red Cross—Mrs. Jenny C. Law Hardy.
Mrs. Fred Wood, musical director
Miss Camilla Hayden, chairman of collectors
Piano loaned by Lester Coller

A silver collection will be taken by twenty young ladies with Red Cross badges. The smallest sum will be gratefully accepted without placing any limit on the generosity of the public. Remember, every cent contributed goes to the Red Cross without any deduction.

The same company will give a concert at The Farm, Wampler's Lake at 3:30 p. m., on Sunday, September 9th.

Another concert will be given by the Red Cross Concert Company on Sunday evening, September 23rd, at Seneca.

Dr. Pauline Bredow wishes to inform her committee that work on surgical dressings will begin in the new Headquarters on Friday, August 31st, at 1:30 p. m. All workers are requested to provide themselves with a cap, net or veil to cover their hair, also coverall apron or wash dress and good sharp shears. Please be prompt or your places may be taken. The new Headquarters are in the Patterson House.

John Blesing papered the surgical room as his "bit" and Lester Heesen is going to put up the fly netting on the windows.

Donations for cleaning Headquarters and for linoleum fund:

Mrs. Charles Ives	$1.00
Mrs. Percy	$1.00
Mrs. Rice	$1.00

To Tecumseh Donation Fund:

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Whitenack	$5.00
John Colvin	50
Sale of yarn	6.20
Sale of knitting needles	7.25
Mrs. C. Christianson	1.00
Mrs. Elizabeth Hicks Knox	9.00

Mrs. Knox sent the money from Peterborough, Canada Her husband is in training in the Highlanders' battalion and he wrote a letter commending the Red Cross for the perfectly wonderful work they are doing for the soldiers. And this is the unanimous sentiment of every man who has been to the front for his country. Wherever you find the Red Cross belittled, look for German propaganda. We have traced such rumors through many mouths until we came to a German at the end who could not prove them.

Miss Phelps appeals for volunteers to drop in occasionally at the Headquarters and give an hour or more to help snipping or to do plain hemming.

Some able-bodied patriot is badly needed to help Mr. Chas. Burridge move the furniture to the new Headquarters.

The Patriotic League has received to date $4,757.00. We still lack $1,243 to make our assessment.

We are making a big effort to place Lenawee County in the honour list of having the biggest membership, in proportion to population. Now come on, all you who are not members, and join or take out a membership for your little daughter or your grandchild. Many years hence they will be proud of the fact that they were members during the time of America's greatest need. You are proud of every war veteran you can count among your ancestors, so will they be.

Mrs. Sena Crane has seven finished pajamas ready to send and several in the making.

Mrs. T. C. Harris would like some more members for her committee to make surgical shirts.

Elbert Temple, Raynor Pyle, Russell Murphy and Earl Price have joined Rev. Widdifield's messenger boy brigade to carry parcels with their handcarts.

Mr. Widdifield has not yet received the offer of one single auto to take goods to Adrian and he had to make a special trip over. Surely there must be people who go over from here during the week who could take a few bundles from the Tecumseh Headquarters to the Adrian Headquarters. If you know that you are going, why not call up Mr. Widdifield and help the good work along.

Forty-three women Red Cross nurses and 19 male Red Cross nurses were killed by German aeroplanes which deliberately bombarded the Red Cross hospitals behind the lines near Verdun on August 23rd. The naked patients rushed into nearby fields in an attempt to find shelter and the aviators deliberately trained their guns on the orderlies who were trying to extinguish the flames. The nurses had just finished bandaging 100 wounded Germans who had been brought direct from the battlefield. The men and women working for the Red Coss are doing more and greater work than has ever before been done by Red Cross workers, for never before were they singled out for death. Shame on us, if we do not do the little asked of us or if we listen to German propaganda or pass the slander on.

Jenny C. Law Hardy,
Publicity Director.

"THERE SHE GOES"

When Harvey D. Orr's big musical knockout, "There She Goes," the newest type of musical comedy, opens the coming theatrical season at the Bradley Opera House, Tecumseh, this week Friday, August 31st, patrons of the Bradley will have a great treat in store for them. "There She Goes" is heralded as the fastest musical comedy produced in years, it is new and original and different from all others.

"There She Goes" is the most gorgeously costumed show on the road, right out of Chicago with every bit of its big car load of special scenery brand new and their costumes the same. The big company of over 40 make a very handsome appearance on the stage, especially so in their singing and dancing numbers of which there are 24 introduced during the action of the play. "There She Goes" is made up in two big acts and four magnificent scenes, a show of novelties and wonders, a dazzling production of unparalleled splendor and the big beauty chorus is at work continually.

Two big novelties with "There She dancers and the special "Jazz" orchestra carried by the company. The prices are within the reach of all, best seats only $1.00 with other good ones at 75c, 50c and 25c and, after seeing this big musical offering, you will agree that it is the biggest show ever offered for the money.

"There She Goes" is by the same author and under the same management as "The Million Dollar Doll" which played the Bradley last fall and was acclaimed by all who saw it as one of the best and cleanest attractions ever seen in Tecumseh.

Remember the date, Bradley Opera House, Tecumseh, this week Friday, August 31.

MRS. JOHN SUTFIN

Harriet A. Mangus, daughter of Henry and Martha Mangus, was born April 9th, 1841, and died Aug. 22, 1917 aged 76 years. SEASON ENDS TOMORROW

Extra Programs Will be Given for Closing Number

Unless the merchants decide to extend our Wednesday Bargain Days two or three weeks, tomorrow's entertainment will end the series. It is impossible at the time of going to press, to give the full program as the management have not heard definitely from their booking agency in Detroit, but they assure us that they would send two high class acts The Tipton band have been engaged to furnish the music, and during the intermissions the Red Cross Concert Co. will give one of their talented programs This assures to our friends one of the best, if not the best program which has been seen on our streets this summer.

The program for the Red Cross concert will be printed in this issue under the Red Cross items. Besides the above program there will be a big balloon ascension and double parachute drop by Ed Hastings Mr Hastings is no stranger to Tecumseh people and has made some fine ascension in Tecumseh The flight will be made in the afternoon between 4 and 6:30 o'clock. Every body plan to come and help make the closing day the biggest of the season. You are all welcome

BUSINESS MEN'S BANQUET

At Sand Lake Tonight

The business men will go to Sand Lake this evening for a chicken banquet to be held at Putnam's hotel. The banquet is fixed for 7 o'clock and autos will be provided for all who wish to go and will leave Tecumseh about 6:15.

The matter of extending our Wednesday Bargain Days will be taken up and decided. Quite a number have expressed themselves in favor of having two more. The proposition will be put before the meeting and a full expresion taken.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to sincerely thank the friends and neighbors for their floral offerings, and their assistance in our late bereavement.

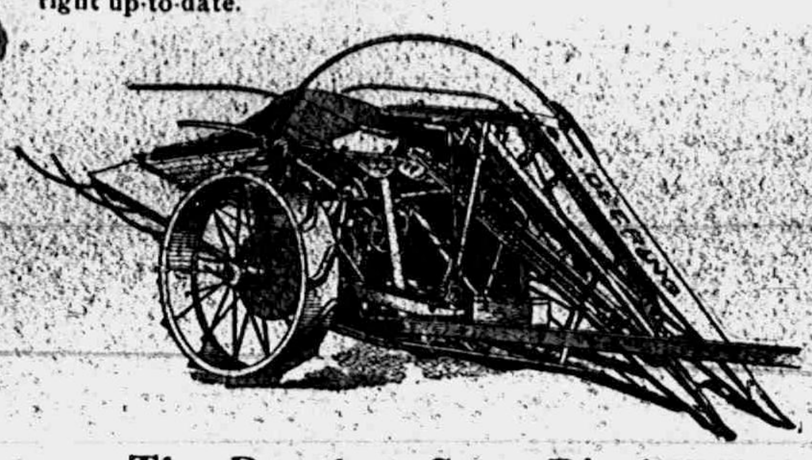
Studebaker

One should buy a wagon which is good enough to last a lifetime. A few dollars more or less will fade away when scattered over forty years, but the stuff that's under the paint is what gives a man ten years of grief and expense of forty years of service and satisfaction.

For sixty-three years Studebaker has been building honest wagons that run easy and last a lifetime.

Come in and let us show you our No. 305.

If you want a real buggy, we have them—Studebakers, right up-to-date.



The Deering Corn Binder

will do as much work in a day as eight men.

If you were going to tie a bundle of corn, you would not tie it standing, you would cut it, lay it down, put your knee on it, and tie it tight; that is the way the DEERING does. That is one reason it is lighter draft than other binders.

The power on the Deering is distributed direct, without strain or side-draft.

The wheels are the same height, set parallel with each other like a cart; neither wheel runs on the stubble which is left clean and even.

Works equally well in tall or short corn, because it has 21 inch adjustment for the band, 8 inch in shifting the binder and 13 inches in adjusting the butt adjuster. Compare this with the binders that have only 8 inch raise of pan which when raised clogs the corn.

FERTILIZER

Every article purchased carries TEMPLE service INSURANCE

We purchased early and have on hand a large stock of BONE MEAL FERTILIZER from DARLING and ARMOUR; analysis 2-27 and 2½-28. Some fertilizer agents are unable to get Bone Meal and are claiming it cannot be had; if you will call soon, you can get all you want at very reasonable prices.

REUNIONS

Moore Reunion

Thomas Hanley and wife entertained the members of the Moore family for their 22nd annual reunion Wednesday, August 22nd, at their home in Tecumseh. The day proved to be an ideal one for the occasion.

The day previous twenty-six relatives came on the evening trains. When bed time came nine were escorted to two neighbors for the night and the remaining ones were comfortably cared for by the hostess and by 6 a. m., they all reported for breakfast with addition of four more from Ypsilanti who announced their presence at 5 a. m.

By 8 o'clock everything was in order and guests began to arrive even up to the noon hour. Autos standing across the railroad in Vincent Wood's grove, proved where the people all came from.

The company were all seated under a large awning at the east side of the lawn both old and young in groups with lap tables of all varieties.

Cousin Howard Moore involved Divine Blessing after which a delicious picnic dinner was served, being under the care of Mrs. Willard Warner. The carriage house had been fitted up nicely as a kitchen where all the provision had been taken and arranged in readiness to serve at 1:30, the president called a short business session and to register those present. It was announced there were ninety present.

The oldest was Aunt Hannah Moore of Pontiac, 87, who had come the day before also Cousin Libbie C. Moore, Ann Arbor, in her 80th year. Both seemed young as even the children down to 8 and 9 months old who reminded us life was worth living.

At 4 p. m. ice cream and cake were served, this being donated by a cousin in Pennsylvania who could not be present, but always sends something to us.

There were present nieces, nephews and cousins from Alaska, California, Texas, Ohio, Indiana and several town in Michigan were well represented.

When Friday morning came there were fifteen found their way to D., T & I. depot, leaving the home entirely vacated also many pleasant memories of the past few days. All hoping to some day meet where goodbye are never said.

Mattis—Lanning Reunion

The eleventh annual reunion of Mattis-Lanning families met with Mr. and Mrs. Geo Brown of Rollin Thursday. Guests numbering seventy-six gathered for a picnic dinner under tents upon the lawn.

Following the dinner, the business meeting was called and following officers chosen for 1918:

President—David Hammill.

Vice-president—Edward Turner.

Secretary and treasurer—Lilly Harrison.

A short programme of songs, readings and recitations was given, and then, instead of the usual ball game nearly the entire company motored to Round Lake where a merry hour was spent in bathing.

Mr. and Mrs. David Galloway extended an invitation to the reunion to meet with them in 1918 at their home, Adrian, Mich.

Feel Worse After Vacation.

The change from outdoor activity of vacation time to the quiet of regular employment sometimes makes one feel heavy and "suffed up," uncomfortable and bilious, with a mean headache and coated tongue. Foley Cathartic Tablets give prompt relief from these results of indigestion. Mild and gentle, but sure. Sold everywhere in Tecumseh. adv

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS
FOR BACKACHE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

Sold Everywhere.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubolz says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup, and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

NEEDFUL KNOWLEDGE

Tecumseh People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease

The symptoms of kidney trouble are many. Disordered kidneys often excrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding. The back may ache, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighted down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger. Delay often proves fatal.

You can use no better endorsed kidney remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Tecumseh proof of their merit.

Dell Hubbard, E. Chicago St., Tecumseh says: "Kidney complaint had troubled me for a long time. My back ached and I was sore and lame. I could do no stooping or lifting work and my kidneys acted irregularly. A friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills and I bought some at Wright & Son's Drug Store. They soon strengthened my back and rid me of all signs of kidney complaint."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hubbard had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Don't Tickle the Baby.

"Come and see baby laugh, mother," said baby's big sister as her mother returned from her work. Mother was quite pleased to see the little one so merry. It didn't occur to her that tickling could do the child any harm.

Anything that brings a child into a state of screaming and laughing excitement is overstraining the young nerves and setting the seeds of hysteria which will probably blossom forth in man or womanhood. Proof has been given that certain people who lack will power have been unduly tickled in their youth. Merry laughter is healthy if it is provoked naturally, but when it is induced by tickling until the child is in a shrieking condition the result is disastrous. Mothers and all others having the care of children should take this advice to heart.

Thousands of Mothers Worry

When the children cry in their sleep, are peevish and constipated and take cold easily. Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children has for 30 years been a trusted remedy in many thousand homes. They frequently break up colds in 24 hours, move and regulae the bowels and destroy worms. adv

BILLY BRADFORD

Story of a Boy Who Had Never Heard of Christmas

By F. A. MITCHEL

Billy Bradford was the son of a constitutional rover. Billy was born in a prairie schooner crossing the plains in 1849. When he was old enough to experience his first Christmas he was astride a donkey in Mexico. There was no Christmas for the Bradford family and no mention of Christmas. If Billy's father remembered it was Christmas day he said nothing about it. The wife and mother remembered it with tears. She had no home. There was no mantel on which her little boy might hang his stocking, and, if there were there was nothing to put in it.

The mother died while the family were still moving from place to place. Then the father died while passing through an uninhabited country. Billy found himself alone. He was eight years old. Considering that he was left in a wilderness, with no one to take care of him, perhaps his want of the refining influences of a home were in his favor. With a little help from kindly neighbors, he went about providing for himself as a young squirrel does when left on its own resources.

At first he slept out under the trees, then made himself a sleeping place partly under ground. For food he lived mostly on berries. But his father had left a gun, and Billie knew how to bring down birds. That is all he did, the same as wild animals.

One day while examining the articles his father had when he died Billy found some certificates of shares in a mining company located near San Francisco. He had no idea what they were, but one day a traveler passed that way, and Billy showed them to him. He told Billy that they represented a fortune for whomsoever owned them. When Billy told him that his father's was the name written on them and that he (Billy) was all that was left of the Bradford family the stranger advised him to go to San Francisco and look the matter up. Billy explained that his father had crossed a country with no trees and plenty of Indians and stopped awhile in a city, whereupon the man inferred that Bradford had been a forty-niner, had invested in a mining venture and moved on.

The stranger furnished Billy with funds to go to San Francisco, writing out a note for the amount, and Billy made an X at the bottom. Then the lender went on his way, saying that he would likely turn up some day in San Francisco and claim the amount due him. He never did.

Billy knew nothing of traveling and walked the whole way to San Francisco, more than 300 miles. He reached the suburbs of the town on a winter evening at dusk. Passing a house that was lighted up, he looked in through a window. A number of children were inside and some older persons were hanging evergreen festoons from the ceiling. The scene in the house pleased Billy, and he went to the door and knocked. A little girl opened it, and Billy said to her:

"What you puttin' up the green things for?"

"What are we putting them up for? Why, for Christmas, of course."

"What's Christmas?"

"Oh, my good gracious!"

She ran back into the room where the Christmas preparations were being made and cried out:

"There's a boy at the door who doesn't know what Christmas is."

The astonishment at this announcement among the children was eclipsed at sight of Billy, who followed the girl into the room and stood staring about him, half blinded by the lights. A lady descended from a stepladder and confronted him.

"Are you the boy who doesn't know what Christmas is?"

"No; I don't."

"Where were you brought up?"

"I wasn't brought up at all. I was a mover."

"What do you mean by that?"

"That's what mother said we was. We was always goin' somewhere."

"Where is your mother?"

"Dead."

"And your father?"

"Dead."

"And you never heard of Christmas?"

"No, I never did."

"Children," said the lady, "how often have I tried to make you understand how thankful you should be that you are surrounded with comforts! Here's a boy who has neither father nor mother, who has always been a wanderer and who doesn't know what Christmas is. Have you anything to be thankful for, little boy?"

"Yes, I'm thankful that I wasn't borned a groundhog or somethin' like that."

The children were not able to comprehend this assertion. They did not know that the only thing the boy had to be thankful for was that he was a human being. If they were thankful it was that they were far above other human beings who lived in small houses, wore ragged clothes and didn't have all the money they wanted for candy.

"Come with me," said the lady to Billy.

She led Billy into another room where a gentleman sat reading, and told the gentleman what had thus far taken place. Then she went back to the room from which she had come and resumed her Christmas preparations.

For an hour the gentleman questioned Billy and drew from him a disconnected account of his life. He was principally interested in that part of Billy's wanderings which pertained to the child's visit to San Francisco when gold was discovered in the territory and there was a great hegira of gold hunters. For Billy told him about the "printed papers," as he called them, and that he had come to the city on its account. But the trip to the gold fields had occurred when the boy was too young to remember much about it, and he was enabled to give the gentleman very little information.

Billy took out the pocketbook and showed the certificate. The moment his interviewer saw the name of the mining company printed in large letters at the top he opened his eyes in astonishment. The certificate was for a thousand shares of stock, and each share was worth several hundred dollars. It was plain that this little orphan boy, if he really owned that bit of paper, was very rich. Never before had the gentleman seen such wealth centered in a person so near to the brute creation. The woman returned and said:

"Little boy, you're going to sleep in this house tonight."

"Reckon I couldn't do that. I never slept in a house."

"It's time you did. We're going to show you what Christmas is. Come."

"One moment," her husband interposed. "Let me have that old pocketbook you showed me."

Billy gave him the pocketbook, then went with the lady to the room where the children were. His attention first fell on a row of stockings dangling from a mantel.

"This is Christmas eve," said the lady. "Tonight, so the tradition is, Santa Claus will come down the chimney and fill these stockings with gifts. This is your stocking. Tomorrow morning you will find it full of nice things."

This was all Greek to Billy, except that something would be given him. It was a new sensation, for nothing had ever yet been bestowed upon him. Then he suffered himself to be led up to a bathroom, and after he had been soaked and the softened dirt rinsed off him he was taken to a little room with a white iron bedstead and snowy linen on it and told to get between the sheets. He obeyed, but when half an hour later the lady looked into the room Billy was not to be seen. She sought for him and found him curled up like a dog under the bed instead of in it. She thought best to leave him where he was.

The next morning Billy was dressed in some borrowed clothes and stood before a mirror to note the change in his appearance. It would be impossible to say whether he was more astonished at his clothes or his reflection. Both were a wonder to him. Then he was taken downstairs, where the children were opening their stockings, and given his own Santa Claus' offering. He had no idea as to what most of the things were, but demonstrated that possession is a human instinct by being much delighted with everything he took out.

After breakfast the lady took Billy into the library and told him the story of the birth of the Christ Child in a manger; how the sins of the world had been redeemed and how the event had been celebrated once a year. Then Billy was taken back to the children, who taught him games and told him stories about what they did, how they went to school, and Billy absorbed every word of it. All day it seemed to him that he had been translated to heaven. His lair in the forest began to seem horrible to him, and he wondered if he would ever become sufficiently polished to live among these lovely persons.

And the Christmas dinner. Billy looked at the table, loaded with good things, and seemed to be in a stupor of wonder. He ate till he could cram no more into him.

After dinner the gentleman who had questioned him took Billy's pocketbook and opening it drew forth the certificates of stock that Billy was going to San Francisco to see about.

"My boy," he said, "Christmas reminds us that we must do for others beside ourselves. We have given you a pleasant Christmas, but it behooves me to do something far more important for you. I do not doubt that you are heir to that which will buy everything you can wish for—far more than you can enjoy. What was probably worthless when your father made an investment in it of a few hundred dollars is now worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. Tomorrow I will take the matter up for you and hope to establish your claim to your property."

This was lost on Billy, but Christmas was not. As it was his first Christmas, it was his happiest. And when it was ended and they told him he must wait a whole year for another it seemed to him very far away.

It took some time to establish the fact that Billy was the son and sole heir of the owner of the certificates in the mining company, but it was finally accomplished. Billy was permitted to remain with the family with whom he spent his first Christmas, and the court appointed the head of that family his guardian. Billy went to school with the children and came to look upon them as his brothers and sisters.

But at last Billy became of age, and from a wild boy he had become quite a gentleman-like and intelligent young man. The fortune he received on the day of his majority he handled with skill and discretion, enjoying the income of it with the girl who had received him when he knocked at the door and asked what they were decorating for.

Wants Son-in-Law Taken.

TRAVERSE CITY, Aug. 27.

"Please draft my son-in-law for the army," said a Traverse City woman to Dr. H. A. Holliday. "He is a loafer. His wife is in the hospital. He is drinking, selling the furniture for more liquor and not supporting her and would be better off in the army."

Train Kills Ann Arbor Man.

ANN ARBOR, Aug. 27.

Joseph Sliwinski, a widower, thirty-five years old, of Ann Arbor, was instantly killed by a west bound passenger train on the Michigan Central when he stepped directly in front of it while avoiding the east bound Wolverine.

A Change of Base.

"And now, Bella," said little Mary to her doll, "you must lay down for a while and go to sleep."

"You should say 'lie down,' dear," put in little Mary's mother.

"Bella," said Mary impressively, "I'm going to lie you down, so don't you cry."

"'Lay you down,' dear," came the second gentle correction.

Mary was much puzzled. Whatever she said, it seemed to be wrong. She declined to cope longer with the intricacies of the English language. "Bella," she announced, "I think you better sit up!"—Los Angeles Times.

Kilometers and Miles.

Wireless telegraph transmission distances are often stated in kilometers, nautical miles or statute miles. To convert the number of kilometers to nautical miles, multiply by fifty-four and point off two decimal places. To convert from kilometers to statute miles multiply by sixty-two and point off two places. If the distance is given in statute, or land, miles and you want it expressed in kilometers, multiply the number of miles by 161 and point off two decimal places.—Popular Science Monthly.

Nursing Sickly Plants.

Sickly plants, like sickly people, cannot stand extremes. Sickly pot plants may often be more quickly brought back to health by watering with very warm water only. Low vitality will not be raised through the use of chilly water or less than 110 degrees of temperature.

CHEAPER BREAD WILL FOLLOW $2 WHEAT

Duty of Hoover to See that Bread Comes Down.

Washington, Aug. 27.—As soon as the price of wheat is fixed by the commission headed by Harry A. Garfield a fight for cheaper bread to the consumer will be launched by Herbert Hoover, food administrator. A statement to that effect, signed by Mr. Hoover, follows:

"My duty is simply to see that the farmer realizes a fair price, whatever that may be, and to see that the consumer obtains his bread without the speculative profits in between the farmer and the consumer, which prevailed over the first half of this present year."

TREASURY FRAUD IS DENIED

Story Told by Senator Lewis Declared Unfounded.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The recent assertion by Senator Lewis of Illinois that the treasury has proof of a $300,000,000 fraud in income tax evasions was denied by treasury officials. George R. Cooksey, assistant secretary, said if the department had proof of such gross frauds it would certainly take steps to recover the money.

Took Army Test by Mistake, Sticks.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Ivan Carlstrom wished to join the Y. M. C. A. He presented himself for physical examination, but got into the wrong room, where physical tests for the 149th Field Artillery were being made. He passed. "Hurray. I belong to the 'Y,'" he shouted. "You're on your way to France," laughed the examiner. Carlstrom thought it over. "All right—I'll stick," he said.

Floating War Loans.

The United States was in actual fact the originator of what may be called the intensive campaign for popular subscription to a war loan. Jay Cooke in 1862, undertaking on commission the floating of $400,000,000 United States bonds on which Wall street had looked coldly at the treasury's terms, started his 2,500 subordinates to canvassing all towns and villages of the country. By the visiting of every house like book agents, the enlisting of local committees, the placarding of town halls and postoffices and railway stations, the constructing of patriotic appeals through the newspapers and the promotion of public meetings he drew on reserves of capital previously unsuspected and actually elicited in the time prescribed $15,000,000 more subscriptions than the authorized total of the loan before he could stop the wheels of his organization.

In short, the United States invented this method of floating war loans, as it invented such other appurtenances of war as the armored ship and the submarine.—Alexander Dana Noyes in Scribner's.

Many Names For Lilacs.

In England one never hears the lilac pronounced "laylock" now, according to the eighteenth century habit, but it is noted in "The Book of Flowers," by Katharine Tynan and Frances Maitland, that old fashioned people in Ireland still keep up that pronunciation. In Henry VIII.'s time, when the tree was new in England, it was called the "lilach."

Other names of it were pipe bush, pipe, blue pipe tree and pipe privit, on account of the hollow stalk. "Lily oak" is one variety of the spelling of "lilac," evidently to "make sense" of it. Among modern names are mentioned May flower (Devon and Cornwall), May lilies (Devon), Prince's feather (Cornwall), soldier's feathers (Somerset), duck's bills and oysters.—London Globe.

A Bible In Forty-five Volumes.

The "grangerized" Bible mentioned by a correspondent, which was valued at £3,000, was probably the celebrated "Bowyer Bible," the arrangement of which occupied William Bowyer, the printer, from 1798 to 1824. It was based upon a copy of Macklin's costly edition of the Bible which Bowyer interleaved with 7,000 engravings, costing £6,000, and sumptuously bound in forty-five volumes, which were inclosed in a handsome oak cabinet.

At his death a lottery was got up for the benefit of his daughter with the Bible as the sole prize. A Somersetshire farmer, Mr. Saxon, won it, but subsequently it changed hands several times, the last recorded sale occurring in 1851, when Robert Heywood of Bolton bought it for £500.—London Spectator.

Where the Fruit Grows.

A politician who had been in office and on the payroll of a certain city for many years was addressing a meeting of his fellow citizens. It was a labor meeting.

"You men must know," spouted the orator, "that you are the great body politic in this city. You are the roots and trunk of our great municipal tree, while we who represent you in office are merely branches on that magnificent tree."

"True for you!" piped a man in the back of the hall. "But did ye ever notice all the fruit grows on the branches?"

What He Would Do.

At the time that Frederick II. used to sup with his French philosophers he demanded of them one day, "What would you do if you were the king of Prussia?"

Every guest tried a flattering and witty rejoinder. When the Marquis d'Argens' turn came he said: "Sire, what would I do? I would sell my kingdom and acquire a small province in France."

White Felt Hats.

A white felt hat can be readily cleaned with a piece of fine sandpaper. If this is not available mix cornmeal and salt together, using two-thirds of meal. Rub the mixture in thoroughly and allow to stand overnight before brushing out.

Treeless City Streets.

The New York State College of Forestry says that within New York state there are 20,000 miles of street capable of sustaining a growth of 5,000,000 shade trees which can be made worth $100,000,000 in increased property value. Besides making our cities more beautiful, trees are of definite value to health, for by absorbing poisonous gases they purify the air

TO DISCUSS PEACE NOTE

Frank Discussion and Unafraid Criticism Now Quite Ordinary—New Body Created by Michaelis to Consult on Peace Note of Pope—Factious Accept New Plan.

BERLIN, GER. — If frank discussion and unblushing criticism are capable of bringing on parliamentary reforms it may be said that the proceedings in the reichstag main committee have given increased momentum to the movement.

The discussion of national politics was continued by the committee. Chancellor Michaelis twice took the floor for the purpose of explaining his newly created council, made up of seven reichstag deputies and seven members of the bundesrath, over which he is to preside.

To Discuss Reply to Peace Note.

The new council will hold its first meeting for the purpose of discussing the government's reply to the papal peace note. The social democrats, centrists, national liberals and progressives have agreed to co-operate with the governmnt on this issue. The various factions, however, have informed the chancellor that they have accepted the newly organized body as a provisionary device and consider it the harbinger of more substantial and permanent measures, which will secure to the reichstag constitutional prerogatives and greater responsibilities.

Among other demands, the coalition will urge nullification of paragraph 9 of the imperial constitution, whichh prohibits reichstag deputies from becoming members of the federal council. Elimination of this restriction would facilitate appointment of members of parliament to secretaryships which carry with them membership in the bundesrath.

KAISER PLANNED U. S. WAR

Evidence to That Effect in Hands of Administration.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Evidence which has made officials of the American government believe that Germany planned to war on the United States after the defeat of France and England is in the hands of the administration, the state department announced.

The state department confirmed Lord Robert Cecil's statement that Germany had so plotted. Secretary Lansing refused to be specific as to what evidence there was.

JAPAN TO OFFER USE OF SHIPYARDS TO U. S.

Want Relaxation of Embargo on Exports of Steel.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Japan is willing to grant use of her yards for building ships to be used either in the Atlantic or Pacific trade. Viscount Ishii will make the offer probably this week. In return Japan will seek relaxation of the steel embargo. This was the foremost development in an international situation where Japan, Russia and peace played leading roles.

Japan, it was stated, will defer the questions of the open door in China, permanent possession of the German islands in the Pacific and Japanese immigration to America until after the war. Whether Japan will offer any of her big transpacific tonnage for transatlantic service depends upon allied requests.

SMOKE PRODUCERS WILL PROTECT SHIPS

Thousands of Screens Being Manufactured to Thwart Subs.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Thousands of smoke producers to protect American troop, food and munition ships from submarines, are being turned out by a government contractor in Delaware.

On and after Oct. 1, no ships of any description may sail from an American port unless equipped with them. On that date, too, all vessels must be painted by a system of camouflage worked out by the naval consulting board. Details of these systems are government war secrets.

"If I told how it was done," said Admiral Rousseau of the naval consulting board, "the Germans would know what to look for."

The smoke screens will be used only as a last resort. Twelve boxes will be on every vessel's deck. There will also be one huge, though practically invisible smoke funnel.

AUSTRIA CRYING FOR PEACE

Nation Ready to Pay Any Price to Bring War to End.

COPENHAGEN — An Austria which is literally crying for peace, territorial expansion and is even willing to buy its way out of the war by territorial sacrifices on the Italian front and in Galicia; an Austria of frequent food riots, unable to last through another winter of war; an Austria whose population would rise in revolution if any reasonable peace offer were rejected by the government, is pictured by an intelligent Austrian who has arrived here from Vienna.

This Austrian, who passed several days in Berlin on his way to Copenhagen, had an opportunity to talk with representatives of the German foreign office, including Baron von Dem Bussche-Haddenhausen, the under secretary, and other prominent Germans of the stamp of Professor Hans Delbrueck of the University of Berlin; Philip Scheidemann, the socialist leader, and Maximilian Harden, editor Die Zukunft. He said that all of these men, with the exception of Herr Harden, were convinced peace was coming before winter.

NEW I. W. W. STRIKE BREWING

Sept. 1 Is Date Set, Says Rumor in Seattle, Wash.

SEATTLE, WASH. — A general strike of Industrial Workers of the World will be attempted Sept. 1, according to information received by Governor Ernest Lister and communicated to members of the executive committee of the West Coast Lumbermen's association.

EAT MORE FISH SAVE MEAT

Government Will Endeavor to Improve Marketing Conditions.

WASHINGTON — Believing that one way to save meat is to eat more fish, the federal food administration has begun a campaign to increase the consumption of sea food and to broaden retail distribution into the interior of the country.

Alfred Benninghaus, a German merchant, was wounded by machine gun bullets when his launch was fired on by Michigan infantrymen in a patrol boat after a command to stop had not been obeyed. Two other persons in the launch escaped injury. Benninghaus and his companions reached the Canadian side where they promptly were arrested and are being held pending investigation. It is alleged that the trio attempted to evade inspection by American officials on a trip from the American to the Canadian side of St. Mary's river.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, Aug. 22.—Two thousand yards of German positions west and northwest of Lens have been captured by the Canadian forces in a drive.

The battle of Verdun has not yet ceased and on the left bank of the Meuse the French troops have captured several important points including the village of Regneville.

The Canadians fought their way forward with bombs and bayonets and occupied important enemy defenses northwest and southwest of the heart of Lens, and since then the Germans have been sending in wave after wave of infantry in desperate counter attacks.

The Austrian line on the Isonzo front is beginning to bend and give way at various points under the furious attacks of the Italians.

Thursday, Aug. 23.—The Italian offensive, along the Isonzo river in the Gorizia area and on the Carso plateau, by its very continuance, is assuming cumulately important proportions. Through all the circumstances attending it there is discernible a primary intent to shatter the Austrian morale.

The Austrians are removing everything of value from Trieste to Vienna and other inland places.

German forces occupied without fighting the Russian positions west of the river Aa to the Oding-Bigaun line, on the Riga front.

The French objective north of Verdun appears to have been attained. If the offensive were continued fresh artillery preparation would be necessary.

Friday, Aug. 24.—The French made an attack on the left bank of the Meuse, between Avocourt wood and Dead Man hill. The war office announces the capture of hill 304, Camard wood and the fortified works between Haucourt wood and Bethincourt.

Heavy fighting was kept up through the night south of Lens, the war office announces. The British now hold German trenches immediately northwest of the bitterly disputed Green Grassier.

The evacuation by the Germans of Hill 304, the famous stronghold on the Verdun front, is announced by the war office. It is said a weak garrison was left there.

Saturday, Aug. 25.—Rome reports Italians marching to complete victory after the capture of Monte Santo, northeast of Gorits. Austrian defenses broken at several points in this sector.

Paris reports further gains in the Verdun sector beyond Hill 304. Berlin says attacks in this salient were repulsed.

Sunday, Aug. 26.—The Italians continue to smash on north of Gorits and are pursuing fleeing Austrians toward eastern border of Bainsizza plateau. Prisoners now total 23,000, Rome reports.

French pierce German line on two and one-half mile front to depth of two-thirds of a mile to the outskirts of Beaumont on right bank of Meuse.

Petrograd reports repulse of German attacks.

British advance half a mile on front of more than one mile east of Margicourt.

Japanese Mission Wants Equal Rights.

WASHINGTON — The Japanese mission discussed with administration leaders a proposal that the United States allow the Japanese to enter this country on the same basis as that on which Great Britain will consent to their admission to Australia and Canada.

Federal, state and city authorities inspecting Detroit cold storage plants are finding huge quantities of spoiled eggs and meats, held for sale to the public and are developing the fact that immense quantities of foodstuffs are being held in storage by Detroit brokers and dealers to await further rises in an upgrade market. Large quantities of bad eggs and meat already have been destroyed. Warrants may be asked for several dealers who are known to have sold and to have held for sale decayed foodstuffs.

ITALIANS ROUT TEUTONS AGAIN

Hungarian Troops Fight Desperately, but Are Beaten by Latins.

FRENCH REPULSE ATTACKS

All Tri-Color Positions on Aisne and Verdun Are Maintained—Russians Claim to Have Checked Germans, Canadians Consolidating Their Gains at Lens.

ROME, ITALY—A desperate battle is in progress on the Bainsizza plateau, on the front north of Gorizia, it is announced officially. The resistance of the Austrians has been overcome at various points. On the Bainsizza plateau the intensity of the struggle has increased with the extreme desperation of the enemy, who by the greater employment of forces is seeking to prevent the Italians from progressing toward the eastern extremity of the plateau. Latin troops are resolutely facing the new resistance of the enemy and have overcome it at various points.

At Monte Tonale and Monte Pasubio Alpine battalions distinguished themselves by their valiant conduct.

Airplanes by effective and repeated bombardments sowed destruction in the interior of the enemy lines, increasing the disorder which reigned there on account of the hurried retreat.

French Score Twice.

PARIS — Strong German attacks were made on the Aisne and Verdun fronts. The war office announces that the assaults were broken up by the French fire and that all French positions were maintained. More than 1,100 prisoners were taken.

British Advance Near St. Quentin.

A successful trench raid was made by the British east of Oasttaverne, a mile northeast of Wyschaete. The British official statement says:

"We made a successful raid east of Oasttaverne and captured a few prisoners."

British troops also made an advance of half a mile along a mile front east of Margicourt (north of St. Quentin), storming and capturing strong points at Cologne and Malakoff farms.

Claim Teuton Check.

PETROGRAD — An Austro-German attack on Roumanian positions south of Ocna was repulsed. Northeast of Soceia the Roumanians recovered a height which had been wrested from them.

"On Sunday night the enemy attacked Roumanian positions in the region of Ocna, but was repulsed," the statement says. "In the direction of Kedzi Vasarhely the enemy made several attacks northwest of Soveia. He succeeded in occupying one of the heights, but was driven out by a counter-attack. On the Danube our machine gun fire brought down an enemy hydroplane in flames. On the Black sea coast our troops, co-operating wth our fleet, made a raid on the town Ordu (100 miles west of Trebizond). The landing force was met with fire from houses occupied as hospitals. The landing party destroyed many official buildings and blew up eleven motor boats and six feluccas (small sailing vessels)."

Canadians Consolidating.

PARIS — During the last few days the Canadians in front of Lens have had a period of comparative quiet and have been able to consolidate positions recently captured with little retaliation from the enemy, and with surprisingly little loss.

Posts have been pushed out at favorable points, and where trenches could be connected up to shorten the front this has been done. The general result is that the Canadians hold a compact line which on that part of the front west of Lens, is about 600 yards from the burned out area in the city. The enemy occupies the area between this line and his main defensive position on the eastern side of the burned out section by means of strong outposts located in concrete cellars. The chief incidents occurring now are in connection with encounters between patrols.

During the clearing-up operations the Canadians have destroyed three more machine guns and captured five, making the total of machine guns taken since Aug. 15, forty-three. Twenty-one trench mortars also are among the spoil of war.

CROCKER LAND ONLY MIRAGE

Settles Dispute Over Reported Discovery by Admiral Peary.

SYDNEY, N. S. — Crocker Land, a prolific source of dispute among geographers and scientists, does not exist, according to Donald B. MacMillan, the arctic explorer, whose expedition arrived here on the relief steamer Neptune, after four years spent in the polar regions.

What Rear Admiral Peary really saw when he thought he discovered Crocker Land was a mirage so real that the MacMillan party had been deceived by it for four days. Later they sailed over where the disputed land was supposed to be, thus demonstrating conclusively its non-existance.

With the leaving of Muskegon's army quota of 444 men in a few weeks, and enlistments here in the regular army and navy averaging several men daily, Muskegon will face the most acute shortage of labor in its history, local employers say.

Michigan stands among the leading states in the work of the woman's committee, council of national defense, according to Mrs. Ira Couch Wood, of Washington, executive secretary of the national woman's committee.

Two unidentified men were killed by a fast passenger train on the Pere Marquette, two miles south of Kaleva. The bodies were ground to pieces. It is thought they were Indians. The men were thought to have been sitting or sleeping on the track when

RECORD BREAKING CROWD HERE WEDNESDAY

Bargain Day Program One of the Best of the Season

Red Cross Concert Co. Give Concert During Intermission

Perhaps the biggest crowd yet seen on our streets this summer was that of Wednesday night. Two fine acts were given in the afternoon, the afternoon crowd being somewhat larger than usual. The balloon ascension which was advertised to take place between 4 and 6 o'clock, did not materialize, due to an accident which occurred to the big canvas whileit was being inflated. Sparks from the wood which was being used to inflate the balloon lodged in the top and burned a hole in it.

Mr. Hasting drew the edges together and tied them as he thought securely, hoping that the accident would not interfere with his flight, but as the balloon was about ready to cut loose, the ropes that held them, cut through letting the gas escape. The balloon was released and rose several hundred feet in the air, turned over and came down on a building back of Clark's market. Mr. Hastings will return to Tecumseh next Wednesday and give an ascension. He promises to take two men up with him and make a double parachute drop.

At an early hour the machines began to come into town for the evening's attraction and when the program started, the streets were literally packed with autos and people. The Tipton band furnished the music, and two vaudeville performances composed of two acts each were given. These acts were clever and were as good as any if not better than any seen here this season.

During the intermission, the Tecumseh Red Cross Concert Co. gave a delightful concert and were enthusiastically received. This company is composed mostly of Tecumseh people and have given largely of their time and talent to the Red Cross movement. Tecumseh people are proud of them and still prouder of the good work they are doing.

After the concert Mrs Jenny C. Law Hardy made a strong appeal to the people to contribute to the Red Cross fund. A score of young ladies dressed as Red Cross nurses passed through the crowd to receive the offering. After it was collected they ascended the stand and poured the contents of their boxes into a large Red Cross banner which was held by little Mary Eleanor Anderson and Katheryn Jean Wood. Later it was announced that the offering amounted to $150.

The announcement made that Tecumseh Bargain Days would be continued for two more weeks, received hearty applause. It is estimated that there were at least 7000 people on the streets.

JACKSON FAIR SEPT. 10-15

A feature which it is believed will prove popular with both old and young will be instituted in connection with the Jackson County fair this year in the form of a big dancing pavillion. Work on the construction of the big platform will start within the next few weeks.

Many new and unique features are to be embraced in this year's fair. The free attraction which has been booked for the week, is worth more than the price of admission. This act is Gus Hernbeck's congress of Wild West Riders, an act which has never before been exhibited outside of the state fairs. Through a fortunate arrangement, and because of the fact that Jackson County's fair is the acknowledged leader of the county fairs of Michigan, this big attraction was obtained.

As the dates of the big fair draw near the final arrangements for this year's exposition are being rushed. Numerous changes are being made to better facilitate the proper handling of the thousands of exhibits which it is believed will be at least a quarter larger in all departments than that of a year ago. The big dining hall in which 650 persons may dine at one time, is being improved. The hall will be in charge of Benjamin Hollman of Munith, this year.

Better concessions than ever are assured for this year and Manager Burris states that the space is being sold very rapidly. The exhibition space in the main building is rapidly being taken up.

RAILROAD WRECK

OCCURRED AT BRITTON THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Two Killed and Others Injured

Big Crowd Visit Scene of the Wreck

A bad railroad wreck occurred at Britton Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock when a west bound Wabash freight left the track just east of the Wabash station. The engineer of the freigh was pulling into town and had slowed down to about 25 miles per hour, and on seeing the track clear, was increasing the speed of his train when ahead of him, a few car lengths he noticed that the de-rail device was closed. He reversed his lever, but too late to avoid the awful wreck.

In the cab with the engineer was Fireman Murray and Head Brakeman Woods. Woods started to jump but was thrown high in the air, alighting some distance away, only to be crushed underneath a freight car.

Murray was found lying under the tender while the engineer escaped with only slight bruises on one leg. He clung to his seat and as the big engine tipped it first swayed towards his side then took a quick turn the other way and went over. The engineer crawled out of the window and over the boiler.

The engine and six cars were piled up in a heap completely blocking the track and were a total wreck. The cars were full of various merchandise and one car contained a load of pianos.

It is reported at Britton this morning that the man in the tower pulled the lever to set the de-rail for the coming train but owing to a broken rod the de-railing device did not work.

A bunch of men were soon on the ground and the bodies of the two unfortunate men were pulled out of the wreckage and taken to the DuBois undertaking rooms. Mr. DuBois not being at home a call was sent to Duaine Service who went to Britton and took charge of the cases.

Both Murray and Woods were terbeing partly torn off, chest toye in being partly torn off chest stove in and almost every bone in his body broken, while Woods fared little better. The men must have been killed instantly.

The rest of the crew were shaken up but escaped with only slight bruises.

Fireman Murray's home was in Detroit and his father was notified and arrived in Britton on the midnight train to take charge of the body. He is unmarried and is about 21 years of age. His body will be sent to Danville, Ill., for burial.

Woods home is in Kentucky and we learn that he is a married man leaving a wife and two children. As yet no instructions have been received in regard to the disposition of the body.

Britton was full of autos and teams this morning bringing people for miles around to visit the scene of the wreck. The track has been cleared and a wrecking crew is on the scene cleaning up the wreckage.

TWO TOWNS TIED TOGETHER BY BROTHERLY LOVE

Here in Southern Michigan is a gem of a little city called Tecumseh and to miss calling on one of the Tradesman's best friends is to miss much, so be sure and see Frank D. Avery if you wish to understand how a man can turn time back.

I was allowed one good guess as to how old this pioneer merchant was and found that, after I had added a couple of years for good measure same as he does with groceries, I still was too low on my figures and that goes to show that Tecumseh has the spirit which keeps all its merchants young.

One night last week there were over a thousand autos parked about the streets which had brought farmers and near by town friends in to see Tecumseh entertain.

Tecumseh is one of the towns which has never passed up the "glad hand" and she has reaped her reward.

Driving on to Clinton we find B. O Randall & Co just as "hard at it as ever," for George Hard and his worthy sons are in the game for fair, just as that store has during the twenty-five years the writer has called upon them.

It would do all merchants, no matter where they are from, a lot of profitable good to visit Tecumseh and Clinton.

A perfect highway ties Clinton and Tecumseh together and they work for one great good, willing to boost and divide.

See these perfect little cities and get the spirit which builds brotherly love and mail order houses will have some job to keep their doors open.

The writer has made these little cities for a quarter of a century and there is as much pep in the pioneers as in the younger merchants.—Ralph D. Howell in the Michigan Tradesman of Aug. 29.

M. E. S. S. PICNIC

The Methodist Sunday school held their annual picnic at the home of Miss Lavie Snedicor Thursday. A very fine picnic dinner was served to about ninety, after which the young folks enjoyed a social afternoon. Boats had been provided and many pleasant boat rides were taken. Many other stunts, with singing and conversation, completed the day's pleasures. Those having the picnic in charge were, Dr Brown on transportation, Andrew Taylor, boats. Miss Emma Rogers was ably assisted in the table arrangements by Mrs Martin. The day was a glorious one, just the kind for a merry picnic.

The Post office will be closed Labor day. One delivery only. Mail can be had at the window from 10 to 11 o'clock.

Mrs. S. P. Hendershott and son Edwin of Monroe, who have been visiting at the home of Mr and Mrs. Romaine R. Hendershott for a few days, left for their home Thursday.

LINDSLEY DISTRICT REUNION

The third reunion of the Lindsley district of Saline was held Thursday, Aug. 23d, at the school house. Extensive preparations had been made to accommodate a large company, but just at the noon hour, a heavy shower delayed all plans. The patrons of this reunion are accustomed to difficulties, for of the three meetings of the association, two have been opened by heavy falls of rain. But the clearing of the clouds brought forth another kind of a shower, a shower of good things for dinner not to be excelled by any farming community in the county. More than 150 people were present, members from Detroit, Ypsilanti, Belleville, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Tipton, Clinton, Ridgeway, Macon and Milan.

A brief, but snappy program followed the picnic dinner. The president, Lavern Camburn presided in a most happy manner. A roll call of former pupils proved a great source of merriment. Letters from two former teachers, Mrs. Maragaret Templar McGinty of California, and Miss Nannie Kyle of Tecumseh, were read and enjoyed.

Mrs. John Kibby of Macon, who had been appointed historian, gave some historical records of the district board dated as far back as 1839. Master Lyle Goodrich of Milan, rendered two violin selections, while Mrs Frank Morgan of Detroit, recited most charmingly. The program closed with appropriate remarks by Rev. Sumners from Ridgeway.

At the business session the following officers were elected:

Pres.—Bert Osborn, Saline

Vice Pres.—Ellsworth Lindsley, Saline.

Sec.—Hester L. McClue, Jackson.

Treas.—Fred Abel, Clinton.

This district always has taken great interest in these reunions, they have created a fine community spirit, and cemented a strong band of sympathy and helpfulness. As a district, they have great reason to be proud of their successful organization.

S. S. CLASS MEETING

Mrs. Hurry's "Always Ready" Class Meet Tuesday with Their Teacher

Tuesday, August 28, the "Always Ready" class of the M. E. Sunday-school met at the home of their teacher Mrs. B. Hurry with twenty-one present. It had been arranged to meet at the home of Mrs. Swift in the country, but owing to the rain, it was thought best to meet with Mrs. Hurry and visit Mrs. Swift next time.

A bountiful picnic supper was served after which the ladies did Red Cross work interspersing it with singing and various stunts. The day was a most delightful one (indoors) and the ladies all report a very pleasant time.

"Helen's Babies" have outgrown their name and are now known as "The Always Ready Class," and we feel confident that they will be true to their name and be always ready to "do their bit" in the world's work.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Leighton entertained Wednesday and Thursday, Mr and Mrs Walter Poppinger and family of Kenmore, O., Mrs. Getz of Millersburg, Ohio, and Miss Mary Poppinger of Detroit. Miss Mary remains for a longer visit.

BUSINESS MEN AT SAND LAKE

About Fifty Attended Banquet Given at Putnam's Hotel

Wednesday's Bargain Days to be Continued Two Weeks Longer

The Business Men's banquet and meeting held at Putnam Hotel, Sand Lake, Tuesday evening was a big success. In spite of the rain which kept up a constant down-pour all of the morning and most of the afternoon, about fifty were on hand at 6:30 to make the trip.

"The way to a man's heart is through his stomach" was certainly demonstrated Tuesday night for surely "Mine Host" Stephlet knew how to take care of the stomach. The four-course chicken dinner served at 8 o'clock was a premium winner and the boys in the trenches could not have done better justice to it. It was a caution to see how fast that chicken disappeared.

The banquet over and everybody feeling in good humor made the meeting which followed one of the most successful yet held by the Commerce Club. Chairman Chas. Burridge called the meeting to order and stated that a good deal of fault was being found with our town for not having a suitable place for farmers to hitch their horses and keep them under cover. Since the Garlinghouse 10c hitch had been done away with, no place remains for the convenience of our farmer friends. The executive committee of the Commerce Club had given some thought and time to the matter and a committee had investigated sites for such a place.

Mr. Burridge called upon C. A. Wright to report upon the sites which had been considered for a 10c hitch. The places mentioned by Mr. Wright were the Dewey property in the rear of Hunt's barber shop, the Vendoma property and space on L. E. Temple's property. Ways and means of financing the proposition were discussed, also other locations.

A motion was finally made and adopted placing the matter in the hands of the executive committee to look up, giving them the power to spend any money necessary and to report to the Club at a called meeting to be held not later than October 1st.

The attention of the Club was next directed to our Wednesday Bargain Days, it having been the desire of some of our merchants to continue these special days two weeks longer.

Mr. Burridge called upon Dale Hodges to make a financial report.

Mr. Hodges showed in his report that the amount of money collected during the summer was $1413.13 and expenditures amounting to $1359.76 and that there was a balance on hand of about $56.00. The largest amounts showing in the expenditures were $642.00 for attractions and $400.00 for bands. He also reported the merchants well pleased with the summer's campaign and most of them willing to double the amounts paid by them if necessary.

A general discussion followed and it was the opinion of all that the campaign had been most successful and had been a great feature in building up trade and advertising the town.

A motion was made and adopted that we extend the Wednesday Bargain Days two weeks longer and that the executive committee investigate the community sales feature with the idea of putting it on after the Bargain Days closed, providing they find it sufficiently attractive, the result of their investigation to be reported back to the Club.

Mr. J. B. Carter, editor of the Deerfield Times-Journal being present was called upon to tell about the community sale which was put on in his town. He said he was largely responsible for the sale being put on in Deerfield and that it was a winner there and should be a fine thing for Tecumseh and the farmers living in this community.

The feeling was somewhat divided, many expressing themselves in favor of "sticking to the old ship that had carried them safely through" while others thought it might be a good thing to take on the sale.

Mr. Burridge next called upon H. S. Temple who presented the needs of the Patriotic League. Mr. Temple said that $4800.00 had been pledged so far in this township and the mark was set for $7500.00. Hudson had crossed the $7000.00 mark and he was anxious to have old Tecumseh go Hudson one better. He asked for more workers to finish up the campaign for pledges and a good number volunteered to help.

No other business coming before the meeting, an adjournment was made. The party left for home about 11 o'clock, all feeling that the time had been well spent and that both body and mind had been nourished.

CANNING TEAM ORGANIZED

Lenawee County Sends Team to the State Fair

Canning and preserving fruits and vegetables of all kinds has been urged upon the people for some time back, and Government and State authorities are exerting every effort to impress upon the people the importance of this movement and to teach them how to do it.

This year at State Fair there will be 24 teams from the state, Lenawee county having one team composed of two girls from Adrian and one from Tecumseh, Miss Janetta Hall, Miss Clara Waldron having charge of the team.

A school of instruction was held in Adrian Wednesday and in Tecumseh Thursday Mr Danzeger an expert from Washington was in charge Thursday. The work is under the auspices of the girls and boys clubs of Michigan. Travelling expenses are paid by the state. Three prizes will be given for the best demonstrations, 1st $150, 2d. $100, 3d $50. These demonstrations will probably be made during the last four days of the Fair.

RED CROSS NEWS

Result of Red Cross Company's Concert

The concert given on the four corners, Tecumseh, on Wednesday night by the Red Cross Concert Company was a wonderful success. It is estimated that about 5,000 people were present from all over the county, and only the lack of collectors prevented an even much larger sum from being taken. The idea of giving it originated with Mr. S. P. Hosmer.

The Temple Quartette, after singing "Under the Stars and Stripes," responded to an encore with "Call John."

John Pennington's powerful voice was heard to advantage in "So Long Mother" and "America, Here's My Boy" was his encore.

Mrs. Fred Wood and Mrs. Ella Hodges gave a much appreciated piano duet and Harold Lowry sang a patriotic song in khaki costume; he was also in the quartette.

A Dutch Klappdans was performed under the direction of Mrs. Robert Moore by eight young ladies, Miss Camilla Hayden playing the accompaniment. They looked quaint and sweet in their Dutch costumes and stamped their feet and clapped their hands with great spirit. As an encore they gave "Pop Goes the Weasel." These pretty Dutch maidens were impersonated by the Misses Edna Taylor, Alice Hardenburgh, Cecile Clark, Catherine Reed, Thelma Willnow, Gladys Gilbert, Ethel McIntyre and Lucile Camp.

Mrs. Robert Moore's tall stately figure showed to great advantage in the "Flag Song" in which she draped herself with a large American flag.

Mrs. Fred Wood was musical director and Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Ella Hodges played the accompaniments with their usual excellence.

One of the prettiest features of the entertainment was Miss Camilla Hayden's committee of collectors. All dressed as Red Cross nurses, they formed as sweet a group of young girls as you would wish to see. They were the Misses Camilla Hayden, Muriel Halladay, Marjorie Rosacrans, Alice Hardenburgh, Elizabeth Comfort, Cecile Clark, Helen McIntyre, Margaret VanWinkle, Edna Taylor, Lillian Kennedy, Norma Moody, Ethel McIntyre, Nina Lowry, Gertrude Peters, Frances Peters, Ruth McKinney, Hazel Pocklington and Gladys Gilbert.

They gathered in a half circle around Mrs. Hardy when she addressed the audience towards the west, wheeling around and facing the east when the speaker turned that way. Little Katherine Wood and Mary Eleanor Anderson, as two tiny Red Cross nurses, held a big Red Cross flag in the middle of the platform.

Mrs. Hardy enumerated a few of the atrocities committed by the Hohenzollern tyrant, against the Red Cross, women and children, and pleaded that we be worthy of our Red Cross workers in the war zone by giving them the wherewithal to ply their noble mission.

The young ladies then went around among the audience and returned in ten minutes with their baskets filled with every variety of coin. Katherine Wood and Mary Eleanor Anderson spread out their flag and the girls emptied their baskets into it, amidst the applause of the spectators. When counted at the bank it amounted to $151.10.

The Red Cross Concert Company will give a concert at Wampler's lake at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, September 9th, and one at Seneca at 7:30 p. m. on Sunday, September 16th. ter at special request. They repeat their offer to go to any place, within a reasonable distance from Tecumseh, giving their services FREE, and half the proceeds to the local Red Cross and the other half to the Tecumseh Red Cross.

The "Always Ready" Class of the M. E. church, taught by Mrs. B. Hurry, has just turned over the following finished articles to the Red Cross: 42 sponges, 24 napkins, 12 tray cloths, 3 mufflers, 3 pairs of bed socks, 3 pairs knitted socks, 15 doz. handkerchiefs. The Red Cross is very grateful to them for their good work.

E. A. Daisher is a new member.

Mrs. Wm. Chiverall's name was omitted from the original memberr' list.

Donation fund, received by Guy Nemire:

Towards rent of Headquarters	$9.00
Sunday-school class, Willing Workers, of the Culbertson School District	12.00
Red Cross Concert on Four Corners	151.10

Mrs. Clark and her committee installed themselves in the new Headquarters on Thursday and were working away for very life. When asked for news, each lady declared "that she had absolutey nothing to say." No man would believe this.

However a good deal of stuff is still in the old room and there is much work to be done.

The knitting needles made by Mr. Cutting continue to be very popular. We have orders from Jasper, Adrian, Onsted, Tipton and many other places.

Mrs. Chas. Ives was the first to offer the use of her auto to Mr. Widdifield some days ago, but her communication was mislaid. Mrs. A. O. Howard and Mrs. R. A. Heesen are two more volunteer auto owners.

Tecumseh is doing very well in Red Cross work, but we DO so want to make this one of the banner counties. There has unfortunately been so much disloyal propaganda in the U. S. that loyal Americans have to work doubly hard to overcome it. Now, all who are not yet members, come and join, for the honour of America, and in this instance more especially, Lenawee county. Every new member is a nail in the coffin of tyranny and autocracy. WE WANT YOU. Do not delay any longer.

Jenny C. Law Hardy,
Publicity Director.

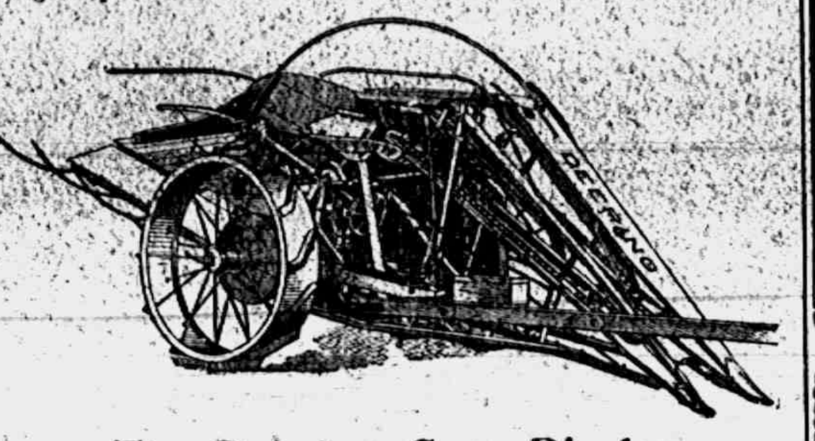
Studebaker

One should buy a wagon which is good enough to last a lifetime. A few dollars more or less will fade away when scattered over forty years, but the stuff that's under the paint is what gives a man ten years of grief and expense or forty years of service and satisfaction.

For sixty-three years Studebaker has been building honest wagons that run easy and last a lifetime.

Come in and let us show you our No. 305.

If you want a real buggy, we have them—Studebakers, right up-to-date.



The Deering Corn Binder

will do as much work in a day as eight men.

If you were going to tie a bundle of corn, you would not tie it standing, you would cut it, lay it down, put your knee on it, and tie it tight; that is the way the DEERING does. That is one reason it is lighter draft than other binders.

The power on the Deering is distributed direct, without strain or side-draft.

The wheels are the same height, set parallel with each other like a cart; neither wheel runs on the stubble which is left clean and even.

Works equally well in tall or short corn, because it has 21 inch adjustment for the band, 8 inch in shifting the binder and 13 inches in adjusting the butt adjuster. Compare this with the binders that have only 8 inch raise of pan which when raised clogs the corn.

Tecumseh Co-Operative Association Held Their Semi-Annual Meeting Saturday Evening

The Tecumseh Co-Operative Ass'n held their regular semi annual meeting at Grange hall Saturday evening, with about 75 members present. The report of the business done by the Association for a period of 7 months, shows a good increase over last year. Merchandise sales have increased during the season 52 per cent Stock sales 59 per cent. All departments showed an unusually healthy condition and business conditions are looking good.

It was reported that the increase in the capital of the Company from $25,000 to $50,000 which had been voted at a previous meeting of the stockholders, had been approved and authorized by the Michigan Securities Commission. This will probably increase the membership of the Association from 250 to 500

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT

Last Friday, while working on a silo on the Waldron farm, Chas. Richardson met with what might have been a fatal accident. In some way he struck his elbow against a nail The pain was so intense he fainted and fell about 40 feet into the silo, striking a 2x4 on his side. He sustained cuts on his head and face also. He was taken to his home where he rallied and was able to be down town Monday. That night he was found unconscious on the floor and suffered a severe hemmorrhage of the bowels, doubtless the result of some internal injury. His condition is still serious.

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubolz says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

NEEDFUL KNOWLEDGE

Tecumseh People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease

The symptoms of kidney trouble are many. Disordered kidneys often excrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding. The back may ache, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighted down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger Delay often proves fatal.

You can use no better endorsed kidney remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Tecumseh proof of their merit.

Dell Hubbard, E. Chicago St., Tecumseh says: "Kidney complaint had troubled me for a long time. My back ached and I was sore and lame. I could do no stooping or lifting work and my kidneys acted irregularly. A friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills and I bought some at Wright & Son's Drug Store. They soon strengthened my back and rid me of all signs of kidney complaint."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hubbard had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

HENPECKED HENRY

Laughter is recommended by all physicians as good for what ails you. The man who can laugh and enjoy himself is ever welcome in any throng. Laughter is a better tonic than any concoction the apothecary can mix, because it drives dull care away and the patient does not know he is taking medicine.

Many a business man with cares on his mind is transported into another land in a few moments when he gets a chance to laugh heartily. It is a stimulant both to brain and the brawn. Some men make a business of establishing laugh factories, and then, with the aid of the public, maintaining them for the good of all.

If you are in need of the best tonic in the world get ready to see Halton Powell's "Henpecked Henry" when that man of a million troubles comes to Bradley Opera House, next Monday, Sept. 10th. "Henpecked Henry is the best laugh factory ever put on the American stage, and principally so because his many predicaments are home-like productions. This famous cartoon musical force has enjoyed most successful runs through the English speaking nations. and almost entirely so because it is a geyser of mirth. As the show comes here, it is presented by an especially strong cast and the girliest of girls, who make life happy for themselves and for their auditors by working the hilarity mill overtime. The coming of this show is in keeping with the efforts of the management of the Bradley to make this season one memorable for the quality of the shows presented.

A complete scenic production is carried, the company calling for a 'clear stage.' A company and chorus is carried and a special orchestra will be used to furnish the music.

BARNS DESTROYED BY FIRE

On Alton Whelan Property Early This Morning

Two barns on the Alton Whelan property, 6 miles west and 1¼ miles north of Tecumseh, were destroyed by fire at about 4:30 o'clock this morning.

The family were asleep when the fire started and were awakened by the crackling of the blaze, only to find the top of the large barn burning fiercely. It was too late to save the building and all efforts were centered on keeping the fire from spreading and to save as much of the property in the barn as possible.

The barn destroyed was about 34 x 100 and another standing near it was lost. The smaller one was about 30 x 50 in size.

Mr. Whelan lost 100 tons of alfalfa hay, a quantity of other hay, 1200 bu. of grain which was threshed out last Friday and two calves. His auto and a tractor were taken from the barn to safety.

A large pile of shingles stood near the barn which were soon to be used for a new roof and most of these were saved. There were five smaller buildings near and by hard work of neighbors and friends who were soon on the ground after the fire started, these buildings were saved.

We understand that Mr. Whelan had his buildings covered by insurance but how much we were unable to learn this morning.

Mr. Whelan is at a loss to know how the fire started as no one was in the barn at that early hour.

TECUMSEH SCHOOLS OPENED MONDAY

The Temporary Quarters Prove Too Small for the Number of Pupils in Attendance

School opened in Tecumseh Monday with a rush, the high school occupying the Vendoma Hotel and the 7th and 8th grades in the Anderson store the same as last spring.

The new faces among the teachers' staff of the high school are Miss Hazel Mellie, Miss Bessie Yutsey and Miss Ina Palmer. Miss Mabel Kenny is the new teacher in the grammar school.

Supt. Reed informs us that the conditions in the high school will be very much crowded. The Freshman class is the largest it has been for the five years that he has been connected with the school. He estimates that there will be 55 pupils in the class.

In the 5th grade at the East Branch a similar condition prevails. They have a seating capacity of 38 pupils and school opens with over 50 in this grade. So there will have to be some crowding to accomodate the pupils and to make the present quarters answer until the new building is completed.

There is practically no change in the school courses from last year. The foreign enrollment is the largest in several years.

GOOD ATTRACTIONS AT JACKSON FAIR

Ten big free acts and a host of midway attractions are among the amusement features which will make Jackson County's 1917 fair, which is to be held Sept. 10 to 15, the biggest county celebration of the kind to be held in Michigan this year. In addition to all of the above entertainments there will be two bands of music, a Ferris wheel, merry-go-round and motor dome. From the time of opening the gates in the morning until the close of the fair in the evening there will be something doing every minute.

Great care has been exercised by the management in the selection of the free attractions this year, and it is believed that a finer lot of entertainment features will not be found on any fair ground in Michigan this fall. Among the free acts will be Alber's ten polar bears; the Shipmens, a rube act; Gus Hornbrook's Congress of Wild West Riders with ten persons and ten horses and featuring Delmar the famous hind leg and dancing horse; Nezpah, Selbine ad Archie Royer, combination act embracing trick bicycle riding, globe rolling, spade jumping and comedy tumbling.

Each day the fair will open with the firing of the national salute and the raising of the American flag. Saturday will be given over entirely to a big patriotic program in which several military companies will take part. Among the features for that day will be a parade and patriotic drills. There will be three night shows, the fair being open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. In addition to a big program of free acts there will be a huge pyrotechnic display.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE

Painful Accident Occurs a Mile North of Britton Sunday

Mrs. John Rixom Has Arm Torn Open and Mrs. Thos. J. Rixom Suffers Broken Nose

A bad accident occurred Sunday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock, a mile north of Britton, when Thomas J. Rixom driving a Ford car overturned in the ditch. Mr. Rixom was accompanied by his wife, daughter, mother, and one of the men working on his farm. They were just returning from a 35 or 40 mile trip when the accident happened. Mr. Rixom, who was driving, had not been in good health for some time, and it is thought that he became fatigued and momentarily fell asleep.

The car left the road, ran into the ditch and turned turtle, throwing the occupants on the ground. Mrs. John Rixom, the mother, in falling from the car, struck her arm against the arm that supports the top cutting a deep gash and literally tearing the flesh from the bone, exposing it and severing an artery Mrs. Thos Rixom, the wife, suffered a broken nose, the rest of the party escaping with only minor injuries.

Mr. Rixom's farm man had the presence of mind to tie a handkerchief tightly about Mrs. Rixom's arm to close the artery and stop the flow of blood, and as soon as possible the injured ladies were placed in the hands of Dr. Lusty of Britton. An examination was made of the injuries and it was found so serious in Mrs. John Rixom's case, that it was necessary to have help so Dr. Lusty called Dr. Hardy by phone. He was unable to get him, there being some trouble on the line, so the patient was placed in an auto and rushed to Tecumseh, all this time the lady suffering intense pain.

Fortunately, they found Dr Hardy at home, and as quickly as possible the doctors proceeded to close the wound and make her as comfortable as possible. She was placed under the influence of an anesthetic. So bad was the wound that the nerves were pulled and twisted and the pulsations of the arteries could be plainly seen. As soon as the work was finished and Mrs. Rixom had regained consciousness, she was taken to her home.

GOOD CROPS HINGE ON FROST

Cold Spells Before Oct. 1 Will Cost Michigan Farmers Millions.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 3.

Michigan's big crop of potatoes, corn and beans now hinges on frost. A frost between now and September 20 will practically ruin the chances for a large crop, while if frost stays away till its average date, about October 1 in the lower peninsula, the state's crop will be a "whopper."

This is the gist of crop reports furnished by the county agents to the food preparedness committee of the war board. Much of the crop is late but can pull through magnificently if the frost will hold off another month.

He Didn't Have an "Evinrude."

Sheboygan, Wis., Sept. 3.

Disabled eight miles out in Lake Michigan, about fourteen miles south of Sheboygan, the yacht Besse Emily, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Owen Evinrude, was towed into this port. The engine of the Evinrude yacht was disabled by an accident, it was said, Evinrude is the maker of the motor of that name. One of the party rowed eight miles to shore to get help.

Cerebrospinal Meningitis Case Found.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 3.

A case of cerebrospinal meningitis discovered at Waukesha, has resulted in the quarantine of the home of Anton Litt, whose sixteen years old son and namesake has been treated twice with injections of Flexner serum from the laboratories of the Rockefeller institute. Dr. W. T. Murphy, attending physician, said the patient is showing some improvement.

Bowley Threatens to Close Saloons.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 3.

Colonel A. J. Bowley, commanding Camp Robinson, where 15,000 regular soldiers are training, announced that he would appeal to President Wilson to close the 146 saloons in La Crosse unless the liquor traffic among the soldiers is stopped.

Fragrant Wild Flowers.

Readers of the American Botanist have been trying to decide which is the most fragrant American wild flower, and their opinions on the subject exhibit remarkable diversity. In New England the majority give first choice to the pink azalea, with the white water lily second. There are many votes for the trailing arbutus; but, as the editor suggests, its fragrance is doubtless overestimated owing to the fact that it is the earliest fragrant wild flower of spring. Other candidates for the first place are the partridge berry, the common locust, horned bladderwort (of which John Burroughs says, "In a warm moist atmosphere the odor is almost too strong"), yellow jessamine, spotted wintergreen and some of the magnolias.

RED CROSS NOTES

The new Red Cross Headquarters are in the west side of the Patterson House on Chicago street, just one house east from the Electirc Light Company's office.

In the future the H[illegible] will be closed on Saturday evenings and Wednesday evenings, but will be open on these days from 12:30 p. m. until 4:30 p. m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday the rooms will be open from 12:30 until 4 p. m.

Mrs. Helen Clark, Mrs. O. B. Finch and Miss Louise Phelps spent Labor Day laboring at the Headquarters, cleaning, dusting and putting things in order.

The above ladies appeal for the public to save rags for snippings; now that fall housecleaning is near, many odds and ends will be found that can be used to advantage. But please have them washed before bringing them.

The following articles are still needed for the Headquarters: Bulbs for the electric lights, two stoves, four tables, six chairs, and a couple of rockers. If you can loan any one of these, please let Mr. Burridge or Mr. Widdifield know and we will send for them. Or if you have any other odds and ends of furniture that are in your way, or that you can spare, kindly notify us and we may be able to use them and make them take the place of other things.

Dr. Pauline Bredow's class for surgical dressings began last Friday wtih the following ladies in attendance: Mrs. Frank Lewis, Mrs. Ben Pulver, Mrs. Geo. Rathbun, Mrs. A. Rice, Mrs. Paul Bowen, Mrs. Dell Cairns, Mrs. Floyd Billington, Mrs. E. L. Anderson, Miss Camilla Hayden and Miss Margaret Hoag. Forty-eight bandages and smaller dressings were made and Dr. Bredow says that she has a very bright class.

They will meet again at the Headquarters at 1:30 p. m. on Wednesday, Sept. 5th.

Frances Tallman is a new member.

Mrs. Sena Crane and committee have seventeen suits of pajamas ready to send to Adrian.

Mrs. A. C. Bryan will be director of housewives and comfort bags; she is looking the matter up at present and will soon be in position to take charge.

A parcel of snippings arrived from Norvel to be worked over by our machine. We will snip for any Red Cross branch FREE; have your rags about two inches wide and stitched together like carpet rags.

Knitted sweaters are urgently needed. Mrs. Will Eccles has loaned one to the Headquarters where anyone wanting to knit one can inspect it.

Directions for Knitting Sleeveless Sweater

Needles 2-10 or 13-64 of an inch in diameter. There is a great confusion in the size of needles but sweaters can be knit on needles 3-18 to 1-4 inch in diameter. Loose knitters should use the smaller sizes, tight knitters the larger. Most dealers carry the sizes but a good wooden needle can be had from Headquarters or from Mr. Chas. Burridge of Tecumseh.

Cast on 80 stitches. Knit 2, purl 2 stitches for 4 inches. Knit plain until sweater measures 25 inches. Knit 28 stitches. Bind off 24 stitches for neck, LOOSELY, so that they will measure 9 inches when stretched out. Knit 28 stitches. Knit 5 ridges on each shoulder, cast on 24 stitches. Knit plain for 21 inches. Purl , knit 2 stitches for 4 inches. Sew up sides leaving 9 inches for armholes, 2 rows single crochet around neck and 1 row around armholes.

The Red Cross Concert Company have raised $325 net to date. Their next concert will be given on Sunday, Sept. 9th, at 3:30 p. m. at the Farm, Wamplers Lake. There will be an entirely new program. Every one is urged to attend; every cent taken in the silver collection goes to Red Cross, there is no deduction.

On Sunday, Sept. 16th. at 7:30 p. m. the Red Cross Concert Company will give a concert at Seneca, for which the Seneca ladies are selling tickets. Half the proceeds will go to the Seneca Red Cross and half to the Tecumseh.

Let us keep the work up; the bitter cry of the wounded, who are fighting for our liberty comes to us across the ocean, and each day, yes each hour brings a fresh holocaust from the field of battle.

While we are taking our ease and slowing up, our defenders are writhing on the battlefield, suffering more than any imagination can picture. Your dollar membership, your bandages, your day's work may be the means of saving an additional human life.

The hardest thing for us, who are not actual eye witnesses of the horrors which are hourly taking place, is to keep up the work, week in, week out, but it is imperative and just as vital as that which is beirg done on the battlefield itself. Do not let us fail when America needs us.

Jenny C. Law Hardy,
Publicity Director.

Mr. and Mrs. M D. Nobles have been entertaining her sister Mrs Layton of Hanover and nephew Lyle Bidwell of Mosherville for the past week.

Practical Decorative
Electric Fixtures

Half the utility and comfort of electric light is in having suitable fixtures. And the effects possible are almost endless.

The size and number of lights are of no more importance than their positions and style of fixtures.

For industrial and practical purposes there are many ways of directing and controlling lights For decorative effects, both direct and indirect lighting can be had with many combinations of shades and reflectors.

The most practical place to settle your lighting problem is in our show rooms.

Bring in your ideas and see how well we can fit them.

THEATER SEASON OPENS

At Bradley Opera House, Friday Evening, August 31st.

Big Opera "There She Goes" the Opening Number

The theatrical season at Bradley Opera House opened last Friday evening with Louis Weslyn's big musical opera "There She Goes." The season got a good start Friday night, for the house was packed and everyone seemed to enjoy the evening to the fullest.

The company are just commencing their season and were only a week out of Chicago. They carried a car load of scenery and their costumes were all new and attractive. The company was made up of 40 people and carried its own orchestra.

The story opens on Long Island, in the first act and shifts to Honolulu in the last, where it ends happily, as most stories do.

The chorus work was good and with frequent changes in costumes, it was made very attractive. The company rendered a number of musical numbers which were well received. The fancy dancing by two members of the company was unusualy clever and the auiednce showed that they liked it for they just would'nt let them stop. The features of the evening were the fine acting by Harvey D. and Harold Orr.

Lava Is Slow to Cool.

Peasants on the slopes of Mount Aetna can still boil water over the lava that flowed from the volcano during the eruption of 1910. Lava, according to Walter Woodburn Hyde of the University of Pennsylvania, writing in the Geographical Review, often reaches a temperature of 2,000 degrees F.

Even the ancient poets recorded the tenacity with which lava retains its heat, and Borelli, describing the great eruption of 1669, says the lava took eight years to cool. It is related that steam was still rising in 1830 from lava ejected in 1787. And this is not astonishing when we remember that the stream of molten lava which reached the sea at Catania on that occasion was at least 600 yards in breadth, forty feet deep and contained 3,532,000,000 cubic feet. It banked up against the walls of Catania, which were sixty feet high, until it flowed over the top and destroyed a large part of the city. The huge promontory that acts like a breakwater to the harbor is the remains of that stream of lava that flowed into the sea.

About Temperature.

The best authorities on the science of meteorology tell us that without the various changes in the temperature there would be a perfect calm at all times in all parts of the globe. A uniform and unvarying barometric pressure would everywhere prevail, and there would be no change of seasons, no evaporation or condensation, no clouds and no rain. In short, without changes of temperature, which we sometimes think so uncomfortable, the atmosphere would soon become poisonous, stagnant and incapable of sustaining human life.

Awkwardly Put.

"I grovel here before you in the dust!" observed the impassioned youth as he sank on to the drawing room floor.

"I don't know what you mean by dust," replied she coldly. "I look after this room most carefully myself every morning."—London Tit-Bits.

Top and Bottom.

"My friend," said the long haired passenger to the young man in the seat opposite, "to what end has your life work been directed?"

"To both ends," was the reply. "I have the only first class hat and shoe store in the village."

To Clarify Fat.

Fat is easily clarified if a few pieces of raw potato are added to it and then it is heated slowly in the oven or on top of the stove. When it ceases to bubble, strain through cheesecloth and let it stand till firm. Keep in a cool place.

A Sincere Compliment.

I remember as a boy hearing the late Rev. Sam P. Jones tell my father of what he considered to be the most sincere compliment be ever received, says a writer in the Dallas Pitchfork. "I was holding a meeting in the city of Louisville," Rev. Sam Jones related, "and spending the nights with an old Methodist colonel who owned a fine country home. During my first evening at the colonel's home the old colored yard man was instructed to bring out one of the colonel's finest saddle horses for my review. The aged negro did as he was instructed and led before me a magnificent animal. The horse was a deep bay stallion, and he walked with high, swaggering steps. I said to the old negro, 'What makes him step so proudly?' And he answered without hesitation: 'Dat hoss has got sense, Brudder Jones. He knows who's lookin' at 'im.'"

Sam Jones said that was the sincerest compliment he ever received.

Monster Haystacks.

On the first approach to a Roumanian village one is startled by the largest haystack that the American will probably ever have seen. Rod upon rod this monster stretches upon the horizon. The explanation is a simple one. Hay is one of the largest articles of production in Roumania. Landed proprietors and peasants, one and all, raise it and depend upon it for their support. When, however, a peasant feels grievances intolerable, it is a matter of no great difficulty to set the proprietor's hay afire—and no peasant in the district would think of assisting in the detection of the incendiary. So the law permits the proprietor to force all the peasants in the district to place their hay with his, a record of the weight of each man's contribution being kept by both sides. In the event of fire—and it now behooves both sides to guard against all this—all contributors suffer in proportion.—Exchange.

Much Food in Small Bulk.

The British soldier when fresh bread is not available is supplied with what he calls "dog biscuit." It looks like just that, being a thick cracker four inches square and weighing three ounces. Of whole wheat flour pressed solid, it might be described as a condensed loaf of bread.

The French have a "war bread" somewhat similar, which when put into hot water or soup swells up like a sponge.

The famous German "pea sausage" is composed of pea meal, bacon and fat. It was the invention of a Berlin cook, who discovered a process whereby pea meal could be made proof against deterioration. One sausage eight inches long yields twelve plates of nutritious soup.

Both Cheating Themselves.

You as a manufacturer are helping to keep prices up because you have not fully realized that men can do in six to seven hours what they are now doing in nine or ten. As workers you are helping to keep prices up because you are not doing all you can in the hours that you work. You are both cheating yourselves.—Industrial Management.

State Forests.

State forests, with a total of over 3,600,000 acres, have been established in thirteen states. Of these New York has the largest forests, which comprise 1,826,000 acres; Pennsylvania is second, with 1,008,000 acres, and Wisconsin third, with 400,000 acres.

Potted Foods.

There is much probability in the suggestion that we owe our system of potted foods to the North American Indians, who for many years have dried venison, pounded it into a paste and pressed it into cakes for winter food.

Had No Hills.

"Going to plant potatoes in that five acre lot you've rented in Suburbus?"

"Like to, but it's level field and my book on farming says that potatoes should be in hills."—Buffalo Express.

Why He Didn't Save.

"Do you save your money?"

"Mister, if I saved my money I'd have to cheat the grocer and the coal man."—Detroit Free Press.

Riches have wings, and grandeur is a dream.—Cooper.

THE NEW ROYAL THEATER CHANGES HANDS

H. S. Waring Becomes the New Owner

H. S. Waring has purchased from Faron S. Anderson the New Royal theatre and will take possession immediately. The deal was closed Monday morning. Mr. Waring announces that he will run only high class motion pictures and will endeavor to give the people of this community a first class theatre in every respect. He expects soon to make some changes in the interior of the theatre and will re-decorate throughout. Wesley Clark, who has been connected with the Royal theatre for a number of years will be retained by Mr. Waring.

F. S. Anderson, who has been in charge of the theatre for the past two years, has made many improvements and has produced a modern up to date theatre. Among the improvements made was an addition built on the rear which gave the auditorium a much larger seating capacity, a new stage, heating and ventilating system, new seats, and re-decorating. The class of attractions have been improved under Mr. Anderson's management and the theatre has shown strictly high class pictures.

Mr. Waring, who becomes the owner of the theatre, is no stranger to Tecumseh people as he was born and brought up here. He has been employed for 31 years in the implement business having worked all the time in the same location under C. A. Slayton & Son and the Co-Operative Ass'n. He will sever his connection with the Co-Operative Ass'n, as soon as satisfactory arrangements can be made, and devote his full time to the new business.

NEW FLAG STAFF ERECTED TODAY

Patriotic Program Arranged for Wednesday Night

Tecumseh's municipal flag staff was erected in the center of the village at the intersection of Chicago and Evans St., today. The new flag pole is 72 ft. in length. The base of the pole is imbedded six feet in a foundation of concrete which gives the pole a heighth of 66 feet above ground.

The new flag which will be unfurled to the breeze, is the gift to the village from the members of the council and is 7x14 in size. A program in connection with the raising of the pole will be carried out Wednesday evening and will take place during the intermission between the two shows. It is expected that the Hon. Wirt N. Newkirk of Ann Arbor, will be the speaker of the evening. Mr. Newkirk is one of our representative citizens of Michigan and at the present time is a representative of our state legislature.

Unbelievable America.

In the chapter of Hugo Munsterberg's unfinished autobiography, published in the Century under the title "Twenty-five Years In America," the Harvard professor tells some of the amusing misconceptions of America current in Germany a quarter of a century ago.

"The one, however, who brought me nearest to America was the historian Holst," wrote Professor Munsterberg. "In the lecture room his real life work was silenced. Who would care to study American history? But in the drawing room he did not talk of anything else; America and America again. Sometimes we had to listen to American stories through whole dinner parties. I do remember that at my first Freiburg party he reached his climax when he told the fascinated company that he had been in a hotel in New York where his room had a private bathroom in which he could have a hot bath at any hour of the night. The lady next to me relieved the dramatic tension by whispering 'I do not believe it.' Well, no one believed much of what he heard concerning America."

Length of Wireless Waves.

In articles on wireless telegraphy such expressions as 200 meter wave lengths, [illegible] meter wave lengths, 15,000 meter wave lengths are constantly used. In reply to a correspondent who asks how the length of the waves is measured the Scientific American gives the following simple explanation:

"The length of an electric wave is determined by a wave meter. The natural wave length of an aerial is four times its linear length, just as the wave length of a note of a closed organ pipe is four times the length of the pipe, and the wave length of the note of a tuning fork is four times the length of the box which is resonant with the note. However, other considerations make it difficult to measure the wave length by a rule, and the wave meter gives a more correct result than can be found by measuring the length of the wire."

A Culinary Puzzle.

Waiter (seeing dissatisfaction on guest's face)—Wasn't the dinner cooked to suit you, sir? Guest—Yes, all but the bill. Just take that back and tell them to boil it down a little!

Different Answer.

"Am I the first girl you have ever loved?"

"No, you are the sixteenth, and my taste has been improving right along.—Kansas City Journal.

"We lament that today we received so much that was good from the world and gave so little back.—Michael Fairless.

PUT UP A SILO THIS YEAR.

WHY?

Because your corn will go a third further.

Because your cows will do better on green feed.

Because you can plant more wheat and still have as much feed for your cows.

Because milk and butter will be higher than ever before.

Buy a Saginaw Silo because it has a steel framework and All-Steel Door-frame.

It is made of decay-proof, non-shrinking, fire-resisting Redwood or, if made of Yellow Pine, it is treated with Silo-seal which gives it many of the qualities of Redwood.

It has a copper-bearing steel spline-dowel which makes it doubly strong.

It has the Angle Steel Rib around the middle outside and the top inside (see cut) and fastened to every other stave. The sidewise pressure of the strongest wind cannot bend this angle when curved to the circle of the silo.

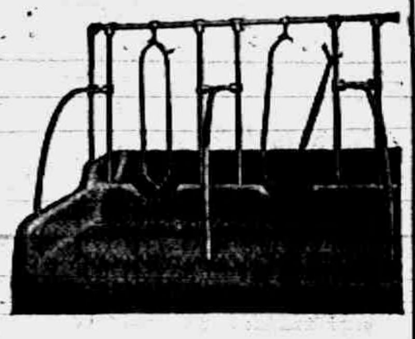
Come in and let us show you its many other good points. Saginaw terms are so easy your silo will have saved enough to pay for itself before the final payment.

THE BEST FOR YOUR BARN.

Your cow will be your money-maker this winter. Make her comfortable and she will do her best for you.

Notice how the LOUDEN stanchions give to every motion of the cow and make her as comfortable as in the pasture.

We can furnish you anything in the Louden line. Drop us a postal and we will send you a fully illustrated book of Barn Equipment, or a book of Barn Plans if you wish to build or make your barn over.



We have a full line of GALE sulky and walking plows;

Disc, Spring and Spike Tooth Harrows, both DEERING and GALE;

And the old reliable SUPERIOR and FARMERS' FAVORITE drills.

A Household Jewel.

"Is your new maid competent?"

"Very. She can even fool agents and peddlers into believing that she's mistress of the house."—Pittsburgh Press.

January Wheat Crops.

Only two countries, Chile and New Zealand, usually harvest their wheat crops in January.

Life doesn't consist in playing a good hand, but in playing a poor hand well.

Through Customer's Glasses.

"How much experience have you had behind the counter?" asked an electric shop manager of a young man who had just applied for a job as a retail clerk.

"None," admitted the applicant, "but I've had a heap of experience as a customer."

The ability to put on the customer's glasses and see windows, cases and prices from the buying side of the counter is an asset that cannot be too highly valued. Every electric store salesman is also a buyer. He must purchase clothing, neckties and shoes. The electrical man who can remember how other salesmen and clerks showed him their merchandise in a way that invited his interest and encouraged him to buy and who can apply these methods in his own everyday selling is the man who will contribute to the building of a clientele of satisfied patrons for his [illegible] Electrical Merchandising.

MRS. LEVI BOWEN

Mrs. Mary J. Bowen passed away Thursday evening, August 30, 1917, at the home of her daughter Mrs. Charles Bennett after an illness of nine weeks at the age of 76 years, 8 months.

She has been in failing health for a number of years but did not give up until 9 weeks ago when she went to the home of her daughter, who has cared for her most tenderly, until death came as a blessed release from suffering.

The funeral was held at the home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. W. B. Hartzog officiating. Burial on the family lot at Brookside.

Among those who were here for the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wright of Vermontville, Frank Bowen of Adrian, James and Andrew Powell of Tipton.

False Economy.

Some people begrudge the expenditure of money to beautify the home or to bring the comforting message of friendship in time of trouble. To them flowers are of no use, pictures and music a waste of money. But a life restricted to things that go into the pot or are worn on the back results in starving the spirit. "If I had two loaves of bread I would sell one of them to buy white hyacinths to feed my soul." That was the terse and poetic sentiment of a truth oft neglected.

Even the poor need other things more than they need money. The money will be gone next month, but the memory of a great bunch of wild flowers remains. "Flower missions" furnish a beautiful ministry that almost any Sunday school class can exercise. Send your posies to the hospitals or to the children of the slums.—Christian Herald.

Ministers' Sons.

An investigator finds that one-twelfth of all the men whose names appear in "Who's Who" are sons of preachers. Four presidents were sons of ministers—Buchanan, Arthur, Cleveland and Wilson. Three of the great Boston group of writers—Emerson, Lowell and Holmes—were of ministerial parentage, so were Parkman and Bancroft. also the remarkable Field brothers—Cyrus W., David Dudley and Stephen J. The influence of the eminent Jonathan Edwards appears to have extended far down in the line of his descendants, for the list include one vice president, three senators, thirty judges, sixty authors, twelve college presidents, and not one of the 1,394 who were traced was ever convicted of a crime. The list of clergymen's distinguished sons could be greatly extended, for they are to be found in every line of activity.—Indianapolis Star.

How Houses Explode.

The most remarkable phenomenon connected with tornadoes is the explosion of houses, which literally burst, scattering their fragments in all directions. Sometimes substantial dwellings are carried high into the air and then explode.

It is now understood that this is due to the fact that the "funnel cloud" (revolving at a rate of at least 500 miles an hour) has a vacuum inside. Thus it sucks up everything in its path, even emptying wells. It sucks all the air from around a house over which it passes, and the house (a vacuum being thus created outside of it) promptly explodes, owing to the pressure of the air, at thirty pounds to the square inch, from within.

The house, in a word, is transformed into a bomb.—Philadelphia Press.

President Fillmore.

Present day passion for setting unappreciated historical characters in a new light has now reached President Millard Fillmore. A symposium by sixteen American publishers says of him: He abolished debt imprisonment and religious test oaths for witnesses in court. He fostered new postage rates and induced congress to make an appropriation for testing the electric telegraph. He sent Perry on his famous expedition to Japan, with instructions for action that won the "open door" and laid the foundation for American-Japanese friendship. In his retirement as a citizen of Buffalo Fillmore laid the foundations of most of its present cultural institutions. Always he was an opponent of war and a constructive statesman. But he lacked those qualities as a man and those ambitions as a politician which might have made him popular while he lived and read about today.

Don't Neglect the Teeth.

The teeth are an important factor in maintaining health. Poor, irregular, decayed teeth cause foul breath and do not permit the thorough mastication of food. This creates intestinal disorders, caused by lumps of partly masticated food lying and fermenting in the stomach.

All food must be in a liquid state before it can pass into the intestinal tract, so if this task be continually imposed on the stomach it produces distress.

The mouth is indicative of character and as expressive as the eye. Refined and particular people do not neglect the appearance of the teeth.

A reasonable amount of care, a good dentifrice and a fairly stiff brush—all these give pearly teeth, a clean, sweet breath, ruby lips and a feeling of perfect cleanliness.

Floating Islands.

Many floating islands have at various periods been found voyaging on the Atlantic. These islands were originally part of the low lying river banks, which broke away under stress of storm or flood and floated out to sea. The Orinoco, the Amazon, the La Plata and other tropical rivers often send forth such pieces of their shores. Some of the bits of land are of large size and carry animals, insects and vegetation, even at times including trees, the roots of which serve to hold the land intact, while their branches and leaves serve as sails for the wind. Generally the waves break up these islands shortly after they put to sea, but sometimes, under favorable conditions, they travel long distances.

How Friends Are Made.

Two women with babies in their arms sat beside each other in a trolley car.

First one baby mumbled something, then the other until they became real friendly. Then one mother told the other how cute the babies got along together.

Before the car had reached the destination of the first woman each had invited the other to call.—Newark Eagle.

A Caution.

Reginald—I love you, Madeline. For you I would give up family, position, wealth. Madeline—Hold, Reginald! Giving up family is all right. I fain would be spared a mother-in-law. Give up your position if you can get a better one, but please hold on to your wealth. We may need it.

Helpful Shortcomings.

"Your husband is quite a trial."

"Yes, but his shortcomings are useful in a way. After viewing him at close range our cook says she would never risk getting married. And we'd hate to lose her, that's a fact."—Kansas City Journal.

True.

"He still has the first dollar he ever made."

"Well, that's better than owing now to somebody the last dollar you ever will make."—Detroit Free Press.

Her Explanation.

Mamma—Hazel, I thought I told you not to eat your candy till after dinner. Hazel—I'm not eating it, mamma; I'm only sucking the juice.

She Is Brave Now.

In the Woman's Home Companion a writer says:

"Most people stand somewhat in awe of waiters, I find. They tip more than they can afford because they do not want to seem like a 'piker' in the waiter's eyes. Well, I am done worrying about what waiters are thinking about me. I make it a point now to let them worry about what I think about them. In the first joy of finding that I could get my rights by standing up for them I kicked to the captain of a dining car about the conduct of a waiter and later sent back some unripe fruit with perfect composure. The captain corrected the waiter. The unripe fruit was removed from my bill. It wasn't a bit of trouble. I didn't even raise my voice. But there was no mistake about what I meant.

"Since then waiters have had no terrors for me. When I don't get the treatment I ought to have I call the captain, or the head waiter, and ask what is the matter. He does the rest. And I tip regularly, but not lavishly."

Shoes of an Army.

The old saw about an army moving on its belly is all wrong. An army—horse, foot and gun—moves on its feet, and marching and walking—as the average civilian, not a policeman or a postman, understands walking about his daily vocation—are two very different things. An infantryman on his feet carries about sixty pounds of dead weight, forty-five pounds or so of pack, eight pounds or so of rifle and the rest in ammunition or separate equipment. He cannot choose his own gait, and he has to negotiate all kinds of ground—winter roads corrugated with frozen ruts, slippery trails of mud and water, rocks, hot sand. And more than half the time a change of shoes is for him a luxury. He is very apt to keep the same pair on night and day, wet or dry. If his shoes are not right or if his feet are not sound he cannot last a week with a moving command, and it is entirely possible that he will even have trouble in a trench.—World's Work.

SENATOR GORE.

Willing to Resign if President Does Also.

Senator Gore is willing to resign from the senate if President Wilson and all members of congress will get out with him. Some of Senator Gore's disgusted constituents in Hugo, Okla. sent him a dispatch recently asking him to resign because of his opposition to the sending of American troops to France. The senator wired back: "If you get the president and the congress to resign I'll follow suit.

FIND POLIO GERM AND ISOLATE IT, REPORT

Jewish Hospital Has Cure for Infantile Paralysis Victims.

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—Announcement was made by physicians of the Jewish hospital that the germ of infantile paralysis has been discovered and isolated. The cure of the dread disease, it is believed, is a matter of but a short time now that the cause is known and the germ can easily be studied.

The local research workers have found the germ in patients who died of infantile paralysis and in monkeys who died after being inoculated with the disease. In addition to this they explain how the germ can be easily isolated by other investigators.

WANT SENATOR GORE TO QUIT

"Get Right or Get Out" Is General Sentiment in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 3.—A survey of more than two hundred of Oklahoma's daily and country weekly newspapers disclosed the fact that approximately 75 per cent of the voters of this state repudiate the anti-administration and so-called obstructional stand taken in congress by Senator Thomas Pryor Gore of Oklahoma, now serving his second term. This was brought out as the result of a demand for the resignation of the junior senator. "Get right or get out," is the sentiment generally expressed.

Of 225 Oklahoma papers, 112 openly criticise the senator, 108 either carry no editorials or avoid discussion of the subject, and only five make an effort to apologize for his course. None is supporting him. Many of Senator Gore's staunchest supporters have joined the ranks of his critics, the survey discloses.

LIBERTY 4S TO BE TAXABLE

New Bonds Will Bear 4 Per Cent Interest, But Will Be taxable.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Emerging from a wilderness of mathematics, the house ways and means committee announced it had prepared the $11,538,000,000 bond and certificate measure.

The new bond issue is to pay 4 per cent and the first liberty loan bonds at 3½ per cent will be converted. They will be subject to the income tax, super-taxes imposed as war measures, and the excess profits tax law being framed in the senate.

Would Sub for Brother.

Freeport, Ill., Sept. 3.—James Frankenfield, nineteen years of age, begged the draft exemption board at Freeport to permit him to take his elder brother's place in the new army. He said his brother earned a good salary with which to support his mother, while he had but a small salary. The board refused the request.

Brewers Paid $1,298.07 Lobby Fees.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 3.

The Wisconsin Brewers' association through its president, H. J. Stark of Milwaukee, filed a statement with the secretary of state to the effect that the organization paid $1,298.07 to attorneys who represented it on excise bills before the legislature during the last session.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 3.

Sentenced for Assault.

Frank Balge, said to be an enemy alien out of his district, was charged with assault and battery after he beat Helmuth Toepfer in a saloon at Fourth and Wells street. In district court Balge was sentenced to six months at the Milwaukee house of correction.

Two Train Men Killed.

Adrian, Mich., Sept. 3.

When the fast Wabash freight No. 91 left the track at Britton near Adrian, the firemen and head brakeman were killed. They were crushed beneath the engine as it rolled into the ditch. The engine and ten cars left the track. The engineer escaped.

Milk Price Boosted to 8 Cents.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Sept. 3.

Contending that the condensories are buying directly from the farmers and therefore shutting off their source of supply, milk dealers have increased the price from 7 to 8 cents a quart. They say the increase will be statewide

ITALIAN TROOPS CAPTURE 27,000

French Win in New Offensive Northwest of Hurtebise.

HAIG TAKES MANY GERMANS

Italy's Great Offensive Enters on Its Third Week With Eucouraging Success on the Entire Front—French Planes Do Yeoman Service—Greece to Put Army in Field Within Three Months.

London Sept. 3.—Italy's great offensive entered its third week with official statements placing the prisoners for the last thirteen days at 27,391 men, of whom 720 were officers.

More gains in the Brestovizza valley and repulse of violent enemy attempts on the northern slope of Monte St. Gabriele and east of Goritz were detailed in an official statement. The new ground in the valley covered seventy miles.

French Gain Objectives.

French troops enlarged their victory by the Chemin des Dames sudden offensive. Northwest of Hurtebise they took a trench on a front of 200 meters (about 650 feet) and repulsed a counter attack. South of Butte du Mesnil they repulsed a strong surprise attack. Everywhere German bodies covered the fields and trenches.

French planes, massed in force, swept low over the French trenches, raking them with fire and small shells. The official word was that the French carried all objectives of the attack.

Britons Win East of Wytschaete.

Another big bag of Teutonic prisoners was announced by Field Marshal Haig in his report to the war office. Since the morning of July 31 when the the British assault opened, 10,697 Germans have been captured by the British, Haig stated. During August 38 guns, 200 machine guns, and 73 trench mortars have been captured.

East of Wytschaete the British carried out a successful raid. Casualties were inflicted on the enemy by our machine guns as the enemy escaped across the open. Southwest of Havrincourt a hostile raid was driven off. Air operations were resumed, resulting in the destruction of one enemy machine and the driving out of control of another. One English flyer was reported missing.

Greece to Put Full Army In Field.

An Atlantic Port, Sept. 3.—Greece will have its full military strength in the field with the allies within three months, George Roussos, Greek minister to the United States, declared upon arriving here. Roussos will be the first Greek diplomatic representative stationed in Washington since 1913.

AUTOS GIVEN TO RED CROSS

Half Million Dollars' Worth Donated by Ford Motor Company.

Washington, Sept. 3.—A half million dollars' worth of automobiles, ambulances, and automobile parts have been presented to the American Red Cross society by the Ford Motor company of Detroit. The gift is particularly acceptable as there is great need of more ambulances on the western front.

Contributions for ambulance service of the Red Cross or for the kitchen trailers should be made through the local chapters or direct to the assistant treasurer, American Red Cross, Washington. It is preferred that such gifts be undesignated and in cash as far as possible. The Red Cross is then able to place orders to take advantage of quantity prices and to distribute them where there is the most need.

WILL PLANT GRAZING LANDS

England and Wales to Use Grazing Lands for Grains.

Washington, Sept. 3.—As a wartime conservation measure, England and Wales plan to use more than two million acres of grazing land for the planting of grain.

The agricultural program indicates that cattle are to be sacrificed for grain in the present emergency, and that the end of the war will find England almost entirely dependent on America for solution of the meat problem.

No Action in Meat Prices.

Washington, Sept. 3.—The food administration will make no effort to force down the price of meat. This statement denies the story sent from here that Food Administrator Hoover would deliver an ultimatum to the packers this week. If a reduction is made it will be done voluntarily, but probably will not come for some time.

4,000,000 May Go to France.

Fort Riley, Kan., Sept. 3.—From two and a half to four million American soldiers fighting in France is not impossible, according to Major General Leonard Wood in a speech at a reception in his honor.

Deny Trouble With United States.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 3.

Philip Withington, of Cleveland, O., president of the Sparks-Withington company, while in Jackson, said that he knew nothing of the reported indictment of his company under the Sherman law, and said there must be some mistake. He declared that his company was not involved in any controversy about any matter of the kind.

Increase Coal Rate to Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 3.

Coal dealers have received notice of an advance of fifteen cents a ton in the rate on soft coal by the Louisville & Nashville railway, effective August 30, which, with a former advance of fifteen cents, makes a higher rate of thirty cents to dealers, or $2.20 a ton into Grand Rapids.

That Is How the Yanks Do It.

Mishawaka, Ind., Sept. 3.—John Carroll, a Mishawaka boy with the Canadian army, was awarded the Victoria Cross recently. He killed four of the enemy and captured a gun.

PRIVATE IN ARMY GETS BIG WAGES

Receives Twice the Pay of an European Lieutenant.

AND IT IS ALL CLEAR MONEY

All His Necessary Expenses Are Assumed by the Government and He Gets Free Lodging, Clothing, Food and Medical Attendance, Besides Free Insurance and if Wounded a Pension.

Washington, Sept. 3.—A first class private of the armies of the United States, serving in France, will draw more pay than a second lieutenant in any of the armies of the European nations.

Great Britain pays its second lieutenants $466 a year, France $459, Germany $367, Russia $274, Austria-Hungary $366, and Italy $380.

And the great republic, sending its democratic armies overseas, will pay to the first class private $475 a year.

Startling as is that statement, one does not grasp its real significance until he considers that the second lieutenant, like all commissioned officers, must pay out of his own resources for both his food and clothing, while the private gets his living and all other necessaries free of charge.

He's a Well Paid Fighter.

It would be more nearly the truth, therefore, to say that the first class private in the armies of the United States is paid twice as much as the second lieutenants in the armies of our allies and enemies.

In the armies of Great Britain the private soldier draws about $7.50 a month; in the armies of France it is $2 a month; in those of Germany a small fraction over $3 a month.

When the private of our armies leaves the training camp and goes abroad to serve in France or elsewhere on the battle front, his pay immediately and automatically is increased by twenty per cent. In other words, when Private John Smith sails for France he begins to draw pay at the rate of at least $36 a month.

In considering the pay of the soldier it must be remembered that it is practically clear money. All his necessary expenses are taken care of by the government. He gets his clothing, lodging, food, medical attendance, insurance—all without cost to himself. Also without expense he is provided with reading matter, with a club house, with games and apparatus, both for outdoor sports and for gymnasium work.

WHISKY PLANTS WILL CLOSE DOWN SEPT. 8

Uncle Sam Loses $30,000,000 In Peoria Alone.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 3.—Peoria, for more than a half century the whisky-making center of the United States, will lose its title of "The Still City" early this month, at least for the duration of the war. On Sept. 8 at 11 p. m. the five great distilleries located there, the largest in the world, will cease grinding corn for whisky-making purposes.

The big plants, which have been making 35 per cent of the whisky in the country, are to close under the national food administration law, and orders from Washington to Edward D. McCabe, internal revenue collector here, are that all tubs in the distilleries must be empty of "beer," as the whisky brew is called, by the hour named. The loss in revenue will be $30,000,000.

LABOR WILL CONTINUE FIGHT

To Pledge Unrelenting War Till Democracy Is Achieved.

New York, Sept. 3.—Labor's pledge of unrelenting war until democracy shall have been achieved will be registered at Minneapolis next week, when the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy holds its sessions. The conference will likewise map out definite plans for labor's co-operation with the government in most efficient aid.

Rate Order Effective Nov. 1.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Adjustment of proportional class rates from Indianapolis, Terre Haute, Ind., and Chicago to Ohio river crossings was ordered by the interstate commerce commission for not later than Nov. 1, to remove alleged discrimination to shippers and receivers of southeastern traffic at Indianapolis and Terre Haute.

MEDICAL STUDENTS TO GET EXEMPTIONS

Will Be Required, However, to Enlist in Raserves.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 3.

Governor Philipp has received a telegram from Provost General Crowder notifying him that President Wilson has ruled that students in the second, third and fourth year in well recognized medical schools and internes in hospitals who are graduates of such medical school will not be selected for military service under the draft law, but will be required to enlist in medical reserve corps and hold themselves ready for service later if they are needed by war developments.

Find Rifles to Fight Canadian Draft.

Montreal, Sept. 3.—The finding of 1,600 rifles, thousands of cartridges and some sticks of dynamite in a house on Chateaubriand street, was announced by the police. The discovery is associated by the authorities with threats made recently to organize resistance to the conscription bill.

FROM COAST TO COAST

A Remarkable Chain of Home Testimony. And Tecumseh Adds Its Voice to the Grand Chorus of Local Praise

From north to south, from east to west;
In every city, every community;
In every state in the Union
Rings out the grateful praise for Doan's Kidney Pills.
40,000 representative people in every walk of life
Publicly testify to quick relief and lasting results.
And its all for the benefit of fellow sufferers.
In this grand chorus of local praise Tecumseh is well represented.
Well-known Tecumseh people
Tell of personal experiences.
Who can ask for better proof of merit?

H. W. Stevens, real estate dealer, Kilbuck St., Tecumseh says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Pulver's Drug store, with satisfactory results. I do not hesitate to endorse them as a medicine of merit. They proved very effective in relieving me of backache and other signs of kidney trouble."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Stevens had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

IT'S NOT SO BAD.

All the Girls Love a Man In the Uniform of Uncle Sam.

It is not so lonesome after all for the Yankee soldier in France, although perhaps the above picture taken somewhere in France may cause a heartache to the girl the man in the picture left behind him. However, he does not appear to be heartbroken, in fact he seems to be having a pretty good time.

PERSHING GOES TO THE AMERICAN CAMP

Work on Cantonment Nearly Completed, French Girls at Work.

Paris, Sept. 3.—General Pershing will move his headquarters from Paris to the American camp. The furniture and records are being transferred. All departments will maintain representatives in Paris, but the commander will in future remain close to his men. Work is progressing rapidly on the quarters for the army to be sent to France. French girls in many instances are doing the work of men in helping prepare the American camp. Labor is very scarce.

French instructors have taken the American army and navy aviators in hand. The French say the Americans learn fast and declare the death list among them, numbering three so far, to be remarkably small.

The site of the aviation camp is ten miles square, and the barracks, now being erected, will house 15,000. Hangors are being constructed to accommodate enough machines for use by these men.

The quartermaster's corps has a number of prominent American business men working with it. They declare they are usually put to work at something that is strange to them, so that their efforts are handicapped. Quantities of buscuits are baked daily in the American bakery. Some are sent to the French army, where they are gratefully received.

HARD COAL LITTLE CHANGED

Prices Fixed Are Practically the Same as Now Prevailing.

Washington, Sept. 3.—The price of anthracite coal at the mines as fixed by President Wilson is now effective. The prices at the mines as fixed after investigation by the federal trade commission were practically those already in effect by the operators. Consequently the consuming public can hope for no relief from present prices until Coal Administrator Garfield and the trade commission take action fixing profits and prices for the middlemen, wholesalers and retailers.

IT IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

So Says Federal Judge Boyd of the Child Labor Law.

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 3.—Granting a permanent injunction against enforcement of the federal child labor law, Federal Judge Boyd held it was unconstitutional.

Judge Boyd held that congress had exceeded its powers under the interstate commerce clause of the constitution.

Wilson Invests in Farm Loan Bonds.

Washington, Sept. 3.—President Wilson is doing his bit for the farmer. He has purchased $10,000 farm loan bonds.

Mr. Clyde Long and Miss Fay Davenport in their latest dancing craze with the big musical farce comedy "HENPECKED HENRY" Bradley Opera House, Monday, September 10th, 1917.

"The funniest show in the world" is the way the Milwaukee Sentinel expresses itself regarding the famous musical comedy "Henpecked Henry" which will be seen at the Bradley Opera House next Monday, September 10. Henry is one of the most original characters ever presented upon the stage. You see him in the placid humility of a domineered husband one moment and the gay and festive follower of chorus girls and buyer of champagne and suppers the next.

So many attractions are offered theatregoers nowadays that it is sometimes a problem to pick out the ones you will like best but generally a good musical comedy with plenty of tinkling music, sparkling songs and a good chorus will come about as near pleasing everyone as anything presented. "Henpecked Henry" is a combination of all these and is presented with a complete scenic production and special orchestra. During the action of the play some 20 singing and dancing numbers are introduced. No heart throbs, no tears, no sighs in this unusual show—just comedy of the very best kind and plenty of music and musical numbers

The seat sale opens at Hay's bakery ('phone 99) Saturday morning Best seats are only $1.00 with other good ones at 75c, 50c, 25c.

RED CROSS HEADQUARTERS

The headquarters for the Red Cross now located in the old Patterson house owned by Harry Lee, are decidedly pleasant and convenient for the work. They comprise a suite of five rooms on the west side of the house, opening one into the other. The first room is used for office wo[illegible] reception room. The second room will be fitted up with a tab[illegible] for cutting out work and other necessary belongings. In the third room the ladies are kept busy preparing the rags for the snipping machine, and the fourth room is used as a general store room.

The surgical work is conducted in the fifth room where it is quite secluded and free from the busy crowd that visits the headquarters from day to day. As yet the rooms are not fully furnished, but it is hoped that the friends will get busy and supply the various needs as soon as possible. If each one will do their bit, the rooms will soon be in fine shape for the work.

NATIONAL SECURITY LEAGUE LECTURES

The National Security League through Prof. William H. Hobbs of the U. of M., is planning a course of lectures to be given free. Dr. Claude H. Van Tyne will give the first in the course in Tecumseh Sept. 14, at 7:30, subject, "Why we are at war with Germany". The men's class of the Baptist church have offered the Baptist church as the place where the lectures are to be given

Dr. Van Tyne is a former Tecumseh boy and everybody should plan to hear this lecture.

PERSHING GOES TO THE AMERICAN CAMP

Work on Cantonment Nearly Completed, French Girls at Work.

PARIS, FRANCE — Gen. Pershing will move his headquarters from Paris to the American camp. The furniture and records are being transferred. All departments will maintain representatives in Paris, but the commander will in future remain close to his men. Work is progressing rapidly on the quarters for the army to be sent to France. French girls in many instances are doing the work of men in helping prepare the American camp. Labor is very scarce.

French instructors have taken the American army and navy aviators in hand. The French say the Americans learn fast and declare the death list among them, numbering three so far, to be remarkably small.

The site of the aviation camp is ten miles square, and the barracks, now being erected, will house 15,000. Hangars are being constructed to accommodate enough machines for use by these men.

The quartermaster's corps has a number of prominent American business men working with it. They declare they are usually put to work at something that is strange to them, so that their efforts are handicapped. Quantities of buscuits are baked daily in the American bakery. Some are sent to the French army, where they are gratefully received.

No Action in Meat Prices.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The food administration will make no effort to force down the price of meat. This statement denies the story sent from here that Food Administrator Hoover would deliver an ultimatum to the packers this week. If a reduction is made it will be done voluntarily, but probably will not come for some time.

Explorer Wise Not Starving.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA. — Daniel M. Wise, explorer reported to be awaiting death from starvation near the headwaters of the Amazon, is well and on his way home. His wife, who lives here, has received a letter from him saying he would leave Peru Aug. 11.

May Electrify Road.

CHICAGO, ILL. — The Chesapeak & Ohio railway has purchased a 100-acre tract near Griffith, Ind., to be used as a steam-electric terminal. A power house is to be built, it is said, where trains entering Chicago may be changed from steam to electric power.

Practical Decorative

Electric Fixtures

Half the utility and comfort of electric light is in having suitable fixtures. And the effects possible are almost endless.

The size and number of lights are of no more importance than their positions and style of fixtures.

For industrial and practical purposes there are many ways of directing and controlling lights. For decorative effects, both direct and indirect lighting can be had with many combinations of shades and reflectors.

The most practical place to settle your lighting problem is in our show rooms.

Bring in your ideas and see how well we can fit them.

RED CROSS NOTES

The "Willing Workers" of the Culbertson School district, a club of boys and girls who [illegible] $25.00 for the Red Cross, earn [illegible] themselves. One boy helped a neighbor draw wheat, some picked cherries, one young girl cleaned and pressed her mother's suit, another clerked in a store in Tecumseh, one boy worked at the new school building. Of one boy they tell the story that he earned his money by keeping the flies off the cow's back while his father milked. The rest of the money was earned by selling popcorn and cake at an experience meeting held at the home of the capable young president Miss Marjorie Boyce. The Red Cross is proud of the way this money was earned.

Donations Received This Week.

Mrs. H. W. Stevens donated one rocker and one table to Headquarters and Mrs. Albert Clark one table. More furniture is needed; if you have any odd pieces you can spare, please offer the loan of them, until the war is over, when they will be returned.

Mrs. Helen Clark appeals for helpers to come afternoons and sew rags together; please bring thimble, thread and scissors.

Mrs. [illegible] furnished the [illegible] and work for ½ doz. tray [illegible] and 4 napkins.

Mrs. [illegible] reports receiving from Mrs. [illegible]'s Methodist Episcopal Sunday-school class 1 doz. napkins and 1 doz. tray cloths.

Mrs. Arenath Hosmer sent to Adrian 1 muffler and 9 pairs of bedsocks. She has another bundle ready to go.

The Headquarters are in receipt of a big bundle of rags from Onsted to be worked into snippings. Tecumseh still offers to snip free for other Red Cross branches. Arrange your rags like carpet rags.

Mrs. Laverne Bidwell reports 117 comfort pillow cases sent to Adrian.

The Headquarters has large as well as small knitting needles for sale now.

Deliveries to Adrian Headquarters from Tecumseh to September 5th:

Comfort pillows (10 x 15)	459

Total	4999

Miss Hosmer gives the following new directions for mufflers: Use needles about 3-16 of an inch in diameter. Cast on 50 stitches or enough to make 11 inches without stretching. Knit plain for 68 inches. This muffler can be folded around the body in such a way that it will take the place of a sweater in an emergency.

Dr Bredow's class in surgical dressings made on Friday 24 9x9 compresses and 50 4x4. On Wednesday 48 4x4 gauze sponges were made and 60 gauze dressings cut for next Friday's work. Mrs. (Dr.) Beardsley, Miss Jennie Gillespie and Mrs. Leon Temple are additional members of this class.

Mrs. Dell Cairnes donated a large table for this room and Mrs. Paul Bowen $1.00 towards the linoleum.

The next concert of the Red Cross Concert Company will take place at "The Farm," Wampler's Lake, at 3:30 p. m. on Sunday, Sept. 9th.

Publicity Director.

STORM SPOILS WEDNESDAY PROGRAM

Balloon Ascension Took Place Late in the Afternoon

Exercises in Connection with Pole Raising Postponed

The severe rain storm which deluged this section Wednesday again spoiled our Wednesday Bargain Day program. It was impossible to give either the afternoon or evening program, although those who were to appear on the program were here. Late in the afternoon a fine balloon ascension was made by Aeronauts Hastings and Maltby.

The big balloon was filled back of Albert Clark's market and the men got away about 5:45 p. m. They arose rapidly and drifted over the village in a northeasterly direction. Maltby was first to cut loose and a few minutes later Hastings made his drop. Both were several miles out of town when they alighted and Maltby got tangled up in a wire fence when he reached his mooring place and suffered a slight injury to one foot.

The balloon stayed up for some few minutes after the men dropped and finally came down in the neighborhood of Macon. Mr. Hastings says this was the most exciting trip he has ever made. The wind was blowing 50 miles an hour up where he was sailing and his balloon was afire, but "all's well that ends well". Owing to the showers only a few people were on the street to witness the flight.

Hon. Wirt H Newkirk, who was to make an address in connection with the flag raising, was in town but the committee in charge thought it best to postpone the exercises for one week.

Next Wednesday's attraction will close the season in Tecumseh and the committee in charge will try to make it well worth everyone's time to be here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm Powell have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. H. B Raymond and Mrs. A. L. Mudgett of Jackson this week.

PUT UP A SILO THIS YEAR.

WHY?

Because your corn will go a third further.

Because your cows will do better on green feed.

Because you can plant more wheat and still have as much feed for your cows.

Because milk and butter will be higher than ever before..

Buy a Saginaw Silo because it has a steel framework and All-Steel Door-frame.

It is made of decay-proof, non-shrinking, fire-resisting Redwood or, if made of Yellow Pine, it is treated with Silo-seal which gives it many of the qualities of Redwood.

It has a copper-bearing steel spline-dowel which makes it doubly strong.

It has the Angle Steel Rib around the middle outside and the top inside (see cut) and fastened to every other stave. The sidewise pressure of the strongest wind cannot bend this angle when curved to the circle of the silo.

Come in and let us show you its many other good points. Saginaw terms are so easy your silo will have saved enough to pay for itself before the final payment.

THE BEST FOR YOUR BARN.

Your cow will be your money-maker this winter. Make her comfortable and she will do her best for you.

Notice how the LOUDEN stanchions give to every motion of the cow and make her as comfortable as in the pasture.

We can furnish you anything in the Louden line. Drop us a postal and we will send you a fully illustrated book of Barn Equipment, or a book of Barn Plans if you wish to build or make your barn over.

Wednesday a public demonstration was given at Grange Hall by the Lenawee County team who are demonstrating at the State Fair today. Owing to the stormy afternoon there were but a handful present to take advantage of the instructions given. Miss Janetta Hall represents Tecumseh on the team.

WEDNESDAY'S STORM MOST SEVERE IN YEARS

Rain Came Down in Torrents Constent Display of Lightning

Rain and then more rain, was the record for Wednesday afternoon and night. Several heavy storms passed over Tecumseh in the afternoon with lightning and thunder, but it remained for the night to bring us one of the heaviest rains we have had in years. One continuous flash of lightning and heavy thunder lasted into the "wee sma" hours of the night and the rainfall was terrific. 5¼ inches was reported as indicated by the rain gauge at the Electric Light plant.

We hear like reports from near by towns, said one from Sand Lake, "No it did'nt rain but the bottom of the clouds dropped out, and the flood came." Telephones suffered all over this section and workmen were kept busy repairing damages. A bridge, near Newburg, was washed out and another one near Will Fisher's farm.

The Electric Light Company experienced their share of trouble and men were busy Thursday all along their lines. The water raised so quickly in the ponds that the gates at the dams had to be opened wide to let the great volume of water through.

Farmers report some damage done to standing crops, but with all the display of lightning, we hear of no barns being struck in this vicinity.

RALLY DAY, EPWORTH LEAGUE

M. E. Church, Sept. 9th, 6:30 p. m.

This is the day for the marshalling of the forces of the Epworth League! You are drafted, Epworthian, for real service in the ranks this fall and winter. Where will you serve? Infantry? Cavalry? Aviation? In whatever place you look, there is need for your help.

Today we call for the seasoned soldiers of experenced years, for the tenderfeet of yesterday, and for the raw recruits just enlisted.

We also have a recruiting sergeant ready for business who will gladly find a place for others who desire to enlist in our company.

Get ready for the conflict and for victory all along the line!

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

John Jones Falls from Roof of Alva Waring's House

Lays in Unconscious Condition

John Jones met with a serious accident this morning about 7 o'clock when he fell from the roof of Alva Waring's house, corner of Pottawatamie and Democratic Sts., striking his head on the edge of a cement platform in the rear of the house. The unfortunate man suffers from a concussion on the brain and a hemorrhage through the nose and mouth. He had just started to put on some new shingles, had climbed to the roof of the wing when he slipped and fell to the ground.

Mrs. Waring and her niece, Mrs. Putnam, were seated at the breakfast table and seeing him fall rushed to his aid. Mrs. Waring found him unconscious and first called to her husband whom she thought was at the barn, not being able to attract his attention she called to Mrs. Jones, who lives across the street. Mrs. Jones raised the injured man's head to her lap, where he lay until Dr. H. R. Conklin arrived a few minutes later. With the help of neighbors he was carried to his home were he lies in an unconscious condition. He seemed to be in a great deal of pain and very restless, so the doctor found it necessary to administer a hypodermic to quiet him. His condition is considered very serious.

RECOGNITION SERVICE AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

WE ARE JUST A LITTLE BIT SELFISH

We admit it. We don't do as we do SOLELY for the good of our customers. There is no philanthropy about our business.

When we stock up with nothing but high-grade groceries, we do so because we think the majority of people prefer that kind.

This is why they SHOULD prefer that kind—

Because the good of good eatables is far reaching. Good eating is health, and health is EVERYTHING.

So you see our good financially and your good physically are depending upon the purity of our food supply.

Our opinion is that it is just about perfection. We are anxious to have YOUR opinion.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubolz says: "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

KERENSKY AND THE RUSSIAN CAUSE

Kerensky is too fiercely sincere to make dramatic gestures in the Lloyd-Georgian manner or to deliver spectacular phrases according to the Roosevelt tradition. His appearance is surly and dogged, except when he smiles, and then he seems a charming young gentleman out of some university—a tired student, perhaps, who has worked too continuously at a difficult problem. He was very fatigued and nervous when I talked with him at the time he was engaged in planning the Russian offensive.

But when he spoke of Russia and America—he is one of the most loyal and discerning friends the United States possesses among European governments—his eyes grew bright and his voice trembled.

"Ah! We understand your simple democracy best," he said. "The Russian people do not understand the nature of the British monarchy, but we understand the spirit of the United States. The Russian masses and the American people are today exhibiting one of the most profound democratic kinships in history. Russia and the United States—or rather the spirit of our common freedom—must essentially dominate the dictation of peace."

As I sat in a shabby office of a ministry in Petrograd and talked to this gaunt young chap, who told me naively that he "admired Abraham Lincoln and the United States," I asked myself the question: "Is this the man who will save Russia from herself?"

Russia will be saved if moderation prevail, if Kerensky can reconcile the divergent Russian factions to work together for the common good If compromise fail, and Russia and Siberia begin to degenerate into a series of semi-independent nations, Kerensky may not be strong enough to command, and another dictator—another benevolent, pedagogic personality—may be tossed up on the shores of government.

The Russian revolution will not be over for a decade or so, and only persons with catch-word minds will insist upon decorating Kerensky with polemic epithets of the Mirabeau period. Kerensky is merely Kerensky—a new phenomenon in a new process of human evolution evoked by the war for democracy.—From "Kerensky: Compromiser," by Henry Suydam, in the American Review of Reviews for August, 1917.

Good Reason.

"Why don't you ever laugh at any of my jokes?"

"Because I was brought up to respect old age and feebleness."—Baltimore American.

No man gets rich whose pocket is a flag station instead of a terminal.—Youth's Companion.

There is nothing more pitiful than a life spent in thinking of nothing but self.—Farrar.

FIND POLIO GERM AND ISOLATE IT, REPORT

Jewish Hospital Has Cure for Infantile Paralysis Victims.

PHILADELPHIA, PA. — Announcement was made by physicians of the Jewish hospital that the germ of infantile paralysis has been discovered and isolated. The cure of the dread disease, it is believed, is a matter of but a short time now that the cause is known and the germ can easily be studied.

The local research workers have found the germ in patients who died of infantile paralysis and in monkeys who died after being inoculated with the disease. In addition to this they explain how the germ can be easily isolated by other investigators.

U. S. AIRSHIPS REACH FRANCE

First Platoon of Planes and Aviators to Drive Them Arrive at Destination.

WASHINGTON — The vanguard of America's vast air fleet has reached France. The first of the armada of 150,000 airplanes are safely across the Atlantic, together with well-trained aviators to operate them.

This fact became known in guarded statements at the war department. The exact number of machines and men sent is, of course a military secret.

Are You Unlucky

In August the air is full of pollen and dust that cause trouble for some yet others are never bothered. No remedy does more to relieve hay fever and asthma than Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs, colds and croup. It clears and soothes the afflicted nose, throat and bronchial tubes. DR. HAMMEL ON THE FIRING LINE

Extracts From Leters Written Amidst the Dropping of Bombs.

Throug the kindness of Mrs. H. H. Hammel we have the following extracts from letters just received by her from "Somewhere in Belgium." We feel sure that every one will be interested to hear from him.

This was written in the field:—"As I write this I can look out and see aeroplanes sailing thru the air as thick as buzzards in Texas. They make a noise like a swarm of bees only a thousand times louder. I am back of the trenches in a famous district, that is near the site of one of the great battles of the war. The earth shakes most of the time from the firing of big guns, far and near. I won't say that I'm not in danger for not bother me, for I am seeing things which I did not think could exist and it teaches me this, that the value of one human life is very little. This war is a vertiable Hell and I hope that for the benefit of mankind it will soon be over. But in spite of it all I'm glad I'm here doing my bit, but I'm expecting to get thru without stopping any shrapnel bullets or gas fumes.

It seems that these Belgian people stay in their homes until the last minute and leave their homes only when they are demolished by flames or the German shells. We took a trip up to the first line trenches this morning in a Ford and it surely was some trip.

Every one here has a gas mask and "tin hat" you ought to see me in the gas mask, some sight, but they are as essential as food. We have fine "chow", even fresh celery today.

August 11.

I was awakened early this morning by the rat-a-tat-tat of the machine guns and the bursting of bombs dropped near by an enemy air craft. You buy those picture magazines showing pictures of the war here and multipy it all a thousand times and then it will not be half of what passes unnoticed here. This afternoon I tool another trip up to the first line trenches where the shells howl and whistle and the roar when a big one passes you is like the roar of a big locomotive passing close to you. But don't worry, I'm not gong to get in the way of any of them.

These English officers are surely fine fellows. Of course they are much different than the Americans They treat me with a great deal of courtecy and I'm surely going to have a wonderful experience.

I'm feeling exceptionally well and I think getting heavier.

August 13.

As I sit here the sweet tunes of a mellow violin played by an expert "British Tommy" come floating through the air "Ava Marie" "Faust" "Perfect Day", In truth this is the end of a perfec day, beautiful sunshine, not a cloud in the sky and the aeroplanes have certainly been very busy.

Today I was thinking, what have been the most notable events in the history of the world. The happiness of the individual? Science? Science yes, but the science of grim war! Old Roman history for example, deals with the political and martial thirst of emporors, kings, etc. The Greeks the Huns, all tell of their conquests. The story of the vilest creature of history, Cleopatra, closely entwined about war. Did she not fit up 60 galleys for war? She was a "She warrior" as well as a lover.

Our War for Independence, the Civil War all mile stones in history And so we come to the present time It is the same old story, one faction attenmpting to annihilate the other. Since the beginning of time, mothers have had to give up their sons, sweethearts their lovers and wives their partners some of whom were to be sacrificed at the Altar of the God of War. And since the beginning of time, have not women waited for men to return from conquests? And what woman could help but feel proud that one dear to her has thrown his life in the balance to be weighed against—what be knows not, while there has always been some who have a yellow streak and stay at home.

I'm sure I would be glad to hear from any one in Michigan. Its so long it seems since I left America and I don't see that I can receive any letters from you till Sept. 15th.

My address Lt. Hammell U. S. M. C. wih British Troops, Field Ambulance 74 care of Rue St. Ame, American Expenditionary Force. Paris.

The Finding of Old Glory.

When the day came that our revolutionary fathers needed to design a flag for the new nation of their heroic founding they had but to lift their eyes to the heavens to find the banner of their faith and pride.

In the glowing west, in the burning clouds of the sunset sky—streaming across the wide horizon in alternate bands of flame and mist—they saw the symbol of their own fair dreams, mystic, mighty and baffling.

And as they looked there came a sudden rending of the fleecy mass by a wind of liberty's own sending, and through the monster rift thus made they beheld a patch of azure sky set thick with silver stars.

The stars—the stripes—the blue—Old Glory, blazoned in beauty across the wonder of God's heaven, for all the world to see. It is our flag—God make us worthy of it.—Anne Rankin in Southern Woman's Magazine.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

Consult the impression uppermost in your mind and you will find that you think of this car as very carefully and very conscientiously made.

This very general and instinctive feeling is of course a reflection of the actual facts.

People think of the car in this light because of their high opinion of Dodge Brothers as manufacturers.

That good opinion is justified by the performance of the car, by its economy and efficiency, and by the fact that even the the first two years' very large production did not develop a single fault.

It will pay you to visit us and examine this car.

The gasoline consumption is unusually low.
The tire mileage is unusually high.

Touring Car or Roadster, $835; Winter Touring Car or Roadster, $1000; Sedan or Coupe, $1265. (All prices f. o. b. Detroit.)

With the opening of school this year, our School Board find themselves up against a rather abnormal condition. The freshman class this year is larger than in many years past and it is giving the Superintendent and teaching force a real problem to know just what to do with them. This overflow is due largely to foreign pupils, who are coming in for their high school courses. But with some juggling at the Vendoma they are being taken care of.

In the fifth grade the real problem is found as the enrollment this year is 53 pupils with only 37 seats to provide for them. The Board after looking at the matter from every angle have concluded that the best way out of the difficulty is to divide the class into two sessions of 3 hours each one to recite in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

Some of the parents of the children are up in arms about the course the Board has taken and have signed a petition and presented it to the Board asking that they provide their children with the advantages of a full session. We believe that if they had taken the trouble to inquire into the situation they would not have presented it. The Board are trying to meet the congested conditions without providing an extra room and teacher. How many taxpayers of this district would like to have the Board go to the expense of renting some room about town (and it would be hard to find a suitable one) provide stoves and fuel to heat it during the winter months and an extra teacher all of which would increase the expenditure to the district about $1,000.00? This course would be necessary in case the room is divided.

The course the Board has taken increases the cost to the district but little, it being necessary to increase the salary of the fifth grade teacher to recompense her for the extra work she does. The same room can be used for both sessions and the children by reason of smaller classes will get better and more personal attention from their teacher than they possibly could if the full 53 were in the room at one time.

Many cities, towns, where over crowded conditions have presented themselves have tried this plan of two sessions and it has worked finely and it should work out alright here.

A plan has been advanced that the eigth grade room give up their room in the Anderson building to the fifth grade and move into the East Branch school in the room vacated by the fifth grade. In the first place this room would prove too small for the 53 pupils again there would be no grounds for recess purposes and many other objections present themselves as the matter is more fully looked into. The teachers of the 7th and 8th grades have for a number of years exchanged rooms during the periods for music and writing and this could not be worked out successfully if the grades were separated.

Thus it shows that the superintendent and Board are in perfect accord with all the conditions that exist and are better able to decide these matters than we parents who only come in touch in a general way with the problems, which confront our schools and we believe in the above case the board have acted wisely in dividing the room into two sessions.

Remember, parents, we are building a new school and have had to provide temporary quarters for all grades above the 6th. They are not suitable, but have to be used as a makeshift until the new school is completed. If we are not clear in regard to the motives of the Board in the case of this 5th grade, why not ask some board member and they will be glad to explain.

We are sure that the signers of this petition signed it with the best interest of their children at heart, but we do not believe that they considered both sides of the question thoroughly.

PASTOR BLOSSOM RESIGNS

Charged With Statutory Offense He Hands in Written Resignation.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 10.

The Rev. William G. Blossom, who was arrested charged with a statutory offense, handed in a written resignation as rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, Milwaukee. The resignation will be acted upon later.

The Rev. Mr. Blossom's case was continued in court to Sept. 18. He refused to make a plea. His attorney, however, stated that he would fight the charge.

Reduced Rates for Michigan Shippers.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 10.

With a four per cent reduction in the basic rate for freight from points in western Michigan virtually assured, shippers of that section will save thousands of dollars annually.

THE SALES

The big Reorganization Sale of the Webster Anderson Co., made necessary by the new management, which began Friday, opened with a bang and there has been a rush ever since.

The first morning the crowd was so great in front of the store waiting for the sale to open that one could scarcely crowd through They started in with a lot of extra clerks added to the regulars but found the force inadequate to handle the business. Mr. Boyce, realizing his position, immediately resorted to conscription and drafted nearly every young lady of his acquaintance into service as fast as they came into the store until the force numbered 36, all going at high speed

People came from all over this part of the county and the usual feminine love for bargains was surely gratified

They tell us that this is the largest sale of dry goods ever held in Tecumseh and congratulations are certainly due them.

At Fred Rosacrans & Sons' this week is being conducted a successful sale and they have served a large crowd since Friday morning. Mrs Margaret Carr has assisted the force and the buyers seem pleased with the many real bargains offered.

Right now certainly seems to be the time to buy dry goods in Tecumseh.

BUENOS AIRES EXCITED

Leading Papers Demand Declaration of War on Germany.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 10.—Public indignation is at fever heat over the disclosure of the Washington state department that the Swedish legation had forwarded German U-boat messages, directing that Argentine ships were to be "sunk without any traces" being left.

Except for a handful of pro-German and ultra conservative papers, the Argentine press is clamoring for the immediate rupture of relations with Germany. Some leading organs demand a declaration of a state of war, following the example of the United States.

U. S. TO TAKE OVER ALL TUGS

Move to Be Made in Interests of Efficiency—Central Office in New York.

Washington, Sept. 10.—The United States shipping board announced plans for taking over the control of all oceangoing tugs on the North Atlantic coast. The move will be made in the interest of efficiency, according to the statement.

Definite action will not be taken until a public hearing has been held in Boston Sept 18. The plan calls for a central office in New York

MURPHY-BOYD

Yesterday afternoon at the Presbyterian manse Miss Ella Murphy and Percy Boyd were united in marriage by Rev. W. A. Rex.

There is a little unusual feature attached to the affair. Being good Prebyterians, no other minister would do so when they found that the Rev. and wife wert in Adrian for the day, they drove over there. They waited around a spell and seeing the Rex family drive by, started out to follow them, but lost them before they reached Tecumseh. The Rexes not knowing a wedding fee was chasing them up, took their time getting around home and when they did, there sat their patient friends and maybe the minister and wife didn't make them welcome.

Miss Ella is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Murphy and well known in Tecumseh, where she has lived since baby hood and received her education. Percy is the son of Mrs. Simeon Boyd is well known here and has a good position in Deroit to which city he takes his bride accompanied by the best wishes of their numerous friends.

IN HONOR OF MISS MARJORIE FIELD

Mrs George Field and Mrs Robert McCoy entertained a bevy of right charming and happy young girls at Mrs. McCoy's home Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Marjorie Field's 14th birthday.

Sheets of red and white tissue paper and pins were distributed and a prize given to the one who should fashion the most original, beautiful and stylish cap for herself, Miss Genevieve Wright winning that distinction.

Afterwards all donned their caps and the red caps were pitted against the white in the contests which followed.

An athletic meet resulted in a tie, each side scoring the same number of points and all were declared champions.

A delicious two course dinner followed which was served by the two hostesses and Mrs. Spafard of Manchester, dressed as young girls with short skirts, middies and big-bowed hair ribbons The favors were roses made of red, white and blue ribbon with foliage

At the close of the repast a knock was heard at the door and a Gipsy fortune teller (Mrs. Claire Camburn) appeared carrying a basket of fortunes and each young girl drew one which she read aloud causing much merriment.

Music and games finished the evening's entertainment, after which they were all taken home by the host in his machine.

A beautiful spoon was presented to Miss Marjorie as a token of their friendship.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

Under a Big Tent.

A real treat to the people of Tecumseh and vicinity. Harmount and Raiser Big Scenic production of Uncle Tom's Cabin is billed to play September 12, '17, under a big tent This is beyond a doubt the worlds largest and best traveling in their own special fleet of autos and trucks with a cash investment of over $20,000 dollars. The company carries 40 people and their own concert band and orchestra. A pack of genuine Siberian bloodhounds, all special scenery for each and every act of the play and a company of talented actors and actresses capable of producing the grand old play as you have never seen before and may never have the opportunity to see again. Life like scenes of the north and Souh before the war, such as Phineas Fletchers tavern and the grand old Quaker, Eliza crossing the ice pursued by a pack of fierce man eating blood hounds. Little Eva's southern home with its tropical gardens and magnolias in full bloom. The famous New Orleans slave market the sale of Uncle Tom to Simon Legree, the ter- of Red River, the death of Uncle Tom and the grand allegorical representing little Eva in the realms of Heaven Seats for 3,000 people.

Don't fail to see the Magnificent free street parade at noon with Eva and her pony, the Blood hounds. The beautiful auto trucks as tableau display. Thi feature alone is worth traveling miles to see.

Remember the day and date.

Prices have been reduced to 25c for children and 35c for adults.

HENPECKED HENRY

A good crowd greeed "Hen-pecked Henry" last night at the Opera House, in fact there was hardly standing room in the balcony. The part of Henry Bowser, as played by Glyde Long was the feature of the evening. Henry surely had some narrow escapes which he took care of cleverly and much to the amusement of the audience. There were many musical numbers and the work of the chorus was good. The customs were new and attractive.

An Original Introduction.

An introduction is a conventional thing, but it is still possible to impart a little originality into the formula. "This is grandpa," said the six-year-old proudly as he introduced his friend. "I pray for him every day," he added impressively.—Manchester Guardian.

Just the Thing.

"What is this?"

"Sympathetic ink."

"I think I'll take some. I have a friend who is ill, and I must write a letter of condolence."—Pittsburgh Post

RED CROSS NOTES

Ten very fine comfort bags fitted with all necessaries, were made by Mrs. Hartzog, Mrs. Stahler, Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Waldron and Mrs. Hiram Westcott. They were delivered to Mrs. A. C. Bryan and her committee, others are in process of making.

Mrs. Bryan has also made a sample housewife; the same can be inspected at the Headquarters.

Mrs. McNeil's Sunday-school class delivered one large bag of finished snippings, which they had made.

R. A. Heesen donated two wooden horses for the show case.

No more large chairs are needed, but Miss Phelps still appeals for upright chairs for working, for the Headquarters.

Mrs. Helen Clark needs helpers very badly, for sewing rags for the snipping machine; if you have an hour or more please drop in at the Headquarters and do your bit.

Miss Anna Satterthwaite has hemmed the grand total of 225 handkerchiefs.

Mrs. John Nyland wants helpers to make washcloths. She has the material at the store, ready for any one who wants to make them.

New Members—Miss Margaret Haire, and Robert Haire.

Donations received by Guy Nemire to September 10th.

From Red Cross Concert Company collection taken a concert at Wamplers lake	23.35

The Red Cross Concert company was unfortunate in having bitterly cold weather for its concert at Wamplers lake on Sunday, some of the members being so cold that they cold hardly perform. However the collection netted $23.55 which was not bad for an openair concert at the end of the season.

Owing to the sicknes of one of the members of the Temple Quartette, the male quartette did not sing, and Mrs. Robert Moore very kindly fillled the breach with the Flag Song. The audience was very appreciative and encored nearly every number.

Mrs. Fred Wood was the musical director and Mrs. Wood and Miss Ella Hodges the accompanists

Next, Sunday, September 16th, the company will go to Seneca and they have accepted invitations to give concerts in Deerfield and Cold water. They have raised nearly $350.00 net to date.

IDA B. CHASE.

The Patriotic League has at present 1884 members, with a total of $4962 subscribed, or over thousand dollars less than our assessment.

The committee are making an earnest appeal to all to come and give some sum, small or large, whatever they can afford, do not stay away because you cannot give much, for the ocean is made of raindrops, and "Many a mickle, makes a muckle."

Our neighboring city of Hudson has raised $6600.00, we surely have too much local pride to fall behind her.

The committee for the Patriotic fund is going to make a systematic campaign very shortly, and everybody will be visited; head them off and go into either bank and make your donation.

After all, we are doing but little, compared to those who go to the front. An American hospital was shelled two days ago, and officers privates, orderlies and nurses killed and wounded. We cannot recall the dead, but we can at least contribute enough so that the wounded shall have the comforts that will save them These men and women are dying for us, if we fail them with money contributions, we deserve to feel what war means in our homes.

It is up to us to show the rulers of Germany that we mean business, and the more quickly and thoroughly we do it, and the quicker we will force them to their knees, the earlier we will have peace.

Miss Anna Ferguson of Tecumseh has gone to France as a Red Cross nurse. It is a great honor to be accepted.

The Usual Motion.

To a judge at St. Joseph, Mo., an old negro once applied for a marriage license. It was not the province of the judge to issue such a paper; but, knowing the applicant's history, he asked:

"Ephraim, were you ever married before?"

"Jes' once, jedge," was the reply.

"Wasn't that enough?"

"Mebbe, jedge, but I want a new [illegible]

TECUMSEH HAS NOT LOST HER THREE STOPS YET

Inquiry among various railroad men proves to us that there is nothing authentic in the report that we are to lose one of our three stops on the New York Central. The report has bobbed up frequently for the past dozen years that the two freight depots and two passenger depots were to be consolidated and still we have the three stops and retain our fame as the smallest city in the state having three railroad stops.

The fact remains however that Floyd Bell who has been agent at Tecumseh Junction for several years, has been ordered to Morenci to begin work there the 15th. We regret exceedingly to loss Mr. Bell and family from Tecumseh and hope that they will like Morenci as well.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Bubolz says. "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarcer.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolutely safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

There are drownings and near drownings. We hear that Mrs. Elsie Aylesworth went into the cistern for some kittens who had fallen in. The kittens were rescued and then—the ladder broke and she was left alone in the cistern to "Hallo" for help which finally came in the shape of Ed Brooks who happened to be in the vicinity.

There were three valuable heifer calves, one a registered Holstein, destroyed in Alton Whelan's burned barn, burned Sept. 4th. A valuable bull which was stabled in the barn was untied and fled to safety. The thirty odd head of Holstein cows that were milked in the barn were fortunately in the barnyard and Mrs. Laura Whelan opened the gate and let the excited herd pass out. Mrs. Nettie Whelan turned the horses, also much excited, out. An unaccountable thing about this fire is the fact that the buildings were practically consumed in less than two hours—some say one hour, so large buildings, the two silos, the large amount of machinery. The fire dropped on the silos and they appeared to be ablaze all over in an instant. There was a heavy dew and no wind when the blaze started. Only $2700 insurance was carried and the loss will mount up to several thousand dollars.

WOMAN ARRESTED IN ALMA GIRL'S MURDER

Believed She Lured Beatrice Epler to Her Death.

Alma, Mich., Sept. 10.—Inez Johnston, a notorious woman Beatrice Epler just before she was Beatrice Apler just before she was murdered. This statement was made by Coroner Ludwig after the woman made some damaging admissions at the inquest. The Johnston woman was arrested immediately after the body was discovered in a clump of bushes near her home.

Beatrice Epler met her death while defending her honor. The police believe the small auto seen late at night near the scene of the murder and which turned before it reached the Epler home carried the girl and the slayer, and probably at least one other person. It was strongly intimated that if there was a third person in the machine it was probably Mrs. Johnson.

Another startling development came when Mrs. Berry charged her husband, one of the suspects arrested, with assault with intent to commit murder. Berry told several conflicting stories of his whereabouts on Tuesday night when the murder was committed. When he returned home Wednesday morning he quarreled with his wife and violently attacked her.

'Build Silo and Save Your Corn!'

STATE FOOD PREPAREDNESS COMMITTEE URGES FARMERS TO ACTION

Declares Immature Crop Can Be Kept for Feeding of Live Stock

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 6.—"Build a silo and save the corn" is the slogan which will soon be blazing form almost every blacksmith shop, schoolhouse and roadside barn in the rural districts of Michigan.

Thousands of posters calling upon the farmers to build silos are being distributed by the food preparedness committee.

The food preparedness committee does not advise the farmer to build any particular kind of silo; all it wants is to have the farmer who hasn't one to build one, or the man who could use more than he has, to build more.

The lesson of a lack of silos is being taught in certain sections of the state right now. In several counties, according to the reports of the county agents, the corn is so far back that as a grain producer it will not mature and the only good that can be gotten out of it will be as ensilage. Many farmers are not prepared to take care of it in this manner.

Is Michigan Idea.

The plan to boost silo-building really originated in Michigan, and as far as is known here, it is the only campaign of its sort in the country today, although in every section of the United States pleas are being made to the farmer to save everything possible. Murl H. DeFoe, the secretary of the food preparedness committee, was the first man to spring the idea.

The poster which the state has gotten out says.

"Save Your Corn."

"Cold and rainy weather postponed corn planting, delayed cultivation and checked growth.

"Corn conditions have been slightly bettered since the warm weather, but this improvement is too late to insure the bumper crop we need.

"Build a silo and save your corn crop. The entire crop may be lost unless you have a silo ready in which to preserve it. Save it from frost or drouth by putting it into the silo.

"If so fortunate as to have your corn mature, save the grain for human consumption—at least part of it—and silo the stalks and leaves.

"Increase Feeding Value."

"The silo gives from 25 per cent to 30 per cent more feeding value to a corn crop than when it is fed as dry fodder.

"The silo provides succulent feed in winter which helps to keep the cows healthy and productive when green feeds are lacking and dairy prices are highest.

"The silo gives insurance against short, drouth-stricken pastures.

"The silo helps the farmer make the best possible use of the frosted corn. Even immature corn can be saved by putting it in the silo.

"The silo helps in fattening stock for market.

"The silo furnishes the cheapest form of wintering feed.

"The silo makes possible more acres for grain crops.
